TAYLOR '94 LAW COMMENCEMENT SPEAKER

Donor of Myron Taylor Hall Gives Portrait of J. Du Pratt White '90

Myron C. Taylor '94, speaking in the beautiful moot court room of the building he gave, delivered the Commencement address to fifty-two graduates of the Law School May 29. He gave a message of encouragement, saying "I would ask you to free your minds and to recognize that the travail of the world is peculiarly your opportunity."

Speaks of World Situation

Calling the present situation the "grim, final reckoning," Taylor said that "the world only seems complex because so many peoples have, since the delirium of the first World War, the delirium of the peace, and the delirium of the present Great War, tried to find a substitute for work and for thought, which is quite the same thing as trying to find a substitute for money earned by the sweat of the brow. Trying to hitchhike one's way through life is bound to be a pretty complex business. And that is really what has been going on since the wartime governments of 1914-18 developed what looked like the ability to support their citizenry, and thereby seemed to reverse the natural order in which a government derives its resources from the support from the citizens . . . you are the innocent heirs of the notion that the way to create well-being is to repeat the errors that caused its destruction . . ."

"The high function of the lawyer—whether he be at the bar, on the bench, in politics, or out of practice and in business—is to weigh facts against facts and imponderables against imponderables, and thus to arrive painfully and slowly at approximate truth and approximate justice. . . . The world today is in need of broad legal minds. It is not in need of narrow, legalistic minds. We have an increasing number of fine technicians, and research into the nature of things material is proceeding apace, although not with the extraordinary speed that is popularly imagined. . . . It is not true that the ability to manage has not kept pace with the ability to create, but it is true that the industrial processes of today, and therefore the politics of today, need a type of mind very different from that of the specialist. . . ."

Taylor referred to his own experience as head of United States Steel and to his recent missions to the European war zones in pointing out the increasing opportunities and responsibilities of lawyers both in business and finance and in the practice of their profession. "You have within you," he said, "the power to do a better job than we, your elders, have been able to do. For you have our fund of experience to draw on. And I pray that you exert the will to bring forth your proper power; that you have the courage to venture beyond the line of certainty and to do things differently if thereby you can accomplish a truly constructive purpose. For it is beyond the line of today's certainty that leadership counts. That is the terrain of your adventure."

"In these days of international and perhaps national crisis," he concluded, "the duty of every American citizen is plain. Our policies defined, we should to a man and a woman pledge without qualification 'our lives, our fortunes, and our sacred honor' in support of our government and its President."

Dean Cites Opportunities

Dean Robert S. Stevens introduced Taylor as "the one who has given you the inspiration of these surroundings and whose life is itself an inspiration," saying that Myron Taylor Hall "was dedicated by him to the public good." Dean Stevens spoke also of the "tragic disillusionment" and "mental disorder" occasioned to present students by the world situation, but cited the similar experience of students during the previous world war. "They tell you," he said, "that while the present seems to demand only your physical equipment and has no use for your special talents and your years of training, your great opportunity will come in that calm future when thinking that is profound, open-minded, and generous will have to be done. . . ."

"The type of legal training that you have received at Cornell has been devised to equip you for that kind of thinking. Here, divorced from partisanship, you have been asked to consider what should be, as well as what is. You have developed your power of analytical reasoning; you have been encouraged to think independently and to put dogmas and decisions, even those entitled to the greatest respect, through the tests of a mental laboratory to determine their soundness. You have traced the influences of inherited thinking. You have observed the evolution of law to meet changing conditions. Above all, you have discovered that what we so ambiguously call 'public policy' is the direction beam to the goal of all law. Those acquired mental habits which should equip you for success in private practice would also equip you, with open-mindedness and long-range vision, to guide the thinking of your generation upon the great problems of national and international scope and implications."

President Confers Degrees

President Edmund E. Day conferred the LLB upon the graduates, who had marched up the center aisle of the moot court room, through parents and friends, in the academic procession of the Commencement speakers, University Trustees, and members of the Faculty. The President spoke briefly of the ideals of university teaching as exemplified in theology and the law, which are now challenged. Justice and the rights of the individual, he said, are replaced by the concepts of force and racial superiority in the Nazi ideology, and he pointed out the great responsibilities and corresponding opportunities of lawyers, in wishing them "God speed."

Feature of the Commencement exercises was the presentation by Mr. Taylor of a portrait of the late J. DuPratt White '90, which he and Mrs. Taylor had had painted by the British portraitist, Frank O. Salisbury, from a photograph selected by Mrs. White as her favorite. It shows the former chairman of the Board of Trustees and graduate of the Law School holding blueprints of Myron Taylor Hall. Only recently arrived in the United States from England, the portrait will hang in the Law School library with those of Judge Frank H. Hiscock '75 by the same artist and Chief Justice Charles Evan Hughes which Taylor also presented. It was unveiled by Mr. White's daughter, Mrs. Harold L. Taylor of Nyack, who came to Ithaca with her nine-year-old son, DuPratt Taylor. President Day, accepting the portrait for the University, spoke of his first meeting with Mr. White when he was invited to dine with him as a member of the Trustee committee to select a fifth President of Cornell. He recounted White's many contributions to the University as an alumnus and Trustee, his success as a lawyer, and his ever-present interest and zeal for Cornell.

Highest honor of this year's graduating class was conferred upon Bernard Didinsky '39 with award of the Carey Exhibition Prize of $50 for best performance in the third-year comprehensive examination. Another honor graduate, Robert D. Fernbach, received the prize for best work on the Law Quarterly. Four others were graduated "With Distinction": Richard J. Bookhout '39, Ralph H. German '39, Robert S. Leshner, and Robert J. McDonald '38.

Other graduates who received first degrees at Cornell are Robert J. Ahern '39, Robert Boochever '39, Ernest A. Dahmen, Jr. '38, William H. Davis '38, William G. DeLamater '39, A. Lee Feltman '39, William F. Fischer '39, Morgan T. Fisher '39, Amos B. Glann '39, Moses L. Goldbas '39, Stanley R. Katz '39, Louis A. Levene '39, Edmund F. Miller '39, Jacob M. Murdock III '39, Richard Netter '39, Norton L. Penney '39, R. Robert P. Perna '38, Douglas H. Philipp '39, Irving L. Price, Jr. '39, Bernard R. Rapaport '39, Gurson L. Schweller '39, Harry C. Scott, Jr. '38, Arthur C. Sheridan '39, George S. Smith '38, Frederick L. Turner '39, and Jacob L. Wildove '39.

Graduates of seventeen other colleges and universities include Stanford, University of Wisconsin, and two each from Dartmouth, Wesleyan, University of Rochester, and New York University.

GUIDE TO CHARACTER

(By R. B. in "State and Tioga," Ithaca Journal)

When we were a little boy, we once saw two farmers dicker over the sale of a sheep. They were a dollar apart when they started, and the ensuing negotiations occupied a full hour and took the combatants over a good half-acre of pasture. We can't recall the price at which the deal was closed, but we remember clearly that at the end there wasn't a weed left on the battlefield. Instinctively and without thought, each had been pulling weeds as the combat raged.

That's the only sure way, we suspect, of getting rid of weeds, or at least keeping them down: the old-fashioned, instinctive habit which makes it impossible for a well-trained country boy to pass a weed without pulling it up, or at least knocking it off with a stick. We don't know to what extent country boys possess that habit nowadays, but once formed it stays for life.

Observe four men on the golf course hunting for a lost ball in the rough. In five minutes you can tell where each got his start in life. If one in the course of the search pulls up and throws away every mullein or wild carrot he runs across, you can be pretty sure he started on a good farm and was well trained; that he's a careful banker or merchant who plays safe and takes no chances when he doesn't have to.

About ATHLETICS

BASEBALL RACE WIDENS

With a victory over Pennsylvania, Princeton last week climbed into a tie with Cornell for the leadership of the Eastern Intercollegiate Baseball League. Each has won seven games and lost three. Yale and Dartmouth are also in the running for the championship being defended by Cornell. Pennsylvania and Columbia have completed their schedules.

The standing of the teams:

	W	L	PC
Cornell	7	3	.700
Princeton	7	3	.700
Yale	5	3	.625
Dartmouth	6	4	.600
Harvard	4	6	.400
Pennsylvania	4	8	.333
Columbia	3	9	.250

Cornell and Dartmouth will play their last two games June 13 on Hoy Field and June 14 in Hanover. Cornell will tune up for the League contests with a game with Virginia on Hoy Field June 10.

Walter Scholl '41, third baseman who suffered a shoulder bruise in the Syracuse game May 24, is recovering and is expected to be ready for the June games.

TRACK TEAM SEVENTH

Five Cornell runners shared in scoring 11 points to finish in seventh place in the sixty-fifth annual ICAAAA games at Triborough Stadium, New York City, May 30 and 31.

In dual meets this season, Cornell lost to Princeton and Pennsylvania by wide margins. In the Heptagonal Games, Cornell finished fifth behind Pennsylvania, Princeton, Harvard, and Yale, with Dartmouth and Columbia sixth and seventh. But in the Intercollegiates, Cornell was first among the Ivy League colleges, with Dartmouth its closest rival.

The complete point score: NYU 31, Pittsburgh 21-19/28, Penn State 20-3/7, Rhode Island State 18¾, Tufts 16, Georgetown 13, Cornell 11, Dartmouth 10-13/14, Boston College 10, Fordham 9-3/7, Pennsylvania 9¼, New Hampshire 8, CCNY 7, Colgate 7, Yale 5¼, Colby 5, Columbia 5, Marquette 5, St. John's 4-13/14, Princeton 4, Harvard 4, Syracuse 3½, Brown 3, California 3, Holy Cross 2, and Michigan State 1-6/7.

Captain Robert C. Randall '41 finished third to Ewell of Penn State and Pirnie of Harvard in the final of the 220-yard dash, in which Ewell set a new record of 0:20.7. Frank P. Hoag '42 finished third in the mile run, won by MacMitchell of NYU with Hulse of NYU second. Hoag had to fight off a challenge by Radcliffe of Syracuse. The winner's time was 4:16.

Fourth places went to Arthur C. Smith

'43 in the 880-yard run and John L. Ayer '41 in the two-mile run. Smith finished strong in the half-mile, won by MacMitchell in 1:53. Ayer, in a race won by Nichols of Rhode Island State in 9:26.1, was trailed in fifth place by his teammate, Nathaniel E. White '41.

Besides the five scorers, Cornell entered Alexander E. Walker '41 and Kenneth I. Zeigler '42 as members of the relay team with Captain Randall and Smith, and with Gerald N. Bowne '43 as alternate.

Their times were the best the Cornell runners have turned in all year. Hoag ran the mile in 4:20.3; Smith the half-mile in 1:54.3, with Zeigler timed in 1:55 in a preliminary heat; Randall raced the 220-yard dash final in 0:21.4; and the times of Ayer and White were 9:38.2 and 9:40.3, respectively, in the two-mile run.

No Cornellians were entered in the field events. Frederick W. West '41 and John W. Borhman '41, respective potential point winners, in the shot put and javelin throw, stayed in Ithaca to study for final examinations.

TENNIS TIE FOR SECOND

The tennis team finished in a percentage tie with Dartmouth in second place in the Eastern Intercollegiate Association, the championship won by undefeated Princeton.

Princeton takes possession of the Larned Cup, put in competition by Cornell. The cup is named for William A. Larned '92.

The final standing of the teams:

	W	L	PC
Princeton	6	0	1.000
Dartmouth	4	2	.667
Cornell	2	1	.667
US Naval Academy	3	2	.600
US Military Academy	3	3	.500
Pennsylvania	3	3	.500
Harvard	1	3	.250
Columbia	0	7	.000

ODDS AND ENDS

George K. James, assistant football coach, scored a hole-in-one on the twelfth hole at the Country Club of Ithaca golf course last week. He was playing with Mrs. James.

The crews will leave June 15 for the Intercollegiate Rowing Association regatta June 25 at Poughkeepsie. Light practice was resumed last week after the close of the sprint season May 24.

ESSEX COUNTY OFFICERS

Cornell Club of Essex County, N. J., at its annual meeting May 19 elected Wendell K. Webber '25 its new president. First vice-president is James E. Brinkerhoff '17, with William F. Stucke '17, Clyde Mayer '19, and Ezra Cornell, 3d '27, vice-presidents; Lawrence B. June '19, secretary; Harold O. Merz '22, corresponding secretary; and Benjamin T. Burton '22, treasurer.

FIFTY-YEAR APPRECIATION

A lawyer-member of the Class of '91 sends a gift of $50 to Frank J. Tone, his Class representative to the Alumni Fund, as his Fiftieth Reunion contribution to Cornell. Writing that he will be in Ithaca for Reunion, he says:

"I have frequently heretofore made smaller contributions to the Alumni Fund and this year I am just stretching it to pay one dollar each for the fifty happy, wonderful years I have spent since leaving Cornell. This is meagre and insufficient acknowledgement for the many good things that the University did for me in my formative years when I so little appreciated those marvelous advantages and benefits."

NEW YORK WOMEN ELECT

Seventy-five members attended the annual meeting and buffet supper of the Cornell Women's Club of New York at the Barbizon Hotel May 14. Alumni Trustee Thomas I. S. Boak '14 discussed plans which are being considered by the University for a new women's dormitory to replace Sage College when it is removed for proposed new buildings of the College of Engineering.

Elected for two-year terms were Eleanor Middleton '35 as second vice-president of the Club; Dr. Cornelia J. Gaskill '32, corresponding secretary; Katherine M. Doring '35, treasurer; and as directors Mrs. John W. Arnold (Dorothy McSparan) '18, Mrs. George H. Hill (Dorothy L. Lampe) '26, and Mrs. Roger M. Woolley (Virginia Van Vranken) '25. Ruth E. Irish '22, who presided, continues as president with Charlotte Gristede '29 as first vice-president, Mrs.

Merton A. Darville (Elizabeth Shepard) '10 as recording secretary, and Helen R. Wansboro '10, Marguerite Hicks '26, and Madeline Weil '39 as directors.

Miss Irish read a composite report of all committee chairmen for this year, and reported 192 paid-up members.

ROCHESTER SPEAKERS

J. Arthur Jennings '18 showed colored motion pictures which he took "South of the Border," at an evening meeting of the Cornell Club of Rochester in the University Club May 7. They were the record of his 1,000 miles of recent travel in Mexico.

At the regular Wednesday luncheon meeting May 21, Captain W. Clyde O'Brien '21, adjutant of the 21st Regiment, New York Guard, spoke on this State militia organization which became active last September when the National Guard was called into Federal service. O'Brien is a member of the Rochester law firm of Goodwin, Nixon, Hargrave, Middleton & Devans.

May 28, thirty members were addressed by Commander William B. Zimmer '03, now on active duty with the Navy.

THREE CLUBS GATHER

Thirty members of the Cornell Women's Clubs of Batavia, Rochester, and Buffalo met for luncheon May 17 at Harvey's tea-room in Batavia, run by Mrs. Julian Harvey (Mary E. Wright) '14. Mrs. Robert C. Osborn (Agda T. Swenson) '20 of Ithaca, former president of the Federation of Cornell Women's Clubs, was the guest speaker. Mrs. Marvin R. Dye (Miriam M. Kelley) '17, reported for the Rochester Club, and Dorothea Bentley '37, for Buffalo.

LIFE MAGAZINE PICTURES DEFENSE ACTIVITIES AT UNIVERSITY

ROTC PASSES IN REVIEW President Makes Awards

Annual War Department inspection and the President's review of the ROTC May 22 and 23 took on a note of additional reality with announcement that most of the young officers who will receive Reserve commissions for completion of the advanced course will be called for active duty after Commencement. Recommended for commissions as second lieutenants will be 117 Seniors, and twenty-four others will be eligible for commissions when they become twenty-one. Announcement was made early in May that all men so commissioned would be called at once for active duty unless deferred because of jobs important to national defense.

The Corps of some 2300 student officers and men passed in review in Barton Hall May 23 before President Edmund E. Day and Major General Irving Phillipson, commanding officer of the Second Corps Area, and his staff. One of General Phillipson's aides was Lieutenant Henry Untermeyer '36. The General and his party were guests of the President for luncheon in Willard Straight Hall, were entertained by cadet officers at Willard Straight, and were dinner guests at the President's House.

At the review, the Barton Cup presented by the widow of Colonel Frank A. Barton '91 for the student who has done the most for advancement of the ROTC was awarded to Cadet Lieutenant Colonel Richard G. Davis '41. He is the son of Colonel Merle H. Davis, USA, formerly detailed here with the ROTC, and rows bow in the Varsity crew.

Thirteen Seniors were designated honor graduates of the ROTC this year, for scholastic excellence and for outstanding qualities of leadership, character, and aptitude for military service. They include Davis and George H. Becker, Jr. of Pittsfield, Mass., James W. Cochran of Augusta, Ga., Richard M. Durbin of Kenmore, Robert E. Hardenburg of Ithaca, John J. Hillsley, Jr. and Frederic R. Hillsley of Jackson Heights, John J. Kelly of Albany, Clark C. Kimball of Watertown, Norman F. Rohn of Milwaukee, Wis., Thomas C. Shreve of Hastings-on-Hudson, Stanley Weiner of Brooklyn, and Richard F. Wilkins of Homer.

One Senior in each branch of the second-year course was awarded a gold

COLEMAN VALEDICTORY Brings Alumni Musicians

George L. Coleman '95 celebrated, as he expressed it, his "second graduation" May 23 and 24. Alumni, undergraduates, colleagues, and other well-wishers took part in festivities in testimony of their high regard for one who retires this year after having been associated with Cornell music for half a century. It was announced at the same time that the Trustees had elected Coleman Assistant Professor of Music, Emeritus, effective July 1. For twenty-two years he has been instructor of Music and director of the ROTC band; has directed the old Mandolin Club and its successors, the Instrumental Clubs, since 1901; and since 1907 has been director of the University Orchestra.

For the annual Orchestra concert in Bailey Hall May 23, many alumni who learned music with him came back to play again under his baton. The auditorium was filled, and audience and performers all enjoyed a program which included besides orchestral numbers by alumni and undergraduates together, a group of songs by Dorothy Sarnoff '35, another by a string choir from the larger ensemble, and the men's and women's Glee Clubs accompanied by the Orchestra in the "Song of the Volga Boatmen." It was an inspiring occasion, from the opening strains of Cesar Franck's "Symphony in D Minor" to the last strains of the "Alma Mater" which Raymond W. Kruse '41 led the audience in singing. This annual concert, together with several scholarships, are endowed with a bequest from the late Gerald W. Hinkley '15, who played under Coleman.

Following the concert, alumni and resident members of the Savage Club feted Coleman at a special meeting in the Club rooms downtown, and presented him with a gold membership pin as one of the oldest members.

In the Willard Straight Memorial Room May 24, 312 friends attended a testimonial dinner arranged in Coleman's honor by an undergraduate committee from the Orchestra. The program had a cover sketch by Hendrik Willem Van Loon '05, who played in the old Mandolin Club and who was prevented from attending the festivities by a sudden call to Washington in the interests of national defense.

Professor Walter King Stone, Fine Arts, was toastmaster. President Edmund E. Day spoke of Coleman's devotion to "the common good" during his years at Cornell, and his "invaluable contributions to the University community," and expressed the hope that he would "long stay with us and give us that same kind of inspiration." Recordings of the concert the previous evening were played, and records of her own songs were present to Miss Sarnoff and of the entire concert to Coleman, together with a radio-victrola from those in attendance. David H. Walradt '41, president of the Orchestra and leader of the ROTC Band, presented the instrument.

Professor Charles L. Durham '99 spoke for the alumni and presented Coleman with a travelling bag on behalf of the Cornell Alumni Association. Professor Albert W. Smith '78, Engineering, Emeritus, received an ovation when he read a new poem of his about Cornell. Roy J. Ward '41, treasurer of the Orchestra and chairman of the student committee, spoke and Gustave F. Heuser, Jr. '41, Orchestra manager, presented a scroll designed by Jeanne E. Avery '41 and inscribed with many names in testimony of regard for Coleman. Gilbert H. Cobb '41, tenor soloist of the Glee Club, sang "Glory Road" and introduced Alfred F. Sulla, Jr. '29 and his banjo. Richard H. Lee '41 entertained with humming and singing and read an original poem, and the Savage Club Quartet sang.

Coleman spoke briefly of his many years of pleasant association with Cornellians, both as an undergraduate and since. He has asked the ALUMNI NEWS to publish this communication to the many Cornellians who have wished him well:

"In the rush of events associated with a second graduation from Cornell, may I express through the NEWS my sincere appreciation to all alumni, far and near, whose unselfish efforts were so instrumental in making my valedictory concert and testimonial dinner an inspiring conclusion to many years of happy associations with the students of Cornell. The richness and fullness of these experiences will always be a source of gracious memories throughout the years to come."

BRITAIN COMES THROUGH!

Word came to the Alumni Office last week that the distributors of Cornell chinaware had received a small shipment of red dinner plates from the Wedgwood factories in England. Thus, in spite of war conditions, complete sets of twelve assorted center designs in the popular red color can now be supplied for the first time in more than a year. Pictured on the plates are the Crescent, Sage Chapel, Baker Laboratory, Myron Taylor Hall, Goldwin Smith Hall, Balch Halls, the Clock Tower, War Memorial, McGraw Hall, Willard Straight Hall, Ezra Cornell's statue, and Sibley Dome.

Only nine dozen sets have come, and these will be shipped to the first orders received, at $18 a dozen. Assortments and single plates of some designs can also be supplied in green and blue colors, as well as Cornell cups and saucers. Orders should be addressed to the Alumni Office, 3 East Avenue, Ithaca.

NOW, IN MY TIME!

By Romeyn Berry

Next week, as part of the Reunion activities for Friday morning, Mr. Emmet J. Murphy will take returning alumni on hourly tours of the Campus in a fleet of school busses. It's a nice college and the alumni really ought to see it once, he thinks.

That's a good idea and one that might well be expanded and developed. It would be fine, too, to have the Class of 1941 see Cornell before they graduate; a salutary thing if the Faculty became acquainted with the University before they reach the retirement age. There is no professor whose mental horizons would not be enlarged if he were to be taken to both the Library stacks and the Fish Hatchery; were to be introduced to the Filtration Plant and the Icelandic Collection.

The beginning of education is curiosity, and Mr. Murphy with his "Campus Caravan" hopes to create a little of that in the Class of 1891—curiosity about the Pig Barn, the Wordsworth Collection, the Nursery School, the outdoor swimming pool below Free Hollow, the Game Farm, the Dante Collections, and the new Swinging Bridge.

Through the greater part of his undergraduate years, your reporter suffered periodically from recurring attacks of curiosity over what there was beyond the rim of West Hill where the sun went down. One Saturday afternoon in the April of his Senior year, the curiosities having become unbearable, he girt up his loins and on his own legs pursued the sunset over West Hill and beyond. It wasn't until Sunday night that he got back, foot-sore and leg-weary, but with a tranquil heart. For he knew now what lay beyond the hill, not from anything he'd been told or read in a book, but because he'd gone and found out for himself, and now he knew.

Your reporter believes that for him all the four years of Cornell crystallized and took form in that April Saturday and Sunday; all the unrelated information, rumor, theory, and dogmatic pronouncements did what they were intended to do all the time, when they finally led him irresistibly into going and finding out for himself.

The peculiar genius of Cornell is to be discovered in its contrasts, I think, and not in its comparisons. It's hard to make the alumni understand that who persist in trying to fit it to existing and accepted patterns. You'll never absorb the essence of your University until you throw away the academic yardsticks of older foundations and go and appraise Cornell for yourself.

Fifty years out of college is none too early for a Cornell man or woman to start getting curious about Cornell, or to start doing something about it. Join Mr. Murphy's Campus Caravan when you come back next week; but don't listen to what the man says up in front. For once in your life, go and see and find out for yourself. You'll get fewer facts, perhaps, but possibly the first faint glimmer of an understanding.

MEMORIALIZE LUDLAM '11

Board of governors of the Cornell Club of New York has sent to all members of the Club the following message about Thomas R. Ludlam '11, who died suddenly April 20:

"The charm of Tom Ludlam's personality not only brought many distinguished Cornell men into the Club as members, but kept them coming to the Club to see him. As our host and manager, his talents were of great value in suggesting and promoting many interesting gatherings. He had a heart of pure gold, an unselfish affection for his fellow-men, and that greatest of lovable human qualities, the gift of abiding tolerance with the ways of all men."

OUTING HANDBOOK

Students' Handbook of the Region of Ithaca appeared last week from the talented pen of Stephen M. Barker '41. It is pocket size, bound in heavy paper, and its twenty printed pages give concise and useable directions for enjoying the natural beauties of the region around Ithaca. Keyed to a two-page map are sections that tell how to reach and what you will find to enjoy in nearby parks and wild-life preserves, picnic spots, lodges, views, and for horseback riding, geology and nature study, swimming, hunting, fishing, canoeing, biking, hiking, and skiing.

The booklet is both written and attractively illustrated by its compiler. It is published by the Cornell Outing Club, with assistance of Professor Charles V. P. Young '99, Physical Education. It may be obtained at the Cornell Co-Op at fifteen cents.

Many a Cornellian who looks forward to bringing his family to see Ithaca will find this booklet a handy guide to remembered and undiscovered joys of the Ithaca countryside.

CHICAGO KEEPS OFFICERS

Cornell Women's Club of Chicago, Ill., re-elected all its officers at the annual meeting May 20 at the home of Mrs. Frederick W. Merrifield (Katherine Brooks) '24 in Wilmette. Mrs. Ferdinand A. P. Fischer (Rosamond H. Wendell) '22 is president; Mrs. Merrifield, vice-president; Catherine V. Mattoon '37, secretary-treasurer.

PARTY FOR MISS SZE

On May 20 at the Cornell Club of New York, Charles H. Blair '97 gave a cocktail party for Miss Mai-mai Sze, daughter of Sao-Ke Alfred Sze '01, former Chinese Ambassador to the United States.

The party in addition to Mr. and Mrs. Blair included Mr. and Mrs. John L. Senior, Frederick L. Ackerman, Mr. and Mrs. Bradley Delehanty, Mr. and Mrs. Harold E. Irish, Mrs. Frederick Sheffield (the former Miss Blair), Mrs. Mary Kobbe, Miss Bertha Delehanty and Miss Patricia Delehanty.

Miss Sze reported her father to be in good health and residing at 805 Avenue Haig, Shanghai. His most recent letter, she said, had admonished her to procure and forward to him all news of "Kid" Kugler '03.

ON THE CAMPUS AND DOWN THE HILL

CHIMES COMPETITION has been won for the second year by a woman. Jean Hofstadter '44 of New Rochelle was decided to be the winner over Donald G. Boegehold '44 of Mt. Vernon by four juries of Faculty and students who judged the finalists independently in two days of competition. They were the best of thirty starters. Miss Hofstadter had never played the chimes until she came to Cornell, but has studied music for nine years; plays the tympani and vibraharp in the University Orchestra. J. William Sowerwine '42 of Westfield, N. J., becomes head chimemaster next year, with Phyllis J. Dittman '43 of Walden and Miss Hofstadter. Student bell-ringers are paid modestly for each ringing from an annual appropriation of $500 made by the Trustees. Their work is supervised by Professor Paul J. Weaver, Music.

DELTA TAU DELTA won a closely-contested race on the Inlet for the intramural rowing championship. Rowing a new four-oared gig, they narrowly beat a Chi Phi crew and one composed of Naval Reserve ensigns.

"KILLERS" won the non-fraternity softball championship this year, defeating Future Farmers of America who have held the University championship for two years.

FRESHMAN Governing Board, instituted in November, 1939, to run affairs of the Class, was abolished at the last meeting of this year's student Council. Its only function turned out to be appointment of two Class committees. Next fall, Freshmen will again elect a president, vice-president, and secretary, by proportional representation.

BRUCE F. JOHNSTON '41 of Long Beach, Cal., was adjudged the winner of the Sherman Bennett Prize of $35 for his essay, "America, Democracy, and 1941." This prize "for the best essay discussing the principles of free government" came to Cornell in 1905 as one of twenty-five colleges selected by William Jennings Bryan who had been bequeathed a fund for that purpose by P. Sherman Bennett of New Haven, Conn.

PRIZES in French and Spanish have been awarded to Robert M. Hankin '42 of Brooklyn, who was also elected to Phi Beta Kappa. He won the Corson French Prize of a gold medal valued at $50 for his essay on "The Origins of the Chansons de Geste." He also won a J. G. White Prize of $100 for proficiency in Spanish. Another of like amount to an English-speaking student in Engineering went to Frederick G. Schumacher '43 of Manhasset, and a similar prize to a student from Latin America for proficiency in English went to Hector R. Elizondo of Havana, Cuba. The White Prizes were established in 1914 by James G. White, PhD '85.

MEMORIAL DAY passed without official observance at the University, but veterans' organizations conducted services downtown. Students and Faculty were at work getting ready for this week's final examinations. But the holiday elsewhere brought quite a few alumni visitors to Ithaca. Creed Fulton '09, president of the Alumni Association, made a pre-Reunion visit to Alumni House, and several others were seen at Willard Straight Hall.

"MOST CONSISTENT WORK" during her years at Cornell brought to Carol Ogle '41 this year's $25 prize given annually to a Senior woman by the Ithaca Women's Club. She is the daughter of Professor Robert C. Ogle, Poultry Husbandry Extension.

CHAIRMAN of the Freshman Advisory Committee for next year will be Richard A. Graham '42 of Milwaukee, Wis. Ferdinand P. Schoedinger '42 of Columbus, Ohio, is secretary. The Sun announced that "more than fifty undergraduates turned out for the competition last September, selling Freshman caps, conducting Freshman get-wise meetings and Freshman visitations."

TREND, new student magazine of Cornell opinion, will have as editor next year James B. Tucker '42 of Santa Ana, Cal. Managing editor is Joseph Good '42 of Brooklyn. Lawrence A. Konovitz '42 of Staten Island is advertising manager; Albert S. Jaffe '43 of Brooklyn, circulation manager; Paul H. Todd, Jr. '43 of Kalamazoo, Mich., business manager.

PHI ZETA, Veterinary honor society, has elected as an honorary member Dr. Clarence M. Haring '04, head of the veterinary division at the University of California. New undergraduate members are Karl S. Harmon of Ithaca, Nathan Horowitz of Brooklyn, Henry Maxwell of Albany, Henry Polanski of Ithaca, and Henry B. Risley of Brooklyn, all Seniors; and two members of the Class of '42, Leon I. Blostein of Ithaca and Claudio E. Muskus of Caracas, Venezuela.

SAGE CHAPEL PREACHER at the year's last regular service, June 1, was the Rev. J. A. C. Fagginger Auer, professor of church history at Harvard University. From 1917-24, he was pastor of the First Unitarian Church in Ithaca.

STEWART AVENUE BRIDGE over Fall Creek has been closed to all but pedestrian traffic. Ithaca board of public works ordered it closed on advice of James Towart '91, consulting engineer, and City Attorney Louis K. Thaler '25. Bids will be sought for replacing the forty-year-old bridge, but Towart says that it may take a year or more to get steel. Meanwhile, all Hill traffic to Cayuga Heights uses Triphammer Bridge.

HIGHEST SCHOLARSHIP among women in each of the four Classes was recognized by Mortar Board with presentation of corsages to Rita Lesenger of Brooklyn and Sylvia S. Jaffe of New York City, Seniors; Mary L. Fagley of Cincinnati, Ohio, and Irma R. Moses of Newburgh, Juniors; Shirley L. Pierce of Cooperstown and H. Priscilla Slimm of Utica, Sophomores; Dorothy A. Hardenburg and Gertrude I. Huntington of Ithaca, Freshmen.

FRESHMAN DESK BOOK staff, whose book will be sent to the Class of '46 before it enters the University, is headed by Edgar H. Scholnik '43 of New York City, editor, and William H. Eisenman, Jr. '43 of Cleveland, Ohio, business manager.

CORNELL COUNTRYMAN editor for next year is John Wilcox '42 of Auburn. Arthur C. Lisack of Goshen is business manager.

CORNELL WIDOW board for next year is headed by F. Cushing Smith '42 of Wilmette, Ill., as student president and John W. Campbell '42 of Mobile, Ala., editor. Business manager is William H. Hopple, Jr. '43 of Cincinnati, Ohio; art editor, Jules Gregory '42 of New York City. Managing editor is Knox B. Burger '43 of Chappaqua; advertising manager, Douglas L. Thomson '42 of Walton; circulation manager, James H. Lorie '43 of Kansas City, Mo. Women's staff includes Helen P. Heinig '43 of Boonton, N. J., editor; Elizabeth Weldgen '42 of Rochester, business manager; Dorothy M. Dunn '42 of Lyons, circulation manager; and Christina Steinman '42 of Deposit, advertising manager.

CONFERENCE on the little theatre, sponsored by the University Theatre and the Department of Rural Sociology, brought forty members of eight community theater groups May 24 and 25. They were addressed by Professor Alex M. Drummond and others of the University Theatre staff; discussed choosing, presenting, and writing plays; and saw the first performance of "Wild Hills" by Robert E. Gard, AM '38. This first meeting was so successful that its members asked for a longer session next year.

Concerning THE FACULTY

PROFESSOR HERBERT H. WHETZEL, Plant Pathology, writes on "Why Go To College?" in American Agriculturist for May 24. Addressing high school seniors who have decided that they should go to college, he writes challengingly of what they should get from their college course. Professor Whetzel's conclusion is that "If you have learned how to get the facts on any matter that interests you, and how to manipulate those facts to solve problems or draw a logical conclusion, your college days will have been really worth the time, the energy, and the money you have spent. . . . The experience you had in thinking with the facts you had is what counts. What this wild old world needs, and needs badly, are folks who can use their heads and their hands at the same time."

PROFESSOR HENRY N. OGDEN '89, Sanitary Engineering, Emeritus, has been named a deputy to the provincial synod of the Episcopal Diocese of Central New York.

CURW BANQUET this year honored the Rev. John D. W. Fetter who has been Baptist student pastor for twenty-five years. Message from President Day, included in a volume of letters from his friends and associates, read: "Your presence on this Campus for these many years has effectively marked you as a Cornellian in the highest sense of the word, and your adoptive Alma Mater is proud to make this claim."

MRS. DOROTHY RIDDLE, Home Economics librarian, who is convalescing from a recent operation, has returned to Ithaca, and is the guest of Mrs. Martin W. Sampson at 808 East Seneca Street.

JOHN H. VAN DYKE, Histology, has a son born May 26 in Ithaca.

TRUSTEE EDWARD R. EASTMAN, editor of American Agriculturist, told district school superintendents of the Central New York Association, meeting in Owego, that "America will not be undone while we have free speech, a free press, and especially free schools to keep the people informed." Education, he continued, "will make the America of the future better than ever, if we can keep from following the false gods of radical socialism and of quack schemes and shortcuts."

HEATING AND VENTILATING magazine for May contains part four of a series of articles on "Estimating Heat Flow Through Sunlit Walls" by Professor Charles O. Mackey '25, and Lawrence T. Wright, Jr., Heat-Power Engineering.

PROFESSOR ROYAL E. MONTGOMERY, Economics, has been appointed by the wage and hour division of the US Labor Department to a committee to investigate conditions and recommend minimum wages for the wood furniture manufacturing industry. He will meet with this committee in Washington, D. C., June 17.

PROFESSOR WILLIAM I. MYERS '14, Agricultural Economics, and Eric F. Hodgins '22, publisher of Fortune, spoke before the New York State Bankers Association in convention at Buffalo, May 25-27. Lewis A. Froman, PhD '31, dean of Millard Fillmore College, Buffalo, addressed a luncheon arranged by the committee on trust functions, May 27.

PAINTINGS by Professor Christian Midjo, Fine Arts, and Alison Mason Kingsbury, wife of Professor Morris G. Bishop '14, Romance Languages, and daughter of Albert Kingsbury '89, will be shown in the first Statewide art show, June 10-24 in the Grand Central Art Galleries, New York City. Professor Midjo's painting is "Near Carmel, California," and Miss Kingsbury's is "West Hill in Winter."

PROFESSOR CARL STEPHENSON, History, is author of A Brief Survey of Medieval History, recently published as one of the Harper's Historical Series. Intended both as a text and as non-academic reading, it is a condensation of Medieval History: Europe from the Fourth to the Sixteenth Century, which has been adopted by 350 colleges in the United States, Canada, China, and Puerto Rico.

CURT E. E. BERGER, Resident Doctor in Psychology, married Inge Ernst May 17 in the Danish Church, Brooklyn.

BENJAMIN R. ANDREWS, JR. '40, assistant director of CURW this year, has resigned to enter Yale Divinity School this June. He is the son of Benjamin R. Andrews '99 and Mrs. Andrews (Elizabeth L. Russell) '00.

PROFESSOR DWIGHT SANDERSON '98, Rural Sociology, was honored at a testimonial dinner May 27 at Lisle, as "the number one rural guidance leader" in central New York State. The dinner highlighted a two-day conference on "Democracy and Religion in Rural Life" at which the Rev. Ralph L. Williamson, MS '40, field secretary of the Rural Institute for Religious Workers at Cornell, spoke on "The Church and Land Tenure," and Dr. Mark Rich, PhD '37, of the American Baptist Home Missions Society discussed "Personal Religious Living."

Concerning THE ALUMNI

Personal items and newspaper clippings about all Cornellians are earnestly solicited.

'89 BS—DR. BERTIS R. WAKEMAN, retired from an active career with the New York State Health Department, has spent the last four or five years touring in the United States, Canada, Mexico and Cuba in a trailer. His permanent address is 13 Hakes Avenue, Hornell.

'91, '90 LLB—HARRY C. DAVIS, member of the law firm of Davis & Wallbank, Suite 714, Equitable Building, Denver, Colo., plans to return for the Fifty-year Reunion this month.

'91 CE—Professor WILLIAM K. HATT is now at Observatory Lodge, Ann Arbor, Mich.

'92 CE; '93; '94 ME(EE); '94 CE; '95 ME—Five Alpha Tau Omega alumni have been members of the fraternity for fifty years, and are receiving Golden Circle awards this year. They are: JOHN C. L. FISH '92, Stanford University, Calif.; JOHN D. MICKLE '93, Chatham; ROYAL B. DAGGETT '94, Jamestown, R. I.; JOHN W. TOWLE '94, Omaha, Neb.; and WILLIAM R. ECKART '95, San Marino, Calif.

'97—April 21, Reunion plans for 1942 were discussed by a dinner group at the Cornell Club of New York: JOHN J. SWAN, JAMES K. FRASER, JAMES W. CLARK, CHARLES H. BLAIR, HENRY SHELTON, FRANCIS O. AFFELD, JR., and FRED D. HERBERT.—F.D.H.

'97 ME—SIDNEY G. JENKS has been following shipbuilding most of his life, first on the Great Lakes and then in California. His present address is Milner Hotel, Second & Penn Streets, Camden, N. J.

CLASS OF 1901
All Out For A Forty-Year Reunion Record

'01 ME—WILLIS H. CARRIER, Alumni Trustee, was awarded the Frank P. Brown Medal for scientific progress recently by the Franklin Institute of Philadelphia, for advancement "in the field of heating, ventilation, and air conditioning."

'01 ME—Office and shop equipment belonging to FRED C. PERKINS '01, and seized by internal revenue agents for non-payment of a social security tax, was bought back by Perkins at auction May 7. May 26, the Pennsylvania Supreme Court was to hear Perkins's appeal of the State unemployment tax which he has refused to pay, believing it unconstitutional. Owner of the Perkins Battery Co., York, Pa., Perkins wrote to President Roosevelt May 5, protesting disappearance of the small business man, because of "internal aggression." He is planning to forget his worries at the Forty-year Reunion this June.

CLASS OF 1906
35-Year Reunion
A grand visit with Cornell and with each other

'06 ME—LAMAR S. COLLIER has offices at 811 Hamilton Bank Building, Knoxville, Tenn.

'06—Mrs. Roby Dwight Ward, wife of LAURENCE C. WARD '06, died May 16 in Newark, N. J., after a long illness. Ward's home is at 311 Mount Pleasant Avenue, Newark.

'07 ME—Mrs. Marie Hemphill Wing, wife of WALTER H. WING '07 died April 28 in Port Chester. Wing, vice-president of the Pennsylvania Dixie Cement Co., New York City, lives in Greenhaven, Mamaroneck.

'09 AB; '11 BSA, '14 MSA—Mrs. Jessie Hayt Genung, pioneer settler of the Town of Ithaca, and mother of ELIZABETH F. GENUNG '11 of Northampton, Mass., and ANNA B. GENUNG '09 of Hackensack, N. J., died May 3 in Ithaca.

Our Reunion Headquarters will be in North Baker Dormitory. Please report there immediately upon arrival.

GAFFENY, HUGH J.: An inquiry by your secretary to this Classmate as to his present activities brought the response, "Working and saving so as to be back for my Thirty Year Reunion."

ernor Lehman, made an analysis of the potentialities of the law for accomplishing slum clearance through private investments. This was published in a recent issue of The Real Estate Record.

The Readers Digest for February prints the comments of HENRY SCARBOROUGH, JR., on the lie detector. Hank represents Lloyd's of London in Chicago, Ill.

CLAUDE M. THEILE is now a brigadier general, in command of the 34th Coast Artillery (anti-aircraft) Brigade. He served overseas during World War I; was a member of the War Department general staff from 1932-36, and has been with anti-aircraft organizations since 1926. His most recent post was in the Philippines as a staff member of the US High Commissioner and the commanding general of the Manila and Subic Bays harbour defenses.

ALEX W. POUND has a daughter, Martha, graduating from the Arts College this June. He is with the Harrison Radiator division of General Motors, and his address is 345 High Street, Lockport.

'12 ME—Mr. and Mrs. GEORGE P. BROCKWAY of Southbridge, Mass., announce the marriage of their daughter, Barbara, to William W. Shuster, May 3.

By Class Correspondent

WALTER A. BRIDGEMAN of Racine, Wis., has been reported recently by GEORGE HARDIN in Chicago, CARROLL TREGO in Detroit, MARSHALL KOCH in Pittsburgh, and several people in New York. He must have been travelling. In New York he was seen, among other places, at a double-header at the Polo Grounds, eating peanuts and joining lustily with the regular Giant fans in booing the Boston pinch hitter who spoiled a no-hit game with a single after twenty-five men were out.

BERKELEY SNOW when last heard of was wondering how to get young Berkeley, just out of high school, across the continent from Portland, Ore., to Ithaca next September. Snow is executive secretary of the Northwest Electric Light & Power Association.

'14—S. HIBBARD AYER, JR., formerly in the advertising departments of WFAS, White Plains, and WKIP, Poughkeepsie, and founder of Sears & Ayer, radio station representatives in New York and Chicago, is now commercial manager of the Watertown radio station WWNH. He and his son, S. Hibbard Ayer, 3d, ten years old, live in Watertown.

CLASS OF 1915

*By Hugh C. Edmiston, Correspondent
Short Hills, N. J.*

ROGER W. CLAPP is vice-president and cashier of the Exchange National Bank, Winter Haven, Fla. His eldest daughter, Jeanne, was married in June, 1939.

WIBORN H. WRIGHT is in Caracas, Venezuela, as chief chemist for the General Tire & Rubber Co. for three years. His daughter Winifred is a Freshman in the Arts College.

*By Weyland Pfeiffer, Class Secretary
111 Broadway, New York City*

This is the last issue of the News to reach you before our Twenty-fifth, which takes place next week, and your secretary wishes to take this opportunity to thank one and all for their splendid cooperation; especially the Steering Committee and District Committees. It was an inspiration to see their evident enjoyment in the work allocated to them, and without this help the Reunion planning would have been impossible.

We will have our serious moment when we do honor to our Classmates who have gone beyond, at our Memorial Service on the morning of June 13 in Sage Chapel. Many of the boys gave their lives in the last war, and others through the years due to sickness and accident up to the present time and present war, one member having fallen in the African campaign. The services will be conducted by SANDY SANFORD of our Class.

The rest of the time will be given over to renewing our old friendships and making new ones. Friday evening, we will have an outdoor steak supper. Saturday evening, our Anniversary Banquet is in Willard Straight Memorial Room under the guiding hand of our own BAY HUNTER, who will be toastmaster. There will be novelties, surprises, and entertainment galore constantly at our headquarters in South Baker Dormitory. A thirty-five-piece fife and drum corps has been practicing for months on our old familiar Cornell airs.

Those of you who have not indicated you are returning, please do so at once. We are expecting you and will take care of you even if you come at the last minute.

HERBERT (Schnitz) SNYDER returns the following in answer to my general letter of May, 1, 1941:

"1st Ind., ROTC office, Hq. 5th Corps Area, Fort Hayes, Columbus, Ohio, May 6th, 1941.

"To: W. PFEIFFER, Esq., Life Secretary of Cornell's Best Class.

"I. Contents noted and approved, with keen interest.

"2. It is with anguished regret that I must report absent at the Reunion of Cornell's Best Class.

"3. Good wishes to everybody
—Schnitz, Herbert Snyder, Maj. Inf."

"See You—in '42!"

"Science Saves U. S. Blondes from War Blackout," announces JOHN L. COLLYER, president of B. F. Goodrich Co. They are manufacturing Koroseal, a compound of coke, limestone, and salt which prepares electrolytic machinery for peroxide production. "Until now," John explains, "anode terminals for peroxide manufacture were sent to Germany for treatment with a secret compound."

When last heard from, NELSON DECKER was located at 414 Midcontent Building (811 Chicago Street ?), Fort Worth, Tex.

'20 AB—BERNARD O. REUTHER is a vice-president and general manager of the typewriter division of Remington Rand, Inc., 465 Washington Street, Buffalo.

1921 — 20-YEAR COME BACK

*By Allan H. Tremen, Class Secretary

WERNER VONBINZER is assistant secretary of the Pacific Finance Co. of California. His address is 621 South Hope Street, Los Angeles, Cal.

RANDOLPH (Randy) RICE is in the office of the General Electric Company, at 140 Federal Street, Boston, Mass.

WILLIAM C. (Bill) COMBS is a member of the firm of Mann, Strang, Bodine & Wright, attorneys, 800 Powers Building, Rochester.

STEPHEN B. HORRELL is with the Carey Salt Co. in Hutchinson, Kans.

R. D. (Woos) HOOKER is with the Hooker Electro-Chemical Co.; for many years in the New York office and now back in Niagara Falls.

ROGER D. MCPHERSON is practicing architecture at 154 East Avenue, Rochester.

'22 ME—EDWIN H. KRIEG of Ridge-wood, N. J., engineer with the American Gas & Electric Co., recently addressed Seniors in Mechanical and Electrical Engineering on "Latest Power Plant Problems." He also showed sound pictures on "Power Systems and Plants."

'23; '27—HOWARD L. PECKWORTH became editor of Civil Engineering magazine, with headquarters in New York City, May 15. He and Mrs. Peckworth (MARTHA F. DANA) '27 are living in Ridgewood, N. J.

'24 BS—Further progress in growing embryos of living creatures in test tubes was reported by Professor GREGORY PINCUS '24 of Clark University, Worcester, Mass. April 29, at the annual spring meeting of the National Academy of Sciences in Washington. Rabbit eggs, fertilized naturally or by chemical means, can now be grown seven instead of four days in test tubes, and chemicals important to development of these eggs have been found to be vitamin B-1 (or thiamide), pyruvic acid, and sulfur-containing compounds glutathione, cysteine, and thioglycolic acid. These studies, aimed at knowledge which will lead to a healthier people, may also shed light on human sterility, according to Dr. Pincus.

CLASS OF 1926 FIFTEENTH REUNION THIS YEAR'S HOST CLASS

Women

By Mrs. Ledger Wood, Class Correspondent
138 Fitzrandolph Road, Princeton, N. J.

MARGUERITE KINGSBURY, MD, is practicing at the Biggs Memorial Hospital just north of Ithaca.

ELEANOR BENTON LEHMAN plans to be back at Reunion. The Lehmans live at 32 Pearl Street, New Hartford.

And now just a word about final Reunion plans. JEANETTE GARDINIER POWELL, chairman, NITZA SCHMIDT, and GERALDINE STONE MEARNS are the committee on Ithaca arrangements and have done a grand job. '26 is being housed in Sage so it will seem like a real return to Freshman days and we are going to have our own private Class get-together there Friday night. Saturday will be pretty well taken up with Dr. Day's talk to the alumni on Saturday morning, lunch at the Drill Hall and sports in the afternoon, but the evening will be a very special time with our Class banquet and RUTH BURNS MACMAHON presiding as toastmistress. Of course, after the banquet we will all go to Bailey Hall for the big Rally, where we will undoubtedly capture another attendance record.

The Class costume is going to be a very snappy and useful outfit: white dress, white hat, red and white "Merry Hull" gloves, red bag with removable Class numerals, and red feather for the hat. We furnish the dress and hat and the other items are included in the Class tax.

Well, so long everybody and I'll be seeing you in Ithaca!

'27—WILLIAM O. PAYNE is with the RCA Victor Co. in Camden, N. J. His home is at 407 South Washington Avenue, Moorestown, N. J.

'28 EE, '27 AB—KENNETH A. REEVE and Mrs. Reeve (GRACE W. HANSON) '27 moved May 1 from Somerville, N. J., to Woodland Terrace, Bound Brook, N. J.

'29 ME—Captain DONALD W. ADAMS is on duty with the First Training Regiment, Fort Bragg, N. C. His residence is at 220B Davis Avenue, Fayetteville, N. C.

'30 CE—SAMUEL WAKEMAN married Frances McElwain of Boston, Mass., May 19 at Miramachi, Sea Island, Ga. They are at home at 230 East Forty-ninth Street, New York City.

'31—This Week for May 25 contains "Personality Plus . . .," by F. Gordon Bryce, the career-to-date of EDWIN A. HALL, JR. '31, youngest Republican Congressman. This Week is a Sunday supplement in many newspapers.

'31—DONALD J. BUNNELL has been a sectional supervisor with the Utility Management Corp. of Wilmington, Del., for the last twelve years. He lives in Marshallton, Del.; has a son, Donald, Jr., seven, and a daughter, Barbara, three.

'31 AB—HAROLD I. SAPERSTEIN married Marcia Rosenblum of Ridgewood, last December 22. They are living at 23 Langdon Place, Lynbrook, where he continues as rabbi of Temple Emanu-El.

'32 BS—HOWARD F. COWAN is assistant superintendent for Libby, McNeil & Libby at a pineapple plantation in Maunaloa, Molokai, Hawaii. He has two daughters, Beverlee Moi, four, and Betty Lei, one year old.

'32—RICHARD L. SAMUEL, 3614A North Forty-second Street, Milwaukee, Wis., is a salesman for the Electro Pliance Distributors in that city.

'33 AB—HOWARD G. SCHMITT is secretary and merchandising manager of The Bishop Co., Inc., Niagara Frontier Food Terminal, Buffalo. His home is at 197 South Lake Street, Hamburg.

'33; '05 CE—LILLIAN M. BRAUNER, daughter of the late JULIUS F. BRAUNER '05, was married to Dr. Henry H. Shultz March 29 at the home of JULIUS F. BRAUNER III '31 and Mrs. Brauner (RUTH E. GORDON) '32 in White Plains. Dr. Shultz, a graduate of Princeton University and Albany Medical College, practices in Ray Brook, where they are living.

'34, '35 BS—ELIZABETH B. TRACY is director of the nursery school at Stout Institute, Menomonee, Wis., where she also teaches child development and home and family life courses.

'35 BS—JOSEPH J. DAVIS, technical foreman at the Oakland, Md. CCC Camp, has a son, Joseph John Davis, Jr., born April 23.

Straight "A" Average

Recently a popular member of the faculty, on his way back to Ithaca, declared that his home when in New York would always be the Grosvenor.

He liked, he said, our combination of virtues—rarely found in one hotel . . . the feeling of being in the center of Manhattan and yet in a delightful neighborhood . . .

the convenience of everything (3 short blocks or less to 3 subway lines, 3 major bus routes, and, at the door, Fifth Avenue buses to Radio City, the best shops, midtown, etc.) and yet freedom from traffic, which means quiet nights for refreshing sleep . . . the sense of living in a spacious home and yet having circulating ice-water, tub and shower, a beautiful air-conditioned dining room and smart little bar—all within arm's reach.

Just one week to go until our Reunion. The last details are being settled now, and please let me know definitely if you are coming, and when. Sage, Fourth Floor Annex, will be our headquarters. "BLENDY" BRUNN and MAIDA HOOKS LEWIS are conniving clever costumes for us and ALICE BAILEY EISENBERG is in charge of the arrangements for the Class banquet. A special feature will be the movies we have, both of our College days and from our Two-year Reunion, some of them in color.

If you haven't sent in your "vital statistics" slip from the questionnaire, dig it out and SEND IT IN, so we may have the records complete. We particularly want to know ALL the married names and ALL the occupations.

Men

By Charles E. Dykes, Class Secretary
225 S. Albany St., Ithaca

We have received definite word from the following men that they will be back for PERFECT '36'S FIFTH: HUGH FITZPATRICK, ED DOYLE, FRANK DICKERSON, AL KRAFT, CHARLIE EGBERT, HANK GODSHALL, AL JILLSON, W. WIITANEN, JAKE FASSETT, HANK BROWN, DAVE AMSLER, JOHN PECK, JACK FORSYTH, CHARLIE HAM, BILL SUMMERS, BYRON WOODIN, JOHN McMANUS.

Others are: HERB HOPPER, PAUL VAN NEST, JAKE BAUERNSCHMIDT, DAVE BUCK, PHIL BURNHAM, BILL HOYT, CHARLIE SCOTT, TOMMY BURNS, W. CRAWFORD, STEVE LOUNSBERRY, PETE MARCUS, JOHN SENESI, HERB MOLS, ART SCHWAB, TED ELLIS.

I hope that everyone will make a last-minute effort to get back and join us. Until next week then, keep your steam up.

Lieutenant BOB DENNISTON has been promoted to active charge of Company A, 59th Training Battalion, Camp Walters, Tex. The company is a unit of 258 men.

BILL McLAUGHLIN writes from Madison Barracks, New York, that the Army won the race. He expects to leave soon for Fort Ethan Allen, Burlington, Vt.

JOHNNY FLOROS has been appointed wrestling coach at Fort Sill, Okla.

JIM THOMAS writes regarding Reunion: "Uncle Sam says no can do."

MARSHALL McEWAN sends his regrets:

"I am in the US Army, one of the draftees."

1937 WOMEN

By Carol H. Cline, Class Secretary
1053 Cumberland Avenue, Dayton, Ohio

The Class of 1937 would like to wish all its "grandchildren" in the Class of 1939 a very Happy First Reunion! '37 hopes all the '39ers will be able to get back to Ithaca to have as merry a time in renewing friendships as '37 did at its First Reunion. If your old grandmother Class can help in any way, just holler, '39!

'37 BS—DONALD D. PARKS is attached to the headquarters staff as messenger in Company C, 106th Infantry, Fort McClellan, Ala. His mailing address remains Schodack Landing, N. Y.

'37 AB—ROBERT V. SAFFORD married Louise F. Pinger April 26 in Mount Vernon. Safford is a chemical engineer with the General Foods Co., New York City. Mrs. Safford is a graduate of Oberlin College.

CLASS OF 1939 Two-Year Reunion

Women

By Sally Splain, Class Secretary
78 West Fifth Street, Oswego, N. Y.

Eighty-one girls of the Class have sent word that they are definitely planning to attend Reunion. Eleven others have said that they would move every rock along the way to make Ithaca for the week-end. Reunion in Ithaca will be one long, enjoyable play. Costumes are in the making; the dinner is about ready to eat; and everything is set for our first big get-together since graduation.

If you know of anyone who is planning to come and hasn't written in, we would appreciate hearing from her soon. Or if you decide to come at the last minute, let us know immediately. The Class of 1939 will rock the hills of Ithaca June 15. Come along and be a part of the celebration!

Men

By Tom Boak, Class Secretary
Box 96, Massena, New York

Our first Reunion is one week away!! Things are all set to go; all you need to do is get back. If you don't have a ride, look around; there are probably many in your own vicinity who are coming back.

I have a late flash that the Naval Reserve land school is going to hold its graduation June 12 so that CARL JOYS, GENE PATTERSON, and JOHN FURMAN can get back. Long JOHN NEVIUS is also coming from that general direction. Others who have indicated their presence at Reunion are: TED ZOUCK, BEN HERR, BARRY MILLER, CHARLIE MILFORD, and many others.

I had a card some time ago from FRANK ATKINS who says he must be the second volunteer in the Class. He enlisted in the Ohio National Guard in February, and they were inducted into the US Army March 5. Frank is now at Camp Forrest, Tenn., in the 107th Cavalry.

JOE COORS married Holly Hanson of Mt. Airy, Pa., April 26. Joe is with DuPont as an industrial engineer in Wilmington, Del.

I hope to see all of you in Ithaca for our First Reunion.

CLASS OF 1940

Women

By Carol B. Clark, Class Secretary
47 Cedar Street, Binghamton, New York

This week it's short and sweet,
But please, I repeat,
Respond to our requests,
As the men's News subscriptions
We girls must beat!

Mr. and Mrs. WILLIAM A. WIMSATT '39 (RUTH C. PETERSON) have a son, born May 27 in Ithaca.

JOAN TIMME ROCHOW has been elected president of the Jefferson County Home Economics Teachers Association, and RUTH BUFFUM is the new secretary-treasurer of this group. Joan is at Brownville, and Ruth, at Belleville.

You've never read a book like this before!

NO ONE else would have dared write it . . . and no one else could have written it. It's the anatomy of a college class . . . a panoramontage of alumni in undress . . . a wide-eyed, barefaced tale of heroes and heroics, of villains and fools and humans.

And let's not forget the women, those lush and amiable ladies (some were neither) who helped or dragged the men along. You'll enjoy their antics or puzzle over their ethics as much as their men did.

This is a total book about college grads . . . nothing is left unsaid, nothing could be more outspoken. It's a unique story . . . jam-packed with laughs and thrills and tragic moments. There's nothing sober or conventional about it.

You'll recognize every one of these men — you've met them, worked with them, envied them, admired them, hated them, learned to avoid them, or have always wanted to know them better. Here they are—all sixty of them in all their grime and glory . . . a college class, twenty-five years after graduation, as pinned to the board by an uninhibited class secretary in revolt. It's a "just listen to this" kind of book. Everybody who reads it wants to quote it! Don't let your friends spoil it for you . . . get a copy of your own, now.

343 PAGES, $2.50

Three Opinions

JOHN KIERAN:
"I enjoyed it no end."

TIFFANY THAYER:
"There's enough swell material here for a dozen novels!"

VIRGINIA KIRKUS:
"Everyone who reads it has an overwhelming yen to share bits of it with others!"
