THE provisional list of candidates for first degrees has been published by the Secretary's Office. It gives the names of 880 seniors, as follows: Bachelors of Arts, 235; Bachelors of Chemistry, 30; Bachelors of Laws, 49; Bachelors of Science, 261; Doctors of Veterinary Medicine, 29; Bachelors of Architecture, 25; Civil Engineers, 70; Mechanical Engineers, 181; In addition there are sixty-two candidates for advanced degrees, as follows; Doctors of Philosophy, 10; Masters of Arts, 9; Masters of Architecture, 4; Masters of Science in Agriculture, 5; Master of Forestry, 1; Masters of Mechanical Engineering, 3; Doctors of Medicine, 30.

THE SCHURMAN MEDAL for the best drilled cadet was awarded after a competition last week to Randall James Le Boeuf, jr., '19, of Albany. He is the son of Judge R. J. Le Boeuf '92, and prepared for college at the Albany Academy. The second prize was won by Harry Grant Matthews '17, who is a son of Captain Harry T. Matthews of the Coast Artillery, and who came to Sibley College from West Point. The third prize went to Henry Clarence Schutte '19, of New York, who prepared at the Bordentown Military Academy. The medal, of gold, is provided annually by President Schurman.

THROUGH AN APPEAL made by the Military Training Camps Association to the alumni and other friends of Cornell University, a sum has already been raised sufficient to defray the transportation expenses to and from the Plattsburg Camp of all students who need such assistance. President Schurman made that announcement last week. He expressed the hope that every student of Cornell University who can possibly arrange to do so will avail himself of this opportunity for obtaining advanced military training and physical betterment under regular army conditions and for having a healthful holiday under favorable conditions for congenial social intercourse and good fellowship.

THE RIGHT TO REPRESENT the North Atlantic States in the national peace oratorical contest was won last week by Lester Hand Jayne, of East Setauket, a senior in the College of Arts and Sciences at Cornell. The national contest will be held on May 18 at Lake Mohonk as a part of the International Peace Conference held there annually. Jayne won first the contest at Cornell to determine the entry in the state contest. At Syracuse he defeated the winners of the local contests of the other universities and colleges of New York state. This entitled him to enter the interstate contest at Middletown, Conn., held under the auspices of Wesleyan University, where he competed against the winners of the state contests of Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Connecticut, Massachusetts, and New Hampshire. His speech is entitled "The Common People," and is a plea for a more democratic peace propaganda, which shall make a more specialized attempt to educate the mass of the people. Jayne has already won $300 in prizes for his three victories. The prize of the national contest is $500.

THE BUREAU of foreign and domestic commerce, in the U. S. Department of Commerce, had a representative here last Saturday to talk with members of the graduating class who might wish to obtain appointment to the staff of the bureau. The representative was Mr. Chauncey D. Snow, chairman of the appointments committee of the department. The bureau is concerned chiefly with the collection and dissemination of information relating to foreign markets for American goods. It maintains ten permanent offices in foreign countries and eight district offices in the United States, and it has traveling representatives in this and foreign countries.

THE FRESHMAN DEBATING TEAMS of Cornell won their annual triangular contest with Pennsylvania and Columbia last Saturday night. The Cornell affirmative team defeated Columbia at Ithaca by a vote of 2 to 1, and the negative team received a unanimous decision over Pennsylvania at Philadelphia the same evening. The proposition debated was, "Resolved, that the United States should own and operate all plants manufacturing its munitions of war." The Cornell freshman affirmative team was made up of W. G. Wheadrick, leader; M. F. Orton, and R. A. Gilchrist. The negative team was composed of J. Mertens, jr., leader, A. M. Saperston, and T. B. Karp.

A PORTRAIT of Professor Charles Lee Crandall will be presented to the University for the College of Civil Engineering at the time of the class reunions in June. The painting is the work of J. Campbell Phillips. The presentation ceremony will take place probably on Saturday morning, June 17. This portrait is the gift of the older alumni of the college. Cornell civil engineers generally have shared in the founding of the Charles Lee Crandall Prize for the most meritorious paper or thesis in the college. The foundation of that prize is a fund of three thousand dollars, which was presented to the University at the annual meeting of the Cornell Society of Civil Engineers last January.

ALEPH SAMACH, the junior class society, has elected the following members from the class of 1918: Lawrence George Brower, Mamaroneck; Frederick Montague Gillies, Chicago; Herbert Rhoads Kuhns, Dayton, Ohio; Creswell MacMurray Micou, Washington, D. C.; Peter Paul Miller, Buffalo; John Davis Sauters, jr., Martins Ferry, Ohio; Francis Tobey Shiverick, Chicago; John Murker Watt, Honolulu.

AROUND the new student residence halls workmen are busy cleaning up the rubbish left by the masons, grading and smoothing the ground, and laying flag walks to the various entries. Some of the retaining walls between the terraces are completed and masons are laying the others. These walls and balustrades give the finishing touch to the group. It is quite likely that the walls and courts will be completed before Commencement.

THE COSMOPOLITAN CLUB gave a variety show at the Lyceum Theater last week for the benefit of various war relief funds. Men of several nations gave stunts acrobatic, musical, and magical. The program included a polyglot melodrama entitled "Kind Hearts Are More Than Coronets," and written (in English) by Professor Sampson. Each player had translated his lines into his own language and every player spoke a different language.

BAKER TOWER AND FOUNDERS HALL FROM THE NORTHEAST

The street in front of Founders Hall is West Avenue. The work of grading and turfing around these buildings is now in progress, and flag walks have been laid since this picture was taken. South Baker Hall and North Baker Hall are behind Baker Tower. Founders Hall is the Alumni Fund Building.

Elections to Sigma Xi

Columbia Chapter and Phi Beta Kappa Represented at Alpha's Initiation

The Alpha Chapter of the Society of the Sigma Xi held its annual election of new members on May 8, and has announced the election of the following persons:

Members of the Faculty

Alexander Gray, professor in charge of electrical engineering.

Frederick Fritz Koenig, assistant professor of veterinary medicine.

Andrew Theodore Rasmussen, instructor in physiology.

Graduate Students

Charles Harold Berry, Homer Guy Bishop, Sherman Chancy Bishop, Chester Claremont Camp, Wallace Larkin Chandler, Charles Chupp, Charles Dudley Corwin, Joseph Vital De Porte, Edgar Hutton Dix, jr., Vining Campbell Dunlap, Silas Shihadeh George, Samuel Alexander Graham, Guy Everett Grantham, Ludlow Griscom, Charles Harvey Hadley, jr., Miles Bertine Haman, Royal Joyslin Haskell, Leon Augustus Hausman, Walter Norton Hess, Algernon Charles Irwin, Harry E. Knowlton, Laurence Howland MacDaniels, Walter Hoge MacIntire, Edward Lawrence Mack, Percy George McVetty, Samuel Arthur Mahood, Lua Alice Minns, Edward Gardner Misner, Philip Alexander Munz, Ruby Rivers Murray, Waro Nakahara, Howard A. Pidgeon, Charles Roy Reid, Gilbert Joseph Rich, Rudolf Wilhelm Ruprecht, William Hayes Sawyer, jr., Joseph Prestwich

Seniors

Alumnus

James Kemp Plummer.

The initiation of the newly elected members took place on Monday evening, May 15, in the home economics building, and a supper was served after the ceremony in the dining room of the department of home economics. Several guests of the chapter were present. The Columbia chapter was represented by Mr. J. H. Morecroft, assistant professor of electrical engineering in Columbia University. President Schurman came as the representative of the University. The society of Phi Beta Kappa had been invited to send a delegate and it sent Professor C. S. Northup.

For the initiation ceremony the members of the chapter assembled in the auditorium of the building. On the platform were the officers of the chapter: Professor J. G. Needham, president; Professor O. A. Johannsen, treasurer; Professor James McMahon, corresponding secretary, and Mr. J. G. Pertsch, recording secretary. After the initiates had filed in and taken seats Professor Needham addressed them. His talk, he said, was entitled "Civilized Warfare." He sketched the slow progress of primitive man in the invention of weapons to protect him from his enemies the elements and the brutes, and this progress he characterized as civilized warfare. Warfare between man and man was, like the other, a biological phenomenon, but it was uncivilized. Man was at the very beginning of his conquest of the forces of nature. It was to this warfare, a warfare against ignorance, error, and superstition, that the persons elected to this society were called.

Professor Needham said that in the early days of the Alpha chapter somebody had devised a handshake intended to be characteristic of Sigma Xi, but it had never been formally adopted. The inventor was an engineer, as might be guessed from the "grip's" resemblance to a car coupling. He and Professor McMahon gravely demonstrated the handshake.

At the supper Professor Glenn W. Herrick served as toastmaster. Professor Morecroft spoke of the value of economic and industrial research. There were evils in the methods of research of some of the great industrial corporations. Secrecy was one. It had two bad effects. Science did not get the benefit of work done by investigators who are forbidden to publish the results of their work. Industrial investigators came to public meetings of scientists, learned a great deal, and gave nothing in return. Their coefficient of absorption was one hundred, while their coefficient of emissivity was zero. Another bad effect of this secrecy was that men who made valuable discoveries remained unknown to the public and lacked the stimulus of recognition. Professor Morecroft advocated research professorships freed from the task of teaching.

President Schurman said that while he believed the teacher should not be so tied to the work of instruction as to have no time for investigation, he thought that often complete freedom from teaching brought relaxation of effort on the part of the investigator. Professor Northup noted a likeness of purpose between Sigma Xi and Phi Beta Kappa. The work of the one complemented that of the other. The discoveries of science had profoundly affected philosophic thought. Professor G. W. Cavanaugh spoke for the chapter, and C. G. Stupp for the initiates.

Women's Dormitory Group

Albert E. Price Wins Prize of $40 for Preliminary Study

Students of the first class in design of the College of Architecture have completed a preliminary study of a women's dormitory group at Cornell. Prizes amounting to $100 were offered by Miss Kate Gleason, of Rochester, for the best plans. A prize of $40 has been awarded to Albert E. Price '16, of Port Arthur, Texas, for his plan of development of the whole group. A prize of $15 will be given for the best development of each of four buildings or groups of buildings selected for the final competition. These four are a dwelling quadrangle, dining halls, a social center, and a gymnasium.

The tract of land north of Beebe Lake was proposed for the study and the program called for a complete residential group to accommodate fifteen hundred young women students. No provision for lecture rooms, class rooms, or laboratory space was required. The main entrance to the group was to be from Thurston Avenue, opposite Risley Hall.

Mr. Price developed the scheme with a main axis eastward from Thurston Avenue. He put the dining halls and the social center near the Thurston Avenue entrance, the gymnasium and playground at the eastern end, and tennis courts along the northern side of the tract. The drawings are now on exhibition in White Hall. Plans in the final competition are due June 13.

A FRENCH OPINION OF SIBLEY COLLEGE

Mr. L. Houlléviq, scientific editor of Le Temps, publishes in a recent number of that Paris daily an article entitled "L'Homme de Demain," in which he declares that "the man of to-morrow will be the engineer." He pays a high tribute to the engineering schools of the United States, and in this connection cites a letter from "a professor on the other side of the Atlantic written to one of his French fellow professors," which runs as follows:

"Mon cher ami.... l'année scolaire est à sa fin; je n'en suis pas moins fort occupé aux préparatifs nécessaires pour recevoir les cinq cents étudiants que nous attendons à Sibley College; je suis occupé à agrandir les locaux, à en bâtir de nouveaux, à placer une turbine de 200 chevaux sous notre chute de 40 pieds. Je viens justement de recevoir une machine compound-tandem de 60 chevaux, cadeau d'amis; je prends les dispositions, pour l'installation d'une chaudière de 250 chevaux et de notre machine expérimentale de 200 HP, qui n'est pas encore tout à fait prête; je fais faire les fondations d'un banc d'épreuve de 300 à 350 tonnes, avec enregistrement automatique..."

Then follows this comment: "On the receipt of this letter, our French colleague must have rubbed his eyes and asked himself if he had not misread, for the truth is that never in the world will such resources be put at the disposal of our technical education in France."

New Professors of Law

Biographical Sketches of Professors-elect McCaskill and Edgerton

There will be next year two newcomers in the Faculty of the College of Law—Oliver Leroy McCaskill, professor of procedure, and Henry White Edgerton, acting assistant professor of law.

Mr. McCaskill was born at Taylorville, Illinois, and is thirty-eight years old. He received his preliminary education in the public schools of Colorado and at the South Side Academy in Chicago. He entered the University of Chicago in 1897 and received the degree Ph.B., with honorable mention, in 1901. From 1901 to 1903 he was clerk and assistant in the law office of his father, Daniel McCaskill, in Chicago. In 1903 he matriculated in the Law School of the University of Chicago and was graduated in 1905 with the degree Doctor Juris (cum laude). Immediately after graduation he began practice as junior partner with his father in the firm of McCaskill & McCaskill in Chicago and so continued in practice there until February, 1914, when he accepted an associate professorship of law at the University of West Virginia for the purpose of developing and applying his ideas as to the teaching of practice. After his experience as a law student followed by several years of general and active practice in state and federal courts, he had reached the conclusion, after a special study of the problem, that the gap between the work of the law school and the practice work of the law office could be greatly narrowed by the application of carefully considered efforts directed to that end. His success in this field was so immediate at West Virginia that after three months there he was promoted to a full professorship. His work at West Virginia has attracted attention among legal educators, and has resulted in calls to accept positions elsewhere in 1914, 1915, and at Cornell in 1916, which latest he has accepted. From 1911 to 1914, while still in practice, he was lecturer on bankruptcy at the University of Chicago Law School, and from 1912 to 1914 gave a course in common law pleading at the John Marshall Law School in Chicago.

Mr. McCaskill is married and has a daughter. He is a member of the College fraternity Phi Gamma Delta, of the legal fraternity Phi Delta Phi, and of the honorary law society the Order of the Coif.

In the Cornell College of Law, he will

Professor of Procedure

H. W. EDGERTON
Acting Assistant Professor of Law

NEW MEMBERS OF THE LAW FACULTY

give courses on common law pleading, code practice, evidence, and in the senior year will conduct a practice court.

Henry White Edgerton was born in Kansas on October 20, 1888. He attended the public schools in Binghamton, N. Y., Ithaca, and Washington, D. C. From the Central High School of Washington he entered the University of Wisconsin in 1905. In 1907, after his sophomore year, he spent a number of months with a survey party in Montana. He did not return to the university; and for a number of months in 1908 he worked as a temporary special agent of the bureau of corporations of the former United States Department of Commerce and Labor. His work for the bureau was almost wholly in the field, gathering data in connection with an investigation of the lumber industry, in Florida, Georgia, South Carolina, Washington, Oregon, and California.

In the fall of 1908 he entered Cornell, as a junior in the College of Arts and Sciences. Most of his work at Cornell was in the department of history and political science, chiefly in political economy, in which he had already taken some courses at Wisconsin. During his first term at Cornell he was made leader of the University debate team against the University of Pennsylvania, and at the end of the term he was elected to Phi Beta Kappa. He graduated with the class of 1910, and was class orator.

The next year he spent partly in traveling in Europe, and the rest (some seven months) in Paris, where he attended lectures, and did some reading in civil law, at the Law School of the University of Paris. He entered the Harvard Law School in 1911, and graduated in 1914. Since then he has been engaged first in the law office of Davis, Kellogg & Severance, St. Paul, Minnesota; then for a time as "senior research assistant" in the Legislative Reference Division (Library of Congress), Washington; and is now in the law office of Warner, Warner & Stackpole, Boston. He is a member of the Boston bar. He comes highly recommended by Dean Roscoe Pound, of the Harvard Law School, and by the Hon. Frank B. Kellogg, of St. Paul, former president of the American Bar Association.

Mr. Edgerton is married. He is the son of Charles E. Edgerton, graduate student at Cornell in 1897-98, 1899-1900; and a brother of Franklin Edgerton, Cornell A.B., '05, and of William F. Edgerton, Cornell A.B. '15.

Mr. Edgerton will give the courses on torts, equity and private corporations.

THOMAS J. HEADLEE, Ph.D., '06, state entomologist of New Jersey, will give a lecture before the Sigma Xi society Friday evening of this week entitled "A successful campaign against the New Jersey mosquito." The lecture will be given in Roberts Hall, will be illustrated, and will be open to the public.

A MEETING of the committee on general administration will be held at the President's office on May 20.

Named for Bank Fellowships

Six Cornell Students Recommended to the National City Bank

Six undergraduates have been recommended by Professor A. A. Young, of the department of economics, to the National City Bank, of New York, for the banking fellowships established recently by that institution. The fellowships have no connection with the University Faculty this year, although it is possible that a faculty committee may be appointed next year to prescribe the terms of the competition and select the winners. This year the men were selected by Professor Young personally at the request of the bank. No University credit will be given these men for time spent in study at the bank.

Three seniors, two juniors, and one sophomore were nominated, and the bank has signified its intention to take from three to six men. The men chosen were: L. H. Clarey '16, of Madison, N. J.; B. R. Gardner '16, of Montrose, Pa.; L. C. Shearer '16, of Ithaca; L. R. J. Edwards '17, of Salt Lake City, Utah; J. M. Pringle '17, of New York; and E. H. Eakle '18, of Washington, D. C. After the selections had been made Clarey resigned and F. J. Durham '16, of Chicago, was nominated.

The seniors will spend the year following their graduation at the bank in preparation for a permanent position, probably in the foreign field, the juniors will spend their next summer vacation and nine months more after graduation, and the sophomores will spend two vacations and six months after graduation.

Back to First Term Rushing

Fraternities Virtually Unanimous in Favor of the Change

The committee appointed by the Student Council to reorganize the fraternity rushing association reported the results of its investigation and submitted a provisional constitution to a meeting of fraternity men last week. The proposed constitution was to have been voted on early this week.

The main changes in the form of the rushing consist in the abandonment of the second term plan entirely, and the advancement of the rushing periods to a time not more than two weeks after the opening of the University. Practically all of the fraternities have expressed themselves as opposed to another effort to postpone rushing.

The establishment of an advisory council of five or seven men, to be elected from members of the faculty or from Ithaca alumni, which will advise the executive committee of the association, has also been proposed. A rule forbidding the pledging of freshmen who are to enter the University in the second term was recommended by the investigating committee and was to have been voted on this week.

DALLAS CORNELLIANs MEET

Cornell men living in Dallas, Texas, held an initial get-together meeting and luncheon at the Southland Hotel on Friday, April 28. It had been found that there were thirty-odd alumni living in the city of Dallas, and they had decided that they could benefit themselves and increase the university spirit in Dallas by having an occasional meeting. There were nineteen present at the luncheon on April 28. They decided to hold a similar luncheon on the first Friday in every month, at the Southland. Any Cornell men who are visiting in the city of Dallas will be welcome. The Dallas alumni hope to have a permanent organization soon and to be of some help to the Alumni Fund.

ORGANIZED IN DAYTON

The Cornell University Association of Dayton, Ohio, has recently been organized. The officers are: President, Harry I. Schenck '03; vice-president, Frank P. Nichols '08; secretary and treasurer, F. H. Tyler '13. The association will hold a smoker on Friday, May 19, at the Dayton Country Club.

1905 DINNER IN NEW YORK

Members of the class of 1905 had a dinner at the Cornell Club in New York on May 12. For a number of years the 1905 men in New York have been getting together at the club twice a year. The men new in this section were called upon to tell all about themselves since their graduation. Entertaining talks were given by Scheidenhelm, Porter, and Acker. The men at the dinner were William L. Acker, Neal D. Becker, Prentice Cushing, R. M. Falkenau, G. L. Genung, A. J. Haire, Mitchell Harris, William A. J. Morgan, George C. Pinger, H. F. Porter, H. J. Porter, William L. Ransom, Sidney Rossman, F. W. Scheidenhelm, E. P. Staats, and Everett C. Welsh.

THE SENIOR BANQUET will be held at the Clinton House next Saturday night, May 20. Among the speakers will be Willard Beahan '78 and President Schurman.

OBITUARY

John E. Sweet

John Edson Sweet, who was professor of practical mechanics and director of the machine shops in Sibley College from 1873 till 1879, died at his home in Syracuse, N. Y., on May 8, in his eighty-fourth year. He had been the president of the Straight Line Engine Works in Syracuse since 1880.

Professor Sweet was born at Pompey, N. Y., on October 21, 1832, the son of Horace and Candace (Avery) Sweet. He was educated in the district schools, was a farmer's boy, and was then, in 1850, a carpenter's apprentice; a builder and architect in the South till 1861, and an inventor and mechanical draftsman until 1873, when he took the directorship of the Sibley College shops.

Professor Sweet was one of the founders of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers in 1881 and was its president in 1883-4. The highest honor in the gift of the society, the John Fritz Medal, was bestowed on Professor Sweet in 1914 "in recognition of his achievements in machine design and his pioneer work in applying sound engineering principles to the construction and development of the high speed steam engine." He was an expert for the Government and one of the jurors on machine tools at the Chicago exposition; the first president of the Engine Builders' Association of the United States, 1899-1901; first president of the Technology Club of Syracuse, 1904, president of the John Fritz Medal Association, 1906, and president of the Syracuse Metal Trades Association, 1906-7. He published a book, "Things That Are Usually Wrong," in 1906, and he was a contributor to various publications on mechanics.

For a good many years Professor Sweet's birthday anniversary had been observed by "Professor Sweet's Boys," an organization formed by Cornell men who had studied under him and by others who had been associated with him in business. The present Dean of Sibley College had been one of his students and was a member of that organization.

Henry Floy '91

Henry Floy, M.E. (E.E.), '91, a consulting engineer, died on May 5 at his home in New York, in his forty-ninth year. He was born in Elizabeth, N. J., and studied at Wesleyan University, where he took the degrees of A.B. and A.M. He entered Sibley College in 1889 and was a student here for three years.

While he was a student here Floy was the president of the Christian Association. He played right end on the varsity football team. He was a member of the Psi Upsilon fraternity.

During 1892-98 he was associated with the Westinghouse Electric & Manufacturing Company in Pittsburgh, Chicago, and Minneapolis. In 1898 he went to New York City and was for three years associated with Professor R. C. Carpenter as consulting engineer. During the last fifteen years he had been in business for himself.

Mr. Floy was the author of several books on electrical engineering. He was a member of the jury of awards at the St. Louis exposition. He was a fellow of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers, and a member of the American Society of Civil Engineers, the National Electric Light Association, the American Electric Railway Association, the Illuminating Engineering Society, and the New York Electric Society. He married Miss Alice Van Benschoten, of East Orange, N. J., in 1895.

G. C. Robertson '92

George Clayton Robertson, Ph.B., '92, died on March 27 at his home in Fredonia, N. Y. He was a member of the faculty of the state normal school at Fredonia. He went there in 1914 from Madison, N. J., where he had been head master of the Madison Academy. Mr. Robertson was a member of the Beta Theta Pi fraternity.

David C. Scott '97

David Craig Scott, A.B., '97, an attorney of Newburgh, N. Y., died on April 23. He was found dead of a bullet wound, and a letter was found in which he had written that he was suffering from an incurable disease. Scott came to Cornell from Andes, N. Y. He rowed at No. 5 on the '97 freshman crew.

E. J. Gregson '06

Information has come to Sibley College that Edward Jesse Gregson, M.E., '06, joined the Canadian troops early in the war and was killed in battle in October, 1914.

Gregson was an Australian and was born in 1882. He graduated from the University of Sydney, New South Wales, and entered Sibley College in 1903. He was a member of the Cornell Cricket Club.

BISHOP TALBOT will preach in Sage Chapel on May 21.

CLASS OF 1881

The Thirty-five Year Reunion of the Class of 1881 will be held on Alumni Days, June 16 and 17, 1916. For those who wish, rooms have been reserved in Cascadilla Hall. Particular reunion events will be announced later, by the local committee, George L. Burr and H. H. Wing.

The Secretary would be very grateful for information from any one as to the post-office addresses of the following members of the Class of 1881 whom at present he is unable to locate:

William H. Bates, Frank E. Baxter, Josephine Chevalier, Elizabeth Downing (Mrs. E. D. Glenn), Jesse D. Hamrick, Gertrude B. Harlow (Mrs. Henry R. Wilson), Delos D. Jayne, Frederick P. Mesick, and Fred W. Rich.

H. H. WING, Secretary.

CONTINUOUS REUNION CLUB

The Continuous Reunion Club will hold its reunion this year on May 27, 28, 29, and 30. The feature of this season's program will be a great outdoor performance of "Romeo and Juliet" in honor of the Shakespeare Tercentenary.

A '96 CLASS DINNER

G. H. Stickney and H. O. Pond of the Class of '96 were members of a committee that gathered together a group of members of that class, with their wives or husbands, for dinner at the Forty-second Street Grill, 30 East Forty-second Street, New York, on May 12. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Hilton, Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Gaston, Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Wilson (Miss Eva E. Capron), Mr. and Mrs. F. P. Ufford

(Miss Bertha Tierney), Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Stickney, Mr. and Mrs. H. O. Pond, Mr. and Mrs. M. F. Benton, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Fisher, Mr. and Mrs. A. T. Scharps, and I. W. Smith.

1906—GENERAL NOTICE

The Ten Year Reunion is going to linger forever in the minds of those who are fortunate enough to be in it. Only lack of space prevents a narration in advance of the entertaining things that have been planned for the class. Two whole days of freedom from care—freedom to become ten years younger over night—two days of remarkable, marvelous, enticing, and incomparable entertainment.

Mark your calendar and tell your wife that business calls you to Ithaca on June 16 and 17.

ROGER S. VAIL, Chairman,
110 S. Dearborn St., Chicago.

1906—LISTEN TO THIS

The 1906 Alumni of New York City believe that they are maintaining the reputation of that city as the most aggressive and progressive city in the country. Their reunion record is a challenge to Chicago, Pittsburgh and other centres. Out of a total resident alumni of 123, 33 have been recruited to be in Ithaca on June 16 and more are signing up daily.

If the other parts of the country can come up to this, the challengers agree to stand treat to their conquerors, said treat to be far above Cayuga's water.

The costume is a peach! Not military, not naval, but with an eye for preparedness just the same. What is it? Do not ask. Maybe little Egypt, maybe German Admiral. You can learn details from the following who will wear it: W. C. Stevens, E. T. Foote, C. P. Johnson, T. B. Gilchrist, C. J. Walbran, C. W. Nichols, J. F. D. Hoge, H. P. DuBois, C. G. Peterson, H. S. Rowland, H. C. Frey, R. E. Marsh, W. T. Price, H. Peck, R. W. Krass, G. S. Whiting, J. H. Costello, I. B. Simonton, H. L. Curtis, L. D. Childs, J. H. Whitehead, N. R. Heater, N. E. Kernan, S. H. Woods, B. C. Bellows, P. Murchie, E. L. Davies, O. D. Roats, P. B. Ingham, C. T. Darby, W. D. Orvis, N. C. Johnson and Irvin W. Day.

1913 MEN ALL OUT!

This is the last call. Pack your bag and hop aboard. We're off for a big time. More than one hundred will be back. You can't afford to miss the treat of returning to the old place and greeting all your old friends. There are special trains from New York and Boston. Better arrive early in order to become acclimated to your new surroundings. Here's to THE DAY.

1913 REUNION

The women of the Class of 1913 will hold their reunion on June 16 and 17, the official reunion days. Rooms have been engaged at Sage College, with Room 85 as headquarters. Circular letters have been sent out, and the returns show that a large proportion of the class will be back. In case any member of the class did not receive her letter, she is requested to communicate with the chairman, Agnes Henderson Hoff, 627 Tuscarawas Avenue, New Philadelphia, Ohio.

ANNUAL DINNER AT ATLANTIC CITY

Following their usual custom, Cornellians attending the Railway Master Mechanics' and Master Car Builders' association conventions at Atlantic City, N. J., will meet for an annual banquet, which this year will be held at the Hotel Traymore on the evening of Saturday, June 17.

This will be the eleventh annual banquet of this association, and all Cornellians who are to be, or can arrange to be, at Atlantic City at that time are asked to get into communication with A. S. Lewis '02, who will be at the exhibit of the Chicago-Cleveland Car Roofing Company, on Young's Pier, throughout the convention, which opens on June 14.

INTERCOLLEGIATE TRACK MEET

Alumni may secure tickets for the Intercollegiate Track Meet, to be held in Cambridge Saturday, May 27, from the Cornell University Athletic Association, Ithaca, N. Y. Price of tickets, including reserved seats, $1.50.

THE MESSENGER PRIZE WINNER

An error was made when the NEWS last week spoke of Paul B. Schumm, the winner of the Messenger prize, as a graduate student in the College of Agriculture. He is a graduate student of history and literature, and has been this year assistant in medieval history. To the fact that he won the Guilford essay prize last year might have been added that in 1914 he won the Morrison prize in poetry. He is the son of George Schumm '81.

THE CIVIL ENGINEERS are leading in the collegiate baseball series.

OPENING OF WHITE PARK

To Alumni intending sometime to locate in Ithaca; and to others seeking home sites near the Cornell Campus:

In October last, the following advance notice appeared in the ALUMNI NEWS:

"For many years I have held in reserve the finest section of my lands, the elevated level plateau north of the Country Club grounds, overlooking the campus, the southwest valley and the lake, hoping that it might become the site of a Cayuga Heights Inn, which should be the home either temporary or permanent of many cultured families.

"I have reluctantly abandoned that idea, and decided to open the section next June for sale in lots. With that end in view, I am now having the road and park scheme prepared by Mr. Warren H. Manning of Boston, and hope to get the streets in this fall, so that the sidewalk and planting may be done next spring.

"The choicest portion of this section has been divided into ten plots. There are isolated lots in Ithaca equally fine; but as a community of residence sites, uniformly good, I think I am within bounds when I say there is nothing to equal it in Ithaca; and I cannot recall that I have ever seen anything anywhere that seems to me quite as attractive as a place for homes.

"I do not desire to sell any of the lots until next June. In the meantime correspondence is solicited from those who may be interested. A descriptive circular with map will be prepared for distribution in the near future."

Sixteen plots, fronting on White Park road and on East White Park, including the ten choice plots above referred to, will be ready for occupancy in June. The road plan and general lot scheme have been laid out by Mr. Warren H. Manning of Boston, and the planting scheme by Mr. H. A. Caparn of New York. Nothing has been spared in the effort to make this the finest residential section in Ithaca. The streets above mentioned have been graded. Gas and water pipes are being laid. Sidewalks and cement gutters are being constructed; and the slopes are being planted, and the parkings seeded, as rapidly as the construction permits. The streets are to be gravelled and oiled, and ornamental street trees planted before the end of the year; and it is hoped that something may be done in laying out paths through and around the beautiful wooded knolls adjoining the Country Club grounds.

The descriptive circulars are delayed because of the burning of Morse Hall which destroyed Mr. Troy's negatives, necessitating the taking of new photographs. They will be ready soon. Copies will then be forwarded to all inquirers. In the meantime, it might be well to take advantage of Spring Day (May 27th) to visit the Park. Kindly let me know in advance when and where to meet you.

J. T. NEWMAN.

Cornell 4, Vermont 3

The team kept up its winning streak by defeating Vermont on May 11 at Percy Field by the score of 4 to 3 in an uninteresting game. Cornell was slightly outbatted but won the game easily on account of the errors of the visitors. Sutterby pitched for the first time since the Columbia contest. He was hit safely seven times, but held the visitors fairly well with men on the bases.

Vermont started out by scoring in the first inning. Bell's fly along the right-field foul line was muffed by Burpee and Bell reached second base on the error. Butler hit safely over first base and stole second. Sutterby passed Pike, filling the bases. Bell scored when Sutterby fumbled Hamilton's hot grounder, but the next three men were easy outs; Sutterby struck out Palmer after Berry and Sunderland had flied out. Cornell came back in the same inning with two runs and kept ahead from then on. Sauters singled and stole second. He could not advance on Mellen's infield out but scored when Clary hit over the centerfielder's head for two bases. O'Connell's foul fly was caught by Hamilton, but Ludwig's fly to center was muffed, allowing Clary to score. After hitting Eckley Spear fanned Burpee, ending the inning.

Another run was scored in the third inning when Mellen singled, took third on a poor throw to first by Spear, and scored on a wild pitch. Vermont scored in much the same way in the sixth, but Cornell tallied again on the latter half of the same inning. Ludwig reached third on a passed ball after he had singled, and came home when Eckley bunted perfectly. The visitors scored for the last time in the eighth when Hamilton reached first on a fielder's choice, stole second, reached third on Berry's single, and scored on Eckley's error of Palmer's ground ball. Sutterby then struck out a pinch hitter, ending the rally. The score:

Cornell 1, Michigan 0

Russell's effective pitching was too much for Michigan in the first game of the Michigan-Cornell series, which was played at Ann Arbor last Saturday. Not one safe hit was made off his delivery until the ninth inning, when Roehm, a pinch hitter, knocked out a clean single. Cornell hit Miller safely six times, but could score only one run, and that one was the result of an error. The game was reported to be one of the tightest ever played in Ann Arbor.

Cornell's only run came in the fifth inning. With one out, Miller passed Ludwig. It was the only base on balls given by the Wolverine pitcher. Eckley hit safely through the pitcher's box, and Ludwig went to second. Waterhouse was so slow in fielding the ball which Miller had touched that Ludwig set out for third. The Michigan shortstop then threw wild to third and Ludwig scored. With Eckley on third Russell and Sauters were easy outs, and the scoring ended.

Michigan had men on first and second in the latter half of the same inning with one out, but the next two men hit toward third base and the base runners were forced out. Michigan had hopes of starting a rally in the ninth when Roehm, sent in to bat for Miller, made the only single allowed by Russell during the game. Russell then struck out Niemann and Harrington, and Labadie flied out to O'Connell, ending the game. The score:

Rowing

Varsity Eight As It Will Probably Row Against Harvard

The crews were handicapped last week by high winds on the Lake, and on several occasions was not able to leave the Inlet. Only one shift has been made in the past month in the first eight, and that was merely an exchange of seats between Lund and Brower, at three and seven. With only a few more days remaining before the Harvard race on May 20 it is improbable that the seating of the first boat will be changed. Brower is the only oarsman in the boat who did not row in the 1915 eight. The seating follows: bow, K. H. Fernow '16; two, R. G. Bird '16; three, L. G. Brower '18; four, Cowles Andrus '16; five, G. A. Worn '17; six, A. A. Cushing '17; seven, G. E. Lund '17; stroke, J. L. Collyer '17 (captain); cox., D. H. Chandler, jr., '16.

Track

Cornell 83 1-4, Pennsylvania 33 3-4

The track team swamped Pennsylvania in the annual dual meet last Saturday at Philadelphia by 83 1-4 to 33 3-4, almost exactly the same score that spelled defeat for Harvard at Ithaca the week before. Cornell won first place in nine of the thirteen events and tied for first in two others. Pennsylvania finished first in the half mile run and in the broad jump. Cornell won all three places in both the hurdle races, the mile, the two mile, and the shot-put.

The feature of the meet was the victory of Meredith, the Pennsylvania captain, in the half mile run. He broke the intercollegiate record and the world's record, making the distance in 1 minute 52 1-5 seconds. The world's record was three-tenths of a second slower and was made by Meredith at the Olympic games in Sweden four years ago. The intercollegiate record was made by D. S. Caldwell '14, two years ago, and is 1:53 2-5. In order to set his mark Saturday Meredith was forced to a hot finish by Windnagle, of Cornell, who had previously run the mile. Windnagle stuck to the Penn man's shoulder until twenty yards from the finish. At that point Meredith cut loose and won by three yards.

The summary:

120 Yard High Hurdles—Won by Starr, Cornell; Watt, Cornell, second; Gubb, Cornell, third. Time, 15 3-5 seconds.

100 Yard Dash—Tie between VanWinkle, Cornell, and Kauffman, Pennsylvania; Bartsch, Cornell, third. Time, 10 seconds.

Half Mile Run—Won by Meredith, Pennsylvania; Windnagle, Cornell, second; Taylor, Cornell, third. Time, 1 minute 52 2-5 seconds.

220 Yard Low Hurdles—Won by Acheson, Cornell; Lyford, Cornell, second; Watt, Cornell, third. Time, 25 2-5 seconds.

220 Yard Dash—Won by VanWinkle, Cornell; Kauffman, Pennsylvania, second; Bartsch, Cornell, third. Time, 22 2-5 seconds.

440 Yard Dash—Won by Crim, Cornell; Scudder, Pennsylvania, second; Shelton, Cornell, third. Time, 50 seconds.

Mile Run—Won by Beckwith, Cornell; Windnagle, Cornell, second; Irish, Cornell, third. Time, 4 minutes, 26 1-5 seconds.

Two Mile Run—Won by Potter, Cornell; Hoffmire, Cornell, second; Corwith, Cornell, third. Time, 9 minutes 35 seconds.

Putting the Shot—Tie between Richards and Howell, Cornell, 42 feet 6 1-4 inches; Moore, Cornell, third, 42 feet 1 3-4 inches.

Throwing the Hammer—Won by McCormick, Cornell, 147 feet 7 inches; Matthews, Pennsylvania, second, 138 feet 4 1-4 inches; Dixon, Cornell, third, 131 feet 5 1-2 inches.

Broad Jump—Won by Bertolet, Pennsylvania, 22 feet 4 inches; Culbertson, Cornell, second, 21 feet 11 inches; Richards, Cornell, third, 21 feet.

High Jump—Tie between McLaren, Cornell, and Turner, Crane, and Diebold, Pennsylvania, 5 feet 8 inches.

Pole Vault—Won by Foss, Cornell, 12 feet 6 inches; Newstetter, Pennsylvania, second, 12 feet; Sewell, Pennsylvania, third, 11 feet 6 inches.

Mister Enuf Is Here

All Ready for Spring Day—And Don't Forget the Date, May 27

The perennial riddle has been solved; the name of the Spring Day circus has been divulged in the Sun without any one having known it beforehand, except of course the privileged few. Posters appeared a few weeks ago all over Ithaca, showing a detective disguised in a check suit with a moustache and a helmet hat, looking stealthily for somebody. It turned out, that this person was looking for a "Mr. E." Numerous rhymes were then produced by the Sun (anonymously), containing puns about the mystery of Mr. E., etc.

Well, it finally turned out that Mr. E. was Mr. Enuf, the patron saint of Spring Day. It is he who will superintend the various shows on the great Midway, to be set up on Schoellkopf Field. He has brought over from the wilds of Abyssinia the greatest collection of freaks ever collected, including dachshunds six feet long, real wild men that eat raw meat, and bear mascots. Under his kindly guidance the Sibley boys will put across their favorite stunt of assembling a Ford in five minutes, the Civil Engineers will run their old game, the Nigger Dip, the campus preparedness parade will be held, and a jitney dance will be staged. You will also have a chance to drive nails into a wooden statue of a man famous in Morrill Hall, for one cent per nail.

The crowning feature of the circus will be the great 500-mile pushmobile contest between the freshman classes of various fraternity houses in cars built by themselves according to a standard design. There will be other features, too numerous to mention.

Lacrosse.—The team continued to show a remarkable scoring ability in the league game against Hobart played on Schoellkopf Field last Saturday, winning by the score of 16 to 3. Harvard and Yale remain to be beaten before the championship can be claimed, but as Harvard was beaten Saturday by Stevens, a team which Cornell defeated 19 to 1, the chances for the championship look good at present. The team goes to Cambridge to play Harvard on May 20, and will meet Yale the following Monday at New Haven.

Tennis.—Yale defeated the varsity tennis team at New Haven last Saturday. The Blue took every one of the six matches. Cornell was without the services of Blair, who plays second man on the team. Weber, of Yale, defeated Captain Hunter, Cornell, 2-6, 9-7, 6-2; Stoddard, Yale, defeated Callahan, Cornell, 6-2, 6-3; Hopkins, Yale, defeated Thompson, Cornell, 7-5, 4-6, 6-2; and Ball, Yale, defeated Benedict, Cornell, 6-2, 3-6, 6-0. In the doubles Weber and Stoddard, Yale, defeated Hunter and Callahan, Cornell, 6-3, 4-6, 6-2; and Kelley and Seligson, Yale, defeated Thompson and Benedict, Cornell, 6-4, 6-3.

Freshman Baseball.—The team defeated Lafayette High School, of Buffalo, by the score of 2 to 1 on Percy Field last Saturday. The game was the second of their schedule.

ALUMNI NOTES

'72, M.S.—Dr. David Starr Jordan, chancellor of Stanford University, has retired with the title of chancellor emeritus.

'81, Ph.B.—The ninth course of lectures on the Herter Foundation at Johns Hopkins University was given by Dr. Theobald Smith, director of the department of animal pathology, the Rockefeller Institute for Medical Research, on May 11, 12, and 15. The subject was "The relation of infectious and immunizing processes to the general phenomenon of parasitism."

'83, C.E.—The New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad Company has announced that Edward J. Pearson, formerly of the Texas & Pacific, has been appointed an additional vice-president of the New Haven to act as a general assistant to Howard Elliott, president and chairman of the board, with headquarters at Boston. Mr. Pearson, in particular, will have charge of all matters relating to construction, operation, and maintenance. Mr. Pearson is a brother of the late Leonard Pearson '88 and of Raymond A. Pearson '94, president of Iowa State College. In announcing the appointment the Wall Street Journal said: "Mr. Pearson is of New England stock and is familiar with the territory. When in the service of the Northern Pacific he made a very thorough examination of the wharf and dock properties of the New Haven Road all the way from New York to Boston, so that he might be able to help the construction of similar facilities at Duluth and Puget Sound. He also walked the greater part of the distance from New York to Springfield for the purpose of examining New Haven track and maintenance methods. Mr. Pearson has had a varied career in both the engineering and operating departments of railroads and is rated among the best railroad engineering and operating men in the country. He completed an engineering course at Cornell University and entered railroad service in 1880 as rodman on the Missouri Pacific and later located the line from Atchison, Kansas, to Falls City and Omaha, Neb. In 1885 he became assistant engineer on the Northern Pacific and constructed many of that company's lines in the Northwest. In 1903 he became assistant general superintendent of the Northern Pacific and later became chief engineer of the same road. In December 1905 he was appointed chief engineer in charge of the construction of Chicago, Milwaukee & Puget Sound Railroad and continued in that position until the road was finished. During the construction of this road expenditures of more than $200,000,000 were made under his direction. In May, 1911, when B. F. Bush was elected president of the Missouri Pacific, Mr. Pearson was chosen as operating vice-president because of his all-around operating and engineering knowledge, both of which were considered essential in working out the chaotic conditions which at that time existed on the Missouri Pacific and which later gave place to a strong organization and a tremendous improvement in efficiency. In 1915 Mr. Pearson went to the Texas & Pacific as first vice-president in charge of operations, and has made a gratifying record upon this property. While there he had charge of the construction at New Orleans of one of the largest and most complete terminal and warehouse properties on the Gulf for the joint use of the Texas & Pacific and the St. Louis & Iron Mountain Railroads. These terminals and new stations were formally opened and placed in service on Feb. 15, 1916, with fitting ceremonials."

'91—Willard Austen, Librarian of the Cornell University Library, has been made a Fellow of the American Library Institute, an organization with a limited membership for the investigation and discussion of the larger library problems. Members are selected through the American Library Association, which now numbers somewhat more than one thousand members.

'91, M.M.E.—Clarence L. Cory, dean of the college of mechanics of the University of California, has been elected president of the California chapter of Sigma Xi.

'91, A.B.—Bertha P. Reed is a missionary of the Woman's Board of Missions at Peking, China.

'99, M.E.—W. C. Dalzell, jr., is a division engineer with the Portland Cement Association. His address is 138 Franklin Street, Poughkeepsie, N. Y.

'01, A.B.—Philip S. Dickinson has changed his address from Berkeley, Cal., to 14 East Jackson Boulevard, Chicago, in care of the American Seating Company.

'04, M.E.—First Lieutenant Samuel H. McLeary, Coast Artillery Corps, U. S. A., is now stationed at Corregidor, Philippine Islands.

The time has come when everybody needs a typewriter. That's the reason we have built a typewriter for everybody. It is the

REMINGTON JUNIOR

The junior is "Remington" in everything—in name, in manufacture, in quality, in the work it does, in the guarantee that backs it. It is just a boiled down Remington, smaller, lighter and so simple that any one can operate it. No lessons needed.

And it sells for $50—absolutely the first high-grade typewriter at a medium price. You can buy it on easy terms—$5 down and $5 a month.

Here is our offer. We are so sure that the Remington Junior is just the typewriter that you need that we will send it on ten days' free examination to any address within the first and second parcel post zones of any Remington branch office.

When you get it, look it over—make sure for yourself that it is everything we say it is—the typewriter you have always needed.

But the first thing to do is to Hinchliff's father was the chairman of the commission and Hinchliff was the secretary. The picture was taken in Montevideo, where the commission spent four days. The commissioners were entertained by a Uruguayan committee of fifteen persons, being guests at a banquet given by the Minister of Finance, visiting places like the University of Montevideo, the School of Commerce, the Institute of Agriculture, and various factories and exporting establishments, and finally having a special train on which to make an all-day trip into the interior.

WHEN YOU COME BACK

You are probably beginning to think of your Class Reunion or your annual vacation. While in Ithaca, spend a little time at the Co-op., where you will find suitable souvenirs and cross section papers which you will probably need in your business. You might use the Co-op. as a meeting place, where you can meet some of your friends whom you have not seen for two or three years.
