VOL. XXVII, No. 32

ITHACA, N. Y., MAY 14, 1925

PRICE 12 CENTS

THE band added levity to what might have been a dreary affair, by playing "It Ain't Gonna Rain No More" as it left the field after the clouds had burst over the cadets and officers at the annual out door review of the R. O. T. C. on May 4. Colonel Guy Kent and Major Livingston Watrous, inspectors from the War Department, reviewed the maneuvers, which were held in the Drill Hall and on Upper Alumni Field. The rain came pelting down as the men went past the reviewing stand and made marching difficult. That evening the Officers' Club gave a banquet in honor of the inspectors, and also in honor of Captain C. T. Senay and Lieutenant L. J. Meyns, who are being transferred from Cornell to other stations.

THE DRAMATIC CLUB gave Professor Martin W. Sampson's popular comedy of college life, "The Soul of a Professor," at a recent special entertainment of the Town and Gown Club.

THE UNIVERSITY ORCHESTRA showed patrons of the musical art how close a rival it is to the Cleveland Symphony and Paul Whiteman's orchestra and the others that have played in Ithaca this year, when they gave their annual spring concert in Bailey Hall on May 12. The Orchestra was assisted by a lyric soprano, by a harpist and her special accompanist, and by Professor Harold Smith, the University organist.

THE WOMEN'S DEBATE CLUB has elected the following officers for next year: Doris M. Wood '27 of Washington, D. C., president; Ruth L. Hausner '27 of Corning, manager; Marjory C. McMullen '27 of Schenectady, publicity manager; and Josephine Hanford '28 of Ithaca, secretary and treasurer.

A SPEECH ON "The Immigrant's Tribute" won the Woodford prize for Herman Wolkinson '25 of Brooklyn at the contest held on May 5. The other contestants were Samuel Mezansky '25 of Poughkeepsie, Whitney M. Trousdale '25 of Rome, Pennsylvania, John W. MacDonald of Watervliet, and Nathan Katz '25 of Birmingham, Alabama. Professor Emeritus Thomas F. Crane presided at the contest, and the judges were C. Tracey Stagg '02, Professor Frederick C. Prescott, and Professor W. H. Thompson of the New York State College for Teachers. After the speeches Miss Edith Horton '25 and Miss Elizabeth Rauschenbush '25 of Rochester, who shared the Morrison Prize for poetry, read their winning poems.

PROFESSOR JAMES H. BREASTED, Messenger Lecturer, devoted his lectures this week to the following topics: "The Expansion of the Arena: the First Imperial Age and the Rise of Universalism; the Dawn of the World-Idea and the Monotheistic Revolution in Egypt (1500 to 1300 B.C.); "Western Asia and the Rise of Mercantile Civilization; Babylonians and Hittites, Assyrians and Chaldeans, Phoenicians and Arameans; the Persians the Heirs of the Ancient East (About 3000 to 500 B.C.); "Society and the Conquest of the Natural World: the Earliest Engineering and the Beginnings of Science (3500 to 500 B.C.)"

OTHER LECTURES for the week included "Geographical Explorations in Venezuela," illustrated, by William A. Watkins, under the auspices of Sigma Gamma Epsilon, on May 12; "The State of Aggregation and Form of Colloidal Particles" by Professor Herbert Freundlich, director of the Kaiser Wilhelm Institute for Physical Chemistry at Berlin, under the auspices of the Cornell Section of the American Chemical Society, on May 13; and "Modern Views on Aesthetics" by E. F. Carritt, lecturer on philosophy in University College, Oxford, on the Goldwin Smith Foundation, on May 15.

THE SAGE CHAPEL Preacher for May 17 will be the Right Rev. Dr. Ethelbert Talbot, Episcopal Bishop of Bethlehem, Pennsylvania.

THE CORNELL DRAMATIC CLUB on May 11 repeated the three plays given on Friday of last week, and on May 15-16 presented "Gray Mists" by Edith Parrott '23, now of the faculty of the Ithaca High School; "Colonna" by John Emperor '26; and "A Man Should Have a Wife" by Elizabeth Rauschenbush '25.

THE CHARLES LATHROP PACK Foundation Forestry Prize of $50 for 1925 has been awarded to N. Gardiner Bump '25 of Binghamton. Neale R. Hamilton '25 of Warrensburg received honorable mention. These prizes were established in 1924 by Charles Lathrop Pack of Lakewood, New Jersey, "to aid in training foresters to write articles which will arouse in the public an interest in forestry and an appreciation of what forestry means to the country, and so be of service in fostering the forestry idea." Bump wrote under the title "Tom Jones Investigates Prosperity." He was last year editor of The Cornell Countryman.

OPEN RUSHING will be indulged in next fall, as a result of a resolution adopted at a meeting of the Interfraternity Council. There are a few regulations: trains may not be met, and the freshman may be entertained at the fraternity houses between the hours of ten in the morning and ten at night only; but it is called open rushing since pledging may be made at any time after the morning of registration. Wellington R. Burt '26 of Battle Creek, Michigan, was elected president of the Council; William Burke, Jr., '26 of Washington, vice-president; and Harry H. Morris, Jr., '26 of Augusta, secretary.

R. E. DOHERTY, consulting engineer for the General Electric Company, addressed the Ithaca Section of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers on May 1. His subject was, "Some Problems in Long Distance Transmission."

THE THIRD ANNIVERSARY of the opening of the Empire State School of Printing was celebrated on May 1 by the instructing staff and members of the school. Ross W. Kellogg '12 is the director of the school, which was founded by the New York State Publishers' Association and so far has graduated more than one hundred students. The support received from State newspapers has steadily increased in that time.

THE CORNELL CHEMIST Board for next year will be headed by John R. Hoy '26 of Oil City, Pennsylvania, as editor-in-chief. Charles O. Warren, Jr., '27 of Brooklyn will be managing editor; Carl E. Johnson '26 of Greenwich, Connecticut, news editor; Robert M. Herbst '26 of Mount Vernon, New York, business manager; Donald S. Barnes '26 of Sayre, Pennsylvania, advertising manager; Eugene M. Hakanson '26 of Greenwich, Connecticut, circulation manager; John F. Thompson '28 of Webster, assistant circulation manager; and James N. Ostrofsky '26 of Bridgeport, Connecticut, assistant advertising manager.

IN A HUNDRED YEARS Tompkins County will look like the Black Forest if all the trees that have been planted by local residents in response to Governor Smith's plea live. Fifteen thousand trees have been put out in Tompkins County during the week, with many more to be planted. Most of these now being put out are pine and spruce, of which it takes about one thousand to plant an acre. These are furnished by the State Conservation Commission at very little cost.

A FIRE OF ORIGIN as yet unknown did considerable damage on May 3 to a frame building on Ridgewood Road, formerly occupied by Omicron Alpha Tau, but vacant since last fall. As the fire started on the roof of the porch, the Fire Chief believes that a cigarette or lighted match must have been thrown out of one of the upper windows, and he believes that a party of some kind must have been going on in the supposedly vacant house.

To Break Reunion Records

Secretaries of Fifteen-Year-Old Classes Cover Country to Get Members Back in June

The classes of '09, '10, '11, and '12 will be back at Ithaca in force next month for a real test of the Dix Plan of reunions. This plan of bringing back at one time classes which were contemporary in college has proved so successful that it is each year becoming increasingly evident that the new idea is established. But next month, when these four classes are in Ithaca on June 12, 13, and 14, will give an excellent opportunity to judge how well the arrangement works when five or six hundred contemporaneous men and women reunite together.

At their fifteen-year reunion a year ago Bob Treman, Queenie Horton Sailor, and their cohorts in '09 established new high figures for Cornell reunions. The even two hundred whom they registered at the Drill Hall represents a mark that will be hard to beat. This year the Class is out to beat its own record, at the same time that it shows the way to '10, which celebrates its fifteenth, and to '11 and '12.

Of the twenty-one classes that will be back this June, probably no two have had so much publicity as have the members of '09 and '10. Treman is again sending out frequent editions of The Back-to-Ithaca Gazette, which proved so seductive a lure last year. Mrs. Sailor is arousing the '09 women with frequent bulletins, while Andy Whinery in '10 is bombarding his Class with copies of The Nineteen Tent.

The men of '09 have a comprehensive committee covering the entire country, with Walter M. Goldsmith and Gustav J. Requardt as sub-chairmen under Treman, and Fay H. Battey as treasurer. Geographical chairmen have been appointed as follows: Grandon D. Gates for New England, Goldsmith for the Metropolitan district in and around New York, W. Van Alan Clark for the Hudson River district, Creed W. Fulton for Central New York, Richard E. Bishop for Pennsylvania, Richard Bragaw for Detroit, Robert K. Caldwell for the Chicago district, Frederick A. Rice for the Pacific States, Requardt for the Southern district, H. Clifford Reed for Ithaca, and Battey for Buffalo. Requardt is also chairman of the special fraternity committee.

In answering to the question "What is 1910 doing?" Whinery replied in part as follows:

"One copy of The Nineteen Tent was mailed about a month ago. Another copy is now in the press and will be mailed at the end of this week. A personal letter has been sent by me to every member of the Class except those in the immediate vicinity of New York, urging them to attend the reunion. The New York members will receive such a letter within the next week. A letter and a return card providing for Class statistics is now in the hands of the mailing office here in Newark and will be mailed either to-day or tomorrow. Another issue of The Nineteen Tent will be mailed on or about May 15. Still another issue of the Tent will be mailed not later than June 1.

"Committees have been appointed all over the United States, both for clubs, athletic teams, and all other student activities. Geographical committees have been appointed and the names of the various men in the organizations or territories have been sent to the chairmen of the various committees. I am constantly now receiving word from these chairmen that these letters have been mailed. A follow-up letter will be sent to each one of the chairmen before the twentieth of May.

"I am writing personal letters to approximately two hundred of the Class, urging them to write to at least four members of the Class, with a further request that they urge each one of these four to write to at least two more, including in each letter a strong appeal for the reunion.

"The issue of The Nineteen Tent which is now being printed will request the members of the Class to advise me if they expect to be present, and I confidently expect that I shall receive affirmative replies from not less than three hundred. Without having made such a request, I have already received volunteered information from approximately one hundred men that they will be on hand. All in all, the prospects are very promising and I am quite optimistic as to the reunion. I am also writing a letter to each Ithaca member of the Class, asking him to write to at least ten men, urging them in the most hospitable manner to come back and enjoy the delightful experiences of the reunion party in Ithaca."

'11 and '12 are geared up to give '09 and '10 a real battle. Details of their activities will be printed next week.

The best feature of this joint reunion is that the men of these four classes will all live together in the new dormitories on University and West Avenues, while the women will live together at Sage. The old style reunions, with members of fraternities and clubs breaking up into small groups, are a thing of the past. Nowadays the fraternities and sororities wait until Sunday.

A NEW HONORARY SOCIETY for the promotion of scholarship among advanced students in the veterinary sciences has been organized, being called Phi Zeta, of which this at Cornell is the Alpha Chapter. The charter members consist of members of the Faculty and the senior class. Dean Veranus A. Moore '87 is president of the society, Professor Howard J. Milks '04 is vice-president, and Professor William A. Hagan, M. S. '17, is secretary and treasurer. President Farrand and Emeritus Professors Simon H. Gage '77 and Walter L. Williams are honorary members.

Another View on Athletics

Member of 1915 Football Team Takes Issue With X. Y. Z. on Value of Intercollegiate Sports

Herbert Snyder '16 disagrees with the letter signed X. Y. Z. which appeared in our issue of April 16. Snyder played on the 1915 football team which beat Harvard 10 to 0 and Pennsylvania, 24 to 9. He is a son of Professor Virgil Snyder. His letter, written from the Valley Ranch School at Valley, Wyoming, follows:

"In the News for April 16 there was a most interesting letter on college athletics in general and on Cornell athletics in particular. It may have been a gentle leg-pulling, but the writer's thesis, that the competitive spirit engendered in athletics, being highly desirable to the individual engaged in modern business, should be more actively encouraged by Morrill Hall, is one that deserves some answers, even this feeble one.

"First, I may say that I agree with the thesis, but I don't see that the means suggested would attain the end desired.

"The people in the stands are not engaging in athletics in the remotest sense. The mere act of howling approval of a good play does not, I submit, make the howler a more appreciative participant in team play. I have observed that, to take football as an easy example, it is the dashing half-back who receives the plaudits of the mob for a long run and not the faithful lineman who, opening the gap in the enemy defenses, gives a much finer example of real team-play. The crowd at a football game takes on, more and more, the aspects of the mob at a gladiatorial affair in ancient Rome. There, someone was hired to fight; here, a few are enticed to train and fight in just as stirring a combat. Since a few only are fit to engage in modern varsity football, these become almost as men set apart; that is not so bad as that we passionately wish for victory at any cost, and some of us are ready to engage in any dirty tactics simply to win.

"But even that is not so bad. When we become grandstand padding, we only watch; and watchers cannot play the game. The watchers go into the world, and the strange habit of watching, rather than participating in games, persists, and we have as one result the universal desire in America to watch politics, our unique national sport, rather than going to the trouble of taking part in them. And surely good government is almost as important as good, go-getting business!

"I should think the best possible thing for the authorities on the Hill to do, if they must turn out practically trained boys, is to encourage still more the intramural sports. Forgive my bringing in reminiscence, but in the school where I used to teach, 164 of the 183 boys who composed the enrollment played football. Some such percentage of active participants would do more for Cornell athletics than a thousand Deans. The more boys playing the team-games, no matter how poor the execution, the better the Varsity teams, but, more to be desired, the better the individual participant.

"Cheering doesn't win games; it's hard play that does it!"

"P. S.—The foregoing is not especially important, being only my sentiments. But it seems to me that Monsieur X. Y. Z. has forgotten that athletics are for the undergraduates, and not all at for the puffing-up of the vain pride of the alumni. He is a typical grandstand padder—and the important bird happens to be the sweatin' 'ero on the field, who usually doesn't give a damn whether the padder is bellowing or not. I'm all for making the grads keep their long noses where they belong—on their faces, and not mixing into the affairs of Dobie, Moakley, Berry, et al. Golly! how I hated the alumni when I was an undergraduate! I know I am being traitorous, but no one can get me out here, where I have a good horse and know most of the trails."

CLUB ACTIVITIES

Finger Lakes, New York

About seventy alumni from the four Western New York counties of Seneca, Yates, Wayne, and Ontario met for dinner at the Seneca Hotel in Geneva on May 6, and voted to form the Finger Lakes Cornell Alumni Association. The gathering included representatives of most of the classes between '73 and '26.

John S. Gay '01 presided and Creed W. Fulton '09 led the singing of Cornell songs. He called on Judge DeVoe P. Hodson '77, who told of his experiences as a young man in Ithaca, where he lived during the early days of the University. Other speakers were Harold Flack '12, Romeyn Berry '04, and R. Warren Sailor '07 who had come up from Ithaca, and told of affairs about the Campus.

The gathering voted to hold three or four such meetings a year and elected Henry O. Palmer '07 president and Thomas I. S. Boak '14, secretary-treasurer. Cornellians in the four counties are asked to get in touch with Boak at 19 Troy Street, Seneca Falls, so that they may be notified of the next meeting.

The president appointed one representative of each county to serve as directors of the new association. They are George C. Perkins '93, Newark; Clarence R. Andrews '08, Penn Yan; Nathan D. Lapham '95, Geneva; and Louis H. Hodd '98, Seneca Falls.

Yonkers

The annual dinner of the Yonkers alumni association will be held on Monday, March 18, at the Abbey Inn. Dinner will be at seven-thirty. Judge William F. Bleakley '04 will preside, with R. W. Sailor '07, editor of the ALUMNI NEWS, as principal speaker.

Southern California Women

The second and third meetings of the year of Cornell women in Los Angeles and vicinity have been held at Ye Bull Penn Inn, Los Angeles. At the meeting in February 14, Margaret L. Stecker '06, president of the Federation of Cornell Women's Clubs, was guest of honor, and gave a most interesting account of Cornell affairs at Ithaca and intermediate cities visited while she was en route to California.

The Club at the meeting held May 2 adopted the name "Cornell Women's Club of Southern California" and voted to affiliate with the Federation. The Club

PROPOSED WAR MEMORIAL TOWERS AND COLONNADE

These newest units will when completed form the main entrance to the University dormitory group from West Avenue. They are to be financed by gifts for the endowment of rooms and entrance portals in the two towers, each of which will bear the name of the alumnus who died in the War to whom it is dedicated. The colonnade, which was added to the original plans at the suggestion of F. Ellis Jackson '00, will contain bronze tablets bearing the names of all of the 220 Cornellians who died in service. The cost of endowing a single room in one of the towers is estimated at $5,000, a double room, $7,500, and a portal, $15,000.

At the left is another memorial building which will contain rooms and entries in memory of alumni and friends of Cornell other than those who died in war service, and to commemorate various classes.

Day and Klauder, Architects

now numbers twenty-five active members.

Rochester

In his talk before the Cornell Club of Rochester on April 29, Professor Floyd C. Fairbanks of the University of Rochester pointed out that many of the predictions made for the recent eclipse were confirmed.

The talk was illustrated with photographs. One photograph of the corona showed a structure which had been more or less predicted even though no eclipse had been observed. Another photograph of the shadow edge over New York City disclosed the fact that the predicted and actual path very nearly coincided.

York-Lancaster

The York-Lancaster County Cornell Club was organized at an enthusiastic meeting of some twenty Cornellians held at the Stevens House in Lancaster, Pennsylvania, on May 5. The meeting was in the nature of a get-together and banquet.

Daniel B. Strickler '22 was toastmaster. The president and secretary of the Cornell Club of Philadelphia, C. Rodman Stull '07 and Frank A. Gerould '15, brought messages of the University to the alumni present. The speaker of the evening was Dr. George H. Ashley '89, State geologist at Harrisburg and president of the Cornell Club of that city.

Officers for the year were elected as follows: Daniel B. Strickler '22, president; Howard F. Bollinger '18, secretary; and Thorne C. Hulbert '21, treasurer.

The Club plans to get together quarterly, twice a year in York and twice a year in Lancaster. The next meeting will be in York during the latter part of August.

1904 MEN PLAN REUNION

Following a period of inactivity lasting many years, members of the Class of 1904 are thoroughly awake and are preparing plans actively for class reunions at Ithaca in 1927 under the Dix plan and in 1929, which will be the 25-year reunion.

The first public demonstration was a dinner held in New York on May 4, at which 46 members of the class were present. Walter S. Finlay, Jr., who is chairman of the General Reunion Committee of the class, acted as toastmaster. There were no formal speeches, but a number of the men told of personal experiences and a general spirit of good fellowship prevailed. Bingo Wells, Petie Patterson, Harland Tibbetts, and others said a few words.

It was decided at the meeting that this is to be but the first of a series of get-together dinners to be held during the next several years whose main purpose will be fostering the "back-to-Ithaca" movement.

Much credit for the successful carrying out of the arrangements was due to Chairman Jay B. Odell, Jr. and the local committee, who have made persistent efforts to get in touch with all members of the class. Anyone in the New York district who has not yet received a notice is requested to write to Mr. Odell care of the Western Electric Company, 195 Broadway.

ATHLETICS

A Dark Day with a Few Bright Spots

Saturday was a disastrous day for Cornell athletic teams. The crews, in their first races under Coach Lueder, finished in fourth place in all three events on the Charles; the baseball team was defeated by Ohio State at Columbus; the lacrosse team lost an Intercollegiate League match to Hobart at Geneva; the freshman track team was beaten in Ithaca by the Pennsylvania yearlings, and the freshman baseball team lost to the Colgate cubs. In track Cornell lost to Pennsylvania, but the closeness of the score, and the fine showing by some of the Cornellians furnished the one ray of hope in the whole day's performances. As against these defeats one victory was chalked up to Cornell's credit, the tennis team winning from Washington and Lee on the home courts by a score of 7 to 2.

The dual meet with Pennsylvania on Franklin Field was so closely contested that its outcome remained in doubt until Pennsylvania won first places in the last two events, the pole vault and hammer throw. Weakness in the two-mile run, in which Cornell is usually strong, and in the broad jump, really lost the meet.

The Cornell team gave by all odds its best performance of the year. In almost every case, the Cornell entries did better than they had ever done before. Russell was the outstanding performer. He defeated George Hill, intercollegiate sprint champion, in the 100-yard and the 220-yard dashes. Russell won the hundred in 8 9/10 seconds and equalled the intercollegiate record of 21 1/5 seconds in the 220. Werly, a sophomore, ran the best race of his career to win the 440-yard dash in 50 2/5 seconds. Coykendall took the half-mile run in 1:59 4/5. It was his best race so far. Cornell also won the mile handily, Termohlen coming in first and Glick second.

Another notable Cornell performance came in the pole vault. Although Penn's great star Sherrill set a new record of 13 ft. 3/4 inches, and won first place, Greening and Bontecou of Cornell did brilliant work by clearing 12 ft. 9 inches and tying for second place. Greening had never done better than 12 ft. 3 inches before. Booth did better than expected by pressing Wolf all the way in the high hurdles. In the weights Pennsylvania was superior, but there were some promising Cornell performances. Wolkowitz won the shot put, with a put of 44 feet; Caskey was second in the hammer throw, with 154 feet 4 inches, Bowen was second in the discus throw, his mark of 132 feet 8 inches being only 3 inches short of that of the winner, Coleman of Pennsylvania; Fitzgerald a dark horse finished third in the javelin throw, his mark of 171 feet being 20 feet better than any he has made in practice. In short the team showed competitive spirit of a high order, and its work was thoroughly encouraging.

Lose Baseball to Ohio State

Ohio State downed Cornell at Columbus on Saturday by a score of 4 to 0. Captain Russell Miller of the Buckeyes held Cornell to six scattered hits. Only three men faced Miller in all but two innings.

Cornell played only mediocre ball, mixed with an occasional bright play. Only one Cornellian reached second base.

Two Ohio State men crossed the plate in the second frame. Tarbert, first up, reached the initial sack when Rossumondo's throw was wide. Walther fled to Grove and Dempsey struck out. Brasher singled to left, scoring Tarbert, and took second on the throw-in.

Miller was safe at first on Groves' bad throw while Brasher stopped at third. On an attempted double steal, Brasher scored, but Miller was caught between first and second.

In the sixth, Dempsey singled through Rossumondo, stole second, took third while Miller was being put out and scored on Klee's single. The last tally came when Miller hit the first ball pitched in the inning over second for a single. Matusoff also hit the first ball pitched to deep center for a triple and the only extra base hit of the game, scoring Miller.

Cornell Crews in Last Place

The crews made a disappointing showing in their debut at Cambridge Saturday, but it would be a mistake to make hasty judgements. Obviously none of the Cornell eights was sufficiently prepared for the speedy competition that short-distance races nowadays develops. They were unable to match the speed of their rivals and soon after the start in each race Cornell began dropping behind. Reports from Boston do not suggest demoralization; they simply weren't fast enough. This year's rowing effort and the new coaching system should be judged at Poughkeepsie.

Harvard won the varsity race after a stirring battle with Pennsylvania. The Red and Blue eights won the junior varsity and freshman races, after spirited contests with Harvard. M. I. T. was third in all three races and Cornell fourth.

Harvard won the varsity race over a mile and three-quarters course, by about three lengths; Cornell in fourth place was over ten lengths behind the Crimson. Times of the varsity race: Harvard 9:11, Pennsylvania 9:22, M. I. T. 9:40, Cornell 9:49.

The Pennsylvania freshmen, over the Henley distance of a mile and five-sixteenths won by a length over Harvard. Pennsylvania's junior crew won by three lengths over Harvard. M. I. T. was a good third and Cornell six lengths back of the leader. This race too was rowed over the Henley distance.

Water conditions were bad, and rough water held up the first race until 7 o'clock.

Tennis Team Wins

The tennis team defeated Washington and Lee by a 7 to 2 score Saturday, on the home courts.

Freshmen Lose in Track

Winning ten first places out of fifteen, the Pennsylvania freshmen defeated the Cornell freshmen in a dual track meet on Schoellkopf Field Saturday afternoon. Dern of Pennsylvania jumped six feet in the high jump, and also won the shot put and discus throw. Spelman of Cornell ran a beautiful race in the 220-yard low hurdles. Pennsylvania was superior in the sprints and runs, but Cornell made a good showing in the field events.

Hobart Wins in Lacrosse

Hobart earned the right to contest the lacrosse championship of the Northern Division with Syracuse Saturday by defeating Cornell in a hard fought contest, 7 to 4.

Cornell gained an early lead when Herman penetrated the Hobart defense for a goal three minutes after play started, but the count was soon evened, Vogt putting one of his left-handed slants past Stainton. The Orange and Purple took the lead a minute later when Chapman drove the ball into the net from a distance of five feet after Stainton had been drawn out of the crease. Hobart was not headed again.

The Genevans scored again ten minutes later when Cole put the ball past the Cornell goal. Chapman scored his second goal of the game three minutes after Cole registered to end the Hobart scoring in the first period. Herman, Cornell first attack, scored before the half ended, to bring the count to 4-2.

In the second half Hobart scored again six minutes after the period opened. Cole followed a few minutes later with a short shot from a scrimmage, but the Cornelians spurred to score twice in one minute on goals by Rogers, who had just entered the game, and Blake. With nine minutes to go, Engert scored the final goal, the game ending 7-4.

SPORT STUFF

Saturday was a black day in Cornell athletics. With the exception of the tennis team every outfit that went into action was defeated.

Attention centers, of course, on the crews which made their first appearance under new leadership. While victory was not expected, it was hoped for. It was not expected that we would finish last in all three races. Cornell men are pretty low in their minds this Monday morning.

The disaster is too complete to invite speculation with regard to the cause of things or the future. The only thing to suggest is to bite the lower lip firmly and go in again. It can be pointed out that there are many rowing days between now and the 22nd of June and that Cayuga Lake still has lots of water left in it.

In intercollegiate sport there are two common practices which cannot be too strongly condemned. One is purchasing red fire for purposes of celebration prior to the event for which they are intended. And the other is pricing crepe prematurely.

R. B.

THE MASQUE'S PRESIDENT next year will be John M. Breckenridge '26 of Cleveland, with Moorhead Wright, Jr., '27, of Little Rock, Arkansas, as vice-president. Edward M. Bull '26, of Monroe was elected manager, and John N. Blakemore '27, of Louisville, Kentucky, assistant manager.

DELTA SIGMA RHO, honorary debating society, has elected to membership John G. Laylin '25 of Columbus, Ohio; Benjamin Levitan '25 of Tarrytown; Whitney M. Trousdale '25 of Rome, Pennsylvania; and John P. Seward, Jr., '26 of New York.

THE PRESENT DORMITORY GROUP AS SEEN FROM MCGRAW HALL TOWER

This much is built of the University dormitory group which, when completed, will house 1600 students and with a dining hall will cover all of the ground bounded by West, University, Stewart, and South Avenues.

The war memorial towers and colonnade of which architects' drawings are shown on another page will front West Avenue to the left of the present group, on the central axis of the complete plan. The memorial building will run west from the most northerly of the war memorial towers and Lyon Hall will extend from Founder's west to South Baker. Along University Avenue, Boldt Tower will stand next to Boldt Hall, the most recently completed of the present group, being connected to it with an archway. It is expected that the funds for the memorial buildings will be completed this year so that all of these buildings, and several others already provided for, may be constructed in 1926.

THE ENDORSING OF TRUSTEES

IT is a well known fact that there are two principal reactions on the subject of endorsing the candidacy of alumni trustees. Many alumni will endorse any candidate, others none. A few must know the candidate intimately and favorably before lending the weight of their signatures.

There are several reasons for the perennial gathering of endorsements. The endorser is expected to vote for his candidates. A well known endorsement is supposed to influence others to endorse. Under no theory of trustee politics is the list of names assumed to indicate a spontaneous demand on the part of these persons for the candidacy. It is almost universally the result of a painstaking effort by the nominating or steering committee, or by the campaign manager, to depict a real demand for a given candidate. Any ten names would be adequate.

We believe that procedure of this sort, while not strictly sincere, is justifiable. We have no intention of crusading against it. We are glad to endorse candidates and appreciate the subtle flattery of the opportunity if and when presented.

On the other hand the ALUMNI NEWS, as a publisher of alumni news, is annually faced with the problem of setting a limit to the number of such names in the sketches of the candidates. Space is too valuable to waste in this manner. If unresisted the demand might require several columns, having ranged in the past from a nominal number up to as high as several thousand.

This year all three campaign managers have been moderate and cooperative. It is therefore possible, without pointing at anyone's campaign as an example, to take a stronger stand in the matter.

We announce, then, as a new practice of THE CORNELL ALUMNI NEWS, that hereafter we shall not publish the names of endorsers of alumni trustee candidates in these columns.

OBITUARY

James I. Casey '91

James Irving Casey died in Utica, N. Y., on June 8, 1924, following a heart attack and complication of diseases.

He was born in Mohawk, N. Y., on January 22, 1871, the son of Dr. James E. and Mary Bellinger Casey. After attending school in Mohawk, he came to Cornell in 1887 as a student of the arts and sciences, and graduated in 1891 with the degree of A. B. He then took up the study of law and in 1895 was given the degree of LL.B. He was a member of Phi Sigma Kappa and the Cornell Classical Association.

After leaving Cornell, he practiced law for about eight years in Mohawk and in 1903 removed to Utica. After a time he became a member of the law firm of Jones, Townsend & Casey, which became one of the foremost in that city. He was the Utica attorney for the New York, Ontario & Western Railway and a charter member of the Yahnundasis Club of Utica.

On November 27, 1901, he was married to Miss Gertrude M. Hunt of Utica, who survives him with three children, Dorothy, Virginia V. S., and Robert H. Hunt Casey.

Amzi Smith, Jr., '02

Amzi Smith, Jr., one of the leading electrical engineers of the South, died at his home in Johnson City, Tenn., on April 2, following a brief illness of kidney trouble.

He was born in Laurel, Md., on March 5, 1880, the son of Amzi and Hannah Van Patten Smith. After getting his early education in Washington, D. C., he came to Cornell in 1898 as a student of mechanical engineering and remained for one year. He was a member of Alpha Delta Phi.

After leaving the University, he served one year as levelman for the United States Geological Survey, then became a meter tester for the Potomac Electrical Power Company in Washington. After a year he became a cable tester and then for three years he was a solicitor for the company. In 1906 he went to Johnson City as general manager of the Watauga Electric Company and the Johnson City Traction Corporation which later became the Tennessee Eastern Electric Company. At the time of his death he was vice president and general manager of the latter company. He was a member of the National Electric Light Association and the American Electric Railway Association.

On April 23, 1902, he was married to Miss Mildred M. Crystal of Washington. She survives him with a son, Crystal Smith, and two sisters, Mrs. Carrie Schreyer of Milton, Pa., and Mrs. Edith Hawes of Washington, besides a brother, Frank Smith of Boston, Mass.

LITERARY REVIEW

The Browning Concordance

A Concordance to the Poetical Works of Robert Browning. By Leslie N. Broughton, Ph. D. '11, assistant professor of English in Cornell, and Benjamin F. Stelter, Ph. D. '13, professor of English in Occidental College, Los Angeles, Calif. New York. G. E. Stechert & Co. 1924. Volume 1. A. L. 30 cm., pp. xiv, 1270. Price for the set of two volumes, thin paper, $35; ordinary paper, $45.

The first volume of the long-awaited Concordance to Browning has lately appeared, and the editors are to be congratulated both on the approach of the completion of their labors and likewise on the very handsome appearance of the initial volume. The German printers have done a good piece of work.

The work of compiling this monumental opus was begun by something over a hundred collaborators, many of whom were Cornellians, in 1914, and the manuscript was completed in July, 1916. For a long time, and especially because of the War, the problem of securing a publisher proved impossible of solution. The willingness of the firm of Stechert to undertake the tremendous risk necessarily involved is worthy of note and deserves the highest commendation.

Printing was begun in December, 1922. The greater part of the burden of proof-reading, something over two thousand pages, has fallen to the lot of Dr. Broughton. This gigantic task is now practically completed and the second volume should appear shortly.

The complete work will contain nearly 2,700 pages; with the possible exception of Strong's Concordance to the Bible it is the largest work of its kind, and is about one-third as large again as Bartlett's Concordance to Shakespeare. There are about five hundred thousand entries. For example the entry God fills 15 columns; each, 14 columns; if, 25½ columns; heart, 9½ columns; hand, 7¾ columns; indeed, four columns.

A glance through its pages reveals many interesting facts about the poet's choice of words and it will prove an invaluable book for those who wish to engage in serious research concerning this matter. It is the third attempt of its kind; the first resulted in the very modest Phrase Book; the second failed completely. A prominent Browning scholar has remarked, in a letter to the editors:

"The tremendous work that you have

But the whole team doesn't play first base

To suppose that a baseball nine will all cover just one position is as far from the truth as to think that everyone in the electrical industry is an engineer.

This field will always need trained engineers. But with its great manufacturing, construction and commercial activities, the industry must have non-technical men too.

Since the industry is manned by many types, the result of your work will depend a good deal on the success with which you team up. The qualities that win are not only efficiency attained by the light of a study lamp, but that all-pull-together spirit of the athletic field.

This point of view may be useful to the man who has wondered whether campus activities, with all their striving and stern testing, their setbacks and their triumphs, have any counterpart in after life.

Books and Magazine Articles

In The Philosophical Review for March Marjorie S. Harris, Ph. D. '21, writes on "Comte and James." There are abstracts of the following papers read at the twenty-fourth meeting of the Eastern Division of the American Philosophical Association: "Essences and Universals" by Professor David W. Prall, '11-12 Grad.; "James Edwin Creighton as Writer and Editor" by Dr. Katherine E. Gilbert '12; "Homo Faber" by Professor Grace M. A. De Laguna '03 of Bryn Mawr. Professor Lucy S. Crawford '13, of Sweet Briar College, reviews volumes 1-4 of the "Oeuvres" de Maine de Biran. "Maurice Blondel's Philosophy of Action" by Dr. Katherine E. Gilbert '12 is reviewed by Professor William K. Wright of Dartmouth, formerly of Cornell. Professor Harry P. Weld reviews "Conflict and Dream" by W. H. R. Rivers. Dr. Ernest T. Paine reviews "An Introduction to Reflective Thinking" by the Columbia Associates in Philosophy. Professor Henry W. Wright '99, Ph. D. '04, of the University of Manitoba, reviews "The Ethics of Hercules" by Robert Chenault Givler. Professor Earl H. Kennard, Ph. D. '13, reviews "Sidelights on Relativity" by Albert Einstein, translated by G. B. Leffrey and W. Perrett.

In The Cornell Law Quarterly for April the leading article, on "The Anomaly of Payment as an Affirmative Defense," is by Alison Reppy, professor of law in the New Jersey Law School. Winthrop Taylor '07 writes on "The Seashore and the People." Professor Horace E. Whiteside '22 discusses "Priorities Between Chattel Mortgage or Conditional Seller and Subsequent Lienors." Notes and Comment, contributed by students, fill 58 pages. Professor Lyman P. Wilson reviews "Cases on Oil and Gas" by Victor H. Kulp and "Criminology" by Edwin H. Sutherland. Dean George G. Bogert '06 reviews "The Law of Leases" by Clarence M. Lewis.

The Boston Globe for April 9 included a long sketch of the life of Dr. Schurman. The Outlook on April 1 commented very favorably on the selection of Dr. Schurman for the Berlin post.

The Missouri Alumnus for March includes an article on the College of Engineering by Elmer J. McCaustland, M. C. E. '97, dean of the Missouri College of Engineering, and one on "The Duty of the Alumnus to His Alma Mater" by Walter Rautenstrauch, '03-4 Grad., now professor of industrial engineering at Columbia. There are pictures of both authors.

In the Sun for May 1 Professor James H. Breasted, Messenger Lecturer, describes his experiences in Oriental research.

In The Classical Weekly for April 27 Professor Lane Cooper's "The Poetics of Aristotle: Its Meaning and Influence" is favorably reviewed by Kendall K. Smith.

'00 PhD—Professor Guy M. Whipple, who is this year on leave from the University of Michigan, has recently instituted a series of lectures and conferences at the Browne and Nichols School in Boston. He has spoken to the pupils on methods of study and has applied the Terman tests, following them up with individual conferences, especially for those seniors whose tests indicate special problems either of high ability or of individual differences. He also addressed the faculty on certain problems of high-school work. Professor Whipple is also chairman of a committee appointed at a recent Cornell breakfast in Cincinnati to bring out a volume in honor of Professor Emeritus Charles De Garmo. The other members are Professors Herbert H. Foster '00 of Beloit College, Benjamin R. Andrews '01 of Teachers College, and Riverda H. Jordan. The aim of the proposed volume is to indicate how much of present day thought in education is an expansion of the ideas that the group led by Professor De Garmo advocated as pioneers in American education a generation ago.

'03 AM, '04 PhD—Professor John W. Young, of the Department of Mathematics at Dartmouth, will be absent on leave during 1925-6.

'04 LLB—Charles M. Camp and John C. Grier '04 formed a partnership on May 1 for the general practice of law in New York. They are occupying the former offices of Camp & Pate at 2 Wall Street.

'06 CE—Edward A. Evans is a construction engineer with the T. A. Gillespie Company of 7 Dey Street, New York. He lives at 8701 Fourth Avenue, Brooklyn.

'07, '08 LLB—Daniel Crowley, city judge of Ithaca, was recently appointed State transfer tax attorney for Tompkins County by the New York State Tax Commission, to take the place left by the late De Forest Van Vleet '77.

'07 ME—After being a patent attorney for seven years with the Barrett Company, Charles W. Mortimer recently became associated with Gifford and Scull in the general practice of patent law at 141 Broadway, New York. He lives at 67 Brookfield Road, Upper Montclair, N. J.

'08 BArch—Giles M. Smith is a member of the firm of Bigelow & Wadsworth, architects of Boston, Mass. He was recently elected to membership in the Boston Society of Architects. His address is 127 Leonard Street, Belmont, Mass.

'08 PhD—At the April meeting of the Western Division of the American Philosophical Association, Professor G. Watts Cunningham, of the University of Texas, discussed "The Philosophy of Bernard Bosanquet."

'09 CE—George F. Wiegardt is having a battle with the politicians and Public Improvement Commission in Baltimore, Md., as the result of criticisms he recently aimed at a $17,000,000 school building program in that city. Wiegardt is business manager of the Baltimore schools and he charged that the building program proposed is honeycombed with defects and that faulty construction of buildings is planned. News reports state that he may be "put on the carpet" by the mayor and asked to explain his charges.

'09, '10 ME—Alfred H. Hutchinson is president of the Continental Scale Works and the Healthometer Company of Chicago, Illinois. His address is 8944 South Hoyne Avenue.

'11 LLB—Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. (Judge) Crandall are the parents of a son, Willard A., born on April 24. They live at 64 Barrows Avenue, Rutherford, N. J. Crandall is with the law firm of Phillips & Avery at 41 Park Row, New York.

'12 G—Issa Tanimura recently arrived in this country as a special food commissioner for the prefecture and city of Tokio. He is particularly interested in solving the food problems of Japan, which he says are acute because the population has outgrown the food resources. The purpose of his visit is to arrange for an exchange of the commodities of Japan for substantial foods of this country to be used for the workers of Japan.

'13 AB—Dr. and Mrs. David T. Nicoll of New York have announced the marriage of their daughter Annetta I. Nicoll '13, to Philip S. Platt, on April 29. After June 1, they will be at home at 424 East Fifty-seventh Street, New York.

'13—Mr. and Mrs. John J. D. McCormick of Holyoke, Mass., announce the birth of a daughter on April 24. McCormick has just completed two terms as president of the Cornell Club of Springfield.

STUDY EUROPE THIS SUMMER

The Fifth Annual International Student Tour will leave New York June 27th, via the 15,000 ton Cunard S. S. Andania. It will return 66 days later by the same steamship arriving in New York August 31.

Professor E. P. Andrews, of Cornell will act as director for the season of 1925.

Membership in this tour is open to students and instructors and their friends.

Its purpose is to place the benefits of foreign travel within the reach of young Americans during their vacation period at the lowest possible cost.

The price ranging from $793 to $930, includes passage both ways, hotels and all expenses except purely personal items. The steamship accommodations selected determine the variation in cost. In Europe all fare alike.

This tour is filling rapidly and if you wish to register, write for a booklet containing full details entitled "International Student Tours."

4. Why Students Bust

The greatest hurdle a freshman must pass is the unique change in his educational perspective that must be carried through as he passes from a high school or preparatory school standard to a college standard. Only a small percentage of freshman have been taught how to study and when this fact is coupled with the generally incomplete and often poor preparation they have, it is not surprising that so many (257 busted from Cornell last February and a large number were put on probation) college students bust. In fact, that the number is not much larger at Cornell is due largely to the efficiency of our college tutoring school.

Cross Section Paper

There are quite a few who should know more about cross section papers and especially those made by the Co-op. When some of the largest manufacturing concerns buy of the Co-op because of the accuracy of the plates you should write for a sample book. Drop us a line saying that you want the sample book.

Songbook

Are you coming back this June? How long since you have done any singing? You'll need a songbook if you would sing as well as the rest. $1.75 includes the postage on a copy of the Cornell Songbook.
