

THE DEPARTMENT OF HUMAN DEVELOPMENT
RICCIUTI lecture

MONDAY, September 13, 2010 at 4:00 PM, G87 MVR

Megan Gunnar

Professor of Child Development
Regents Professor
Distinguished McKnight University Professor
University of Minnesota

“Early Life Stress and Development: Studies of Children Adopted Internationally from Orphanages”

AREAS OF EXPERTISE:

- Stress and coping in infants and young children
- Development of post-institutionalized children
- Social and biological aspects of development

About the Ricciuti Lecture Series

The annual Ricciuti Lecture is delivered in recognition of Professor Emeritus Henry Ricciuti, a member of the Human Development faculty since 1958 and an internationally renowned scholar recognized for his many contributions to the study of child development through research, instruction, and service.

Cornell University
College of Human Ecology
Human Development