Another Example of Skill With Alloys

Graver's skill with alloys is demonstrated by a long and successful record of fabricating aluminum tank cars for the Union Tank Car Company, North America's largest tank car fleet owner.

Aluminum isn't always the easiest metal to weld. In fact, some of the aluminum alloys are downright pesky at times. But never so much so that Graver can't handle them competently.

Forming, fitting and welding aluminum for tank cars, and for any number of other things, is done with the craftsmanship you would expect from a company with Graver's 100 years of experience in metal fabrication.

Summary of Advices on 850 Stocks

Now is the time to put your investment house in order so that you may protect and increase your capital in 1959. Not for many years past have there been such wide discrepancies in the performance of individual stocks. The surprising extent to which all stocks ranked in Group I (Highest) by the Value Line Survey have outperformed all stocks ranked in Group V (Lowest) during the past nine months is a matter of record. (The audited results will be submitted to you for your own appraisal.)

Your first step should be to check each of your stocks to see how they measure up for Probable Market Performance in the next 12 months (whether in Rank I [Highest], II, III, IV, or V [Lowest]), how they rate for Value, Safety, Income, and Appreciation Potentiality over a 3 to 5 year pull. The Value Line Survey provides objective and specific measures on each count. These Rankings are available exclusively in the Value Line Survey.

With the latest SUMMARY before you, available only in the Value Line Survey, you would have at your fingertips the conclusions reached in the 1,000-page Value Line Survey, enabling you to check every one of your stocks against objective and current measurements of value, to choose the strongest and safest stocks for your own list. A copy of the latest Value Line SUMMARY will be sent you at no extra charge under the Special Introductory Offer below.

A SPECIAL $5 INTRODUCTORY OFFER*

Under this special offer, you would receive at no extra cost the following valuable investment aids to guide you to safer and more profitable investing:

Berry '04 Upholds Pegler

"Alma Mater" Is Not "Annie Lisle"

WESTBROOK PEGLER in a recent syndicated newspaper column is critical of "most of the college hymns" and says of them "... unless I carelessly err, only the Cornell song, 'Cayuga's Waters,' is original and sweet."

The book, Songs of Cornell, credits the tune of the "Alma Mater" to "Amici" and it is generally said that it is also the tune of the old song, "Annie Lisle." But according to the late Romeyn Berry '04, Pegler is right that the "Alma Mater" is original; at least, it is not the music of "Annie Lisle." In his ALUMNI NEWS column, "Now, In My Time," April 15, 1947, Berry treated this matter as follows:

The mild controversy now going on between the new leader of the Band on the one side and practically all the Ithaca grown-ups on the other, stems from the false assumption that "Annie Lisle" and the Cornell "Alma Mater" are one and the same tune. They aren't, of course, even though many song books state that they are.

Band Leader Learns Difference

The new leader of the Band, a sound musician, discovered quickly upon his arrival at Ithaca that the accustomed Cornell rendition of the Alma Mater had departed from the classical interpretation of "Annie Lisle." This error he corrected promptly, thus unwittingly outraging the finer feelings of all old timers at the first football game where the Band appeared. A brief historical sketch here may serve to brush aside the fog of mutual misunderstanding in which the parties now battle.

"Annie Lisle," the song, was a sentimental ballad extremely popular with American undergraduates immediately before and after the Civil War. It had reached the peak of its popularity about 1870, when Cornell students were groping for a distinctive anthem of their own. Not unnaturally, its haunting melody rang through the heads of inexperienced bards in their moments of poetic catharsis, and unconsciously determined their verse form for them.

But the stanzas which then emerged, and have survived, are entirely different from those of "Annie Lisle" in theme, spirit, and pace. The tempo of the original melody was not at all adapted to expressing the feelings of "Far above Cayuga's waters," or to lifting the chorus or speeding it on its way. Consequently, the music had to be greatly modified for local use, and promptly was.

Annie Had Alarming Symptoms

In the original lyrics of H. S. Thompson, Annie Lisle is introduced and described with the opening stanza. In the second, she develops alarming symptoms, aggravated, no doubt, by the dampness of her home where "the waving willows" created shadows "o'er the murmur'g waters." And in the third stanza, she passes away, to the grief of the author who seems to have held her in high esteem. Quite properly, the music of the piece expresses the lugubrious progress of events. The chorus drags and quavers more and more as Annie grows worse and worse. The third time over, it becomes a dirge calculated to make the undergraduates of 1870 saturate their whiskers with salt tears while attempting to sob out the concluding sentiment:

Wave willows. Murmur waters.
Golden sunbeams, smile.
Earthly music cannot waken
Lovely Annie Lisle.

Many of our readers have doubtless shared the harrowing experience while participating in a convivial musical evening at Princeton or New Haven, of having some charming sot get up and suggest that in honor of the distinguished guest from Cornell, the company now render "Far above Cayuga's waters." They will recall their thrill of pleased anticipation, which straightway gave place to horror, as their delightful hosts assumed expressions of personal grief and droned out "Lift the chorus, speed it onward" in such wise as to make it certain that no earthly music, however alcoholic, could ever again wake up Annie Lisle; or the party!

Something of the sort has lately been happening in Ithaca when the Cornell Band, purporting to play the Alma Mater at games, has played it in a manner to suggest musically, not that their University still lives vibrant and triumphant, but that Annie is still dead!

What Cornell University now seems to need most, after the social and artistic disruptions of war, is education. This can best be supplied in the case under discussion by playing over and over to the undergraduates generally, and to the members of the Band in particular, the accepted interpretation of the Alma Mater as recorded by the Cornell Glee Club before Pearl Harbor and widely distributed by the Alumni Association. There is nothing funereal about that. The pace is gay and joyous, as befits the lyric. The music takes the chorus and lifts it indeed! One can listen to that record serene in the conviction that no one connected with its making had ever heard of the unfortunate Annie, or had ever spent a convivial evening of song at either New Haven or Princeton.

Plantings Memorialize "BA"

A SPRING PROJECT in the Cornell Plantations will be to improve the area along the road from Dwyer's Dam, back of the Crescent. This will be done as a memorial to the late Professor Bristow Adams, Extension, with funds provided by his friends. The hillside that goes up to the Crescent and the other side of the road toward Cascadilla Creek will be cleared of undergrowth and planted with native dogwood, redbud, and cornelian cherry to beautify this main approach to the Campus from the east. The Bristow Adams plantings will extend to the lilacs that border Hoy Field along this road. Professor Adams had important influence in furthering the Plantations idea. He started The Cornell Plantations quarterly and edited it for fourteen years until his death in November, 1957.

The group of Sponsors of the Cornell Plantations has been enlarged to thirty-five members. Besides those listed in the February ALUMNI NEWS, its members are Leon B. Allen '13, Fred B. Wiperman '13, Linton Hart '14, Nelson M. Wells '18, Richard B. Farnham '23, Carroll C. Grimmer '24, Mrs. Searle H. vonStorch (Helen Nichols) '24, Carl F. Wedell '24, Richard P. White, PhD

'26, Mrs. Myron Zucker (Isabel Schnapper) '26, Edwin W. Hicks '30, Donald Wyman, PhD '35, Henry T. Skinner '36, and Raymond C. Allen, PhD '38. George H. Rockwell '13 is chairman of the Plantations Sponsors.

Study Auto Safety

DETAILED information about automobile accidents in Worcester, Mass., is being studied in the University's Automotive Crash Injury Research program in New York City. It is used with similar information from Youngstown, Ohio, and rural areas in seventeen States to find out how passengers can be protected. The data received by CIR is analyzed and made available to automobile manufacturers and designers, so that present safety features can be assessed and new ones planned for future models. Certain safety features first recommended by CIR, such as use of safety belts, are credited with preventing thousands of deaths and serious injuries.

A new sampling procedure which was tested last year in Arizona is being used in Worcester. It involves the use of three report forms. A short form giving basic information is filled out by the traffic investigators for most crashes. Two other forms are used for every tenth accident. The police investigator completes a long form which supplies CIR with detailed information. The examining physician completes the other form, dealing with injuries to passengers, and returns it to the Worcester Board of Health. Once a month, reports are sent to CIR in New York City. It is expected that this procedure will ultimately become standard for the CIR program throughout the country.

The year-long project in Worcester is sponsored by the Worcester County Traffic & Safety Council, the city manager's Traffic Enforcement Committee, the Worcester Police Department, and the City Department of Public Health. Working with these agencies are Robert M. Tracy, Myron I. Macht, and Max deNovellis of the CIR staff.

Rasmussen '19 Retires

PROFESSOR MARIUS P. RASMUSSEN '19, Marketing, retired January 31, having been in the College of Agriculture for most of forty-four years. He is said to be the first to specialize in the marketing of fruits and vegetables.

Born in Melrose, he entered Agriculture in 1915, received the BS in 1919, and for a year was agricultural economist at University of Vermont. He returned to the Graduate School and in 1922 was appointed Extension instructor in Agricultural Economics & Farm Management. Shortly after receiving the PhD in 1924, he was appointed professor of Marketing. He has been adviser to many Federal, State, cooperative, and private organizations, consulting editor to trade magazines, and has written numerous State and Federal publications on marketing and agricultural economics. In 1929, he attended the First International Conference of Agricultural Economists in Europe, and studied markets in England and Denmark. His most recent research concerns the retailing of potatoes in plastic bags and (with Professor Ora Smith, Vegetable Crops) consumer acceptance of using potatoes selected by their specific gravity for boiling and baking. He is a member of Alpha Zeta, Sigma Xi, Phi Kappa Phi, American Marketing Association, American Farm Economics Association, and other professional societies.

His sons are Allen E. Rasmussen '42 and Kenneth E. Rasmussen '50. Mrs. Rasmussen died in October, 1957. Professor Rasmussen is taking a long vacation in Florida, then will continue his research and consulting on marketing of fruits and vegetables. Pursuing a lifelong interest in Danish culture and history, from his own heritage, he hopes to do research and write on Danish history from about 900 to 1300 and to make a critical analysis of the popular concept of "pure Nordic strains."

Resort Hotelmen Gather

FIFTH ANNUAL Hotel Management Workshop in Statler Hall, January 26-30, brought thirty-three resort hotel operators to discuss "The Forward Look in Resort Hotels." The participants attended panel discussions and heard speeches on such subjects as sales and promotion, personnel relations, management techniques, guest relations, engineering developments, travel trends, and the future of resort hotels. Sponsoring the workshop were the School of Hotel Administration, American Hotel Association, and New York State Hotel Association. Professor J. William Conner '40, managing director of the Statler Inn, was in charge of arrangements for the workshop. Professor Gerald W. Latin, PhD '49, Hotel Administration, acted as host, in the absence of Professor Conner and Dean Howard B. Meek, who were attending the national convention of the Club Managers Association of America in Houston, Tex., and later in Japan on an educational mission for the US Air Force.

Among Cornellians attending the workshop were Walter I. L. Duncan '20, account executive for Robert Eastman [41] Inc., Ithaca advertising agency; H.

National Merit Scholarships are awarded to high school students in national competition, for four years in any college or university, with supplementary grants to the institutions they enter. Cornell has forty-seven Merit Scholarship winners, of whom twelve are Freshmen. Besides Sears-Roebuck, their scholarships are supported by National Merit Scholarship Corp., International Business Machines Corp., Edwin T. Meredith Foundation, American Bank Note Co., American Cyanamid Co., Bryant Chucking Grinder Co., Food Machinery & Chemical Foundation, Gillette Co., International Nickel Co., Lilly Endowment, Moses M. & Marion Marcuse Fund, National Distillers & Chemical Corp., Public Service Electric & Gas Co., Shell Companies Foundation, David T. Siegel Foundation.

Victor Grohmann '28 and Howard A. Heinsius '50, president and vice-president of Needham & Grohmann, Inc., New York City advertising agency; George Fauerbach '35, director of restaurants for Williamsburg [Va.] Restoration, Inc.; Conrad Engelhardt '42, president and general manager of Inverurie Hotel, Paget, Bermuda; Peter F. Roland '49, manager of The Homestead, Lake Placid; Henry J. Purchase '50, head of the department of hotel management at Paul Smith College; and Kenneth D. Fisher '51, manager of Hidden Valley-Otsego Ski Club, Gaylor, Mich.

Reed '98 Gives Records

REPRESENTATIVE Daniel Alden Reed '98, re-elected last fall for his nineteenth term in the US House of Representatives, died February 19 after a heart attack in Walter Reed Army Medical Center, Washington, D.C. He was eighty-three. Shortly before his death, he had given his public and private papers to the University. His correspondence, diaries, notes, photographs, and family records are deposited in the University Archives and Regional History Collection. His home was in Dunkirk.

Reed was the third-oldest member of Congress in service and was senior member of the House Ways & Means Committee. A native of Sheridan, he received the LLB in 1898 and was admitted to the Bar in 1900. He practiced law in Dunkirk and for five years was attorney for the State Excise Department. In 1917-18, he was a member of a Federal commission to investigate the food situation in Europe and his notes there and rare war pictures taken by a French photographer assigned to the commission are included in his gift. He was first elected to the House of Representatives in 1918 and served continuously except from 1949-53.

A conservative Republican, he was a vigorous opponent of New Deal domestic policies. He opposed the administration's foreign policy as World War II approached and after Pearl Harbor, while supporting the nation's war effort, continued to keep close watch on the administration's financial policies. He was a leader of the opposition to some of the financial and foreign policies of the Truman administration. He voted against the Marshall Plan and Turkish-Greek aid and was critical of tax and tariff policies and reciprocal trade agreements. Reed had been a member since 1939 and president the last four years of the American group of the Inter Parliamentary Union, composed of fifty nations.

He played Varsity football for two years and was heavyweight wrestling champion of the University. He assisted with football coaching in 1902 and from 1912-17 and was head coach in 1910 & 1911. Reed was a member of Delta Chi and Quill & Dagger.

Gifts Make Memorials

THE UNIVERSITY has received bequests and gifts from a number of Cornellians and others for scholarships and other purposes.

From the estates of Perley S. Wilcox '97, who died in 1953, and his widow have come bequests of about $50,000 for the College of Engineering; about $382,800, the income to be used for research in the Medical College; and the Perley S. & Isabelle V. Wilcox Fund estimated at $153,000, income to be used for grants to needy students. Wilcox had been board chairman of Eastman Kodak Co.

The widow of Waldo S. Kellogg '93 left a trust fund of $75,000 to endow scholarships in the College of Architecture in his memory. Kellogg received the BS in Architecture and practiced with firms in New York City. He died in 1928 and Mrs. Kellogg died in 1957.

A gift of $12,000 from the widow of the late Professor Frank B. Morrison, Animal Husbandry, will endow scholarships for Juniors and Seniors in that Department as a memorial to him. Professor Morrison died April 7, 1958. Their sons are Roger B. Morrison '34 and Spencer H. Morrison '39.

Elizabeth Reamer Carson Scholarship Endowment of $25,000 is the gift of James H. Carson and his wife, the former Elizabeth Reamer '27, of Westfield, N.J. It will support scholarships for students in Arts & Sciences. Mrs. Carson received the AB in 1927. She is a member of Pi Beta Phi. Their daughter is Hartley E. Carson '61.

An endowment of $5,000 for graduate scholarships in memory of the late Professor Helen Canon, PhD '30, is the gift of her sister, Eva Tolman Canon, and Professor Beulah Blackmore, Home Economics, Emeritus. Preference will be given to students majoring in the Department of Economics of the Household & Household Management that Professor Canon headed for twenty-two years until she retired in 1952. She died in 1954.

A trust fund comprising most of the estate of the late George L. Genung '05 will come to the University at his sister's death. Genung was a justice of the New York City municipal court from 1917-51 and had since practiced law. He died January 7, 1958.

The Medical College in New York received two bequests and a memorial gift. Dr. George H. Palmer, MD '07, who died December 12, 1956, provided in his will a fund of $45,000 for use of two Departments in the College. Dr. Samuel Hollander, MD '06, who died May 21, 1957, made a bequest of $3000 to endow an annual student prize. Friends of the late Dr. Thomas C. Rennie, professor of Social Psychiatry in the Medical College, gave nearly $18,500 to endow a memorial scholarship in his name for students doing research in social psychiatry.

New Veterinary Dean

DR. GEORGE C. POPPENSIEK, MS '51, (above) has been named to succeed William A. Hagan, MS '17, as Dean of the Veterinary College. The appointment becomes effective July 1, upon Dean Hagan's retirement.

Dr. Poppensiek is head of immunological investigations at the US Department of Agriculture Plum Island Animal Disease Laboratory on Long Island. He was in the two-year course in Agriculture, 1936-37, then went to University of Pennsylvania, where he received the VMD in 1942. He returned to Cornell in 1949 as director of the diagnostic laboratory in the Veterinary College. From 1951-55, he was research associate in the Veterinary Virus Research Institute and from 1953-55, he was acting associate professor of Veterinary Bacteriology. He will also become professor of Microbiology when he takes office as Dean next July.

Before joining the Cornell Faculty, Dr. Poppensiek was a department head with the Lederle Laboratories division of American Cyanamid Co., assistant professor of veterinary science at University of Maryland, and assistant instructor at University of Pennsylvania School of Veterinary Medicine. He is a member of the US Livestock Sanitary Association, Veterinary Medical Association, Sigma Xi, and Phi Zeta, veterinary honor society. In 1958, he received a certificate of merit from the US Department of Agriculture for outstanding service. He is married and has a son and a daughter.

Why Boardman Hall Goes

EDITOR: There seems to be a good deal of misunderstanding and some hard feeling about the replacement of Boardman Hall by a new Library building. Let me try to put the case in a few words.

The chief present need of the University is a new Library; indeed, two libraries, for it is increasingly clear that an Undergraduate Library and a Research Library are different things. The Undergraduate Library requires about 200,000 books all on open shelves; accessory rooms such as music rooms, poetry-listening rooms, smoking rooms, typewriting rooms, and over a thousand seats. The Research Library needs space for our two million books, which before long will be three million, seminary rooms, professors' studies, students' carrels, and about 100 reading-room seats.

To provide these facilities, several proposals have been made. One, advocated by Gilmore Clarke '13, is to extend the present Library to the west. This would make a gigantic pile; its west front would stand fifteen stories above the ground; its vertical arrangement, with its banks for elevators, would be inconvenient for work, and its great western wall would evoke many outcries of aesthetic pain.

Another possibility is to extend the present Library to the south. This would create a high wall almost as far as Willard Straight Hall, and would cut off all but a glimpse of our famous view. A third possibility is to build the Research Library on the outskirts of the Campus, a mile away. But the Research Library and the Undergraduate Library should be adjacent, so that undergraduate students may call for books from the Research Library, and, at need, have access to it. There are other obvious reasons why the Research Library should be in a central position.

The Trustees decided by unanimous vote (with one abstention) to proceed with the building on the Boardman Hall site. They were moved by this argument: that Boardman Hall now provides 25,000 square feet of floor space; that by rebuilding the whole interior it could be enlarged to 40,000 square feet; and that the Library to be built will contain 250,000 square feet. We must accept the consequences of our growth, even when it entails regrettable change.

Boardman Hall, built in 1892, is one of our better-looking Campus buildings. It is a pity to tear down one of the admirable works of Architect William H. Miller '72. But the new Library will be a handsome building too, and will carry on as far as possible the structural character of the old Library. When it is once in place, I think we shall hear few expressions of regret.

Boardman Hall has served us well during its sixty-seven years. But after all, as Arthur H. Dean '19 of the Board of Trustees remarked, Cambridge University recently built a much-needed modern library. To do so, they had to tear down a row of fourteenth-century houses.

"Tom" Herson Dies

THOMAS A. HERSON died in Ithaca, February 8, at the age of eighty-two. He was known to successive generations of Cornellians as the proprietor, with his brothers, John, James, and Matthew Herson, of the old Alhambra Hotel on Aurora Street from early in the century until after the first world war. Later, he ran the Alhambra in the former Tompkins House at the corner of Aurora and Seneca Streets, now torn down. The Class of '12 counted "Tom" Herson as an unofficial member and men of that Class and of many others were his special friends. He lived with his daughter, Mrs. Beverly Herson Greenwood, at 415 Cadilla Street, Ithaca.

Makes Mercy Drug

NEW DRUG that is ten times as effective a pain killer as morphine has been invented by Dr. Nathan B. Eddy, MD '11, chief of the analgesia section of the US Public Health Service National Institute of Arthritis & Metabolic Diseases at Bethesda, Md. The drug, made by Dr. Eddy and Dr. Everette L. May, is known as NIH7519 and is now under intensive trial at the US Public Health Service hospital for drug addiction at Lexington, Ky. and at medical centers in Philadelphia, Los Angeles, and New York City. Besides killing pain ten times better than morphine (and fifty times better than codeine, another habit-forming pain-killer), NIH7519 produces less nausea, sleepiness, and breath loss than morphine; can be given either by mouth or by needle; and, most important, is possibly less addicting than morphine. Although NIH7519's addicting properties are still in doubt, withdrawal symptoms observed so far have been mild. This is an encouraging sign, Dr. Eddy reports.

Dr. Eddy has been a leader in investigating new narcotics for control of pain. In 1936, he was co-discoverer of "metopon," a pain-suppressing drug for which he received the first award of the American Pharmaceutical Manufacturers' Association. Before joining the US Public Health Service in 1939, he was research professor of pharmacology at University of Michigan from 1930 and taught also at University of Alberta. He is secretary of the drug addiction committee of the National Research Council and a member and former chairman of the expert committee on narcotic drugs, World Health Organization.

Music Draws Crowds

CONCERTS by a string orchestra from Italy, an internationally famous tenor, and two of the world's foremost string quartets provided the community a wide variety of musical fare in January and February.

The Società Corelli, composed of thirteen string players from Rome, gave a concert of music for small orchestra in Bailey Hall, January 20. Included were concerti by Corelli (in whose honor the Società was named), Marcello, Boccherini, Vivaldi, and Benjamin Britten. February 24, the world famous Swedish tenor, Jussi Bjöerling, presented the fifth in this year's Bailey Hall series. He delighted a capacity audience with a program of great operatic arias, Schubert lieder, and songs by Richard Strauss, Rachmaninoff, and Grieg. Particularly excellent in his outstanding program were three songs by Schubert, "Frühlinglaube," "Die Forelle," and "Ständchen"; Grieg's "En Dröm," and "Come un bel Di di Maggio" from Act IV of Giordano's "Andrea Chenier."

The Budapest String Quartet came to Ithaca for the thirteenth time, January 13, to give the second of the chamber music series in Alice Statler Auditorium. They performed with their usual skill and virtuosity three works representing the "classical," the modern, and the romantic forms of the quartet. Opening was Haydn's "Quartet in G Minor," Opus 74, No. 3 ("The Horseman"). This was followed by Hindemith's "Quartet in E Flat" (dedicated to the Budapest String Quartet), and by Brahms' "Quartet in A Minor, Opus 51, No. 2." The Parrenin Quartet, France's foremost string quartet, made its first appearance in Ithaca, February 17, in Alice Statler Auditorium, and presented a concert which included Stravinsky's "Concertino," Beethoven's "Quartet in F Minor, Opus 95," and Debussy's "Quartet in G Minor." High point for many Cornellians was the performance of "Quartet No. 2" by Professor Karel Husa, Music. The work, which received its first public performance by the Parrenin Quartet at the Paris International Music Festival, was well received by the audience and by reviewers in the Cornell Sun and Ithaca Journal.

A Geological Classic

By PROFESSOR JOHN W. WELLS, PhD '33, Geology

WHY ARE WE SO bemused by firsts? The first printed book, the first incandescent lamp, the first photograph, the first telegraph key, the first aeroplane? Is it because of a respect for them as symbols of the birth of prodigies? Whatever may be the rationale of such historic relics, the University Library has recently added another first to its hoard. This is the first great geological map, A Delineation of the Strata of England and Wales, with part of Scotland: exhibiting the Collieries and Mines, the Marshes and Fen Lands originally overflowed by the Sea, etc., by W. Smith. Published by J. Cary, 181 Strand, London, August 1st, 1815.

Unlike many firsts, this magnificent map is impressive even by comparison with the best geologic maps of today. It is not the first geologic map, but it is the first map to show the geology of a large area, and the first to embody many of the modern concepts of earth history. It yields to no subsequent map in the beauty of its cartography and geologic coloring.

Map Maker Transformed Geology

But the most important thing about this map is that it was produced single-handedly by a man who belonged to none of the established schools of geology of the time. William Smith was a land surveyor who developed independently his own ideas of the order and distribution of the earth's rock strata, ideas which soon transformed the whole science of geology and made possible the identification of strata of the same age wherever they may occur. He was one of those who uncovered the Rosetta Stone of earth history, the use of fossils to identify strata.

For many years around the turn of the eighteenth century, Smith travelled throughout England and Wales, sometimes covering as much as 10,000 miles a year, noting the occurrence and distribution of the various kinds of rocks. The culmination of these labors of love was his great map of 1815, whereon he depicted for the first time the rock strata of England and Wales.

Like so many firsts, Smith had great difficulty finding backing for the publication of his map. Few if any of the geologists of the time had an interest in his work, but at last John Cary, a printer, decided to take a chance. He did not nigger over Smith's elaborate plans for a map measuring 6 by 8½ feet, to be handcolored in twenty-three different colors. Fifteen large copper plates were engraved and the fifteen sheets printed from them fitted together to complete the whole map. It could be purchased in sets of loose sheets, mounted on canvas and roller, or bound in atlas form. It was expensive to prepare, each complete copy requiring a week's steady work by a colorist! The cheapest version, in loose sheets, cost 5 guineas, and Cary probably just barely recovered his costs. About 400 copies are believed to have been sold between 1815 and 1819, of which not more than forty still exist, most of them in Great Britain with perhaps five in America.

Details Identify Origin

As the map was colored and sold, corrections of details were constantly made by Smith, and no two copies appear to be exactly alike, allowing for minor errors in coloring. In 1938, V. A. and J. M. Eyles studied the extant copies and concluded that five chronological series could be recognized: Series I, unnumbered; Series II, numbered from 1 to 100; Series III, numbered a1 to a100; Series IV, numbered b1 to b100; and Series V, unnumbered. The Cornell copy, in its original bound atlas form which has preserved its freshness and brilliance of coloring, appears to belong to the early part of the third issue (Series IV). The only anomaly is that it lacks a number and might therefore be thought to belong to Series I or Series V. It is clearly not of the first series, according to the Eyles' criteria. That it is not of the fifth series is evident from the absence of several characteristics such as the nature of the Chalk outcrop on the Isle of Wight, the absence of the Cheviot granite, the absence of the Coral Rag, and absence of the Trap in the North of England. The lack of the Coral Rag places it in the earlier part of the third issue (Series IV), as does also the pattern of the Cornish granite on either side of Bodmin. The numbers were evidently inked on each map by Smith as they were finished, just under the cross section on Sheet VI. Their absence from the Cornell copy was probably an oversight.

Air Scientist Visits

A FOREMOST authority on aeronautics, Theodore von Karman, is the Victor Emanuel Visiting Professor for the spring term. He will conduct Faculty and graduate seminars, pursue research and discuss it with staff members, and give at least one Campus-wide lecture during his stay.

Professor von Karman is scientific adviser to the NATO Advisory Group on Aeronautical Research & Development, and was formerly chairman of the scientific advisory board to the Chief of Staff of the US Air Force and director of the Guggenheim Aeronautical Laboratory at California Institute of Technology. His contributions include new concepts and developments in physics, applied mathematics, strength of materials, stress analysis, and theory of elasticity. In 1953, he gave six Messenger

Gets Rowing Trophy—At the Crew Club banquet, Washington's Birthday in Willard Straight Hall, County Judge Norman G. Stagg '27 presents the Butler Trophy to Richard H. Dyer '59 of Chatham, N.J. The Trophy was given by fellow-members of the 1930 Varsity crew as a memorial to Major Arthur B. Butler '30, the first Cornellian to die in the Korean War. The award is made each year by vote of crew members to the one who has done the most for rowing. Dyer rowed No. 2 in the Varsity boat last year and is a leading candidate for stroke this year. Seated at left is Coach R. Harrison Sanford and next to him is John J. Meakem '58, last year's Varsity stroke and winner of the Butler Trophy. He is in the Graduate School of Business & Public Administration and coaches the 150-pound Freshmen. Rison '60

Lectures here on "Fifty Years of Research in Aerodynamics," later published by Cornell University Press under the title, Aeronautics: Selected Topics in the Light of Their Historical Development.

The professorship was established in 1958 by Avco Manufacturing Corp. in honor of Trustee Victor Emanuel '19, chairman and president of Avco. It brings to the Campus distinguished persons whose interests extend into many fields of science and engineering.

Dr. Britton Dies

DR. HARRY A. BRITTON, friend to many generations of Cornell athletes and others, died in Ithaca, February 17, after a long illness. He was seventy-seven.

A graduate of the Medico-Chirurgical College in Philadelphia, Pa., Dr. Britton was for many years physician to the Athletic Office, often traveling with the teams and treating the injuries of many Cornell athletes. He came to Cornell in 1921 as assistant medical adviser and was later appointed assistant professor of Clinical Medicine and attending physician at the University Clinic. He retired in 1950 with the title of Attending Physician, Emeritus. In 1947-48, he lectured on orthopedic surgery at Ithaca College. Dr. Britton was a member of the American Medical Association, the New York and Tompkins County Medical Societies, Phi Beta Pi medical fraternity, and Acacia. Mrs. Britton lives at 122 College Avenue, Ithaca.

How Cornell Stands

CORNELL ranked fourth among all colleges and universities in the country last year in amount of alumni gifts to the annual fund for University use; sixth in number of alumni contributors; and eighth both in total gifts from alumni and gifts from all sources. The figures for 610 colleges, universities, and private schools are reported in the Survey of Annual Giving and Alumni Support for 1957-58 compiled by the American Alumni Council, Washington, D.C.

The total of alumni gifts to the Cornell Fund is reported as $870,621. This compares with $2,010,247 for Harvard, $1,793,872 for Yale, and $1,162,196 for Princeton. In number of alumni contributors, Cornell with 18,331 followed Harvard with 33,954; Yale with 30,534; Ohio State, 25,287; New York University, 20,583; Princeton, 19,124.

Cornell's total alumni giving of $2,338,848 compares with $22,691,416 for Yale, $14,904,226 for Harvard, $8,654,711 for Dartmouth, $5,234,435 for Pennsylvania, $3,568,474 for Tulane, $2,675,228 for Princeton, $2,452,043 for MIT. Yale led all other institutions in total gifts, with $33,047,068 reported.

Then followed Harvard, Johns Hopkins, Columbia, Stanford, NYU, California, and Cornell with $11,691,516.

The Survey divides the institutions reporting into various classifications. For the group of sixty-seven private universities, the average alumni gift to the annual fund last year was $40.40; Cornell Fund average gift was $47.49. In this group, percentage of contributors to number of alumni solicited was 24.5; Cornell's percentage was 24.8.

With a grant from the United States Steel Foundation, the American Alumni Council gave a first award of $10,000 to Texas A&M College "for distinguished achievement in the development of alumni support" last year, and eight other awards of $1000 in the various categories. Princeton was the winner among private universities.

The American Alumni Council Survey shows that colleges and universities in the United States received $529,125,989 in gifts last year of which $129,442,980 came from alumni. "Yet much remains to be done to raise this level of support even further," the report says. "Indeed, the annual total of gifts must soon reach a billion dollars if higher education is to continue at high quality.

"Much of this increased support, the Council believes, will come from a rise in the level of giving for current and capital purposes by each of the various constituencies of education: alumni, trustees, parents, friends, corporations, foundations, communities, and church bodies. Yet the real key to accomplishment lies in broadening the base of support; in influencing many additional individuals, alumni in particular, to become regular contributors to the colleges of their choice."

More than 2000 alumni volunteers in Class and regional committees are working now to raise $1,065,000 for the Cornell Fund by next June 15.

Set Management Conference

STUDENTS in the Graduate School of Business & Public Administration announce the annual Management Conference here, April 17 & 18. The topic will be "Investments International" and invitations have gone to 3000 business men, educators, and government officials. Sessions in Statler Hall will consider three aspects of the general topic: foreign investments by US firms as a means to meet foreign competition abroad; foreign investments as a way to meet foreign competition at home; and political effects of foreign investments.

Stanley N. Shaw '18, editor, Whaley-Eaton Service, Washington, D.C. will be a discussion leader, along with many executives of business, financial, and government organizations. Students have planned the conference with assistance of an advisory committee that includes Donald McMaster '16, chairman of executive committee, Eastman Kodak Co.; Roland G. Fowler '22, manager, Adding Machine Division, National Cash Register Co.; Oscar T. MacMillan '24, vice-president, New York Telephone Co.; Eugene M. Kaufmann, Jr. '26, chairman, Advisers Fund, Inc.; Roger W. Jones '28, chief, US Civil Service Commission, former deputy director, Bureau of the Budget; and other business leaders.

Chairman of this year's conference committee is Richard C. Herrman, Grad, of Buffalo. Any person interested is invited to attend. Further information may be obtained from the Graduate School of Business & Public Administration, McGraw Hall, Ithaca.

Book Inspires Japanese

CORNELL IN PICTURES, compiled by Professor Charles V. P. Young '99, was the pattern for a Pictorial History of Keio University in Tokyo, Japan, to mark its Centennial last fall. The story of how this came to be is in a recent letter from Eiichi Kiyooka '26 to Professor Young. Kiyooka is on the faculty of Keio University, which his grandfather founded 100 years ago. He writes:

"When you sent me your book two years ago, I showed it to the editors of the Hundred Year History of Keio, for which scholars had been working for ten years, and planned to be made into four big volumes. They had also an idea of publishing a short history of the school for popular consumption. I think they had a vague idea of a book with many pictures. But when they saw your book, they liked it so much that they decided to make theirs a picture history too. And they asked me to write the English part of it. You didn't know what you had done for Keio, because I was slow in writing to you.

"The book was written and printed in four or five months and I was kept busy through the summer. 50,000 copies were printed and distributed among all the students and all the guests who gathered for the Centennial ceremony. I wish to thank you formally now for the wonderful work you have done in Cornell in Pictures and for giving inspiration to our editors. . . ."

Kiyooka attended Cascadilla School and entered the University in 1922; received the AB in 1927. He was at Camp Otter when Professor Young operated the camp. His letter closes, "With best wishes and wonderful memories."

Many alumni have written Professor Young that they have enjoyed his book. The University Press published Cornell in Pictures in 1954 with a grant from Quill & Dagger, and about 4000 copies have been sold.

Wrestling & Polo Might Lead

THE WINTER SEASON was rather dolorously nearing its end as February closed and the "March of Champions" in Ithaca got underway. Only in wrestling and polo was there a chance for Cornell's glory.

With one match left, the wrestlers were certain to at least retain their Ivy League title, February 28, they easily defeated Columbia in New York, 31-2. Only points for the Lions came as a result of a tie in the 177-pound match between Philip M. Oberlander '61 and Gene Appel. Oberlander, from Rosemere, Quebec, never wrestled in high school because there was no competitive wrestling, but his father was on England's 1948 Olympic wrestling team. David C. Auble '60 took just forty seconds to pin Columbia's Brien Milesi. Un-defeated in two years' wrestling, Auble has won twenty bouts. The summary:

123—Bill Carter, Cornell, defeated Dave Clark, 6-4.

130—Dave Auble, Cornell, pinned Brien Milesi with double bar arm in 0:40.

137—George Willis, Cornell, pinned Phil Suraci with stack up in 7:13.

147—John Shafer, Cornell, won by default. Vincent Chiarello could not continue because of rib injury.

157—Reverdy Munson, Cornell, defeated Louis Sposato, 2-1.

167—Steve Friedman, Cornell, defeated William Dixon, 8-0.

177—Gene Appel, Columbia, and Phil Oberlander, tied, 1-1.

Heavyweight—David Dunlop, Cornell, pinned Gerald Brodeur, with half nelson in 1:22.

Team Wins Despite Injuries

Syracuse was a surprisingly easy victim, February 18 in Barton Hall, by a lopsided 25-5 score. But most of the 1000 fans left the meet with heavy hearts because one of their cherished favorites, David R. Dunlop '59, suffered a loss to Art Baker, Syracuse's latest candidate to take over for Jimmy Brown. It was first time Dave was ever pinned. Not many knew that Dunlop was suffering with a pinched nerve. Twice he took Baker down, but could not hold him due to his infirmity. Twice in the second period Baker had near falls, but before that Dave had a 3-0 lead and seemed to be the better strategist. The pin came just before time was up, at 8:43. It was Dunlop's first dual-meet loss in fifteen bouts.

Brown was taken, 20-8, February 21 at Providence. The Red was without Stephen Friedman '59, who was ill, and Allan R. Marion '61, who suffered a slight shoulder injury. Marion was held out of the Columbia match, too. He was expected to be back for the Princeton meet and the Intercollegiates, March 13 & 14.

The Freshmen wrestling team lost to Syracuse, 21-12, in Barton Hall, February 18. Cornell won one bout on a fall. Richard A. Giustra '62, 137 pounds, pinned Joe Casillo in 5:50. Other points were won on a forfeit in the 167-pound class and William H. Werst '62, heavy-weight from Bethlehem, Pa., drew with Bob Stem. Werst appeared to have Stem beaten, but he allowed a reversal in the final seconds to halve it, 6-6.

The polo team seemed destined to repeat last year's national championship. It remained undefeated in intercollegiate circles by beating Yale, 21-12, in the Riding Hall, February 28. The brothers Bennet M. Baldwin '61, with 9, and Peter D. Baldwin '59, with 8, scored enough points between them to win. Stanley R. Woolaway '60 scored 3 and a pony, 1. All three of the first team are from Hawaii.

Other Teams in Trouble

BASKETBALL fans were boasting little of the team's 8-13 record with two games left; it was next to last in the League, four wins and nine losses, with one game to go.

Cornell lost three of four games with Brown and Yale. First was won, 72-58, over Brown, February 20 in Barton Hall. The next night, Yale won, 72-63, at Barton. The following week end on the road, the unhappy basketballers lost to Yale at New Haven, 84-73, February 27, and allowed the game with Brown at Providence to go into overtime and dropped it, 66-63.

Captain Louis R. Jordan '59 continued his hot pace, despite the many disappointments of the team. He made 22 points in both the Brown and Yale games in Ithaca, 31 in the Yale game at New Haven, and 29 at Providence, to boost his season's total to 391 and his four-year Cornell total to 1595. He would have to score 61 points in the Columbia game, March 4, and the Syracuse game, March 7, to tie the Cornell record of 1656 set from 1953-56 by Charles G. Rolles '56. Jordan enters the Medical College in New York next September.

In the Brown game at Ithaca, the Red could not get the wheels moving in the first half: they allowed an ordinary Brown team to creep up to a 27-27 tie at half-time. The second half was a delight to the long-suffering local fans. Cornell got hot and even showed flashes of durability. It outscored the visitors, 45-31, and easily won. The team was without the services of William E. Sullivan '59, who was ill and not expected to play the rest of the season.

Yale had too many good scorers for the Red, and that was that. The Brown overtime victory was due to a recurrent fault of the Cornell team this year. It seems to play well only in spurts. It lacks the stamina and the finesse to put together more than short periods of team play and sound defense.

Brown held a 31-26 half-time lead, but saw it evaporate as the Red hit on several fast forays and went ahead by 6 points. It soon lost the advantage. With two minutes to go, Brown's top scorer, Dave Reed, who tied Jordan's 29 points, put two foul shots in to make it 56-56. David H. Zornow '60 had a one-and-one foul try with three seconds to go that would have won it for the Big Red, but he missed. Brown led all the way in the overtime period.

Freshman record was 13-3 after beating Manlius 59-56, at Manlius, February 28. Manlius was the tenth straight victim of this surprising team. Manlius played possession basketball, trying to hold down the high-scoring Cornellians, but succeeded only in making it close.

February 17, the yearlings beat Rochester freshmen at Rochester, 102-76. February 20, they beat Colgate in Barton Hall, 92-79; February 22, they beat Ithaca College at Barton, 74-55; and Cortland was victimized, 85-66, at Cortland, February 25.

Track Men Struggle

Yale gave the track team a good going over, February 20 in New Haven's Coxé Cage, 76½-32½. Only bright spot was the mile-run victory of Charles H. Hill '59, who ran 4:18.7, breaking old meet record of 4:20 held by Michael K. Brown '57. In winning, Hill just beat his teammate, Arnold Cummins '59. Pole vaulters Albert M. Finch '60 and John S. Murray '61, cleared 12 feet 6 to take first in the pole vault for the only other victory.

Cornell, not unexpectedly, did not cut a wide swath in the ICAAAA meet in Madison Square Garden, February 28. The meet was narrowly won by Manhattan with 21; Penn State was second with 20 17/36. A judge's change of placement in the sixty-yard high hurdles moved a Manhattan entry up one place two hours after the event and was responsible for the small but significant margin.

Charley Hill placed fifth in the mile; George A. Ekstrom '61 was fifth in the sixty-yard dash, and Al Finch was one of nine to tie for fifth at 13 feet in the pole vault. This gave Cornell 21/9 points. Freshman medley relay team placed fifth. It was composed of Raymond A. Westendorp, 880; Joel K. Heine, 440; Bruce A. Rogers, 220; Eric P. Groon, mile. Dartmouth won.

Fencers Cause League Tie

Varsity fencing team did well against two strong foes from New York City, February 21 & 28, but were beaten. New York University beat the Red, 19-8, at Teagle Hall and Columbia won in New York with a solid but hard-won 16-11 count.

The outstanding effort of the season was March 2, when Cornell defeated Princeton at Princeton, 15-12. This match tied Princeton and Yale for the Ivy League championship with 4-1 records. Princeton would have topped Yale if the Big Red had cooperated; Princeton had beaten Yale two days before. Cornell won in the foil, 6-3; saber, 5-4; and lost the epee, 4-5.

The season record in dual meets is five wins, three losses. In the Ivy League, Cornell defeated Harvard, Pennsylvania, and Princeton and lost to Yale and Columbia.

Swimmers Win & Lose

Varsity swimmers beat Columbia, 66-20, in Teagle pool, February 21, and lost to Dartmouth at Hanover, 60-26, February 28.

In the Columbia meet, Captain Charles W. Carpenter '59 lowered his own 220-yard butterfly record from 2:27.8 to 2:24 and John C. Waterfall '60 set a new record in the 220-yard free style of 2:17.2. Former record was 2:17.5.

The Freshmen were beaten by Albany Academy, 46-40, February 2 in Albany.

Squash Team Improves

Squash team ended its season, February 21, with a 7-2 loss to Army on the Grumman Courts. Peter H. Moeller '61, in No. 5 spot, and Frank M. Spitzmiller '61, No. 9, were the Cornell winners.

Penn was beaten by the Red, 6-3, at Philadelphia, February 14. Cornell's top player, P. Kay Champion, Jr. '60, was beaten by Claud Beers, 15-7, 17-18, 15-5, 15-13; but Robert C. Lawrence '60, Moeller, Perry W. Fisher '61, Jon C. Minikes '60, Donald E. Wallens '59, and Samuel Dugan '61 were winners.

The team had three wins and seven losses for the year, an improvement over last season when it won two and lost seven. Cornell has beaten Pennsylvania in each of the three years there has been a Varsity team.

Champion, a Junior in Arts & Sciences and a member of Psi Upsilon, was elected captain for 1959-60. He graduated from Lawrenceville School; is the son of Phillips K. Champion '30 of Dayton, Ohio.

Hockey Players Suffer Losses

Character is being built in enormous quantity in hockey. In succession, Hamilton won, 7-1, at Lynah Rink, February 17; Brown won in Providence, 8-2, February 21; Harvard was real mean, February 23 at Lynah, 13-0; Colgate won at Hamilton, 4-3, in overtime, February 25; Princeton won at Princeton, 3-0, February 28; and strong Middlebury won, 15-1, at Lynah Rink, March 2. This made eleven losses in a row. Despite the sad story, there is fine improvement and this team has genuine fire and spirit. One thing it does not have in sufficient quantity is skating ability.

In the game with Princeton, goalie John T. Detwiler '60, son of John G. Detwiler '33, made thirty-seven saves. He had been out for a week with an injury. But Detwiler could not cope with the accomplished Middlebury opera-

Sons of Alumni Play Squash—Ten of the twenty-nine players on this year's Varsity & Freshman squash teams are from Cornell families. From left above, seated, are P. Kay Champion, Jr. '60, whose father is Phillips K. Champion '30; Frank M. Spitzmiller '61, son of Robert F. Spitzmiller '31; Perry W. Fisher '61, son of Leicester W. Fisher '18. Standing: Morgan B. Stark '62, son of Richard S. Stark '34; John S. Custer, Jr. '62, son of John S. Custer '29; Frank L. Sundstrom, Jr. '62, son of Frank L. Sundstrom '24; J. Peter Whiskeman III '61, son of James P. Whiskeman, Jr. '32. Players not pictured are Donald E. Wallens, son of Sidney S. Wallens '23 and the former Mildred Elkes '26; Walter Williamson '60, son of Zarah Williamson '25; and Sam Dugan '61, son of William D. Dugan '35 and the former Ruth Harder '35, grandson of the late William J. Dugan '07.

The six squash courts given by Alumni Trustee Leroy R. Grumman '16 are continuously in use. All Freshman men in Physical Education play squash three times a week for two weeks and more than 200 Sophomores choose the game each term. Instructors are Coach Richard Lewis and William DeGraaf '56 of the football coaching squad. Evenings, the courts are used by Faculty members and other students, who often wait to play.

tives. Mike Karin and Phil Latreille had a big night for the Vermonters. Karin had 3 goals and ten assists. Latreille got 5 goals and five assists.

James W. Ostendarp, assistant football coach this last year, was selected as head coach at Amherst, March 1. He succeeds John McLaughry, who left to take over for Alva E. Kelley '41 when he left Brown for the Colgate position.

Ostendarp was effective in charge of defensive operations under Coach George K. James. A paratrooper in the 82d Airborne Division, Ostendarp graduated from Bucknell in 1950, played two years with the New York Giants, one year with the Montreal Alouettes, has a Master's degree in education from Columbia and a year on his Doctorate at Harvard. He coached at Williams for three years before coming to Cornell. He is thirty-six. "I'm sorry to see Jim leave," said Coach James. "He is a splendid football coach."

Two Cornellians placed third in their favorite events in the National AAU track and field meet in New York's Madison Square Garden, February 21. Albert L. Hall '56 took third in the thirty-five-pound weight throw with 61 feet 1¾ inches. Irvin Roberson '58 was third in the broad jump with 24 feet 6½ inches.

Sunstein '06 Memorial

SECURITIES valued at $1075 have come for the Cornell Fund from Leon C. Sunstein, Jr. '43 in memory of his father, the late Leon C. Sunstein '06. He wrote that he did this "knowing how close [my father] felt to Cornell." The elder Sunstein died August 17, 1958. His son is with his father's brokerage firm of Gerstley, Sunstein & Co. in Philadelphia, Pa.

Direct Ithaca Library

TRUSTEES of the Cornell Public Library in Ithaca have re-elected four Cornellians as officers of the Library. They are Mrs. John Vandervort (Helen Bull) '26, president; William L. Gragg, PhD '49, vice-president; Paul Bradford '18, treasurer; and Sherman Peer '06, statutory librarian, continuing him as a University Trustee. Bradford and Peer were re-elected to three-year terms as trustees of the Library.

New associates are Ralph C. Smith '15 and Professor Robert S. Pasley, LLB '36, Law. Eleven alumni were re-elected as associates of the Library: Professor Walfred A. Anderson, PhD '29, Rural Sociology, Mrs. Carl W. Gartlein (Helen Hart) '28, Rebecca S. Harris '13, John A. Mack '33, John Marcham '50, George F. Rogalsky '07, Robert A.

Saunders '36, Mrs. Harold Simpson (Elizabeth Lucey) '34, Clinton L. Stimson '35, and Albert A. Ward '13.

An anonymous gift of $1000 to the Library's building fund was made in honor of Mrs. Elizabeth Jenkins, wife of former Professor Herbert T. Jenkins, Civil Engineering. She was librarian for many years and was the founder and first president of the Friends of the Library. She and Professor Jenkins are now in Ann Arbor, Mich.

Company Encourages Gifts

PITNEY-BOWES, Inc., manufacturer of postage meters and business machines, announced that beginning January 1, the company will match contributions its employees make to colleges and universities. This plan for aid to education resembles the corporate alumnus program that General Electric Co. started in 1955 and which has been adapted since by other firms. The Pitney-Bowes plan is broader than most, in that it applies to any gift made by an employee or director to any college or university, not necessarily one that the giver attended. Thus it is open to all the company's 4339 employees, for gifts from $5 to $500 in any year.

Walter H. Wheeler, Jr., president of Pitney-Bowes, said: "The nation has never known a time when its need for educated men and women was so great. The colleges and universities of the country are already overcrowded and are finding it ever more difficult to finance their operations. A number of companies have matching gifts programs, and have found that they encourage individual giving. We hope our program will have the same results." President Deane W. Malott is a director of Pitney-Bowes.

Last year, the University received $9890 from twenty-four companies to match gifts made by their employees. These company gifts are credited to the original contributors' Classes in the Cornell Fund.

To Improve Jet Planes

RESEARCH on jet aircraft is being done in the Graduate School of Aeronautical Engineering with a grant of $45,000 from Therm-Electric Meters Co. of Ithaca. Starting January 1, the company contributes $750 a month to maintain a graduate assistantship and supporting Faculty and technical help. It will also build the necessary experimental equipment.

The research, which complements similar work being done at the Therm-Electric plant, deals with finding means of increasing the lifting power of an airplane by blowing a jet of air out the trailing edge of the wing to increase the circulation of air around the wing. Director William R. Sears of the School is in charge of the work, assisted by Professor Donald Ordway '52, Aeronautical Engineering, who has been studying the performance of the blades of jet flaps in a cascade wind tunnel under conditions similar to those of an actual jet engine.

Officers of Therm-Electric are Robert R. Sprole '35, president; John E. Paige '27, vice-president; George E. Cross '19, treasurer; and Professor John W. MacDonald '25, Law, secretary.

CBS Makes Grant

UNRESTRICTED GIFT of $1000 has come to the University from CBS Foundation, Inc. under a plan, established three years ago, whereby the Foundation contributes $1000 to colleges or universities for each of their women graduates who have completed fifteen years with Columbia Broadcasting System. The first gift to Cornell is for Dorothy M. Leffler '28, manager of the magazine division, Press Information Department, CBS Television Network, New York City.

A similar plan of gifts for selected executives of CBS has been in operation since 1954. Under this plan, the University has received gifts of $2000 each for Joseph A. W. Iglehart '14, Julius F. Brauner '31, William Bachman '32, Henry Untermeyer '36, Charles J. Oppenheim '37, Jay Eliasberg '39, and Joseph E. Bambara '44.

Visitors Get Help Here

SIX JAPANESE livestock experts spent ten days at the College of Agriculture last month. They came here at their own request as part of a three-month tour of the United States arranged by the Japanese Government, the International Cooperation Administration of the US Department of Agriculture, various land grant colleges and universities, and interested business firms. The visitors were especially interested in new developments in antibiotics for livestock feeding, disease control, breeding, and management; preserving meats with drugs; and organizations that inspect and control livestock diseases. Japan plans a 50 per cent increase in livestock in the next five years. To assist in providing more livestock feed through grassland improvement, ICA is supplying grass and legume seeds for about 25,000 demonstration plots throughout Japan.

The leader of the team, Dr. Kiyoji Ninomiya, said that the hilly nature of Ithaca reminded them of the hot springs area of northern Japan and that the sounds of Ithaca are much like the sounds of a Japanese town. "We are having an excellent opportunity to meet and talk with eminent professors whom we have known before only in name," he said. "With some of them, we have clarified points we have never understood before in their books."

Rochester Architects

NAME of Roger O. Austin '43 has been added to the firm name of Waasdorp & Northrup, architects, of Rochester. The new name of the firm is Waasdorp, Northrup & Austin.

Austin has been with the firm for twelve years and for the last four years has been a partner. The firm, in business for more than fifty years, has designed many buildings in Rochester, including the Community War Memorial, US Post Office, The Rundell Memorial Library Building, and University of Rochester River Campus. Other Cornellians with the firm are Charles V. Northrup '32, William P. Roberts '38, and Carl F. W. Kaelber, Jr. '43.

Pan American Airways Grant

PAN AMERICAN World Airways has given the University $5000 for unrestricted use. It is one of eight such grants to universities that offer advanced graduate instruction in medicine, the sciences, engineering, foreign languages, and teacher training. Pan American's aid-to-education program includes scholarships, travel fellowships, grants for medical education and aviation research, and support of aviation in secondary schools.

Ithaca Teachers Visit

AS PART of the Ithaca Chamber of Commerce "Project Business," February 17, twenty teachers in Ithaca schools elected to visit the University and learn about its business operations. A special program was arranged for them by Assistant Treasurer Robert E. Terwilleger '30. They were taken to a number of University offices and had lunch at Statler Inn, with department heads explaining the business aspects of their operations.

Aeronautics Advisers

NATIONAL AERONAUTICS & Space Administration has named several alumni and Faculty members to its research advisory committees. These committees will assist the government agency in formulating programs of aeronautical and space research and in maintaining coordination with scientific, industrial, military, and other government organizations.

Appointed to the research advisory committee on fluid mechanics, of which Professor William R. Sears, Director of the Graduate School of Aeronautical Engineering, is chairman, are Robert W. Perry, Jr. '43, an engineer with Aero, Inc. of Tullahoma, Tenn.; Abraham Hertzberg, MAeroE '49, assistant head of Aerodynamic Research at the Cornell Aeronautical Laboratory in Buffalo; and Harry E. Petschek '51, who is with Avco Research Laboratory at Everett, Mass. Trustee William Littlewood '20, vice-president of American Airlines, is chairman of the research advisory committee on aircraft operating problems; Alexander H. Flax, Vice-president-technical of CAL in Buffalo, is a member of the research advisory committee on aircraft aerodynamics; and Mac C. Adams '46 is a member of the research advisory committee on missile and spacecraft aerodynamics.

An Undergraduate Observes

By Jerome Langdon III '59

Kingston Trio performance before a packed Barton Hall audience of 6700 was the public highlight of Interfraternity Council Week End, February 27-March 1. The folk singers appeared Saturday afternoon, and the drill shed was packed to the rafters to hear them. Another feature was a concert, February 27, by Chris Connor and Maynard Ferguson. Co-sponsors of both events were the Junior Class and IFC. IFC Week End has now apparently secured for itself a ranking as one of the top three social events of the year. Fall Week End and football week ends comprise the first-term highlights and IFC and Spring Week Ends are the big social events of the second term. IFC Week End has filled the void left by the abandonment of Junior Week in 1955. Complete with over-night houseparties, it offers the first real opportunity for fraternity pledges to participate in the house's social activity, coming about two weeks after pledging.

New rushing procedure, instituted by Panhellenic Council, dormitory head residents, and members of the Office of the Dean of Women, was introduced in the second round of sorority parties that started February 16. It involved a counselling service for Freshmen and a change in method relating to acceptance of invitations. Under the "experimental" program, a Freshman was able to return to a sorority after she had refused an invitation to earlier parties. And Freshmen who did not get invitations to informal parties received a letter suggesting that they speak to a counselor. The advisors could tell the Freshmen which sororities had not filled their quota of rushees and assist them to meet members where they might be interested.

"Adventures of the Mind" series in the Saturday Evening Post for March 7 is by the Rev. Martin C. D'Arcy, S.J., on "The Varieties of Human Love." Father D'Arcy's current Danforth Lectures here on "God and the Self" are drawing capacity audiences. He is a house guest at Telluride from early February through April; is being invited to speak in various classes and for conferences with Faculty members and students. He was formerly master of Campion Hall at Oxford, then was head of the Jesuit Order in Great Britain and Catholic representative to British Broadcasting Corp.; has taught at several American universities and recently has been guest professor of philosophy at Georgetown. The Danforth Foundation of St. Louis, Mo. in 1957 gave the University $18,800 to bring to the Campus leaders of varying religious and scholarly backgrounds, selected by a special Faculty committee and the Director and chaplains of CURW.

In the same issue of the Post, Jerome Ellison, professor of journalism at Indiana University in Bloomington, writes on "Are We Making a Playground Out of College?" He discusses the extremes of what he calls the "Second Curriculum" of social life, principally in the State universities, and suggests as remedies prohibiting student automobiles and "to disband fraternities and sororities." One of the pictures for the article is captioned, "Ithaca, N.Y., May, 1958: Cornell University students demonstrate against a rule forbidding parties in off-campus apartments."

Clock Tower of the Library no longer shines at night as a beacon visible from the surrounding hills. The floodlights on the Tower were shut off because the wiring was in the way of construction activity around Boardman Hall. It is hoped that the "eclipse" will not last for more than a year and a half.

English 113-114, "Introduction to Literature," inaugurated last fall for Freshmen who had shown special ability in the study of literature and written English in secondary schools, is termed a success by members of the English Department. About fifty Freshmen were accepted for the two sections taught by Professors William M. Sale, Jr., chairman of the Department, and Robert W. Langbaum '47. The students do about the same amount of written work as those in the regular Freshman English course, but those who qualify get advanced credit in English composition. A third section, boosting the course enrolment to seventy-five, will probably be added next fall.

Alumni of the Graduate School of Business & Public Administration participated in a career conference for students, February 20. The speakers and some of their salient points: Walter

C. Johnson '44, who said that public accounting is really an "interim period" after which most people go into private accounting; Nelson Schaenen, Jr. '50, who described the investment banking area as the "middle man between the corporation and the public;" Arthur S. Wolcott '49, who said the key to success in starting one's own business is having an idea and recognizing opportunities when they arise; Robert R. Irwin '49, who discussed the advantages of working for a small company; Wilbur A. Lewis, MBA '57, who pointed out that a person should go into personnel work only if he likes people; and Kenneth S. Colmen, MBE '49, who noted that it is important not to stay in one place too long in the field of public administration.

"Guys and Dolls" will be the Spring Week End production of Octagon, May 15 & 16. Mary C. Hanshaw '58 will direct the performance of the Broadway musical, with Richard E. Tones '60 of North Miami Beach, Fla. as assistant director. Producer is Martin Miller '60 of Brooklyn. Technical director is Richard E. Minsky '59 of Laurelton.

Willard Straight Hall board of managers, main policymaker of the student union since it opened in 1925, dissolved late in February. The eighteen-member group of students, Faculty members, and alumni voted in its last meeting to form a new structure for running the Straight, effective immediately. The new set-up has three councils, dealing with dining, building policies, and programming, with a small executive board. Primary purpose is to increase the students' power in the Straight's day-to-day operations. The executive board, composed of four students and four staff members, will be the chief policy-making body. Below this group are the three functional councils, each of which has two representatives to the executive board. "The small board will take over a lot of responsibilities that staff members [used to] take," says Elwood P. Moger '60 of Byram, Conn., vice-president of the former board. The executive board will nominate the Straight's student president.

The football season is over, but Barbara A. Hirsch '59 of Buffalo, tireless chairman of the Rally Committee last fall, is still active. This spring, at the request of the lacrosse squad, she will try to accelerate Campus interest in the team's efforts. Last spring, more than 1000 fans cheered Cornell when it squelched Syracuse on Lower Alumni Field, indicative of the sport's increasing popularity. Who knows? Maybe if the crowds get large enough, the lacrosse team might even play on Schoellkopf Field.

THE FACULTY

Trustee Robert W. Purcell '32, president of International Basic Economy Corp., was appointed by President Eisenhower, February 3, for a one-year term on the twelve-member International Development Advisory Board of the International Cooperation Administration.

A booklet and work-sheet, "How to Estimate the Cost of Your Proposed School," are published by the Connecticut Public Expenditure Council, 21 Lewis Street, Hartford 3, Conn., as a guide for boards of education, school building committees, town officials, taxpayers, and interested citizens. They are based on analyses of Connecticut schools made by the consulting engineers, Alumni Trustee Frederic C. Wood '24 and Edward F. Sibbert '22, whose offices are on Cat Rock Road, Cos Cob, Conn.

Dean Richard H. Barnes of the Graduate School of Nutrition has received a grant of $55,400 from the National Science Foundation to study the value of tiny plants in the body which help create substances essential to good health. He will try to discover how microscopic plants in the large intestine affect the nutrition of dogs, rats, and people. The Foundation also has awarded a grant of $49,200 to Professor Martin Gibbs, Biochemistry & Nutrition, to study photosynthesis, the mechanism by which carbon dioxide is taken from the air and converted into sugar in plants.

Professor Edwin E. Salpeter, Physics & Nuclear Studies, was a visiting lecturer at Colgate, December 16 & 17. He was there under the auspices of the American Association of Physics Teachers and the American Institute of Physics as part of a broad, nationwide program, now in its second year, to stimulate interest in physics. He lectured on the history of the sun to the freshman physical science course, gave an open lecture on "Nuclear Energy in Stars and on Earth," and held conferences with faculty members and students.

Professor Damon Boynton '31, Pomology, is one of eleven American biologists asked to develop an international program to improve science communication among biologists. The group, appointed by the American Institute of Biological Science under sponsorship of the National Science Foundation, had its first meeting in Berkeley, Cal., February 26-27.

George F. Mueden, Jr. '40, manager of the New York City office of the Placement Service, was interviewed on Walter Cronkite's Sunday News Special (CBS-TV) with regard to the abolition of the Ground Observer Corps. The GOC, created to detect and report low flying aircraft, has been made obsolete by the electronic equipment now used by the Air Defense Command. Mueden had spent several years persuading volunteers to stand at the observation post near Times Square at all hours, rain or shine. In the interview, he told of the great social pressure on the volunteers by their families and friends to give up what was regarded as an unrealistic activity. This pressure hurt morale and contributed to a severe turnover problem. Mueden says he is glad not to have to persuade someone, or be persuaded, to roll out of bed in the middle of the night to stand watch on a frigid roof top. He has "insured against that possibility by joining a CD report center, several stories underground, near the boiler room."

Professor Alice H. Cook, Industrial & Labor Relations, is co-author with Agnes M. Doudy, assistant director of labor education at Roosevelt University, of Labor Education Outside the Union: A Review of the Postwar Programs in Western Europe and the United States, published by the School of Industrial & Labor Relations. The book contains case studies of workers' education outside of unions in five countries: Great Britain, Sweden, Germany, France, and the United States.

David M. Knipe '55 is acting assistant director of Cornell United Religious Work for the spring term. He replaces Roland A. Delattre, assistant director since 1955, who has returned to Yale for graduate study. Son of Donald M. Knipe '23 and Mrs. Knipe (Hazel Heacock) '24, Knipe received the AB in 1955 and the BD at Union Theological Seminary in 1958. He will begin work for the PhD at University of Chicago next September. The Rev. L. Paul Jacquith is Director of CURW; Ruth Anne Smith is the other assistant director.

Professors J. Stanley Ahmann and Marvin D. Glock, Rural Education, are the authors of Evaluating Pupil Growth, recently published by Allyn & Bacon. The book is designed for introductory courses in educational evaluation.

Warning that cattle numbers are shooting skyward again and that the industry and the nation will be better off if the increase is slowed or halted soon was given by Professor Herrell F. DeGraff '37, Food Economics, to 1500 cattlemen from forty States at the annual convention of the American National Cattlemen's Association in Omaha, Nebr., January 14-17. Professor DeGraff is research director of the "fact finding" committee of the Association.

Professor William McGuire, MCE '47, Structural Engineering, contributed a chapter on reinforced concrete to the fourth edition of Civil Engineering Handbook, recently published by McGraw-Hill Book Co. His section comprises a major portion of the work, widely consulted by civil engineers throughout the United States. Editor-in-chief is Leonard C. Urquhart '09, formerly professor of Structural Engineering, now with Porter, Urquhart, McCreary & O'Brien, Newark, N.J., consulting engineers.

Professor John W. MacDonald '25, Law, is a member of an advisory committee to T. E. Blackwell of Washington University, St. Louis, Mo., named by the American Council on Education, with a grant from US Steel Foundation, to prepare a handbook on college law.

Ross P. Jackson '54 has joined the College of Agriculture as Admissions Counselor, to work with alumni and high school counselors. He received the MS in February. He and Mrs. Jackson (Dorothy Jeremiah) '53 live at 608 South Albany Street, Ithaca.

News of the Alumni

Addresses are in New York State unless otherwise noted. Personal items, newspaper clippings, or other notes about Cornellians are welcomed for publication. Class columns are written by correspondents whose names appear. Names & addresses in column headings are for Classes with group subscriptions or those in which at least half the members are News subscribers.

'83 BLit; '88 PhB—Rolfe Humphries, lecturer in English at Amherst College, who gave a University Lecture on "Ovid as Storyteller: His Art and His Insights," November 7 in Olin Hall, is the son of the late John H. Humphries and the late Mrs. Humphries (Florence Yost) '88.

'92 ME(EE)—Allison S. Capwell observed his ninetieth birthday, December 31, with Mrs. Capwell and a group of friends at his home, 69 Heins Avenue, Kitchener, Ont., Canada. He is confined to bed much of the time after an illness last summer. He retired seven years ago as vice-president and managing director of Canadian Blower & Forge Co., Ltd., and Canada Pumps, Ltd., and is frequently consulted by the companies.

'95, '97 BL—Robert H. Haskell's address is now 50 Court Street, Brooklyn 1. He has practiced law in Brooklyn since 1899 and was formerly assistant corporation counsel for the City of New York. He has letters received from Classmates mimeographed and mailed to all members of his Class.

'00 LLB—John T. "Terry" McGovern (above, left), counselor for the US Olympic Committee since 1923, is shown receiving the John Perry Bowditch Memorial Award from Colonel Edward P. Bowditch at a luncheon of The Sportsmanship Brotherhood, February 17, in New York City. He was presented the bronze engraved certificate in recognition of his "lifetime spent in furthering the ideals of sport." A Harvard alumni group established the memorial to J. P. Bowditch, a founder of the Brotherhood and a distinguished Harvard alumnus. Colonel Bowditch is Harvard '03 and a former All-America end. Hugh O. Muir interviewed McGovern for the New York World Telegram & Sun, February 7, and said, "This year both the IC4A and John Terence McGovern will be 83 years old and the world of amateur sport is a better place because of them." McGovern also was recently designated to receive from Mayor Wagner a New York City citation. The sandlot baseball federation he organized thirty years ago sent two New York City teams (Manhattan and Brooklyn) to the sandlot "World Series" and tied for third, with forty-six teams competing, and the Manhattan team won a game from the champion. He has brought 175,000 boys into this competition over the years, with no boy ever charged with juvenile delinquency. McGovern is also chairman of the board of trustees of the Carnegie Fund for Authors. His office is at 60 East Forty-second Street, New York City 17.

'06 CE—Frank E. Lawrence lives at 383 Main Street, Groveland, Miss. He recommends to "other oldsters" his philosophy of enjoying family and friends, and doing the things usually put off for "when there is more time."

'08 ME—John W. Holt married Miss Margaret Osborn in Cleveland, Ohio, February 14. After July 15, they will be at home in Salisbury, Conn.

'08 ME—Mrs. Maude Mennen, wife of William G. Mennen of 256 South Mountain Avenue, Montclair, N.J., died January 27. One of Mennen's sons is George S. Mennen '39.

'09 AB—My Silver Falcon, the second book of George S. Gleason of 510 Dorsey Avenue, Essex, Baltimore 21, Md., has been published by The Book Craft of Dallas, Tex. Gleason hopes to attend the Fifty-year Reunion of his Class in June.

'09 CE—Herbert E. Hayes is making satisfactory progress in convalescing from a cerebral thrombosis. At his retirement from the Department of the Los Angeles County Engineer, he was head of the section of geodesy. He also has taught mathematics and engineering at University of Southern California, University of California at Los Angeles, and, during World War II, at California Institute of Technology, Pasadena. He was instructor of Civil Engineering at Cornell from 1915-17. Hayes has a son, a graduate of USC, and a grandson who live in San Bernardino, Cal. He and Mrs. Hayes moved from Albany to Los Angeles in 1925 and now live at 1014 North Central Avenue, Glendale 2, Cal.

Notes and Quotes:

Alfred R. (Alfie) Mellor, CE, who roomed with Leon R. Brown, at present is laid up in a hospital near his home in Weston, Mass. Leon thinks Alfie would enjoy receiving a card from some of his old Cornell friends. His address is Glenside Hospital, 6 Parley Vale, Jamaica Plain, Mass. H. P. (Horse Power) Reid, ME, writes: "Am having a good time with a few days only per month of engineering consulting. Otherwise, I am still retired. These few days keep me from getting tired and take me from home somewhat over the country. Under these conditions, there is no monotony."

David C. Vann, Agr, 203 E. Main St., Penn Yan, reports: "After eighteen years with the Federal Land Bank of Springfield and seven years in other Farm Credit work, I retired last March 1 due to ill health. We have a daughter, Eleanor, who graduated in '36 from Home Ec. Our son-in-law is '38 'Ag', Robert Wilcox. They have three sons: 11, 12, and 14 years old. I hope some of them will want to go to Cornell. Bob is in the insurance business." Edgar G. ("Hi") Coursen, Sr., Edgewater Beach, Edgewater, Md., says: "Just trying to stay well enough to attend the 50th. I can throw the anchor overboard, but have a h— of a time to pull it up."

Thomas J. Blake, Law, 50 Broadway, New York City 4, writes: "I saw my fiftieth Penn game Thanksgiving Day. My wife said I yelled louder and sung better than I did a year ago. I explained to her that I see the game more clearly than I used to." Tom, for your information, about thirty members of the Cornell Club of Western Massachusetts witnessed that game on film the evening of February 16, with Lefty James doing the narrating. We can well understand your enthusiasm. Kenneth B. Fiske, Arch, 638 N. Central Ave., Chicago 44, Ill., reports in an interesting letter that he is living a very well planned life and making arrangements for many branches of his family. We wish space permitted printing the full text of Ken's letter. He reports with regret the passing of his wife, but it is good news to learn he is enjoying fine health.

Munroe F. Warner, ME, says: "Still working at the same old stand, American Zinc, Lead & Smelting Co." George C. Stone, CE, 109 Hawthorne Drive, Danville, Va., writes: "Nothing noteworthy. I still drift slowly to Florida every fall (Dr.'s order), then back to Virginia in spring. Found out recently I had a heart; never suspected it before. No prospect for return to Ithaca in 1961, but I hope all the rest of the gang can make it. Tell Harry Eastwood I would

Well, I guess maybe spring is coming after all. No signs of it here. Still snow, ice, zero weather. But just learned that our Class dues are due, and as they always come due every spring, this means that we really must be nearing the end of winter. Another nice thing about it, there's no increase in the budget, no inflation. Just the same annual $5 dues. You know this also includes your subscription to the ALUMNI NEWS. So send your check to our Class treasurer, Don (D. P.) Beardsley, Care Drexel & Co., 1500 Walnut St., Philadelphia 2, Pa. And I have another important announcement to make on this same subject, namely that George Fowler, 319 Hooker Ave., Poughkeepsie, had the honor of being the first member of the Class to send his dues in for 1959; even before he got a bill! Now, there's really an honorable man. Congratulations, George!

John Duba, 28 Admiral Kalbfus Road, Newport, R.I., retired December 31 after forty-two years in the Navy Department and Bureau of Yards & Docks. He had been design department head. After graduating with a CE degree, John was with Westinghouse Electric Corp. and the Public Service Commission in New York City, before beginning his Navy career. In 1929, he transferred from the Bureau to the Norfolk Navy Yard and in 1922, to the Public Works Department, Naval Operating Base, Pearl Harbor, and finally, in 1924, to the Newport Naval Station. He received a Meritorious Civilian Service Award from the Chief of Civil Engineers in 1944 and a Superior Accomplishment Award in 1957, as well as numerous letters of commendation from both Navy and other Federal agencies. A fine record, John.

Here's an item about another CE. Heinie (Henry) Ten Hagen, 173 W. Buffalo St., Warsaw, former engineer with the State Department of Public Works, Rochester District, has just been named chief engineer of the department. Heinie's career with the department began forty-six years ago, when he started in as a rodman in July, 1913. He has been in the department ever since except for services with the US Army, 1917-19; and even during that time, he was assigned as a member of the Army Engineer Corps on highway construction in the Panama Canal Zone. After his return to the department from the services, he went steadily up the promotion ladder. Nice going, Heinie. He has two sons and one daughter, all married. I seem to have no information regarding grandchildren which is, indeed, the omission of a very important subject.

Tip (Frederick H.) Tyler retired in 1957 after forty-two years in the engraving department of National Cash Register Co. His address is 2149 Malvern Avenue, Dayton 6, Ohio. Bill (Robert W.) Walker is retired and his address is now 9 Hill Top Drive, Princeton, N.J. Have no other news about Bill. (How did that "Bill" get in there anyway with that "Robert W." name?)

So long!

Ramsay Spillman writes that Jimmy Roof died suddenly, January 18, at his home in Newton, N.J. Long write-ups in the papers, etc. He had held the Chevrolet agency for forty-four years, one of the oldest in the US. It was later supplemented by Oldsmobile and Cadillac and he was a director of Newton Trust Co. He was a loyal and generous member of The Class. From Aquiles Armas '17 of Trujillo, Peru, (through Class Secretary Herb Johnston '17) I received, read, and deposited in the Libe a copy of the Guia de Trujillo written by our Juan L. E. Armas M. to celebrate the fourth centenary (1935) of the founding of that city. It was more than a guide book, covering in its 320 pages the history of the area and the lives of many of its citizens. Cornell figured largely, in the two Armas boys (and their father who was smart enough to send them North) and the several Cornell members of the Larco tribe, the leading family of the province, the first one being an 1897 man. My wife and I had the pleasure of dining in Lima in 1953 with Rafael Larco H. '24 and seeing a small sample of his marvelous archaeological collection.

I want to thank Remington Rogers, our Tulsa lawyer scout, for sending me a clipping when Morris Bishop was principal speaker at the South-Central Modern Language Association convention there last November. Remmy said Morris made a deep impression; Morris said he enjoyed meeting Remmy again, that he was looking very hearty indeed and exuding well-being. Our Carmel (Cal.) scout is J. D. (Montie) Lamont who sends me Cornell clippings. My own clipping service tells me that Sherwood Smith's advertising agency, Calkins & Holden, is to merge into Fletcher Richards, Calkins & Holden, with Sher as chairman of the executive committee. It will be one of the largest operations in New York and the West Coast, as well as of substantial size in Chicago, Canada, Mexico, and thirteen agencies in Europe through an affiliate. It's all a result of the Savage Club, Manuscript Club, Masque, Dramatic Club, and sundry other organizations.

Had a nice note from Charlie Tehle from Norwood, Pa., a few weeks ago, about tickers, retirement, and his and his wife's health. He spent thirty days in the hospital last summer and doesn't know whether he can make the Reunion. Try hard, Charlie. Hooks Day is looking forward to the affair and will probably bring his wife. They are still struggling with the remodeling of Gable Cottage on the Village Green of Norfolk, Conn. Haven't sold Stone Walls yet, but have some enthusiastic prospects. They have enjoyed membership in the Curling Club this winter.

Another globe-trotter, this one backing up the medical profession after studying ME and EE at Cornell, is A. B. Weinberger, vice-president of Hospital Equipment Corp., 12 Prospect Place, East Orange, N.J. He recently returned from a three-and-a-half-month trip to England, Ireland, Scotland, Belgium, Germany, Switzerland, Denmark, Norway, Sweden, and Finland. Weinie carried credentials from Hospital Industries Association, of which he is a charter member and former director. He visited many hospitals, comparing equipment and techniques with those at home. Took in the Brussels Expo and operas, concerts, ballets, and plays in most areas.

A prospective voyager this April is Ed Bowden of Seattle when he and his wife contemplate a trip to Europe. This would rule out our Reunion, which would be a pity as Ed has never been back to Ithaca. I missed seeing Ed when I called at his insurance office in 1948, but had a nice chat with a brother. You would be much impressed by the Campus, Ed.

Frank L. Hornickel, 18675 Parkland Drive, Cleveland 22, Ohio, writes: "I am retiring March 1, 1959 after liquidating Ankor Coal Co. which I have been with since 1916 except for two years in AEF. I have one daughter, one grandson, two granddaughters. No chance for Cornell as the father is present president of Cleveland Princeton Club; and mother taught the daughters to say 'Smith College' before they could say 'Mommy'. Hope to see some of you in Cleveland."

A short one from Dean W. Kelsey, Franklinville: "Retired, travel, Contaflex; darkroom, garden, flowers."

J. V. Thompson, 3035 Castleman Street, Pittsburgh 32, Pa., is still in the chemical coatings business. He seems to be getting lots of fun out of life. He admits to having lots of problems; but, fortunately, he is getting plenty of business. Cassius R. McBroom, 1001 SE Main, Portland 14, Ore., is the owner of Friction Products Manufacturing Co. Their products carry the trade mark, "Hi-Ball." He says "OK" for the Class directory.

I. F. Hall, 43 Mohawk Drive, Madison 5, Wis., professor emeritus, University of Wisconsin, retired in 1954; but is now operating a 150-cow dairy farm with milking parlor and all modern feeding equipment. John G. Thompson, 4114 Aspen Street, Chevy Chase 15, Md., favors getting out a Class directory. He is enjoying a retired status, but is keeping out of trouble by carrying on a consulting practice. He is looking forward to attending the 1960 Reunion.

Charles A. Kuchler, 148-07 85th Drive, Jamaica 35, favors a Class directory. He is connected with a resident buyer in New York City, second largest in the United States. Adlai S. Coble, 1405 Kalmia Road, NW, Washington 12, D.C., has retired from his position as patent examiner, is now a part-time patent attorney.

Howard C. Jackson, Sr., 4014 Council Crest, Madison 5, Wis., received the MS in 1917 and PhD in 1920, was assistant professor, Dairy Industry Department, Cornell, 1922-24; in charge USDA Experimental Laboratories and Dairy Plant, Grove City, Pa., 1924-27; and from 1927 to date chairman, Dairy Food Industry Department, University of Wisconsin.

James M. Frayer, 281 South Winooski Avenue, Burlington, Vt., thinks the '15 directory is a good idea. He has been retired from the faculty of University of Vermont since 1954. Has a number of hobbies: gardening when he can get out doors; reading, stamp collecting, and loafing keep him busy indoors.

A note from Colonel Beverly H. (Bev)

Coiner, 807 Ivy Lane, San Antonio 9, Tex., says: "Hope you can read this, written without aid of forefinger which I just nipped in my buzz saw. It's great fun being retired and free to maim yourself at will. But it wasn't serious, just demonstrating my independence. I believe the Class directory is a good idea as maybe some Classmates would write to others, thus stirring up interest in the 1960 Reunion. I'll be there without fail."

A note from Joseph G. Malone, 14719 Clifton Boulevard, Lakewood 7, Ohio: "The directory idea is an excellent one. I am still in the tool engineering business (seventeen years this February). Regards to all '15 men you may see."

Any '16ers, or for that matter, any Cornellians, visiting the State Capitol in Albany, would do well to drop in at Room 439 in that edifice, where they will find our Joe Younglove and Ray Ashbery '25. Joe has been a member of the State Assembly since 1941 and is chairman of the taxation committee and a member of the rules and mortgages & real estate committees. He is also vice-chairman of the Temporary Commission on the Coordination of State Activities, more popularly known as the Little Hoover Commission of New York State. Ray has been a member of the State Assembly since 1949 and is chairman of the committee on general laws and a member of the judiciary, public education, and public health committees. He is chairman of the joint legislative committee on unemployment insurance administration and is secretary of the State Highway Finance Planning Commission. Room 439 has been the domicile of these committees for many years, but this is the first time that both of these chairmanships have been held by Cornellians, and the welcome mat is out for any and all Cornellians.

Thad Collum '21 advises that James (Pete) Corwith was recently appointed to the New York State Board of Regents, becoming the third Cornellian sitting on that rather august body. Thad is himself a member and Dr. Dominick F. Maruillo '20 of Brooklyn is also a member, and he understands that this is the first time that any college has had three graduates on that body. The thirteen-member Board of Regents governs the University of the State of New York and sets the educational policies for all public and private educational institutions in the State. Pete has been a professional farmer at Water Mill, on Long Island, for some years, in partnership with his father, and has been a member of the New York State Council on Rural Education since its inception.

Herbert M. Mapes of Box 327, Richmondville, recently retired after thirty-six years in the Albany public schools, twenty-one of them as director of vocational education. He plans to devote considerable of his leisure time roaming the area and collecting botanical specimens for Dr. A. Leroy Andrews and Stanley J. Smith of the Wiegand and State Herbariums. He advises that Howard Smith was reelected county clerk of Schoharie County and has prepared an interesting historical map of that county.

'17 Men—One of our busiest '17ers is Don (Danny) Danenhower who has been president of the Cornell Club of Philadelphia for several years and has developed it into one of the most active alumni groups in the nation. "Give a job to a busy man if you want to get it done!" That old cliché was proved when I asked Don to write in during his spare time about what our Classmates are doing in the Philadelphia area, and "The Philadelphia Story" was forthcoming at once. Here it is:

Most of them have retired, so Don says, including Jack Blackman, AB, Chan Burpee, ME, Bob Fraser, BS, Stu Cooper, BS, and Walt (Hap) Roth, ME. Last summer Don and Mrs. Danenhower visited the Blackmans at their summer home in Douglas Hill, Me. and also Chan Burpee whose summer home on Lake Winnepesaukee, N.H. is about sixty miles distant. Don says Chan has the fastest boat on the lake. In addition to boating, Chan plays golf whenever weather permits. Stu Cooper has a home on the same lake, but was away when Don was there. Stu has retired from New Jersey Bell Telephone Co. and is interested in civic affairs. According to Don, Stu is the busiest "retired" man in the country. His hobby is electric trains, with a permanent exhibition in his basement for more than thirty-five years. Every Monday afternoon, a group of young boys and girls comes in to see the exhibit which consists of 2000 feet of track, 75 engines, 250 cars, 40 villages, bridges, tunnels, and water towers. Eight trains can be operated at one time!

Alan Passmore retired as president of the Union League, Philadelphia. He spends the summer on the New Jersey coast and at least part of the winter in Florida. Bob Fraser sold his laundry last year and plans to spend much of his time sailing on Chesapeake Bay. Fred Nabenhauer retired from Smith, Kline & French several years ago and has two hobbies, gardening and photography. He raises flowers and vegetables, specializing in asparagus. He has a wonderful collection of slides from his trips to Europe, Central and South America. Walt Roth retired from the Philadelphia Navy Yard five years ago. He attends regularly the Cornell Club luncheons.

Howdy Hock, BChem, is just about retired. A few years ago, he moved to Pocono Manor in the Pennsylvania Poconos. He spends one day a week at his plant (Hock Chemical & Paint Co.) in Phoenixville, Pa. and golfs the remainder of the week. Last year he sponsored the Cornell Club of Philadelphia golf outing at Aronimink Country Club. Larry Edson, BS, is still a hardworking Classmate, being in the dairy products business. He is an ardent golfer and fisherman. He is Don's golf partner at Cornell outings where they usually play Chan Burpee and Paul Frick. Latter is in the steel bin business, but spends most of each winter in Florida.

Marshall Farnham, BS, is a leading authority on turf and is a consultant for golf clubs all over the country. Howard Stern, BS, is a busy attorney in Philadelphia and Don says he frequently attends their Cornell luncheons.

Now about Don himself! He conducts the Adams Travel Bureau in the Land Title Bld'g., Philadelphia, and it must be as an avocation, because running the Cornell Club of Philadelphia must take most of his time.—HERB JOHNSTON

The long dry months without news seem to have ended, and data about health, retirements, hobbies, and grandchildren are pouring in from Classmates all over the country. If the news flood continues, so will this column. Otherwise that yawning gap between '17 and '19 will reappear at more frequent intervals. It's up to You All. If the hand is able to lift a golf club, it can hold a fountain pen.

Memories of '18's great 40th Reunion still linger and draw comments from those who were there, and there's already talk of plans for the 45th. Berny (B.J.R.) Carples, who had such a fine time last June after missing every previous Reunion, is now guiding his brother Ed, who has the job of setting up '19's 40th this year. Berny suggests both regional and college committees in 1963, to make sure we draw men who recall attending classes together in those long-ago years. George Sweet also has a suggestion: that the weather-makers provide us with less rain than last year.

Boasts about golfing and grandchildren are about evenly divided in recent reports. Only one Classmate mentions his golf in deprecatory terms. E. A. Williams merely reports "spending most of my time either cutting grass or playing mediocre golf." He is a retired colonel living in San Antonio, while F. O. German, another retired colonel, is enjoying sunny Spain, with about 12,000 other Americans busy on the new air and naval bases. German says it must be the climate because he has retired twice and still enjoys working, and goofing off to play golf. But Dick (Richard E.) Weber goes them both one better. He's still a busy construction company president (Weber Construction Co., Schenectady), but states in behalf of the "bragging department" that he is still a 36-holer in golf, with an 8 handicap, and in addition bowls in three leagues and manages a magnificent 190 average. Company presidents who do that could give their employees inferiority complexes, you know. And finally, another golfer and retiree is Richard G. Warren who plods the courses regularly, weather permitting, and also keeps busy checking up on the six grandsons and five granddaughters for which he and Mrs. Warren are jointly responsible. Dick lives on a pond (Long Pond, Buzzards Bay) ten miles south of Plymouth, Mass. He also reports "talking insurance" now and then with Converse Hill.

Really, there's a mess of news from all around the country, much of which will have to be saved for later columns. But here are a few of the current items. Jo Cable, who was looking fine last June, nevertheless reports a mild heart attack, though he is already back at his office in Wichita Falls, Tex. Hollis Warner, the duck king of Riverhead, proudly announces the arrival of grandchild #8, and all is well. Tex (H. W.) Roden dashed off to pick up a car at Gibraltar in mid-February with plans to drive up the Spanish coast, taking two months for that, then spend another enroute to Monte Carlo, another on the Italian Riviera, and finally to Northern Europe for the hot summer months. This is the poor fellow's sixth trip in five years, which might seem to indicate he likes the Continent.

Paul (P. P.) Miller reports he has two years to go before retirement as president of the Sealtest Foods Division of National Dairy Products. Paul also writes that Manley S. (Sko) Inscho is living with relatives in Bronxville, following an operation which has left him partially paralyzed. And to end all this on a proud note, let me report that Val A. Browning, the old firearms expert, has received from King Baudouin of Belgium the decoration of Chevalier de l'Ordre de Leopold for his "eminent contributions to the art of firearms design," and he's deservedly happy about it.

Please note the exact dates of our 40th Reunion are Friday, June 12, and Saturday, June 13. Don't miss this wonderful chance to see your old friends in the best of all possible surroundings, the Cornell Campus in June!

Although the return postcard notices of our Class dinner were for some unaccountable reason sent out way too late by the Alumni Office, we still had a very presentable and high quality gathering at the Cornell Club, Tuesday, February 10. Those present included Ned Banghart, Charlie Baskerville, Lloyd Bemis, Mal Beakes, Ed Carples, Clyde Christie, Rudy Deetjen, Joe Goldberg, Jimmie Hillas, Mike Hendrie, Charlie Lerner, George Minasian, Scotty MacDougal, Will Pearce, John Sheppard, Ben Solovay, Bob Story, Larry Waterbury, and Chill Wright. In the absence of John Hollis (basking in Florida sunshine), Ed Carples acted as chairman of the dinner, which gave him a fine chance to get in some extra licks about our Reunion program and progress to date.

Recognition of the great loss our Class sustained in the tragic passing of Jimmy Janes in the LaGuardia airplane crash, February 3, was signified by a moment of silence just preceding the dinner. Later John Sheppard made a plea for the cooperation of all in carrying on the Cornell Fund program so ably handled by Jimmy with the valuable help of Jack Leppart and his fine special gifts committee. There could be no finer memorial to Warham W. Janes than the successful completion of the job he had so ably conducted thus far.

Ed Carples had glowing figures on the constantly growing number returning to Reunion which now totals more than 130, with something like thirty-eight or forty who have already paid the $40 fee which includes everything! Already we have acceptances from twenty-two States, plus the District of Columbia and Puerto Rico.

Where in the world can you get a bargain like that, two full days among the finest group in the world, including housing for two nights, luncheon Friday and Saturday, Class picture, Class banquet Friday night, Class barbecue at Bill Emerson's Saturday night, bus service, Reunion costume, plus that terrific Schnickelfritz Band with the usual beer on tap—and a piano or two in our tent. How can you lose, and how can you afford to miss this terrific week end! If you are not already on Ed's list of lucky '19ers who are returning, send your acceptance now to E. Carples at 140 West Street, Room 1380, New York City 7.

Edward R. Hoskins, Mt. Pleasant Road,

Moravia, is definitely returning to our 40th. He writes: "After retiring from Cornell in January, 1955, I accepted two foreign assignments with the International Cooperation Administration (ICA). The first one involved an agricultural and industrial education survey in the Philippine Islands during the summer of 1955. The second was for one and one-half years with the Kansas State College contract team. I was located at Poona Agricultural College, Bombay State, India, where I served in an advisory capacity in extension education with the purpose of developing future leaders for the National Extension Blocks. The latter assignment provided an opportunity to circle the globe. Mrs. Hoskins and I returned to California in January; thence to Mexico for a few months; and finally back to the northeast to become reestablished in home life and to supervise two farms. I expect to be 'on hand' for the 40th Reunion. I have four grandchildren (two boys and two girls); all too young to register for college."

Looking over our shoulder is a dour-looking character known as Dapper Don the Space-mon with a pained expression and an ailment called "Lackadood." This is not due to the Ides of March, but due to no dues. His complaint is that being a friendly soul he sent out little billet-doux to scads of Classmates, but the majority persist in giving him the silent treatment. Silence in this case is far from golden. So let's get this "schlemiel" off my neck and yours by applying the simple remedy of slipping a $6 bill in an envelope to Donald Hoagland, 20 Addison Dr., Short Hills, N.J. Now don't tell us there isn't a $6 bill; if you don't have it, two threes will do. This will make old sour-puss smile again and you won't miss a single installment of this educational column.

Carroll D. Fearon (above) of Scarsdale has been elected vice-president in charge of personnel for Frank G. Shattuck Co., owners of Schraffts and its many subsidiaries in New York, Boston, Brooklyn, and Flushing. Carroll is celebrating his fortieth year with Schraffts, having started in the factory shipping department as soon as he was out of college. Inching his way upward, and with proper training, he became manager of several of the New York restaurants and for ten years has been most successful in his direction of personnel. Next year, we hope, he'll help the Class celebrate its 40th.

Dana Smith, 2185 Huntington Dr., San Marino, Cal., alleges that he is still practicing law in Pasadena, and as a result of several legal and binding contracts boasts a baker's dozen grandchildren (13, no less). Dana lost a son a few years ago, now has two sons and a daughter, with a creditable record. He spends a part of each year traveling and has gotten Japan, S. E. Asia, Australia, New Zealand, and Bali Bali out of his system so that he and brother Walker Smith (also in Pasadena) will let no hurdle stand in the way of making a record long hop to the 40th Reunion in 1960.

John M. McDonald, Jr. is executive vice-president of A. Y. McDonald Mfg. Co., Dubuque, Iowa, manufacturers of plumbing and heating supplies, and is in charge of the firm's branches in ten midwestern States. John was recently elected president of the Central Supply Association, trade organization of the plumbing and heating wholesalers in the Midwest with headquarters near Ft. Dearborn in The Windy City (that's Wacker Drive, Chicago). John is sure a ladies' man, at least to his four granddaughters, and we hail him as a fellow Rotarian. Brother Delos McDonald is associated with John in running their 103-year-old company (1856), and this is another brother-team we expect to see in June, 1960.

You won't get clipped or even trimmed (but your grass will) if you do business with Whitney S. McGuire, who is vice-president of Dille & McGuire Manufacturing Co., Richmond, Ind., makers of "The World's Standard Mower since 1874." He makes all types hand and power mowers, even with seats, yet, for oldsters like you, maybe, who like to take their exercise sitting down.

Night Letter: NOT ABLE TO GET SUFFICIENT CLASS NEWS TO YOU ON TIME FOR TWO REASONS. 1. HAD TO DO A GOOD SAMARITAN ACT THAT REQUIRED MY BEING OUT OF TOWN FOR A WEEK PREVIOUS TO DEADLINE MAILING DATE. 2. AM DOWN TO MY LAST TWO ITEMS ABOUT CLASSMATES NOT ENOUGH FOR HALF A COLUMN. HOPE SUFFICIENT MATERIAL COMES IN TO CARRY ON FOR REST OF SCHOOL YEAR.

'22 Men—Eastern States Electrical Contractors, Inc., 221 E. 46th Street, New York City, announced, February 6, the election of William E. Frenaye as vice-president. Bill lives at 110 Gates Avenue, Montclair, N.J.

If you are in the vicinity of the middle eastern section of New York State and find yourself in the need of beef cattle, strawberries, veal, raspberries, beagle hounds, Christmas trees, honey, or bee supplies stop by at Valleywinds Farm in Hillsdale where Lieutenant Colonel Otto J. Spahn, USAR (Ret.), will be sure to be on hand to accommodate you. Otto is retired from the Army, but it is evident that he is far from being a gentleman of leisure.

Johnny Cole's picture, in a recent issue, holding his hand out in a gesture of alms, pleading to the '23 laggards to kick in with their Class dues came just about when our own treasurer, Jim (Moneybags) Trousdale, announced that the dues-paying members of our Class have increased by 81 per cent this last year. Of course, Jim, who is accustomed to counting bags of money all day as Assistant Treasurer for Cornell, will never be satisfied until he can announce that every last man has kicked in his fin note and he may very well come close to his goal.

Tom McFadden, at the time of our annual dinner, was recuperating from what he termed a minor operation. That's why he did not attend. We hope that, by now, Tom has fully recovered and is back at his desk at the law firm of Donovan, Liesure, Newton, & Irvine, Two Wall Street.

We had stories written about the recent honors bestowed upon Walker Cisler and Joe Hinsey, but the ALUMNI NEWS scooped us on these.—JOE MOTYCKA

'22 AB—New, revised edition of The Changing Years: What to Do About the Menopause, by Madeline (Grosshandler) Gray, has been published by Doubleday & Co., New York City. In the New York Herald Tribune for January 20, columnist Charles Ventura devoted almost his entire column to Leon Mandel and his lovely sharpshooting wife, Carola. There was a good picture of them, too; showing them at a bon voyage party at the swank El Morocco. Leon and Carola passed up their usual yachting routine in southern waters to enter the Monte Carlo live-bird shoot from February 1 to mid-March. Carola gave a refreshing antidote for current Russian superman propaganda, exhibiting two silver medals won against male competition last year in Russia's international skeet shoot, and confided that she was the only woman to shoot it out with the men, despite the fact that several hundred Russian women competed in the qualifying rounds. Carola won the European women's skeet-shoot championship last summer in Italy. She holds the national women's skeet championship, plus world champion pistol honors, and has beaten women champions in live-bird shoots throughout Europe.

Leon, too, ranks among the topnotchers and boasts, among other trophies, the Baron Potesta Trophy won last year at Vichy, France, in a live-bird shoot and a place among the first six at the men's shoot at Torino, Italy. It was Leon who taught Carola how to shoot, just to keep her around during the tournament season. He won't teach her how to play golf, though, because with those amazing reflexes, Leon thinks that she would be playing in top golf tournaments so much that he'd never see her except during shooting junkets. We are proud of you, Leon and Carola (and by the way, Carola, don't forget that penny with the center shot out of it).

That's all, my friends. Did you pay your Class dues and send in some news about yourself? As you can see, if it weren't for a newspaper article, there wouldn't have been a '23 column this issue.

Ray Taylor from Arlington, Va. reports "fourth grandchild (first grandson) arrived on our own birthday, September 8." George Bickley from Jenkintown, Pa., in sending his checks (happy news!) to Johnny Brothers, says: "I wanted to get these checks off as I am leaving tomorrow for Bermuda. A team of the American Senior Golf Association is playing Bermuda Seniors in a series of golf matches next week. You know how old you have to be to be a senior?: fifty-five years old. That's a long cry from twenty-one when we got out of Cornell."

Among the compatriots with many grandchildren stands Wilton Jaffee, who writes from Hopewell, N.J., that he now has five grandchildren, and generously says that any visiting skiing brethren are welcome at his ranch outside of Aspen, Colo. He proves he means it by giving his phone number: Aspen—Walnut 5-3434. God bless you, Wilton!

Speaking of thoroughly endowed grandfathers, Paul H. Knowlton, writes from Schenectady that he has seven grandchildren, six of them girls, and for some reason underlines the word "girls." He also says: "Thirty-fifth anniversary of graduation coming up. Will have spent thirty-four of those years in Schenectady working for General Electric as an engineer in the steam turbine department. Still play tennis in summer, ski some in winter, also curl." Finally, he closes with the pious hope of being able to get to Ithaca in June, 1959.

Pleasant news from John C. Cramer of Wynnwood, Pa., who, we are proud to announce, was made vice-president of Albert Ramond & Associates, management and industrial consultants, with headquarters in Chicago, Ill. John reports that he will be there for the 35th Reunion.

George S. Bibbins of Short Hills, N.J. reports that his daughter Elizabeth A. (Betty) Bibbins '59 was married November 29 to Bynum E. Vicory, Jr. of East Walpole, Mass., Lawrence College '56. Carolyn Burtless '59 was a bridesmaid and Charles H. Bibbins '54 was an usher. Cornell guests included F. Stanley Kammerer '22, Charles V. Stone '23, Andrew J. Fairbanks, Hubert L. Mott, MA '33, William S. LaLonde '54, James Smith '57, John Edsall '57, Robert Flynn '58, Mr. & Mrs. James P. (Carol Anderson) '59, Doyle '58, Helen Schneider '59, Mary Arth '59, Diane Davis '59, Sara Stevens '59, Alan Newhouse '59, and Margo Hicks '60.

Tom C. Hennings, Jr., our distinguished Senator, writes that for the fourth time Democrats of the US Senate have honored him by choosing him as one of the three elected leaders of the majority. He will serve as secretary of the Senate's Democratic Conference, a member of the Democratic Steering Committee, and as a member of the Democratic Policy Committee. Last year he was honored by the honorary LLD of Westminster College, Fulton, Mo. He is a member of the national advisory council of the Big Brothers of America, Inc. of New York, and in 1955 received the award as "National Big Brother of the Year."

Thanks to the Public Information Office of the US Army in Alaska, the following news has been received on Red Slocum:

Colonel and Mrs. A. N. Slocum, Jr. will arrive in New York in March after making Fort Richardson, Alaska their home since June, 1955. The colonel, a graduate of New York and Cornell Universities, was given impressive retirement ceremonies January 30 at Fort Richardson after more than 32 years' Army commissioned service. Colonel Slocum graduated from Cornell with the ME in 1926. He received the Master's in Business Administration at New York University in 1932. During World War II, the colonel served as assistant intelligence officer (G2) on the staff of the late General George S. Patton, Jr. During this period he served in the Mediterranean Theater in the Moroccan, Tunisian, and Sicilian Campaigns.

From 1944-45, he was a staff and faculty member of the Command & General Staff School, Fort Leavenworth, Kans. In 1946, he became assistant professor of Military Science & Tactics at Cornell University and served in that position until September, 1948. Colonel Slocum departed the United States for Tokyo the latter part of 1948 and was assigned to the Far East Command where he served as assistant secretary to the general staff of the Supreme Commander for the Allied Powers. Prior to the Slocums' arrival in Alaska, the colonel served at Fort Sill, Okla. as commanding officer of the Field Artillery Replacement Training Center and as Assistant Chief of Staff for Personnel at the Artillery Center.

Upon the colonel's arrival in Alaska in June, 1955, he was appointed Fort Richardson post commander. In July, 1957, he was made Chief of Staff of the US Army, Alaska, the major Army command in the 49th State. He held this position until his retirement. Prior to retirement ceremonies at Fort Richardson, he was feted at a dinner in his honor by the Greater Anchorage Chamber of Commerce. Both Colonel and Mrs. Slocum were active in many civilian and military clubs and organizations in the Fort Richardson-Anchorage, Alaska area. The Slocums will make their home in the East where the colonel is already considering useful and satisfying openings in several civilian fields.

Congratulations, Red and Betty, and here's hoping your travels will be bringing you through Ithaca!

Edward Sanderson, 21 North Williams St., Burlington, Vt., reports that his daughter, Sally, is a freshman at Middlebury College. Morris Chamurich practices medicine in Peekskill. He advises that he has a six-month-old granddaughter and a twenty-month-old grandson, both children of his daughter, Eve '59 and son-in-law (a Penn man). Morris's address is 2023 Crompond Road, Peekskill.

Major General Clinton F. Robinson (above), USA (ret.), has been president of Carborundum Co., Niagara Falls, since 1952. He is also a director and member of the executive committee of Fansteel Metallurgical Corp. General Robinson served as director of the Control Division, Army Service Forces, from 1942-45 and was responsible for the establishment and development of their management control. He was honored with a Distinguished Service Medal, the Legion of Merit, and the Bronze Star Medal. Clint is married and has two daughters. His chief hobby is yachting.

Richard C. Rea informs us that after graduating he shifted from engineering and wound up becoming a certified public accountant. He has his own accounting firm with offices in New Philadelphia and Dover, Ohio. His activities in the community included two terms as president of the local Chamber of Commerce and for many years as treasurer of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis. Dick is currently chairman of the industrial development committee of the local Chamber of Commerce and also a director of Industrial Building Corp. He is co-editor of the "Practitioners Forum," a department of the Journal of Accountancy, official organ of the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants. He is married to the former Katherine Gehret '26. They have one son, Fred '60, who is now in his third year of Electrical Engineering at Cornell.

Word comes from Mario S. Cioffari that last year's Reunion was his first, but that he had such a good time that it won't be his last. Mario practices pediatrics in Detroit and is on the staff of the Mt. Carmel Mercy Hospital and Children's Hospital of Michigan. His home address is 2432 Vinsetta Blvd., Royal Oak, Mich. Mario is married, but his children aren't old enough for Cornell. For diversion he enjoys year-round swimming, bowling, and the taking of color movies.

'29 Men—Memo to all '29ers: Thirty-year Reunion, Ithaca, June, 1959. Don't miss it!

A nice note with long-range intent, pleasant to get, from Alfred F. Sulla, stating that busy as he is as supervisor of the Town of Harrison, he will suspend duties temporarily to be with us at Reunion.

Arthur Leff wrote that he regretted missing the annual Class dinner recently held in New York. US Government chores were keeping him occupied practically around the clock at the time. Hyman ("Buck") Mintz was reelected to the New York State Senate from the Monticello area. Congrats!

Mike Bender, Brooklyn's #1 opera fan, takes time to drop a note about Charles Huddleston's whereabouts, 140 Meadow Lane, Chagrin Falls, Ohio; that Neil Castaldo is practicing medicine in Cranford, N.J.; that S. Rothman, DDS, is successfully prying cavities at 221 Linden Blvd., Brooklyn; that Leonard Spelman is at 57 Arleigh Rd., Great Neck; and sadly reports the passing of Classmates Robert S. Olney and Dr. Sydney Terr. From up Connecticut way, we hear Chrystal O. Todd's daughter is eyeing Cornell for the fall.

Please send in news notes about you and yours to me at Paramount Pictures Corp., New York City 36.—ZAC FREEDMAN

'30 BS—Mrs. Almena Dean Crane of Windy Acres, Pittstown, N.J., has been elected vice-president of the American Farm Bureau women's committee. She has served on the committee for four years as a representative of the northeast region. The widow of Robert B. Crane '27, she operates a 200-acre poultry farm.

We recently had a very nice letter and journal from Rabbi Harold I. Saperstein, 170 Hempstead Avenue, Malverne. Harold covered the nearly twenty-eight years from graduation in 1931 with the work which he has been doing as the spiritual leader of Temple Emanu-El of Lynbrook, Inc. Last November was his twenty-fifth anniversary as Rabbi of the Temple and was also the occasion of the dedication of a new Temple building. His congregation is large and the religious school has more than 1000 pupils. We join with others in congratulating him on years of fine service to his community and his Faith.

It always had been our hope that these columns, successors to the Class letters, would serve as a medium for bringing long separated members of the Class together again. We have finally achieved that goal. Ed Courtney, PO Box 311, Hammond, La., a petroleum consultant, has confirmed our faith in these columns by sending us copies of letters written to Joseph P. Acton, 52 Berkeley Square, London, W1, England, and Frank B. McMullin, Ebasco Building, Wall Street, New York City. Our thanks to Ed for this action. He is rather busy in his work besides raising four children who range from the older girl who is a freshman at LSU to the younger girl who is in sixth grade, with two boys in between.

Wilmer L. Thompson recently had a change in occupation. He retired last September after twenty-four years with the FBI. Although originally an engineer and physicist, he had studied law over the years and last June passed the South Carolina Bar examination on the first try. He has now set up a partnership with Henry Gaud, Yale graduate, under the firm name of Gaud & Thompson, 71 Broad Street, PO Box 356, Charleston, S.C. Wilmer's son Leigh was graduated at 18 from the College of Charleston, taught high school math for one year and then was awarded a fellowship at the South Carolina Medical College doing research on hearts. He is taking one-half the regular medical college work while continuing the research. To round out his life, he married at 19 and his wife teaches in a local private school. Daughter Claudia is eleven and attends private school in Charleston. Best wishes for success in the new venture.

Herbert A. Heerwagen of Chappaqua is a partner in the law firm of Davies, Hardy & Schneck, 1 Wall Street, New York City. He was elected a governor of the Cornell Club of Westchester last May. He is married to Doris L. Richardson, Smith '36, and they have four children: Peter, 15; Nancy, 10; David, 12; and John, 7. He is actively engaged in coaching and managing Little League baseball, football, and basketball.

Dr. Herbert Kalmanoff studied medicine at Cambridge University after leaving Cornell in 1933. He served in the British Military Service in 1939 and 1940 and then in the US Army until 1946; has been practicing psychoanalysis in New York City since 1946. He has been married seventeen years to Bernice, sister of Seymour Hoag '33. They have one child, Wendy, who attends Ethical Culture School.

Laurence E. Ide has been with the US Department of Agriculture, Fruit & Vegetable Division (AMS), since 1942. He has been in Washington during the last ten years, helping to develop US standards for fresh fruits and vegetables. He lives with his wife and children in Kensington, Md. His daughter Lauren is in nurse's training in Baltimore and his daughter Gretchen is a freshman at Maryville College in Tennessee. His son Roger attends Kensington Junior High School.

Isaac Mollella reports that he is a supervisor in the defense systems department of General Electric Co. in Syracuse, where they keep GE's Atlas Guidance System flying. His daughter Lynn, 20, is a senior at Syracuse University, majoring in languages. His son Arthur, 14, is in his tenth year at Liverpool High School. His daughter Marylee, 7, is in the third grade at Chestnut Hill School. He has been married to Betty Puglisi '35 for twenty-two years. He returned from Europe about a year ago where he and his family spent seven months in French Morocco (Rabat and Casablanca), seven months in northern Italy, and two years in Germany. He resides with his family at 11 Gooseberry Lane, Liverpool.

'33 AB—Andrew J. Haire, Jr. has been re-elected commodore of the Manhasset Bay Yacht Club. His address is 111 Fourth Avenue, New York City 3.

'35 ME—Thomas C. Borland was transferred last August from Calgary, Alberta, Canada, to New York City as director and vice-president for production of Pan-American International Oil Co. He has been with Pan-American Petroleum Corp. since 1935; Pan-Am International is a subsidiary of Pan-Am Petroleum, which is a subsidiary of Standard of Indiana. He lives on Club Road, Stamford, Conn.

Jack Senesy has just been elected president of Bound Brook Water Co. This is a further addition to his many responsibilities. He is president of Construction Service Co., a partner in the engineering firm of Senesy & Van Nest, and a director of Bound Brook Trust Co., Bound Brook Water Co., Brook Equipment Co., and Piedmont Corp. He is also a member of the Bound Brook planning board, the Somerset County planning board, and the board of governors of Raritan Valley Country Club. He is active in Rotary and Chamber of Commerce. With all of this, he finds time to get a round of golf in once or twice a week and to enjoy a dip in the pool with his wife and two daughters during the summer. His home is in Bound Brook, N.J.

The above bit of news comes to us from Paul Van Nest, Jack's partner in Senesy & Van Nest. Paul, who is already looking forward to our Twenty-five-year Reunion in 1961, asks, "Incidentally, didn't I see Bob Block on the Jack Parr program some weeks ago? If it wasn't he, it was a good replica of him, except a little hair was missing."

A spirited group has volunteered to assist Died Willers in his job as '36 chairman of the Annual Alumni Giving Program. The following are regional chairmen: For Metropolitan New York, Bernard Blickman, 536 Gregory Avenue, Weehawken, N.J.; New Jersey, John Forsythe, 12 Crowell Place, Maplewood, N.J.; Pennsylvania, Joseph Wohl, 3502 No. 3d Street, Harrisburg, Pa.; Middle Atlantic, William Parr, PO Box 349, Bel Air, Md.; Southern, Vert- ner S. Kenerson, 2518 Clark Avenue, Raleigh, N.C.; Ohio, Robert A. Scallan, 4730 Hilltop Lane, Cincinnati, Ohio; Middle West, Charles E. Sherwood, 1646 Wisconsin Ave., Racine, Wis.; Rocky Mountain & Southwest, Harry Bovay, 5009 Caroline St., Houston, Tex. Area chairmen for upper New York State are Robert A. Kock, Williamston; Joseph C. Middleton, Mohawk Country Club, Schenectady; Diedrich K. Willers, Kidders-on-Cayuga, Interlaken; J. Leland Rickard, Farmers Nat. Bank Bldg., Deposit; Clare Hoyt, 233 Liberty Street, Newburgh.

Class members in the Ithaca area held a smoker in the Big Red Barn February 25. A supper and smoker will be held at the Cornell Club in New York City Thursday, March 19, for those who live in the Greater New York area. This should be a big turnout and we will report of the happenings in a later column.

'37 Women—Christmas note quote from "C. J." Swan: "In the fall

I moved to Albany from Buffalo, but am still working for New York State Department of Social Welfare. I came into our central office to head our adoption program. It is a new position and has been fun creating. It means a lot of travel around the State to our offices. We are expecting legislation on adoption to be introduced into the legislature, so it should be a lively time."

From Leah Sahn Katz: "I'm still teaching, but this year I've been promoted (from first grade) to seventh grade English and literature. One day I'll finally get around to teaching Latin. At least I'm getting closer. I've been taking extension work for certification to teach kindergarten through 12th grade. I enjoy teaching tremendously. It's very rewarding, and very hard, too. Joe is still busy with his orthodontics and has a million other activities, Boy Scouts, civic activities, etc. Dickey is now 14, in 9th grade at Friends School in Moorestown, N.J. He's a very nice lad! I enjoy ALUMNI News tremendously."

Mrs. Perry Gilbert, PhD '40 (Claire Kelly): "We've enjoyed Class column in ALUMNI News. Perry's been traveling, pursuing sharks in Cuba and Bimini. Ann loves Nazareth and is secretary of their student council. Dave is president of Ithaca High School student council and is applying to colleges." (Yours truly's favorite valentine this year was signed "Ann, Dave, Steve, John, Muff, Lolly, and Chris Gilbert.") I recall writing to Claire after I visited them at Reuniontime that the seven little Gilberts had grown so fast that I felt old suddenly. I also said I supposed keeping up with that peppy gang kept her and Perry young. Claire immediately wrote me her thoughts on growing old. Said she: "It hits us all that age is here; it's probably universal after 40. In fact, Carol, that's the beauty and the comfort of it. All our close friends are aging right along with us; it's not a trip we take alone. You can't hold it back by trying not to get so much mileage out of the old chassis either. Even wrapped in tissue paper and put on the shelf, you get yellow and shop worn." Thoughts I shall remember, Claire.

Changes for your directories: Mrs. Daniel Bondareff (Esther Schiff), 3340 Northampton St., NW, Washington 15, D.C.; Mrs. Erling F. Iversen (Violet Hamilton), 16 Hendrie St., Riverside, Conn.; Mrs. Russell E. Harris (Edith Miller), Poestenkill (Where's Poestenkill, Edith?); Mrs. James H. Street (Mabel Carroll), 24 Fairfax Rd., Nixon, N.J. (Someone persuade Mabel to write us about her life in Argentina the last two years.); Mrs. Joseph D. Schlosser (Marjorie Hall), Monument Place, Stratford, Conn.

Did I tell you I give special rates for babysitting with '37 grandchildren? Have already babysat with Charles Thorne Rogers IV, grandson of Classmate Phyl Weldin and Dud Corwin '35, and can report that he's all his fond grandma claimed. I'd no sooner reported here that he lived in Terre Haute than he moved to Dayton, where his Dad, Charlie Rogers '55, is assistant manager of The King Cole Restaurant. His mom, Phyllis Corwin Rogers '59, trusted us with him while she went apartment hunting. They now live at 107 E. Fairview Ave., Dayton 5, Ohio, where I have already enjoyed a delicious Sunday dinner.—CAROL CLINE

'38 Men—Hello, there, all of you out there in Alumni Land. It's a far, far place you must be living in, for word of you is only filtering back here in dribbles, transistors notwithstanding. Herewith some dribbles.

Walt McCrone, BChem, PhD, director of Walter C. McCrone Associates in Chicago, has just been appointed to the advisory board of the American Chemical Society's journal, Advances in Chemistry Series.

Ralph Vreeland writes: "I was just transferred here (Aberdeen, Miss.) to start up a new plant we (American Potash & Chemical Corp.) are building. I will remain as superintendent, so having just gotten used to being a Californian, I must now become a rebel of Ole Miss." Ralph's address: Woodcrest Drive, Aberdeen.

John Penafeather, a consulting engineer in Tulsa, reports that he "branched out last year on my own with a consulting practice to architects & public. Recently designed mechanical & electrical work for St. John's Hospital, Tulsa, which is the largest institution in the State." John's son John is a sophomore at University of Tulsa. His daughter, Martha Julian, is a high school sophomore. The Penafeather address is 745 S. 90 E. Ave., Tulsa, Okla.

I don't know how anyone keeps up with all the changes of address that keep piling in. But for those of you who do, for those '38ers you like to keep track of, here are some of the latest: Norm Anderson, 19700 Farwell Ave., Saratoga, Cal.; Hank Grossman, 36 Bayview Ave., Great Neck; Damon Finelli, 1451 Nelson St., Mamaroneck; Bill Miller, 3806 SW 3d Ave., Gainesville, Fla.; Garrett Peavy, 7268 Franklin Ave., Los Angeles 46, Cal.; Henry Gleason, 70 Lorraine St., Hartford 5, Conn.; Alden Bacon, 5037 Bragg St., El Paso, Tex.; John Hooley, 304 E. Washington St., Signourney, Iowa; Jack Pistor, 11521 Orum Rd., W. Los Angeles 49. Pen to paper, everyone!

I s'pose it wouldn't be too unseemly here to throw in a short deBaun commercial. If anyone has been watching either "The Bell Telephone Hour" or the "Science Series" on TV, he has been seeing the TV commercials which represent the sweat of my brow. You have, that is, unless you take that time to refill your glass or look in on the sleeping youngsters. Both TV series, incidentally (and here's the pitchman speaking), are quite worth a look-see.

Well, we're at the bottom of the barrel again, and I mean the bottom. I'm sorry to have missed the last issue of the NEWS. But if I'd made it, there wouldn't have been any news to report in this issue. That's how tough things are. How about softening them up a bit by writing, hey?—STEVE DEBAUN

Twenty-year Reunion

J. Seward (Blackie) Smith writes that he and Phil Fitzhugh will be back for the Twentieth in June. He is working in wage and salary administration for Eastman Kodak Co., Kodak Park Works in Rochester. Blackie's father, Harry C. Smith '07, died in Clifton Springs Sanitarium, Clifton Springs, January 29.

Moe Goldbas had a male addition to his family September 15, their sixth, fourth son. He says that he is still serving as alderman of the second ward of Utica, a position which has been in his family for upwards of fifty years. Moe has a sideline of building houses with the able assistance of William Shaughnessy '41.

By now you have all received the first notice of the plans for the Reunion. This is only the beginning and a good way to begin is to make your plans now and send in the post card to Lovejoy.

'39 AB—Watercolors and oils by Mrs. Edmund P. Silver (Rawley Apfelbaum) of 5 Woodlawn Drive, Rye, were exhibited, January 4-17, in the gallery of the Mamaroneck Artists Guild, Mamaroneck.

Ward F. Miller has been appointed farm superintendent of Farm Service in the College of Agriculture. The appointment was effective January 1 and the Millers now live at 805 Dryden Rd., Ithaca. As a former wrestler, Ward is a loyal supporter of the Cornell wrestling team. Edward Obler lives at 21 Argyle Rd., Scarsdale.

Hamilton S. White, 309 Dawley Rd., Fayetteville, reports that he and Dean Wallace have been playing a lot of bridge and that he has been converting Dean into "quite a fisherman." Randall J. McConnie writes from Puerto Rico that he met Dick Osenkop's brother in St. Thomas, Virgin Islands. He comments on the family resemblance. The McConnie address is Box 6834, San-turce, Puerto Rico.

Arthur W. Galston and his wife Dale (Kuntz) '41 live at Manley Heights, Orange, Conn. It is now lieutenant colonel R. J. Lindo and his address is Student Detachment, US Army War College, Carlisle Barracks, Pa.

There is a new address for Martin D. Davis: 16 East 80th Street, New York City 21. He is practicing psychology and psychoanalysis at that address and is on the medical staff of Kings County and Montefiore Hospitals, as well as at State University of New York Medical School. He is married and has two children: Amy, 6, and Peter, 3½. There also is a new address for Sidney Witlen: 1006 Forest Glen Rd., Albany, Ga.

Two other changes in address are for James J. Dettmann to 4 East 78th St., New York City 21, and John J. Donoghue, 41

Osborne Rd., Garden City. John writes: "Last summer R. S. Liebowitz was aboard my aircraft on the New York to Rome flight. Unfortunately, we didn't recognize each other until we met in Customs. Bob was leaving that same afternoon for Capri, the lucky dog." Still more changes of address: Henry M. Jewett, Green Meadow Land, New Canaan, Conn.; Moe Kopp, 23 Pittman Ave., Port Chester; Robert J. Shaw, 133 Galbreath Drive, Princeton, N.J.

We appreciate having the new addresses, fellows, but would also be glad to have word about your activities.

Her New York address is 10 West Sixty-fifth Street, Apt. 1A. She recently completed a year as chairman of the Junior Republican group in Philadelphia and attended the national convention in Washington, where she met Attorney General William P. Rogers, LLB '37.

'44 BEE, BME—Jose Del Palacio is a partner in Camiones, Automobiles y Accesorios, S.A., Dodge distributors for the state of Durango, Mexico. He has four daughters and two sons. Address: Colon 401-A, Durango, Durango, Mexico.

'44, '46 BME—Francis G. Paul is general manager of the data processing plant in Burlington, Vt. of International Business Machines Corp. He was transferred about a year ago after several years at the IBM San Jose, Cal., plant, where he was personnel manager. He joined IBM in 1946. He lives at 50 Crescent Road, Burlington, Vt.

'45 Men—Excuses from your correspondent seem to be more frequent during the past year. The news from Classmates has gone even below the "trickle" stage. The reasons for this situation could be as follows: 1. Nobody in the Class is doing or accomplishing anything that they feel would be of interest. 2. Everybody is too busy with the daily routine of living to write it down and send it to me. 3. Nobody has my address (53 Carlton Avenue, Port Washington). The first two reasons, though very improbable, are out of my control, but the third one is very possible but is now taken care of.

In January, I attended the organization meetings in New York for Class officers, Alumni Fund reps, and Class correspondents. It was a very fine day and I especially enjoyed the luncheon meeting at which J. Carlton Ward '14 spoke of the educational programs in Russia. I have felt for many years that Mr. Ward was one of the outstanding graduates of our University and I am convinced now after his intimate and interesting analysis presented that day. At my luncheon table was a Classmate (girl type) Elle Dickey, Larry Quinlivan '44, Bob Dillon and his lovely wife, Tuck (Ruckle), both '44 and chairmen for their Reunion in June, another cute '44er (girl type) whose name eludes me unfortunately, and a young couple (young 'uns—someplace in the '50s). Joe Minogue, one of our boys, who is Director of the Cornell Fund in Ithaca, stopped over to say "hello" and I saw many other fine Cornellians who were gathered to revitalize their Cornell spirit along lines other than Varsity athletics.

A news note from Bryce MacDonald and Anne Huttar MacDonald '44, 894 Birchwood Lane, Schenectady 9. Mac is still with General Electric, silicone products department, working in facilities planning. The reason for the address change was a move to a bigger house because Heather Jean was born November 8, joining three boys and a girl. Make sure you let me know when you contemplate another move, Mac.

I almost forgot that two more of our Classmates were at our luncheon table and that would have been a calamity because they are the two most important men in the Class right now and the future of Class activities and finances rest heavily on their shoulders. If I don't hurry and get their names down, the typesetter might not include them in this issue and that would be a sad situation. Prentice "Cush" Cushing, our Class representative for the Cornell Fund, and our eminent Class secretary, Stoddard "Tod" Knowles, were those of whom I am speaking. Some further communication will be going out to the Class very soon regarding future activities and our Reunion in 1960. Let me hear from you out there and let's live up this column. I would be delighted if there is a Classmate out there who would like to write a guest column for us.—RICK CARLSON

'46 Men—This long overdue column will be an attempt to clear my files of items received to date.

Dr. Hunter Cohen has moved from Newark, N.J. to 4808 N. Harlem Ave., Buffalo 26, to be an inspector in charge of the Buffalo Meat Inspection Station of the US Department of Agriculture. A news release from Joe Brozina, 345 17th St., Palisades Park, N.J., is the announcement of his first child, Mark, born September 9. Robert C. Cowen, 425 E. 79th St., New York 21, writes that he is now president of Chemical & Process Machinery Corp., Brooklyn, and the proud father of a year-old son, Peter.

A number of changes of addresses have come through recently including one for Morrie S. Helitzer, McGraw-Hill News Bureau, Bonn, Germany. New York residents include Bradford Clark, 42 Barry Rd., Scarsdale; Richard F. Lieke, Jr., 7839 62d St., Glendale, Queens 27; Myron E. Mendelson, 515 Jorgen St., Cedarhurst; Edward J. Raser, 6 Shady Lane, Forest Park, Rhinebeck; and Curt Reinhold, 49 E. 63d St., New York 21. Classmates with new residences in New Jersey include Donald Diamond, 412 Morris Ave., Summit, and Theodore N. Johnsen, Jr., 25 Lowell Rd., Glen Rock. New address for William L. Graves is Rt. 1, Newark, Del.

We have three new addresses in Ohio. Walter W. Eberhardt is at 2424 Olson Dr., Dayton 20; James S. Marsh, 44 Woodcliffe Dr., Columbus 13; and Robert L. Simonds, 58 Whitefriars Dr., Akron 19. Then we have Peter S. Danny residing at 946 S. 26th St., South Bend 15, Ind., and Dr. William W. Kaelber, at 1 Oak Ridge, Iowa City, Iowa. Still farther west Donald L. Alexander lives at 2335 Sunset Blvd., Houston 5, Tex., and Dr. Robert F. Brodsky, at 436 Stanford Dr., Claremont, Cal.

That's it for now, except to remind you I'll need more news to write the next column. You can send it to the ALUMNI NEWS office or to me at 5381 E. Highline Pl., Denver 22, Colo.—DAVE DAY

'46 Women—I'm sorry that this column hasn't been more regular, but you have given me little news to put in. How about sending more; surely something important has happened to you since last we heard.

The Kennedys are still at the same stand although for awhile this summer I thought we'd be moving. Phil's place of business closed in July, but another company purchased it. Phil, BEE '47, MEE '48, is now vice-president of engineering for Marco Electric Manufacturing Corp. Our family is still the same size: Wayne the oldest is 10½ and Gary is almost 9. Phil and I are busy as committeeman and den mother respectively of the Cub Scouts. Phil is treasurer of the PTA and I'm secretary of our League for Better Schools and chairman of the social committee of our Civic League. As you see, we manage to keep busy with community activities.

Heard from Bob and Charlotte Fry Poore at Christmas. They moved back to the States from Sweden and now live at 201 Merle Lane, Peoria, Ill. Bob was promoted to assistant manager for Latin and South American sales. Bob and Miriam Seemann Lautensack also wrote. They now have four children: Rob, 6, David, 5, Anne, 4, and Phillip, 1.

Alex (CE '47) and Joan Walsh Horvath still live in Maryland. They have three sons, ages 10, 8, and 7. Alex is president of Standard Paving Co., operating outside of the Bethesda-Chevy Chase area. Elliot and Sylvia Sverdluk Dorf write that they have three children: Ellen, 9, Peter, 6, and Frank, 3. Elliot travels a lot and in May Sylvia went to Europe with him. They have gotten to see Al and Miriam Leis Kaye in their new home in Teaneck, N.J. The Kayes have two children, Ellen and Michael.

Pierce and Nancy Crandall Johnson of Claremont, Cal. are the proud parents of a daughter born September 28. Nancy is the daughter of Professor Carl Crandall '12, CE, Emeritus, and Mrs. Crandall. Ruth Rothschild Mayleas is director of the national theatre service department of the American National Theatre & Academy (ANTA). Last September she appeared in a supporting role in "Lulu" off Broadway at the 4th St. Theater in New York with Eva Gabor.

Herbert, LLB '48, and Sonia Ginzberg Kramer live in Scarsdale. They have two children, Karen and Peter. The Kramers went to Europe for their tenth wedding anniversary. Sunny's former roommate, Helen Seidman Levine, lives nearby. Joseph and Judith Schmidt DiGabriele have two children: Judith Ann, 10, and Donna Elizabeth, 1½.

Send news to Elinor Baier Kennedy (Mrs. Philip) at 111 Eric Ave., Mifflin Park, Shillington, Pa. Also stop in to visit if you are in the neighborhood.

'47 Men—Life has been rather hectic during the last weeks, as I attempt to gather together the Class committee for the 1958-59 Cornell Fund. Jim Healy (above) innkeeper of the Treadway Inn in Niagara Falls, has been working his way across the upper part of New York State during recent years, and he has accepted a responsible Fund position. Doesn't he look calm and distinguished? I quote from a recent letter: "... have been in Niagara Falls two years, but our hotel has been open only about a year and a half. This is a motor hotel ... a beautiful view of the Niagara River and the upper rapids. After leaving Cornell in 1947 I went to the Hotel Syracuse, became sales manager and assistant manager. At the present time, I am vice-president of the Niagara Falls Executive Stewards' & Caterers Association and a member of the local Cornell Club and Rotary Club." Jim also adds that it is nice to return to his home area (Buffalo) and mentions wife, Kay, and three children, Jimmy 11, Paul 7, and Mary 6. Evidently he lives in a large house which is a few miles from the Inn, so there is always room for visitors if they arrive in Niagara Falls during July and August when rooms are very seldom available anywhere in town. Now there's a hint for gregarious Classmates!

During the month of November, I received a book review on Schoolhouse edited by Walter McQuade, Simon & Schuster, New York City. The review contained many complimentary remarks, including "... a fascinating and immensely entertaining as well as professionally erudite treatment of one of the most important problems currently facing countless American communities—the construction of a new school." Walt's sponsor was Aluminum Co. of America, and he has included chapters on just about every imaginable subject pertaining to the topic. Photographs, too. The article ends: "Schoolhouse is an unusual and delightful book, as lasting in its implications as it is vitally useful in its observations." Having known Walt and his work for many years, I am not surprised, and add my congratulations here.

Arnold Brause and his wife, Doris Ash '47, have moved to Louisville, Ky., where Arnold is insurance agent with Constitution Life Insurance Co. Actually the move took place three and a half years ago with three daughters who are now 10, 8, and 5. Guess I'll have to write Jerry Lamb about them and so start a '47 Cornell social group in that city. Arnold's home address is 133 Coral Avenue, Louisville 6, Ky.

—BARLOW WARE

'47 Women—I was happy to receive some news this month from Mrs. Clement Curd (Pat McInerney). She writes that her husband, a general and thoracic surgeon, has been practicing in Pittsfield for three years, since completing his training. They have a wonderful family now: 6 daughters, Kathleen (9 yrs.), Patricia (7½ yrs.), Marianne (5½ yrs.), Madeline (4 yrs.), Rosemary (2 yrs.), and Joanne (7 months). Congratulations to the Curds on all they have accomplished.

I received a newspaper clipping picturing Mrs. Neil Kelly (Page Benson) holding three wonderful infants. She and Mr. Kelly are the proud parents of triplet daughters, Katherine, Tara, and Holly, born December 13. They live at Middle Patent Road, Bedford Village. Page was the first woman elected to the Hawthorne school board, and served almost a year before moving to Bedford Village in February. Neil is with the advertising department of Deering, Milliken & Co. in New York. They have a son, Kevin, 4½ years.

Keep the news coming to 249 Highland Avenue, Rochester 7.—URSULA HOLAHAN

'49 Men—If you think I am far behind with these news items, you are right; but I hope to get caught up this issue, so please start sending in more news.

Jack Spergel is chief, cable & connector section, electronics components research department of the US Army Signal Research & Development Laboratory, Fort Monmouth, N.J., and delivered a paper at the EIA Conference on Reliable Electrical Connections in Dallas, Tex., in December. William C. Taylor, Jr. was appointed a project chemical engineer at the Whiting Research Laboratories of Standard Oil Co. of Indiana. Bill has the family living at 18624 Marshfield Ave., Homewood, Ill.

Reeves D. Ingold and his wife, special representatives from the Watchtower Bible & Tract Societies world headquarters, were in Ithaca in November to work with the local congregation of Jehovah's Witnesses. Rev. Herman Eckelman, pastor of the Bethel Grove Bible Church, attended the 4th Plenary Congress of the International Council of Christian Churches in Petropolis, Brazil, last August. Rev. Eckelman makes good use of his EE degree by assisting in the production of radio and television programs for this country and South America.

Arnold L. Ginsberg married Gail Manacher last June and planned to live in New York City. Peter Duane Knowles married Marguerite Jane Wickersham and they are living in Buffalo.

Edwin A. Schneider is a sales executive with The Columbia-Southern Chemical Corp. and lives at 973 Cleveland St., Kirkwood 22, Mo. Ed had two daughters, Gail and Gretchen, and, July 17, Mark William joined the household. Lloyd E. Hahn has been promoted to distribution superintendent of Iroquois Gas Corp. in Buffalo. He and his wife, Sylvia, live in Eggertsville and have two children, Judy and Jeffrey.

Phil McMaster is a sales engineer with Philadelphia office of the Niagara Machine & Tool Works. The McMasters recently adopted a baby girl, Mary Katherine, born April 26, and they live at 8 Wilde Ave., Apt. 12, Drexel Hill, Pa. I have a story from the Ithaca Journal which indicates that James Robb and his wife, Mavis Dean '48, are enjoying western hospitality out in Saratoga, Cal. where Jim has an insurance office. Seems as though the Robbs adopted a baby girl, Susan, and the neighbors surprised them with a "coffee-klatch" which included everything a baby could need as presents.

Jan Rus, president of the Cornell Club of Southern California, passed on some interesting information about a Classmate, Harold L. Dibble. Harold helped found Brevard Engineering College in Melbourne, Fla. and is serving as dean.

See you in June at our 10th Reunion.

—DICK KEEGAN

'50 Men—Bryan Bernart, 201 Tift Ave., Horseheads, is a district representative for National Homes Corp. and travels from Franconia to Roanoke. Charles R. Bauerlein, 421 S. Fifth St., North Wales, Pa., has two boys and three girls and does sales engineering work for Fischer & Porter Co. in Philadelphia.

Paul R. Brown, 44 Longview Rd., Poughkeepsie, would welcome '50 visitors who might be in his area. Paul is now completing his seventeenth year in the Army Reserves as a major. Charles Eckert, 5

Radcliffe Ave., Highland Park, N.J., is with Socony Mobil Oil Co. in New York as a member of the marine transportation department.

Rodger W. Gibson, 3165 Yorkshire Rd., Cleveland Heights 18, Ohio, is busy as ever in many things. Rodg and his wife announce their third child, Patricia, born in July. A member of the board of directors of the Cornell Club of Cleveland and vice-president in charge of membership, Rodg is sales manager, Akron branch, of Mook Electric Co., an independent distributor of Westinghouse products.

Captain Robert S. Grayson, MC, is at the Rodriguez US Army Hospital and can be reached through APO 851, New York City. Rod is chief of the neuropsychiatric section at the hospital in San Juan, Puerto Rico. Edward B. Magee, Jr., Box 66, Port Colborne, Ont., states that Jeffrey D., now nine months old, is running his parents ragged.

Paul Nugent, 49 Wachusett Rd., Needham, Mass., has two children and is in the Air Force at the Harvard school of public health, having just returned from three years of service with the Air Force in England. R. E. Strong, 40 Colonial Pk. Dr., Springfield, Pa., announces a boy, Stephen Robert, born in September.

Horst Von Oppenfeld, College, Laguna, Philippines, his wife, and two children are all in the Philippines as visitors representing Cornell. He is visiting professor at the college of agriculture there.—JOHN MALONEY

'50 Women—A well-filled mail box this time, so I'll keep the items short and sweet. From special correspondent Joan Noden Keegan: Dr. Jean Krag specializes in child psychology, working at the Judge Baker Guidance Center in Boston. She spent most of the summer traveling in Europe and now lives at 73 Bay State Street, Boston. Lyn White has a new address: 42 River Street, Sayville. Stuie Cooper Rodgers (Mrs. George Rodgers of 410 Tamarack Drive, Lodi, Cal.) now has two children: Eric, almost two, and Kristen, six months. There's also a new address for Jean Thomas Hudson: 421 East Foothill, Claremont, Cal. According to Joan, "Jean has a grand job doing secret math work with a missile company."

Lyn Layton Hepworth also gets gold stars for her work as an ALUMNI NEWS correspondent this time. She reports: Margo Mott Hirschberg (Mrs. Stuart M. Hirschberg, Jr.) and family live in Lakeside, Cal. (Box 698); she has two daughters, Susan, five, and Karen, two. Mr. and Mrs. Joseph R. Herr '50 (Hazel Hallock) live at 3532 Arbutus Drive, Palo Alto, Cal., and have four children. Mr. and Mrs. Donald Burton (Doris Van Epps) moved from Cobleskill to RD 1, Culpeper, Va. Lyn had just received a birth announcement from Mrs. Seeley Phillips '50 (Mary Mapes) in Richmondville. A new daughter, Doris Elizabeth, was born October 14 and joins Barbara and Carl Henry. Husband Phil is a veterinarian. Natalie McWilliams is married to Bill Straub, and they are just finishing a new home on Washburn Terrace, Saugerties. She is still doing 4-H Club work full time. Bill is a physical education teacher, and between them, they run a summer camp in Saugerties. The Hepworths themselves live on Route 9W, Milton, and have some five offspring, Jeri, Linde, Mark, Tracy, and Jodie. Lyn writes that Jack '50 was elected to the local school board last summer, and is so fascinated with the work she can hardly begrudge his two nights or so a week spent at meetings.

Mrs. David Bullard (Petey Kennedy) writes to fill us in on their last three years activities: "Dave extricated himself from the Navy in July, 1956 and has been working for Bullard Co. since then. We bought a 30-year-old house, and only yesterday decided that we'd finished our remodeling. I've been doing lots of oil painting, but am still hoping to sell some. Our daughter Alison was born last August 5, joining big brother Davey, now three years old. Tell everyone that we live five minutes from the Merritt Parkway and/or the Connecticut Turnpike, so anyone making the Boston-New York run is welcome to stop in at 39 Campbell Road, Fairfield, Conn."

A new address for Mr. and Mrs. Robert Paul (Eve Weinschenker): 68 Hartwood Road, Stamford, Conn. Marion Holley Wijnberg, husband Luke, MEng Phys '54, and daughter Deb, two, live at 203 Shimer-ville Road, Clarence. Luke works at the Cornell Aeronautical Laboratories and Marion does part-time social work. Jean Holzworth now lives in Sherborn, Mass.; is a clinical staff veterinarian at the Angell Memorial Animal Hospital in Boston. Blanche Elster Kaplan (Mrs. Jack M.) writes that Jack has been administrator of the Mental Health Consultation Center of Bergen County since December, 1957. They have two children: Danny, almost two, and Debbie, four and a half.

Correction: Mr. and Mrs. Alan Ros Taylor (Lydia Schurman) actually live at 1424 44th Street, NW, Washington, D.C. My records weren't up to date!

'51 Men—By now, you all should have received the Class newsletter. This will give you some idea of those in the Class who pay dues as well as those who send us news. If you weren't included, how about sending off a check for $3 along with some news in the envelope provided. I have to start accumulating news now, so we can get out another newsletter in the spring.

Dues paid 155; goal is 250.

The Dayton Daily News in December announced the engagement of Kilkka-Maarit Hamalainen, Helsinki, Finland, to John Williams. After graduation, John received the MArch at MIT and then went to Finland on a Fulbright scholarship. The Esso Research & Engineering Co. in Linden, N.J. sends a notice that David M. Smith is now with their company having transferred from the Bayway Refinery of Esso Standard in November. Dave lives at 1147 Kensington Avenue, Plainfield, N.J.

In the newsletter, I mentioned some of the doings of Dr. Charles P. Gandal. Chick's many and varied activities bear further comment. Since last May he has been in charge of veterinary service at the Bronx Zoo. In addition, Chick does some private horse practice with the New York City Police Department and some evening work at Yonkers Raceway. Recently he prepared and presented a movie on the removal of parakeet tumors at the American Veterinarian Medical Association meeting. Chick reports he still finds time for fishing, hunting, sailing, and last winter began playing polo again. This very busy guy also managed to find time to move his family (wife Elaine (Russell) '53 and two daughters) into their new home at 88 Stephen Drive, Pleasantville, last spring.

Had a nice letter from Dick Hinz, 216 31st Street, West Palm Beach, Fla. Dick was student desk manager at the Straight his last year at Cornell and responsible for the behavior of all the desk men (including me). Dick elected to stay in the Air Force where he is now a captain, aircraft observer, and permanently stationed at West Palm Beach. The Hinzes have a daughter, 17 months; another child due in April. Dick left for six months TDY at Clark AFB, Philippines, the end of January. Dick sends me the addresses of two Classmates: David G. Fielder, 631 Edgebrook Drive, Houston 17, Tex., and Norman F. Kirchner, 907 Hirschwood Drive, Williamsville.

I'm fresh out of news, having used up the backlog I started with, so I'd appreciate some letters. Make them as long or as short as you want. I guarantee it will be used.

'52 Men: Philip A. Fleming
3324 Valley Drive
Alexandria, Va.

The lad pictured above is not the leader of the so-called "beat" generation in Switzerland, but is, despite the disguise, none other than that expert and able Alpine skier, Mike Scott, 48 rue Schaub, Geneva, Switzerland. Mike and his wife and daughter are currently in Geneva, where Mike is studying international law and economics on a fellowship. Mike will return to this country in the summer, as an associate in the Cleveland law firm of Squire, Sanders & Dempsey.

Mike reports that he bumped into Eric S. Schuss, formerly of Old Shasta, Cal., on the slopes at Zermatt, and that the latter's wedeln technique is so advanced that he invariably steals the show from Continental exponents of the currently stylish comma position and reverse shoulder method of skiing. Apparently Eric is still working on his first book, a novel, which he hopes to have completed by the end of the year.

Another skiing enthusiast, but in a different part of the world, is working on his master's thesis in electrical engineering at University of Tokyo. Charles L. Cohen, Dept. of Elec. Eng., Faculty of Engineering, The University of Tokyo, Motofuji-cho, Bunkyo-ku, Tokyo, Japan, reports that the subject of his thesis is a frequencymodulated carrier system for recording lower-than-audio frequencies on magnetic tape, but that in between trips to the library he has managed to see a good bit of Japan. Charles spent a year in Japan when he was in the Army, and in December, 1956, returned as an employee of Emerson Radio & Phonograph Corp. In December, 1957, he left Emerson and entered University of Tokyo. His field trips thus far have included two skiing outings (on one of which he slept with three other people in a six-by-nine room, which he termed "snug"); a factory inspection trip with the three-year students of University of Tokyo to Kyoto, Osaka, Kobe, Shimonoseki, Hakata, Nagasaki, and Kagoshima; a hiking trip to the Japanese Alps; and a three-week trip last summer around Hokkaido, the northernmost Japanese island. When not on the road, however, Charles has divided his time between work on his thesis, mastering the Japanese language (a feat in itself, since as Charles indicates he has to work with separate dictionaries for spoken Japanese, written Japanese, and the Japanese technical jargon), and teaching English.

On a more mundane level, I have been informed that you still have an opportunity to get your $2 Class dues in the mail to Ralph M. Starke, 240 Milton Road, Rye, if you hurry. Your check or money order should be made payable to "Cornell University."

'52 Women: Alison Bliss Graham
2211 The Plaza,
Schenectady, N.Y.

The latest news from Joan Aten Beach is that son Reginald Andrew checked in at 9½ pounds November 21, to make a threesome with 5-year-old Jeff and 2-year-old Diana. Joan writes: "We have lived in Garden City five years now, and Sandy (Stafford Beach '51) has been working for Republic Aviation all that time. He has been supervisor of the analysis section of design safety, but has recently been named one of Republic's accident investigators. We are most happy in Garden City. Sandy is president of the Junior Chamber of Commerce this year. We see quite a few Cornellians: Jean (Thompson) and Pete Cooper '52, who live in Port Washington and have two children; also Joan Nesmith Tillotson, who is a doctor for the telephone company while her husband finishes his residency. The Tillotsons have two boys." Joan adds that Sandy will be interviewing for Republic at Cornell this spring, and that his eager countenance has been gracing Republic ads in the New York Times as the young college student looking for an engineering position!

Just back from a three-week trip to California (without the children) is Sue Brigham MacLean, who joined husband Doug '52 on the last half of a business trip, taking in Los Angeles, Fresno, and San Francisco. Sue reports that by a real quirk of coincidence, they bumped into Gretchen Lawson Lentz in Salt Lake City, as they were stretching their legs in the station on the long train trip home. Needless to say, there was a good deal of rapid conversation between the MacLeans and Gretchen and her two sons, Bruce and Stephen, before Sue and Doug re-boarded the train for home! As far as Cornellians are concerned, it's a small world!

'53 Men: W. Fletcher Hock Jr. 57 Wendell Street Cambridge 38, Mass.

Around the launching pad: John O. Brophy is an administrative engineer with ARMA Division, Garden City. He is concerned with inertial guidance systems (digital computer section) for Atlas and Titan missiles. When not in the blockhouse counting down, Jack is at home (with wife Joan and ten-week-old son Randall Frederick) at 307 West Shore Road, Huntington. Barry Weiss, 1 Washington Square Village, New York City 12, is also in the missile game, as a management engineer with Darlach Industries.

Among honors garnered by Classmates: William Robert Millager has been elected a Baker Scholar at Harvard business school. This award goes to the top five per cent of the second-year students at the school. James S. Dolliver won $1500 in a nationwide housepower contest sponsored by Edison Electric Institute. He placed third among more than 300,000 contestants who submitted captions for a cartoon. Jim, a graduate assistant in Botany while working for the PhD at the University, lives with his wife and daughter at Pleasant Grove Apartments, Ithaca. Hamid Nashat Ismail was awarded the MS at Kansas State College last summer. Bill Whelan has been inducted into Boston's Gridiron Club.

In the nursery: Dr. and Mrs. Jim Zimmer's children, Heidi (3) and Eric (2), have a new brother, Roger Taylor, born November 17. Jim, MD Yale '57, interned in New Haven, Conn., and is now an assistant resident in medicine at Strong Memorial Hospital, Rochester. Mr. and Mrs. Phil Severin, Jr., 583 Daytona Parkway, Dayton, Ohio, became parents of Amy Beth January 20. Bruce and Maria Maxfield's daughter Sylvia was born September 4. The Maxfields live at 31-60 Thirty-fifth Street, Long Island City 6. Bruce has been finishing a book and also writing for Super Market Merchandising Magazine. Norm Freeman, LLB '56, and his wife have a daughter, Cheryl Ann. Norm is confidential clerk to New York Supreme Court Justice Floyd E. Anderson. The Freemans live at 145 Court Street, Binghamton.

Organization men: Bev Benson is a financial analyst in the Ford Division controller's office in Detroit. He and a couple of other Ford-men keep a ranch at 6641 Parkway Circle, Dearborn, Mich. Robert C. Bell, 138 Spring House Lane, Pittsburgh, Pa., is market analyst for Peoples Natural Gas Co. in Pittsburgh. Henry Robinson is with Robinson Clay Product Co., Pottstown, Pa. Eugene A. Leinroth, Jr. works for Burroughs Co. and makes his home in Villanova, Pa. William A. Lewing is with Dupont. Bill, his wife, and two sons reside at 26 Lowry Drive, Wilmington, Del.

Marriages: Seymour M. Blinder to Amy Cohen, January 27. Seymour is a physicist with the applied physics laboratory of Johns Hopkins University. David L. Greer, to Jane Ann Solan, November 8. David is an engineer with General Electric.

'54 Women: Mrs. James Saalberg 11 Ware Street, Apt. 8 Cambridge, Mass.

Unfortunately, the lack of a '54 column is not the result of my missing deadlines, the usual excuse, but rather of an empty mailbox as far as Class news is concerned. So, I return again with a plea that has been made often during the last five years. Without mail, there can't be a column. It's just as simple as that, and I'm about to start looking for unpublished authors who want a forum! A postcard, short and simple, will do the trick!

I have a new address for Sylvia Taub Bernstein, 6854 Cantaloupe Avenue, Van Nuys, Cal. Her husband, Maynard Bernstein, MBA '54, is general manager for Atlas Properties Inc. in Los Angeles.

Nancy E. Hofmann has a new address, 989 Montford Rd., Cleveland 21, Ohio, where she is a research technician in the department of surgery, Western Reserve University Hospitals. David Stokes Call, born July 23, has joined the family of Dave '54 and Mary Gentry Call and sister, Laurie, two and a half. The Calls live in Ithaca where Dave is a doctoral candidate in Ag Economics.

Mary Ann Kane appears to be a budding politician. She's in her second term as vice-president of the Onondaga County Young Republican Club and is also an alternate committeewoman for her district. Her activities during the November elections included dinner with Mrs. Nelson Rockefeller and an appearance on local television with her. Mary Ann is a personal sales representative for the Syracuse office of Liberty Mutual Insurance Co. Her home address is 168 Groton Avenue, Cortland.

Rosalyn Roth Treger is temporarily at 4913 Battery Lane, Bethesda 14, Md., where her husband, Albert '53, is with the Public Health Service at the National Institute of Health. In July, the Tregers, with daughter Flora, born February 8, will leave for Cleveland, where he will begin a medical residency at the City Hospital. Roz is eager to hear from Cornellians in Cleveland and would like to know about housing in the area, especially near the hospital. Can anyone help her with some information?

Sallie Capron Marchant has moved to Route 8, Box 654D, Richmond 25, Va., where her husband, Reginald '52, is branch manager for Reliance Electric & Engineering Co. Sallie writes that she'd like to hear from Cornellians in the area.

Jane Foster Hobkirk sends word of the arrival of Carl Williams November 15. She seems to have located a long list of Cornellians in the area, including Betsy Mitchell Waldo. Jane sends word also that Betty Barker is now Mrs. George Hotchkiss.

Ann Kenney and Laurie Rilander have moved to 222 East 10th Street, New York City. Ann is a movie reviewer for Parent's Magazine, and Laurie is with Macmillan Co., book publishers.

Do hope to have Reunion news soon, but so far have no official word. (How about a letter, Mrs. Michals?) But, have begun my campaign to convince a non-Cornell husband to attend! How about the rest of you doing the same?

'55 Men: Frederick W. Rose Cornell Univ. Hall #2 Ithaca, N.Y.

time to drop us a line about their activities.

Confirmation of the wedding of Al Troschel appeared in the Times three weeks ago, noting his marriage to M. Parker Gundry, Vassar graduate, in Baltimore. Al's best man was William Wilmot. Mike Browne confirms earlier news, informing us of his new home ("an 1829 farm house with exposed beams and all the rest") in Lowellville, Ohio, following his move from Pittsburgh. And by now all of you have received the letter from our Class representative to the Cornell Fund, Don Kennedy, who is living in Richmond as we had noted in an earlier column. By the way, Don is urging support for a sound cause. Being here on Campus, we continually see the need for such alumni support and more proudly observe the results of such support.

A son, Robert James, was born to First Lieutenant James R. and Donna Jean Burt Willman in Lugwigsburg, Germany, where Jim is stationed. Congratulations!

Back at Law School this term is Charlie Githler, after a tour of duty with the Air Force in Germany working with guided missiles. Charlie and his wife, Ann (Busch) '55 became parents for the second time just before their departure from Germany, their family thus consisting of a son, Charlie III, and a daughter, Kirstie. From his travels and correspondence come these items: Baron Bernard was working in Los Angeles in the Biltmore; Jack Ernest was in the restaurant business in Rochester with his dad; Bob Malatesta was in his third year of med school at University of Buffalo; Mike Freed, whom Charlie visited in Stockholm, was in his own business of selling custom-made bodies for sports cars to dealers in that section of Europe; and finally Ted Zimmer, whom he ran into during the processing-out stage of his and Ted's military career during Christmas time at McGuire AFB, following Ted's tour of duty in England in the Comptroller's Office. Also Charlie recalled that Al McDonald is general manager of the Philadelphia branch of Stouffer's Restaurants.

Also a source of news was a letter from Marc Reidenberg, interning at the Community General Hospital, Reading, Pa., following his graduation from Temple med school last June. Marc reports that Bob Rubin is interning at Bronx Municipal Hospital following his graduation from Syracuse med school; Marty London was married recently and is practicing law in New York City; and Larry Caplan recently graduated from Northwestern med school and is now interning at Philadelphia General Hospital. Marc, it sounds as if you will be running into all of these people at AMA conventions. A quote from his letter, "I wish I could give you information about more people, but I can't. And after all, that's what I read your column for." You're so right, Marc, but without letters like yours this column wouldn't be worth writing. Thanks again.

We had hoped that Bob Ferris would be able to drop in on us during one of the week ends in February to say hello, but his expected trip to Ithaca must have been cancelled. Bob is personnel administrator for the US Organization of KLM Royal Dutch Airlines with his office in New York City. His letter indicates that he is enjoying both the work and the trips a great deal.

We had meant to give news before about

Bill Farnham who left Law School last January to enter the McCormick Theological Seminary in Chicago. Bill is enjoying his studies tremendously and will receive his degree in 1961. The '55ers in Law School send their best, Bill, and hope that you will drop in to visit the hallowed halls of Myron Taylor next time you are back in Ithaca.

Women: Tay Fehr Miller
Penzel Apts. A-32
Upper Darby, Pa.

Although March appears to be a dreary month, it can't depress the spirits of '55ers who seem to find many wonderful things happening to them almost all of the time. Jocelyn Proctor was married to Dr. David Baum, July 30, in New York City. Dave is a pediatrician in New York Hospital, and Joc is in her fourth year of Cornell Medical College. Their address is 423 East 70th Street, New York City 21.

Nancy Simms Carlson wrote a very newsy letter about her busy family and other Cornellians. "Our daughter, Cynthia Townsend Carlson, was born July 11. She arrived a month too soon to our dismay for we had planned to be in our new home when she arrived. But we managed in our crowded little apartment. The house was designed and partially built by my husband Carl. We have 1 1/4 acres, all trees, and lots of room in our split level for guests." If you want a house designed, write the Carlsons at Marian Lane, Warren Township, Plainfield, N.J. Another New Jersey couple, living at 45 Main St., Montvale, is Nancy Martin Reichenbach and husband Alan '54. Al was released from the Air Force last year and is now a sales engineer for Kerfoot Co., Clifton. They have bought their home and have been very busy getting settled, painting, etc. And young Brian keeps Nancy hopping. She would love to hear from old friends, so don't forget to write!

A very busy wife and mother is Joan Groskin Promin. While husband Dick is a medical student at Jefferson Medical College, Philadelphia, Joan cares for their two daughters, Alison, 3, and Dana, 1 1/2. She also is a technical writer in the medical department of Smith, Kline, & French, pharmaceuticals. To learn how one person can do so much, write to 4B Cynwyd Court Apts., Bala-Cynwyd, Pa. If you're traveling through the Midwest, Jean Crighton Eckert and hubby Bob '56 may be found at 316 Shady Lane, Downers Grove, Ill.

A new couple to Iowa is Sue Liebrecht Joyce and husband Bill. They have moved to Des Moines, but I have no specific address for them. She writes: "We have had a wonderful year and a half in Colorado; lots of trips, skiing, etc. and have fallen in love with the State. I worked for a year as a dietician at the hospital in Greeley. All this is over with the coming of the baby and a promotion for Bill." General Mills transferred them in February, so by now they should be settled, and I hope falling in love with Iowa. It's always been one of my favorite States.

Nancy Greer lives on MR #1, Watervliet, and at last report was working for Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute, Troy. Our hard-working Reunion chairman, Naomi Freistadt, is almost recovered from a broken ankle and is ready to throw the crutches away. The cause was not skiing this year but horseback riding. "Lived through the revolution in Haiti last August (on vacation), but found a junior race champ type horse too much. Saw many old friends at Cornell Class officers meeting in January and have been busy making plans for our not-too-far-away Five-year Reunion in 1960. Suggestions are always welcome. How about some reunions in local areas? The one in New York City last year was great!" And when you write your ideas to Naomi at 37 Overlook Terrace, New York 33, think of me and drop a line of news this way.

'56 Women: Linda J. Hudson 153 Hamilton Rd. Ridgewood, N.J.

Potential Cornellians, the offspring of '56ers, are increasing. Among the ones recently announced is Janette Loomis, daughter of Shirley (Diz Dean) and Hersch Loomis '57, born February 1. The address is 3427 Tulane Drive, Hyattsville, Md. Davis Jeffrey Cohen arrived December 3. His proud parents are Elaine (Adler) and Herbert Cohen who will soon be moving into their own home at 14 Warren Drive, Jericho. December 6 was the birthdate of Marjorie Pauline Klein, daughter of Arlene (Rosen) and Jerry Klein '55. Although Jerry has been discharged from the Air Force, their address remains 5805 Gross Drive, Dayton, Ohio.

Elinor Schivik has now been in Norway for more than a year and shares an apartment in Oslo with Clair Purves. Elinor is with the American Embassy and the best mailing address I have for both is c/o the American Embassy, Oslo. She writes: "Several months ago, we happened to meet Rick Landback '55 and his wife who were on leave from Germany. It just happened that they had pulled over to the side of the road to look at the view precisely at the same time and place we did."

A note all the way from Honolulu tells of the arrival November 6 of Dwight Richard Rutledge, "our little butterball offspring," mamma Betsy Jennings Rutledge proudly describes him. Betsy's husband Dick had a brief spin through the Pacific, touching Formosa and Japan, aboard the carrier Midway and is now doing Naval intelligence work. On the side, Dick takes night school courses at University of Hawaii and hopes to get the MBA next year. Betsy writes of seeing Betty Wendt King, husband Bob, and daughter, Julie, who moved to Hawaii in December where Bob works for an aircraft firm. The Rutledges' new address is 230 Eighth Street, NHA 1, Honolulu 18, T.H. He's Lieutenant (jg) Richard G. Rutledge '55, by the way.

Another birth announcement comes from Lenore Spiewak and husband Dr. George Feldman. The new arrival came December 12 and his name is David Lewis. The Feldmans live at 907 Brian Street, Valley Stream.

Carol A. Pearson has been appointed a museum assistant at Albright Art Gallery, Buffalo. Carol has been a museum aide at the National Gallery of Arts in Washington, D.C.

Still catching up on some of notes written on the back of Christmas cards, I come across one from Signe Jonsson who is studying at Woman's Medical College in Philadelphia. I have no address for her there, but her home address, from which I'm sure mail will be forwarded, is 331-78th Street, North Bergen, N.J.

'58 Men: James R. Harper 1024 Old Gulph Road Rosemont, Pa.

We heard from Peter Bloom who married Marcia A. Bloser, Syracuse '58, June 21. Pete attends University of Pennsylvania medical school and lives in Drexel Hill, at 456 Burnley Lane. He said that he and John Guillemont were lab partners during the fall. Other medical students farther west are Arthur J. Horowitz and his friend Saul Presburg, at Northwestern. Roommates, their address is 710 North Lakeshore Drive, Chicago 11, Ill. They both intend to marry in the spring. Saul will wed Helen Sugarman '59, and Francine Lewis gets Arthur.

An old release from Cargill, Inc., presents Thomas A. A. Oleson as a trainee, based in Minneapolis, Minn. But that was back in August. Tom and his wife, Sue, have moved to the New York Cargill and are living in Brooklyn. Robert H. Eisenman has returned from Europe. We were fortunate enough to be able to share a few drinks with Bob and Bill Rau, who was enjoying leave from the Army, the other night. Bill is stationed near Boston. He wouldn't tell us what the Army is teaching him, but we remembered that Bill always wanted to be a spy when he was a youngster and we imagine that he is learning to keep secrets.

A number of fresh second lieutenants recently graduated from various Army schools. From Artillery School came Donald Arnaud, Harold Rosen, William Polk, and Charlie Crane. From Infantry School came Don Noble, who led the class of 190, David Hill, Leo Cook, Richard Hewitt, and John Lawrence. Quartermasters are Gurrie Rhoads and Wake Myers. Richards Merritt graduated first in a class of 115 at the Armor School, Allan Keyser graduated from Transportation, Paul Snare from Engineer School, and Stanley Komaroff from Provost Marshal General's School. We have been given the photographs of two rather sturdy-looking Marine second lieutenants, Richard McCarthy and Paul Bredderman. Both of them are still at Quantico, Va., training in Infantry platoon leading.

Out in Phoenix, Ariz., Richard D. Reid is studying at the American Institute for Foreign Trade. He is specializing in the Spanish language and Latin America.

'58 Women: Patricia K. Malcolm 30-30 87th Street Jackson Hgts 69, N.Y.

Anne DeNotaris and Robert "Sid" Warren '58 were married December 27, and now live at 80-14 41st Avenue, Jackson Heights, 73. Anne is with the biochemistry department of the Cornell Medical College and Sid is with American Fore Insurance Co.

Marian Chow writes that she is a graduate student in history at Johns Hopkins and lives at 111 West 29th Street, Baltimore 18, Md. She plans to be married in June to another graduate student Michael Altschul. Marian also mentioned seeing during the Christmas holidays Roberta Arvine, who is teaching and working for the MA in history at Mt. Holyoke. Another graduate student is Cherill Murray who is also working for the Master's. She is at University of Washington and lives at 2335 Boylston North, Seattle 2, Wash.

Susan G. Moore became Mrs. Walter H. "Pete" Rowland last June 21, in Orlando, Fla. Their address is PO Box 6589, San Diego 6, Cal. Pete is with Convair in the "propulsion phase of the instruction given to Air Force officers about the operational Atlas." Sue is a computer in analytical engineering for Solar Aircraft Co.

Sue passed along some news of other Classmates: Mr. and Mrs. Roy Curtiss '56 (Marilyn Kisiday) live at 5456 South Cornell Avenue, Chicago 15, Ill. Roy is studying at University of Chicago for the PhD in microbiology. They have a one-and-a-half-year-old son, Brian.

Gretchen Cuyle is a research biochemist with Bristol Laboratories, working on the development of new antibiotics. Reports are that she is in Syracuse, but no address available at the moment. Carolyn "Dewdrop" Brown became Mrs. Scott Malkin in January, 1956. Their present address is 2011 Redleaf Drive, Louisville 7, Ky.

Gladys Lunge is now Mrs. Peter Stifel '58. They were married in August and live in Salt Lake City, Utah, at 1244 East South Temple. Pete is doing graduate work and Gladys is teaching science to seventh and eighth graders. "Bunny" Hartmann is now Mrs. Jan Homan. Their last address is 107 Grand View Place, Ithaca.

How about the rest of you? During the last eight months you have certainly accomplished something worth telling us about!

NECROLOGY

Professor Eugene Floyd DuBois, Physiology, Emeritus, died February 12, 1959, in New York City. He joined the Medical College in 1911, after receiving the AB at Harvard and MD at Columbia, was made head of the Department of Physiology & Biophysics in 1941, and retired in 1950. A widely recognized authority on metabolism, he attracted interest thirty years ago with his studies of the effect of heat and cold on the human body. He served in the Navy Medical Corps in both World Wars. He was chairman of the committee on aviation medicine of the National Research Council from 1940-45, did war research on aviation safety at the Medical College, and was with the Bureau of Medicine & Surgery of the US Navy and the Office of Scientific Research & Development. He had grants from the American Cancer Society. A member of the National Academy of Sciences and author of two books, he had been president of the Association of American Physicians, American Society for Clinical Investigation, and American Institute of Nutrition; was physician-in-chief of The New York Hospital from 1932-41; held the Navy Cross, the President's Certificate of Merit, the George M. Kober Medal of the AAP, and was to have received in April the John Phillips Memorial Award of the American College of Physicians. He had been a member of the University committee for air safety research and in 1913 became medical director of the Russell Sage Institute of Pathology.

'82 BS(S-L)—Ida Maynard Curtis, fine arts painter, January 28, 1959, in Carmel, Cal., where her address was Route 2, Box 192. After teaching art and science at Brighton High School, Boston, Mass., for about thirty years, she opened her own studio and her paintings were exhibited all over the country. She was especially known for her landscapes and interiors. She is listed in the International Blue Book of the World's Notables and the recently-published Who's Who of American Women. She was probably the University's oldest alumna and the third-oldest living Cornellian. Sister, the late Annie N. Curtis '86.

'91 BL—Mrs. A. Lundteigen (Rose Josephine Ryan), January 12, 1959, at her home, 611 East Fifty-fourth Street, Kansas City 4, Mo. Alpha Phi.

'96 BS—Dr. Charlotte Bell Gardner of 126 Columbia Street, Cumberland, Md., August 18, 1958. In 1905, she became Cumberland's first woman physician; was the first pathologist at the old Western Maryland Hospital and brought the first medical microscope to Cumberland. For many years she was secretary of the Allegany-Garrett Counties Medical Association.

'00 PhB—Mrs. George A. Love (Ruth Wilder Perrin) of 275 Temple Street, Fredonia, February 3, 1959. Daughter, Mrs. Addison O. Willis (Alice Love) '28; son, H. George Love '31. Alpha Phi.

'01 AB—Ralph Minthorne Brown, librarian of Virginia Polytechnic Institute, Blacksburg, Va., from 1925 until he retired in 1947, November 30, 1958. He was in the Veterinary College Library in 1901-02, librarian of the US Department of Commerce & Labor from 1904-06, and then chief of the Division of Library & Archives, Coast & Geodetic Survey, in Washington, D.C. until 1917. He was the author of a Bibliography of Commander Matthew Fontaine Maury, American hydrographer and Naval officer, whose book, The Physical Geography of the Sea (1855), was the first classic work of modern oceanography. Brown lived at 1614 East Thirty-fifth Street, Tulsa 5, Okla.

'01 ME(EE)—Clarence Archer Tryon, retired engineer, November 5, 1958, in Niagara Falls, where he lived at 960 Creekside Drive. Sons, the late Walter H. Tryon '31 and Clarence A. Tryon, Jr. '35.

'02 LLB—Clayton Riley Lusk, February 14, 1959, at his home, 38 West Court Street, Cortland. He practiced law in Cortland for more than fifty-five years and was city judge from 1904-09. He served in the State Senate from 1919-24; was elected president pro tem and majority leader in 1921 and minority leader in 1923; was acting Lieutenant Governor and acting Governor for part of 1922. As chairman of the Lusk Commission in 1921, he headed the first New York legislative group to investigate Communism. He was president of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children. He was campaign manager for the election of Governor Nathan Miller.

If you are an executive with a "Corporation Mind"...

You are deeply concerned with . . .

- ★ Getting and holding key men to assure efficient management and sound growth for your business
- ★ Protecting stockholders and their families against loss resulting from the death of an executive-owner
- ★ Arranging the best possible plan to provide emergency protection for employees and their families . . . and a pension for employees who retire.

THESE problems reach to the very foundation of your business and call for important long-range decisions. In these areas, you probably feel the need to talk with a specialist who can add to your own knowledge and help you arrive at the right decisions.

Your Massachusetts Mutual man, through his experience and understanding of business life insurance and group coverages, has helped many executives in these complex areas of decision. He can help you, too, with a wide range of Massachusetts Mutual Business and Group Insurance plans. For example:

Executive Compensation Plans: Designed to help you get and keep management men — with extra retirement, death and disability benefits at surprisingly low cost.

Pension Plans: A broad range of plans, both individual policies and Group, available in this increasingly vital area of employee benefits — to help meet the retirement needs of executives and key men as well as "rank and file" members of your organization.

Group Plans: Life, Accident and Sickness and Major Medical, readily tailored to meet the special needs of your company . . . to give employees essential financial assistance in times of need. Outstanding Massachusetts Mutual plans for these basic benefits are available to firms with as few as 10 employees.

Business Continuation Plans:

Buy and Sell Agreements funded by Massachusetts Mutual life insurance, to keep a partnership or closely held corporation in business after the death of a partner or stockholder-executive . . . and to provide for the family of the deceased.

Partial Stock Redemption plans funded by Massachusetts Mutual life insurance, to save a family-held corporation for the family at the death of the majority stockholder.

Ask a Massachusetts Mutual man for full information on these plans, or call our General Agent listed under Massachusetts Mutual in your phone book.
