IN NATIONWIDE POLLS OF POST-WAR BUYING PREFERENCE...

America has placed Philco First by an average of 3 TO 1

ONE OF THE FIRST THINGS America will buy after Victory is a new radio or radio-phonograph. And by an average of 3 to 1 over any other make... it will be a Philco!

Yes, that's the evidence that comes from all parts of the country in impartial surveys of post-war buying preference conducted by newspapers and national magazines. Everywhere, Philco is the overwhelming leader... in present ownership and future preference.

As the world's largest radio manufacturer and the leader of the industry for 12 straight years, Philco looks upon this universal public confidence as a challenge and an obligation. Your Philco of tomorrow will fulfill the promise of Philco leadership. It will bring you new and untold joys from radio and recorded music. New ideas and new skills have been born of war research and the vital contributions which Philco engineers have made to the advance of electronic science. These will be reflected in the tone and performance of your post-war Philco, in the beauty of its cabinet design... and in the value you get at every price.

Yes, you may look forward to your Philco radio or radio-phonograph of tomorrow. In features, quality and value, it will be worthy of your confidence today.

Alumni Fund One-Third Ahead As Fiscal Year Nears End

CORNELL Alumni Fund in the ten months through April 30 had reached $107,293.12 from 3,656 contributors, the Fund Council reports. This is almost exactly one-third more than the amount reported for the same period last year, when the Fund had reached $80,436.21 from 3,665 contributors. If this relative increase is maintained for the remaining two months of the 1944-45 Alumni Fund to June 30, Walter C. Heasley, Jr. '30, executive secretary, points out that this year's Fund will exceed the goal of $250,000 unrestricted gifts from alumni to meet current expenses of the University. Last year's record Alumni Fund totalled $189,753.55.

Class Committees at Work

Class committees are hard at work to make this new record June 30, with a barrage of letters and personal solicitations of Classmates pointing out the need of increased alumni support in unrestricted gifts.

The tabulation below shows that to May 1 the Class of '07 men, led by Howard M. Rogers, were ahead of all others with $7,043.25 contributed. Second place was held by '13 men, of whom E. Victor Underwood is Alumni Fund representative, with $6,422.25; and '14 men under H. W. Peters held third place with $5,030.27. In number of contributors, Class of '16 men, with Richard J. Foster, Jr. as Fund representative, led at 142; followed by '21 men under Clyde Mayer with 134, and Underwood's '13 men with 103.

Includes Bonded Reunions

Carrying out the plan of Bonded Reunions instituted by the Association of Class Secretaries two years ago, the Fund to date includes gifts of 165 US War Bonds with maturity value totalling $15,800. These are Series F and G Bonds purchased in the name of "Cornell University, a Corporation," and sent in for credit in Class totals. Of these, 108 are of $25 denomination, purchasable at $18.50 at any bank or postoffice; forty-six are $100 bonds; five are for $500; and six are $1,000 bonds given to the University.

Class rankings in the 1944-45 Alumni Fund through April 30 follow:

Senior Cornellian

ELDEST living Cornellian is now Mrs. George B. Upham (Cornelia Preston) '74 (above), according to records in the University Alumni Office. Since the death last November of Dr. Albert Osborn '72, John D. Case '74 of Pasadena, Cal., was the oldest alumnus until his death, March 19, 1945. William Hazlitt Smith '73 of Ithaca who graduated the year before Mrs. Upham, is a year younger. Mrs. Upham will be ninety-three next September.

Born September 6, 1852, in South Dover, Cornelia Preston attended Vassar two years and entered the Science Course at Cornell in 1872. With Sophy P. Fleming and Eva M. Pitts, she received the BS in 1874: the first woman to graduate from the University except Emma S. Eastman, who transferred from Vassar in 1872 as a Senior and received the PhB in 1873. Miss Preston gave "Professor Corson's" as her Ithaca residence.

She later married one of her Classmates, George B. Upham '74, who died January 10, 1943, "the father of the Boston subway system." His brother, J. Duncan Upham '74, lives in Claremont, N. H., the third eldest Cornellian after Mrs. Upham and Mr. Smith.

Answering an inquiry from the ALUMNI NEWS, Mrs. Upham writes of her "happy but comparatively uneventful life. My primary work," she says, "has been bringing up a family and my avocation, gardening, many trips to Europe, and one around the world. I spend the warmer seven months of each year on a hill in West Claremont, N. H., looking up the Connecticut River across from Ascutney Mountain and thoroughly enjoying the house, the view, and the garden. Travel precluded by the war, I have stayed in Boston through the winters [at 233 Bay State Road] enjoying my children, grandchildren, and great-grandchildren. I usually attend the meetings and lectures of the Saturday Morning Club, of which I have been a member for sixty-four years. The literary club, the oldest women's club in Boston, was founded in 1871 by Julia Ward Howe for the cultural improvement of her daughters and friends. It has been a source of inspiration and joy to me and I have written and delivered a paper for it nearly every year."

Alumni Office records indicate that the four eldest Cornellians, after Mrs. Upham, are William Hazlitt Smith '73 AB, born September 24, 1853; J. Duncan Upham '74 BS, born November 7, 1853; the Rev. J. Cowles Andrus '74, born January 10, 1855; and George S. Sheppard '74 BS, born September 12, 1855.

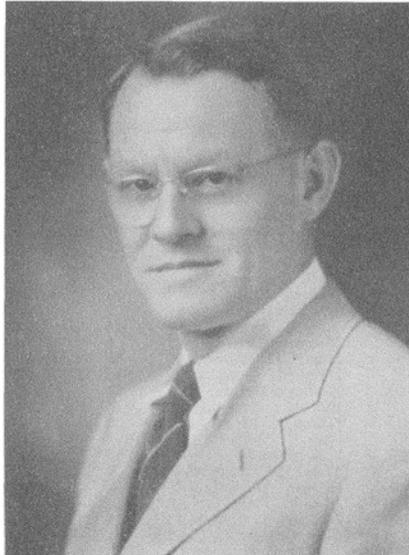

February Degrees

UNIVERSITY conferred 209 degrees February 22, following the eighty-first Commencement. Of this total, 160 were first degrees. The AB went to 53 students; of the 39 BS degrees, 23 were in Home Economics, 15 in Agriculture, and one in Hotel Administration. Thirty Doctors of Veterinary Medicine were graduated, one Bachelor of Laws, and two Bachelors of Architecture. Engineering degrees went to 30 students: one BS in CE, three BME, 13 BS in ME, one BEE, 6 BS in EE, 3 BChemE, and 3 BS in ChemE. Five Bachelors of Science in Nursing were conferred January 21 in New York City.

Advanced degrees totalled 29. They include 8 AM, 15 MS, 2 MS in Education, 2 MME, and one each MS in Agriculture, MArch, and MCE; and nineteen Doctors of Philosophy.

Faculty Changes

UNIVERSITY Board of Trustees, meeting in Morrill Hall April 21, appointed Professor Cornelis W. de Kiewiet, History, Dean of the College of Arts and Sciences, succeeding Robert M. Ogden '01, who retires in June after twenty-two years as Dean. One new professor, two associate professors, and one assistant professor were appointed; fourteen associate professors were advanced to the rank of full professor, twenty-nine assistant professors to associate professor, and twenty-three instructors to assistant professor. All appointments and promotions are effective July 1, unless otherwise designated.

Dean de Kiewiet (above), who will continue as professor of History, was born in Rotterdam, Holland, May 21, 1902. He began his education in Johannesburg, South Africa, receiving the AB in 1923 and the MA in 1924 at the University of Witwatersrand. Going to the University of London with a scholarship in modern history, he received the PhD there in 1927 and spent two years on a traveling fellowship at the Universities of Paris and Berlin. He joined the history department at the University of Iowa in 1929, became an American citizen in 1939, and joined the Cornell Faculty in 1941. He was director of area and language courses for the Army Specialized Training Program at the University. The ALUMNI NEWS December 1, 1944, published a summary of Dean de Kiewiet's report to President Day, proposing that the University establish interdepartmental "area institutes" on China and Russia.

Morell B. Russell is appointed professor of Soil Science in the College of Agriculture, effective May 1. Born April 11, 1914, in St. Joseph County, Mich., Professor Russell received the BS in 1936 at Michigan State College, and the MS and PhD in 1937 and 1939 at Iowa State College, where he has since been professor of soil physics. He is the author of several reports on experimental investigations of soil physics.

Mario Einaudi, new associate professor of Government, was born September 8, 1904, in Dogliani (Piedmont), Italy. He received the JD, summa cum laude, at the University of Turin in 1927. After work in the London School of Economics, Harvard, the University of Berlin, the Bibliothéque Nationale in Paris and Geneva, and the University of Turin, he was dismissed as assistant professor at the University of Messina because he refused to join the Fascist Party. Returning to Harvard, he was instructor in government there from 1933-37, and since 1938 has been assistant professor of political science at Fordham. He is an American citizen, and the author of monographs on Edmund Burke and the Physiocrats.

Robin M. Williams, Jr. becomes associate professor of Sociology, effective upon his release from military service. A native of Hillsboro, N. C., he received the BS at North Carolina State College in 1933, the MS in 1935 at University of North Carolina, MA in 1939 and PhD in 1943 at Harvard. He was instructor in rural sociology at the University of Kentucky from 1939-42, field agent and tabulation supervisor for FERA, junior social economist in the US Bureau of Labor Statistics, and senior social scientist for the War Department's Special Service division; is the author of several studies in rural sociology.

Many Are Promoted

Fourteen associate professors are advanced to professorships: John A. Hartell '24, Architecture; Frederick O. Waage, History of Art and Archaeology; Victor Lange, German; Bruno Rossi, Physics; Ernest J. Simmons, Russian Language and Literature; Oscar J. Swenson and Charles C. Winding, Chemical Engineering; George R. Hanselman '22, Administrative Engineering; Dr. Louis Hausman '16 and Dr. Lewis D. Stevenson, Clinical Medicine (Neurology); John K. Loosli, PhD '38, Animal Nutrition; Charles S. Hobbs, PhD '41, Animal Husbandry, Extension; Herbert H. Schwardt, Entomology; S. Reuben Shapley '28, Extension Service and Assistant State Leader of County Agricultural Agents; and Arthur G. Danks '33, Veterinary Surgery.

Twenty-nine assistant professors advanced to the rank of associate professor are George P. Adams, Jr. and John G. B. Hutchins, Economics;

Louis Guttman, Sociology; Walter W. Cotner '28, Electrical Engineering; Walter A. Johnson, Machine Design; George H. Lee, PhD '40, and Harold C. Perkins '15, Mechanics of Engineering; Herrell F. DeGraff '37 and Thomas N. Hurd, PhD '36, Land Economics; Paul R. Hoff, MS '40, and Clesson N. Turner '31, Agricultural Engineering; Clarence G. Bradt '21, Animal Husbandry; Gordon H. Ellis '32, Biochemistry and Nutrition; Karl C. Hamner, Plant Physiology; Charles F. Niven, Jr., PhD '39, Bacteriology; Elton J. Dyce, PhD '31, Apiculture; William E. Blauvelt '25, Economic Entomology, Extension; James S. Knapp '31, Extension Service; Sanford S. Atwood and Robert L. Cushing, Plant Breeding; Leland E. Weaver '18, Poultry Husbandry; Mabel A. Rollins '32, Economics of the Household and Household Management; Mrs. Jessie A. Boys and Grace A. Steinger, Food and Nutrition; Carline Morton, Home Economics; Charles E. Cladel '29, Hotel Administration; Mrs. Dora W. Erway, Household Arts; Elsie M. Frost, Textiles and Clothing; and Willis A. Gortner, Biochemistry.

Gordon F. Stofer '36 returns to the University as assistant professor of Architecture. Since he received the BArch in 1937, Stofer has been an engineer with Turner Construction Co. in New York City, with Fisher Aircraft Division of General Motors, and the Austin Co. in Cleveland, Ohio. He will teach courses in Mechanics and Structural Design. Member of Sigma Nu and Quill and Dagger, he won the football and basketball "Cs" and was captain of lacrosse. His brother is Kenneth L. Stofer '43.

Promoted to assistant professors are Charles I. Weir, Jr., English; Robert M. Palmer, Music; Kenneth I. Greisen, PhD '43, and Herbert F. Newhall, PhD '42, Physics; Martin W. Sampson '37 and Charles R. Scott, Jr. '36, Administrative Engineering; Hamilton H. Mabie, MS in Eng '43, Industrial Engineering; Clarence B. Mansky, Grad '41-44; Mechanics of Engineering; Dr. Julian R. Rachele, Biochemistry; Dr. Curtis M. Flory; Pathology; Dr. Margaret Dann, PhD '32, Pediatrics; Dr. Marjorie A. Wheatley, Clinical Pediatrics; Dr. John H. Travis, Clinical Psychiatry; Cloy B. Knodt, Animal Husbandry; George W. Trimberger, Animal Husbandry, Extension; Frank V. Kosikowsky, PhD '44, Dairy Industry; James E. Dewey '39, Entomology, Extension; William T. M. Forbes, Grad '08-09, Entomology; Walter L. Nelson, PhD '41, Biochemistry; Alfred W. Avens, Chemistry; Mrs. Ruth Boies Comstock '27, Household Art, Extension; Mrs. Helen Staley, Textiles and Clothing, Extension; and Dorothy M. Proud, Institution Management, Extension.

Joint administrative board of the New York Hospital-Cornell Medical College Association has appointed Langdon P. Marvin chairman, succeeding President Edmund E. Day, and has appointed President Day chairman of the new Cornell University-New York Hospital School of Nursing council.

From Far Below—

By Frank Sullivan '14

YOUR correspondent from down under may not give you the news smoking hot, but sooner or later he's bound to get it, as the lady said when her son came down with whooping cough at the age of sixty-four. Your C's idea of the perfect job would be caretaker of a century plant; second choice, beauty editor for the Edinburgh Review. At any rate, we guarantee that all the fiestas about to be chronicled here did happen, and that they happened this year. What more can you want?

The second winter meeting of the Cornell Society of Engineers was held January 16 at the Cornell Club of New York. N. L. Rea, supervisor of electrical installations for the General Electric Co., gave an interesting illustrated talk on the experiences of their foreign service engineers in far corners of the world.

Through the courtesy of Leon Swirlbul '20, vice-president and general manager of Grumman Aircraft, members were given the rare treat of a preview of the Navy's magnificent film, "The Fighting Lady." That was followed by talks from the Navy's newest ace, Lieutenant Cecil E. Harris (twenty-seven Jap planes to his credit) and Commander Raby, a group commander in the attack on the Marcus Islands. In spite of inclement weather, 150 engineers were at the buffet supper and meeting.

The night before the engineers foregathered, the Club rang with the joyous cries of fifty-eight young fellows from the Class of 1917, greeting each other with the traditional Reunion yodellings. Bad weather prevented the attendance from equalling the record of last year, which was seventy-two. There were talks by John L. Collyer, Class president, University Trustee and president of the B. F. Goodrich Co.; Herbert R. Johnston, Class secretary, and Dean Hollister of the Engineering Colleges.

The Club held open house (stag) the evening of February 28. "Mickey"

MacDougall, the card detective, gave a demonstration and exposé of card cheats and gambling frauds that caused every man present to make an inward vow never to play so much as a game of tiddley-winks with a stranger. Stan Lomax '23, sports expert, talked on the college basketball and professional baseball situation. "Terry" McGovern '00 presided. The beer was on the house. A good time was had by all.

The March meeting of the Cornell Society of Engineers was held the evening of the twelfth. Guest speaker was Alfred Marchev, an associate member of the Club and president of Republic Aviation (which makes the P-47, fastest fighter plane in the world).

Mr. Marchev had just returned from an Army inspection trip which covered Hawaii, Guam, Tinian, Saipan, Kwajalein, and Leyte and had some highly interesting things to say, illustrated by excellent color photographs he had taken on the trip. Mr. Marchev is the father of Lieutenant George B. Marchev '43, who is an aerial observation pilot for Artillery.

Your correspondent got to talking in the Club one evening with a pleasant, grizzled man who turned out to be John Paul Jones '13, Cornell's great distance runner and the particular hero of many a Cornellian of pre-war vintage (and we mean pre the pre-war), including your C. Mr. Jones has applied for admission as a member of the Club, and needless to say!

Every Thursday evening, the Club fills with a group of stalwarts wearing that determined, preoccupied expression that has come to be known as the Ely Culbertson Look, or the P. Hal Simms Look, if you don't happen to like Ely. They look like men with a mission in life, whom nothing can deter, and indeed they are such. They are the bridge players of the Club. Thursday night is given over to their Vanderbilt Convention. Friday is usually devoted to their post-mortem arguments, usually won by President Walter Pate '99.

Probably no man living in the Club is appreciating its comforts more than a new arrival, Harold E. Hertz '25, who got to New York recently fresh from being a civilian prisoner of war of the Japanese. He was in Manila when the war broke.

Expected soon is another member of the Club lately released from a Japanese prison camp. He is James C. Rockwell '04, president of the Manila Electric Co. Mr. Rockwell's wife and small son have preceded him to New York and are living at the Hotel Barclay, awaiting his arrival.

ON the last week end in April, 1945:

For the forty-fifth time, Coach John F. Moakley had prepared a Cornell team for the Pennsylvania Relay Games; for the first time, Coach Edward C. McKeever watched Cornell football candidates finish spring practice, in a 14-14 intra-squad game. Football men were thereafter put in charge of Trainer Frank Kavanagh for several weeks of physical conditioning.

Split League Opener

BASEBALL team opened its season with three games away from Ithaca, suffering a shutout, 6-0, at Rochester, April 28, but dividing a doubleheader with Dartmouth in Eastern Intercollegiate League competition at Hanover, May 5. Cornell won the opener, 7-2; lost the second game, 5-0.

Captain Gniewek of Rochester, who twice last year mastered Cornell with five-hit pitching performances, repeated this year. He again gave Cornell only five hits, two of them by John Skawski, USNR, second baseman. Alfred W. Rothermel, USNR, started pitching for Cornell and gave up six hits in five innings. Kenneth P. Battles '48 and Paul A. Smith, USNR, finished the game. All told, Rochester collected eleven hits. Four Cornell misplays also figured in the Rochester scoring.

Rothermel was Coach George K. James's choice to start the first Dartmouth game at Hanover. He turned in a five-hit performance as he and his mates collected eight hits in the 7-2 victory. Their principal victim was Thomas Kuehn, who was on the Cornell squad last season. Dartmouth used three other pitchers in vain.

Captain Joseph P. Mascola, USNR, shortstop, paced the hitters with two singles and scored one run. Others in the lineup for the first League game were Thomas A. Baldwin, USNR, right field; Skawski, second base; Charles R. Chapin '48 and William J. Burke, Jr., USNR, left field; James F. Troutner '48, first base; John W. Hagood, USNR, center field; Charles R. Lorello, USNR, third base; and John M. Tully, USNR, catcher.

Battles and Smith pitched the second game, cut to six innings by rain, and allowed only five hits. But Swanson of Dartmouth picked that day to hurl a one-hitter as the home team scored its 5-0 shutout. Mascola was the lone Cornell player to crack Swanson for a hit.

Early League games left Princeton in first place with two victories, Cornell second with one victory and one defeat, and Dartmouth in the cellar with one victory and three defeats. Columbia and Pennsylvania had not yet played.

Track Season Starts

CORNELL had one winner in the Penn Relays at Philadelphia, April 27 and 28. John F. Kandl '45 won the two-mile run in 9:38.2. Winner of the same event in the West Point Relays indoors last January, and holder of the National AAU junior cross country championship, Kandl turned back a late challenge by O'Leary of the US Coast Guard and Osterburg of NYU.

Paul Robeson, Jr. '47 tied with Crawford of the US Military Academy, Ross of Michigan State, and Jones of the Philadelphia Quartermaster Depot for fourth place in the high jump, at 5 feet 9 inches. He was far off the form he showed in tying Conley of Dartmouth at 6 feet 3 inches for the indoor championship in Madison Square Garden last winter.

Gilbert J. Bouley '47 finished fifth in the discus throw.

The following week, the squad lost to Pennsylvania, 71½ to 63¾, in their annual dual meet on Schoellkopf Field. Pennsylvania clinched the meet in the next-to-the-last event.

Outstanding performance was turned in by Kandl who won the mile and two-mile runs inside of an hour and with virtually no opposition. Kandl, striding effortlessly around the track made spongy by week-long rains, was timed in 4:33.3 for the mile and 9:47 for two miles. Kandl's 10 points topped the Cornell scorers, with Bouley in second place with 7 points collected in three events. Bouley placed second in the shot put and discus throw and third in the hammer throw.

Kandl's two victories were the only ones scored by Cornell on the flat. Williams won both hurdle races and Grosse both sprints for Pennsylvania. In field events, Cornell winners were Malcolm B. Carsley '47 in the javelin throw, 166 feet 8 inches; William C. Miller, USNR, pole vault, 10 feet 6 inches; and Roger Bissinger, USNR, discus throw, 134 feet. Robeson tied Bredin of Pennsylvania for first in the high jump at 6 feet 2 inches. The high jump was only the event contested on dry ground: in Bacon Practice Cage.

Navy Wins Lacrosse

LACROSSE team opened its season May 5 against the US Naval Academy in Baltimore. George W. Abbott '45, a spare, scored Cornell's only goal as the Academy won, 20-1. On the same afternoon the Midshipmen also defeated Dartmouth, 14-0.

At second defense for the Academy team was James H. Carrington, former Naval Reservist at Cornell who played football and was on the swimming team. Carrington scored one of the twenty goals.

The tennis team attempted to open its season at Hamilton May 5, opposing Colgate, but wet courts forced a postponement.

Crews at Cambridge

VARSITY crew finished second to MIT and ahead of Harvard in a triangular regatta on the Charles River at Cambridge, Mass., May 25. The Junior Varsity won its race, with MIT second and Harvard third. Both were at a mile and three-quarters. The times:

Varsity—MIT, 9:17.5; Cornell, 9:20; Harvard, 9:24.

Junior Varsity—Cornell, 9:33; MIT, 9:42; Harvard, 9:43.

The Junior Varsity took an early lead in fairly smooth water and coasted to a conclusive victory at a fairly low beat for most of the race. The water became rough as the varsities started. Cornell kept close to MIT most of the way, but the home eight pulled out in the stretch.

The Cornell boatings (all Naval Reservists):

Varsity—Bow, William Packard; 2, Donald R. Peirce; 3, George A. Fearn; 4, Edwin C. Paul; 5, James P. Wiles; 6, Carl A. Johnson; 7, Robert J. Mil-

In these days of wartime travel restrictions, crews travel without their shells, borrow some from the host crews. They do take their oars along. But at Cambridge, Cornell also had to borrow MIT oars. Theirs, shipped by freight, failed to arrive.

For the Record

JOHAN C. Snedeker '48 of the Cornell Corinthians took individual honors in the Middle Atlantic intercollegiate sailing races on the Severn River at Annapolis, Md., May 6. Snedeker scored 59 points. The US Naval Academy retained its championship with 120 points. Cornell was second with 89.5, Stevens Institute third, and Pennsylvania fourth.

Out of competition many years, John F. Anderson '28 took up the discus again recently in Bombay, India. He won the event when a British-American service team defeated the Bombay Presidency Olympic Association, 86-77, in track and field. Anderson, who played football and was outstanding in track at Cornell, won the discus championship at the 1932 Olympics in Los Angeles, Cal., with a throw of 163 feet. A few years later, he touched 173 feet 1 inch. At Bombay, he won with 125 feet 3½ inches.

Chicago Women

CORNELL Women's Club of Chicago, Ill., held its April meeting and buffet supper at the home of Mrs. Karel Sevick (Consuelo Holmes) '22; proceeds were contributed to the Federation Scholarship Fund.

Entertainment was two plays by the drama pupils of Melita H. Skillen '11, president of the Club, who is in charge of dramatics at Senn High School in Chicago and an organizer of the Players' Guild.

Gannett '98 Speaks

TRUSTEE Frank E. Gannett '98 addressed the Cornell Club of Rochester at luncheon, May 2, on "The School of Nutrition at Cornell." The president of Gannett Newspapers, Inc., added his impressions of President Truman as seen at his first appearance before a joint session of Congress and at his first press conference at the White House.

Cornell to Have Naval ROTC

ANNOUNCEMENT was made in Washington May 1 that the Navy Department will establish a Naval Reserve Officers' Training Corps at the University, on or about November 1. Cornell is one of twenty-five colleges and universities selected for Naval ROTC units in addition to the twenty-seven units now operating. Others will be established in the East at Columbia, Rochester, Pennsylvania State College, Villanova, Princeton, and Dartmouth. Harvard, Yale, Brown, Tufts, Holy Cross, Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute, and Pennsylvania now have similar units.

Selection of institutions was made upon recommendation of a special committee of educators and Naval officers appointed by Secretary of the Navy James Forrestal. A law signed February 17 by President Roosevelt authorized permanent increase from 7,200 to 14,000 in the number of men to be trained for Navy commissions, and provided for giving officer training to 24,000 men until one year after the war ends.

Men to Get Degrees

At Cornell, apprentice seamen in the present V-12 program will be transferred to the Naval ROTC unit, to complete eight terms of instruction and receive Cornell degrees, becoming eligible for commissions as ensigns in the Naval Reserve. Pre-medical students, upper-level engineers, and members of the Marine Corps Reserve in V-12 will not be transferred. Except for the Marines, the Naval ROTC will eventually replace the other groups in the V-12 program, since all Navy V-12 trainees assigned to Cornell in the future will be NROTC candidates. Candidates will be selected by the Navy from men already in service, but there is no requirement as to length of service.

Expansion of the Naval ROTC program is explained as a reversion to the traditional Navy policy that its officers should have a college education or its equivalent, temporarily waived in the V-12 program to meet the emergency war need for Naval officers.

A Department of Naval Science will be established in the University and staffed with Naval personnel to train men for eventual duty as line, engineer, supply, and aviation officers. Students in the Naval ROTC will be taught by the Navy seamanship, navigation, ordnance and gunnery, military law, communications, tactics, Naval history, and Naval administration, for a minimum of thirty-six hours of University credit toward a degree. Their academic subjects, for the duration of the war, will be in the areas of engineering, business administration, and liberal arts. The University will provide classrooms, offices, and facilities for drill and physical training; the Navy supplying students with uniforms, textbooks and teaching material and continuing during the war to lease dormitories and provide meals and full pay for its men, paying the University also for their instruction in regular classes.

Approximately 150 men, who are eligible for transfer to the Naval ROTC November 1, will enter courses in Naval Science July 1 in the Naval Training School at the University under command of Captain Burton W. Chippendale, USN. It is expected that the present Midshipmen's School and courses in diesel engineering for officers will be continued at Cornell for the duration of the war.

Cascadilla Faculty

CASCADILLA School has published an illustrated folder describing its twenty-first summer session, July 5 to August 23. Besides the head master, Clarence M. Doyle '02, who teaches science courses, the faculty for the summer will include Helen M. Knox '97, teaching Latin and German; Mrs. Chester J. Hunn, widow of the late Professor Hunn '08, French and Spanish; and Mrs. Virginia Langdon, Grad, biology

Medical Alumni Elect

PRESIDENT of the Medical College Alumni Association for 1945-46 is Dr. William R. Delzell '18 of New York City. Elected at the annual meeting at the College, April 18, he thereby becomes a director of the Cornell Alumni Association, succeeding Dr. Mary M. Crawford '04, who was elected secretary of the Medical College Alumni Association. Dr. Connie M. Guion '17 was elected vice-president, and Dr. Paul Reznikoff '20 re-elected treasurer, with Drs. Edward P. Flood '14, Lloyd F. Craver '15, Horace S. Baldwin '21, Charles O. Warren, Jr. '27, S. Bernard Wortis '27, and Katherine Butler '35 as directors. Dr. David N. Barrows '12 continues as editor of the Quarterly.

Ninety-one alumni of the College, together with heads of all Departments and other Faculty, were served tea before the meeting, and were then joined by students and others in the College auditorium to hear addresses by Dean Joseph C. Hinsey and President Edmund E. Day. Wartime restrictions precluded the annual banquet and dance.

Discuss Gardening

THIRTY members of the Cornell Women's Club of Rochester met April 17 at the home of Mrs. Barton Baker (Bernice Dennis) '25, and heard Carroll C. Griminger '24, of the Joseph Harris Co., seed growers, discuss home gardening.

Mrs. Edwin K. Haas (Beryl Polhemus) '32, president of the Club, presided, and refreshments were served by M. Agnes Conroy '19, Mrs. Dallas M. Van Horn (Ruth Newman) '20, and Mrs. Leonard D. Marafioti (Catherine Charlesworth) '34.

Gives Fiske Tapestry

FLEMISH tapestry, made in 1619 by Karel van Mander II in Delft, Holland, and at one time the property of Jennie McGraw Fiske, has been given to the University by Mrs. James M. Breed of New York City, a second cousin of Mrs. Fiske.

The tapestry, approximately fourteen by thirteen feet, was purchased for Mrs. Fiske in Florence, Italy, in 1880, and hung in the gallery of her Ithaca home, occupied after her death by Chi Psi fraternity. Woven into its border is the legend, "MANDER FECIT A.D. 1619." It came from the collection of Prince Demidoff, husband of Princess Mathilde, a niece of Napoleon Bonaparte. Recently stored in New York City, the tapestry will be moved to Ithaca and hung in the Goldwin Smith Museum of Casts, in memory of Jennie McGraw Fiske, donor of the University's original set of chimes.

Messenger Lectures

MESSENGER Lectures on the Evolution of Civilization were delivered by Dean Thomas R. McConnell, on "The Humanities in Higher Education," April 26; Professor William H. Cowley, "The Background of Current Conflicts in Higher Education," May 3; and Dean William C. DeVane, "A College Program of Studies," May 10.

Dean of the college of science, literature, and the arts at the University of Minnesota, Dr. McConnell received the AB in 1924 at Cornell College, Iowa; the AM in 1928 and the PhD in 1933 at University of Iowa.

Dr. Cowley, recently president of Hamilton College, becomes professor of higher education at Stanford University, July 31. A graduate of Dartmouth College in 1924, he received the PhD at the University of Chicago in 1930, and honorary degrees at Hamil-

How Well Do You Know Cornell? CAN YOU IDENTIFY THIS PICTURE?

SUBSCRIBER who best describes the significance of these eight panels and tells where they are on the Campus will receive a prize copy of Cornell University: Founders and the Founding, by the late Professor Carl L. Becker.

Entries must be received not later than June 1, and no person who lives within twenty-five miles of Ithaca may compete. Staff of the Alumni News will judge the contest, and their decision shall be final. In the event of a tie, decision will be by lot. Identification of this picture and name of the winner will appear in the News of June 15.

RESULT OF APRIL 15 CONTEST

ONLY three subscribers ventured to identify this lion on the Sage Chapel ceiling, reproduced here from our April 15 contest. All three were correct, and winner-by-lot of Professor Becker's book was Lieutenant George F. Mueden, Jr. '40 of the Army War College, Washington, D. C. He writes: "During my five years at Cornell, I entered Sage Chapel about twenty times. Once I went in to see that a knot was firmly tied; the other nineteen occasions were when they enlarged the Chapel and I was there as a sidewalk superintendent. Dean Kimball was my boss, but I spent more time on the job than he did. . . ."

Present decoration of the Chapel, of which this ceiling lion is a part, was done in 1904 by the London firm of Cottier & Co., made possible by a gift from the late William H. Sage, son of Henry W. Sage who built the original Chapel in 1874. The medallions of animals and other large figures are painted on canvas and carefully fitted into the background of leaves and flowers painted directly on the ceiling. When the Chapel was enlarged in 1940 by the University Department of Buildings and Grounds, the Department painters, principally one named Hill who was once a scene painter in a Cleveland theater, made remarkably exact copies of these decorations to adorn the newly constructed west end of the enlarged nave.

ton, Hobart, and Union Colleges. He left the faculty of Ohio State University in 1938 to become president of Hamilton.

Dr. DeVane was professor of English and head of the Department of English at Cornell from 1934-38, when he left the University to become professor of English and dean of Yale College. He received the AB in 1920 and the PhD in 1926 at Yale, is widely known as an authority on Browning's poetry, and is literary editor of the Yale Review.

Messenger Lectures were established at the University in 1923, with a bequest from the late Hiram J. Messenger '80 for "twelve lectures each year to be delivered by the ablest non-resident lecturer or lecturers obtainable."

To Aid Engineers

BEQUEST of $5,500 to the University from the late Mrs. Calvin H. Crouch of Grantwood, N. J., establishes the Calvin H. and Della H. Crouch Fund to be used "for deserving students in Mechanical Engineering."

Calvin H. Crouch received the ME in 1892, was dean of the college of technology at the University of New Hampshire and a prominent mechanical engineer. He died in 1937.

Coach Meets Alumni

CORNELL Clubs throughout the East and Middle West are having an opportunity to meet the University's new football coach, Edward C. McKeever. His tour started May 2, when the Cornell Club of New York sponsored a party in McKeever's honor, and the next evening gave one for sports reporters of press and radio, with John T. McGovern '00 as toastmaster.

McKeever spoke informally to the Cornell Clubs of Philadelphia, Pa., May 3, and Baltimore, Md., May 4. May 9 the coach appeared in Rochester, and was joined by Robert J. Kane '34, University Director of Athletics, at the Cornell Clubs of Buffalo, May 10, and Cleveland, Ohio, May 11. The tour continued May 12 in Toledo, Ohio, May 14 in Milwaukee, Wis., and May 15 in St. Louis, Mo.

McKeever's itinerary, arranged by the Alumni Secretary's office, takes him to Cornell Clubs in Chicago, Ill., May 16; Essex County, N. J., May 22; Springfield, Mass., May 23; Boston, Mass., May 24; New Haven, Conn., May 25; Pittsburgh, Pa., May 31; Elmira, June 6; and Washington, D. C., June 7. Visits to other Clubs are still being arranged.

Now in My Time!

By Conroy Perry

THE American Legion has moved into the Zeta Psi House. The metamorphosis of Stewart Avenue (Factory Street in the consulship of Andrew D. White) between Buffalo Hill and the Cascadilla Bridge is now complete.

The change, not apparent at the time, began in the turn of the century when Bob Whittaker wheeled a dog-wagon to a platform at the southwest corner of the bridge and prospered greatly by exploiting the affinity of the Zetas for Des Moines sandwiches. Brownie's Dog next appeared as a permanent structure on the original platform, and Trade had the toe-hold in the shades of Academe which it has now translated into a complete ascendancy. In that little stretch of Stewart Avenue, once dedicated solely to scholarly pursuits, close harmony, and draw poker, are now established a grocery store, a couple of bistros, an antique furniture shop, a soda fountain, a restaurant, and an American Legion post.

All that remains now is for the American Legion to sell off the Williams Street corner of their new property, purchased by the Zetas for protection forty-odd years ago when they built on the new dining room, and have somebody construct there a business block and movie theater. With a movie theater just across the street from the McNamara Flats, students wouldn't have to go downtown any more for anything. The housing and fraternal aspects of the puzzle could be solved temporarily by having the Zeta Psis join the American Legion on their return from the wars.

Alumni resent changes. Not a few of them have never forgiven the surrender of Percy Field, sanctified by so many historic hits, field goals, wild pitches, and bases on balls which so often snatched defeat from the jaws of victory. Your reporter fully shares these resentments, although his irritations are directed chiefly toward Johnny-Come-Latelys who change place names and cut down trees which were once just as full of tender associations as they now are of aphids and loathsome worms.

But you musn't feel that way about the encroachments of Trade upon the academic traditions of Stewart Avenue. That sort of thing seems to be inevitable. Huestis Street now has a Businessmen's Association all its own. You'd be put to it to find a single student lodging house on Huestis Street (now College Avenue) between Pop's Place and the Fire House. Eddy Street, too, at its north end below where it squeezes through the red sandstone gate, boasts a full complement of business establishments including an efficient spirits shop.

But along with these evil tidings may be included the good news that nothing in the changes on Stewart Avenue has so far threatened the Lombardy poplars which became the most striking feature of that section the minute Henry Burgweger graduated. The trees will doubtless have to go to make room for the new movie theater, but the reprieve will last as long as the wartime embargoes on building materials.

As poplars go, those Zeta Psi Lombardies are very ancient trees. We recall vividly the day they were set out as slender saplings in the spring of 1902. We fix the date on our recollection of the late Henry Schoellkopf coming out after lunch and plastering an interdict on a scrub baseball game then under way on the Zeta Psi lawn, with your reporter as an active participant. Henry had no prejudice against baseball as a form of sport, but he objected strongly to our using the fourth Lombardy poplar south from the entrance as first base. It hadn't taken root yet, he said, and couldn't stand being bent over to the ground every time a base runner clutched it.

That must make the date 1902. Any earlier and it would not have been Henry who stopped the ball game; any later, it would have been some other Schoellkopf. The Zeta Psi house crawled with Schoellkopfs in the first decade of the current century.

Whatever else it may have taken with its purchase, the American Legion has acquired quarters well supplied from the start with charming ghosts and happy memories!

Trustee Voting

ALUMNI Office of the University has analyzed the 1944 voting for Alumni Trustees, tabulating information from the envelopes in which ballots were returned by degree holders.

Ballots were received last year from 10,230 persons, 38,443 having been mailed to degree holders for whom addresses were known. Number of men who voted was 7,807; women, 2,423. Largest number of ballots came from holders of the AB and of advanced Arts degrees and the PhD, 3894. Holders of Engineering degrees accounted for 2874 votes, and those with the BS and advanced degrees from Agriculture totalled 2379.

Largest number of ballots, 306, was received from those who got first degrees in 1915; followed by '12 with 288 and '17 with 275. From men with advanced degrees only came 747 ballots and from such women, 252. As might be expected, New York State voters led other States, with 4953 ballots. Next was New Jersey with 794, and from Pennsylvania came 734. Ballots were received, however, from every State, from foreign countries, and from 592 men and 19 women identified as in the armed forces.

Phi Beta Kappa Elects

CORNELL chapter of Phi Beta Kappa initiated thirty-five new members May 11, in the auditorium of Martha Van Rensselaer Hall. The initiates then joined local members of the society at a banquet in the Green Room, where Dr. C. Douglas Darling, professor of Clinical Medicine, spoke on "The Veteran and the University."

Professor Cornelis W. deKiewiet, Dean of Arts and Sciences, was elected from the Faculty; Ethel E. Ewing, PhD '44, professor of English at Albany State Teachers College, was the only alumnus member elected. New Senior members, six of whom have already been graduated, are Alfred Benjamin of New York City, Joan B. Brodie of Republic, Pa., Zelda Diamond of Washington, D. C., Grace M. Gales of New York City, Virginia R. Harriman of Hollis, Mrs. R. W. Holley (Ann L. Dworkin) of Jamaica, Mrs. Samuel W. Hunter (Thelma Emile) of Rochester, Apprentice Seaman Charles M. Larsen, USNR, of Staten Island, Esther M. McPherson of Morrisville, Mrs. Reuben R. Marshak (Sally Reich) of New York City, Patricia Pittluck of Brooklyn, Eleanor H. Porter of Galveston, Tex., who responded for the initiates, Mary E. Rheinheimer of El Paso, Tex., Midshipman William W. Shepard, US NR, of Cincinnati, Ohio, Private Barbara A. Straus, WAC, of Kansas City, Mo., Dorothy J. Tinker of Wilmington, Del., and Margaret A. Waters of New York City.

Six Juniors were elected: Vincent J. DeRisio of Elmira, Carolyn H. Diehl of Cohoes, Nancy L. Hall of Ithaca, Ethel F. Handelman of New York City, Dorothy A. Hardenburg of Ithaca, and Joanna W. Skinner of Woburn, Mass.

University Concert

BAILEY Hall was well filled April 28 for the final concert of the current University series, by Zino Francescatti, versatile French violinist. He played a varied program which included Mozart's Concerto in E Flat Major, the Sonata in D Minor by Brahms, Debussy's Sonata in G Minor, and two of his own arrangements, of "Variations on a Theme of Cornell" by Tartini, and the Chopin "Tarantelle." In these arrangements and in his rendition of "Short Story" by Gershwin and Dushkin and "Tzigane" by Ravel, the artist displayed his remarkable dexterity and virtuosity. As encores, he offered an arrangement of Debussy's "Lass With the Flaxen Hair" and a paraphrase of the "Street Song" from Bizet's Carmen. His accompanist, Emanuel Bay, added greatly to the audience's enjoyment of the concert.

Clubs Entertain

SPRING program for secondary schools continued with a tour of Cornell Women's Clubs by Assistant Alumni Secretary Pauline Schmid '25.

April 21, the Cornell Women's Club of Northern New Jersey entertained forty-five girls with tea at the Racquets Club in Short Hills. Fifty girls attended the tea given by the Westchester County group, April 28 at the Bronxville Women's Club. Miss Schmid addressed an assembly of girls at Walton High School, the Bronx, April 30, and then attended the evening meeting of the Mid-Hudson Cornell Women's Club in Poughkeepsie. May 2, she ended her tour in Glens Falls, where the Tri-County Cornell Women's Club met in the Queensbury.

Professor Bristow Adams, Agriculture Publications, Emeritus, described the University with the aid of motion pictures to eighty-five alumni, schoolboys and their parents at the annual secondary school party of the Cornell Club of Washington, D. C., at the Dodge Hotel, May 4. Edward H. Carman, Jr. '16, chairman of the Alumni Association committee on secondary schools, attended from Baltimore and spoke briefly.

On The Campus and Down the Hill

Spring Song (slightly sour): County Sheriff Clifford Hall and University Proctor Charles D. Manning are investigating the theft of six marker pennants from the University golf course; a hard driving snowstorm and freezing temperatures greeted shivering Cornellians on May 10; six coeds and five Naval trainees, picnic-bound in one small coupe May 5, swerved off the road at the entrance to Buttermilk Falls State Park and crashed into a bridge abutment, sustaining cuts, bruises, a broken arm, and several fractured ribs.

Forum: "The Effect of Battle on Moral Standards," led by Lieutenant Roy D. Thompson, USNR, Chaplain of the Naval Training School, May 9 in the Willard Straight Memorial Room. Three soldier and three sailor students, all veterans of combat, were forum speakers.

Hotel Ezra Cornell, curtailed and divided because of wartime limitations, nevertheless held its twentieth annual "opening" May 4 and 5. Under Managing Director David J. Hopwood '45, students in Hotel Administration prepared and served a five-course dinner for 158 guests in Martha Van Rensselaer Hall Friday evening and the next night ran a well-attended dance in Willard Straight Memorial Room. Frank Andrews, vice-president of the American Hotel Association and manager of the New Yorker Hotel, was the principal banquet speaker, describing the effects of the war on hotel operation. Other speakers were Professors Howard B. Meek, head of the Department of Hotel Administration, and Charles I. Sayles '26, president of the Cornell Society of Hotelmen.

Waitresses' Derby, wartime successor of the Waiters' Derby, was run off May 2 "at Rinsit Downs, Ithaca," along Central Avenue, and sponsored by the Hotel Ezra Cornell Jockey Club. Joan E. ("Bolt House") Blaikie '45 of Great Neck, last year's champion, again won the two-furlong race for fillies; a dark horse beat her to the tape but was declared ineligible on grounds of suspected masculinity. Coach John F. Moakley was steward of the course; Assistant Coach Edward G. Ratkoski '35 was starter; and the judges were Manager of Residential Halls Milton R. Shaw '34, Willard Straight Hall Director Foster M. Coffin '12, Director of Public Information Thomas Hammonds, and University Secretary Edward K. Graham, PhD '38.

Bailey Hall steps, which have been crumbling for years, are being refaced with solid stone blocks over the concrete. Concert audience April 28 had to enter and exit through the back doors.

Engineers meet: Ithaca section and Cornell branch of the ASME were addressed April 27 by Captain Michael J. Strok '38, AUS, on "Engineering Experiences of a Grasshopper Pilot in the Mediterranean Theatre;" Ithaca and Cornell sections of the AIEE addressed May 4 by C. A. Powel, president of AIEE and of Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Corp., on "The Romance of Engineering."

Student-Faculty baseball game April 28 on lower Alumni Field was won by the student team, 8-3. Proceeds went to the World Student Service Fund. Gordon W. Harrison '46 of the Varsity basketball squad was the winning pitcher, aiding his own cause with a first-inning home run. Frederick L. Marcuse, PhD '42, Psychology, hurling for the Faculty, lasted four innings.

And Egon Petri, University Pianist - in - residence, is half way through his concert series presenting all the Beethoven piano sonatas; first three were May 7, 9, and 14 in the Willard Straight Memorial Room, with concluding programs May 16, 21, and 23.

President Arthur L. Carson, PhD '31, of Sillman University, Negros Island, the Philippines, spent two days in Ithaca last month, the guest of Professor Rolland M. Stewart, Rural Education. Dr. Carson addressed two audiences at Cornell, on "The Philippines and Philippine Education," and on his personal experiences in resisting Japanese raids on his community. With Mrs. Carson (Edith Scott) '19, a son and daughter, he has been in the United States since last May; a second daughter was here before the Japanese occupation of the Philippines.

"Meager Meal" of Chinese foods, served to members of the Faculty and students by the Home Economics Club April 20, consisted of rice without butter, tea without sugar, milk or cream, and a vegetable salad. Total cost for each plate: less than ten cents. Tickets were sold for forty cents, with profits going to Chinese students through the World Student Service Fund.

Parent-Teacher Institute, sponsored by the Department of Education and the New York State Congress of Parents and Teachers, met for the nineteenth year, April 24-26, in Martha Van Rensselaer Hall. Because of travel restrictions, attendance was limited to fifty out-of-town delegates, compared with some 700 in past years. Mrs. Richard O. Jones (Harriet Lohr) '24 was chairman of local arrangements, and principal speakers included Claude L. Kulp, AM '30, superintendent of Ithaca schools; Professor Julian P. Bretz, American History, Emeritus; Professor Flora M. Thurston, Home Economics Education; and Mrs. E. Franklin Phillips, editor of Home Economics publications.

The Faculty

Alumni Trustee George H. Rockwell '13, Class secretary, married Mrs. Mary Palmer Chandler, April 24 in Brookline, Mass. An executive of United-Carr Fastener Corp., Cambridge, Mass., Rockwell was recently named associate chairman for New England of the Committee for Economic Development.

Dean Sarah G. Blanding, Home Economics, appearing at the hearing on the "better diet" bill, told the House agriculture committee in Washington, D. C., April 24, that "this war has proved we do feed our animals better than our children." Recalling a similar statement made by President Herbert Hoover some years ago, she cited the scientifically fed stock of New York State to support her point. Professor Charlotte M. Young, Home Economics, discussed a "set-up table project" here which she said had enabled many young women to join the WAVES and young men to meet Army and Navy physical requirements.

Major Karl M. Dallenbach, PhD '13, commanding officer for the Army Specialized Training Program at the medical schools of the University of Illinois in Chicago, will occupy the Susan Linn Sage Professorship of Psychology upon his return from military service.

Professor Raymond R. Birch '12, Veterinary Medicine, is the new president of the Ithaca Rotary Club, succeeding University Attorney Allan H. Treman '21. He has been vice-president. Professor Benton S. Monroe '96, English, Emeritus, was reelected archivist. Dr. William C. Geer '02 was elected vice-president.

Russell C. Smart, consulting psychologist for Stevenson, Jordan & Harrison, Inc., Chicago, Ill., and Leon J. Yarrow, research assistant at the Iowa Child Welfare Research Station, University of Iowa, joined the Family Life Department of the College of Home Economics, March 1. Dr. Smart, who comes as assistant professor, was on the staff of the Merrill-Palmer School, Detroit, Mich., from 1937-44. He received the AB at Dartmouth and the MA and PhD at University of Minnesota. It's a Wise Parent, on which he collaborated with Mrs. Smart, was published recently. Yarrow, appointed instructor, is a graduate of the University of Pennsylvania in 1941 and received the MA at University of Iowa.

He was previously chief of the overseas replacement branch of the Army Service Forces in Washington, D. C., and staff supervisor of the Army Ground Forces and Service Forces redistribution system. He has also been overseas on the European Theatre of Operations staff.

Professor Ernest J. Simmons, Russian Language and Literature, on leave, spoke April 22 on the CBS radio program, "Invitation to Learning," with Max Lerner of PM and novelist Glenway Wescott. Tolstoy's Anna Karenina was discussed.

Vegetable Production and Marketing by Professor Paul Work, MS '13, Vegetable Crops, has been published by John Wiley & Sons, New York City. The 570-page text has information for gardeners and farmers and is also used in vocational agricultural schools and in elementary college classes.

Professor James W. Papez, Anatomy, was a member of a group of scientists whose research enabled Dr. Roland M. Klemme of St. Louis, Mo., to devise a successful brain operation for shaking palsy. Professor Papez worked on the mechanisms on which the operation was based and on causes of the disturbances in the nerve cells, investigating eighteen cases of the disease.

Professor Lewis W. Morse '28, former Law School librarian, has been promoted to lieutenant colonel in the Army. In July, 1942, he was appointed director of libraries of the Judge Advocate General's Department, in charge of reorganization and enlargement of the central library in Washington and establishment of branch and field libraries for service commands all over the world.

Simple chemical test for determining butter quality has been worked out at the Agricultural Experiment Station. Professor Georges Knaysi '24, Bacteriology, while working on types of fats in the cells of bacteria, perfected the test in 1942. With the help of Professor Edward S. Guthrie, PhD '13, Dairy Industry, it has been applied successfully to butter. Neutral red dye is added to melted fat. Good butter, in the test, is a golden color; a rancid sample becomes dark red.

Professor James T. Quarles, University Organist from 1913-23, has been appointed dean of the fine arts college at the University of Missouri. He and Mrs. Quarles live at 300 Westmount Avenue, Columbia, Mo. Dean Quarles is president of the National Association of Music Teachers.

Professor George H. Serviss, Agronomy, Extension, resigned March 5 to become agronomist for the soil building service of the Co-operative GLF Exchange in Ithaca. He came to Cornell in 1934 after four years with the US Department of Agriculture Bureau of Plant Industry, where he carried on fertilizer research. He did crop and fertilizer research at the University of Arizona from 1926-30.

Professor Herman J. Brueckner, PhD '31, Dairy Industry Extension, resigned February 15, having been a member of the Department since 1929. June 1, 1943, on leave of absence, he went to San Francisco, Cal., to work on quality control of whole milk powder for Golden State Co., Ltd. He is now general plant superintendent of the Golden State dairy firm and lives in Modesto, Cal.

Roy Harris, formerly Composer-in-Residence, has joined the overseas branch of the Office of War Information as chief of the music section of the Radio Program Bureau, the OWI announced April 7. He is on leave from Colorado College, Colorado Springs, Colo., where he has been composer-in-residence. His music has been widely broadcast overseas by the OWI.

The Farmer's Shop Book, written by Professor Louis M. Roehl, Sp '22, Agricultural Engineering, has appeared in its eighth edition and eleventh printing from Bruce Publishing Co., Milwaukee, Wis. It was first published in 1923.

'38 AB—Major Coleman D. ★ Asinof of 37 Sismore Road, Lawrence, writes from Germany where he is in a Field Artillery battalion with the Ninth Army: "Thought you would be interested to know that I have run into Lieutenant Bill Conde '38 in Cherbourg, C.W.O. Ernie Dahmen '38 in Paris, and just recently Captain Jimmie Lyons '40 came up to our command post in the vicinity of the Roer River, prior to the crossing, for a social visit. It was a slow day and the French champagne was flowing freely; I think he wants to transfer to Artillery now."

'39 AB—Sergeant W. Barry Miller ★, who was wounded in action in Germany December 23, is now a patient in Ward 106, Rhoads General Hospital, Utica 5. In a letter of April 23 from his home at 111 Lakeside Drive, Rockville Centre, Long Island, he wrote: "Have enjoyed a couple of week ends on the Campus lately, but being in a cast so long is beginning to wear down my sense of humor. Now that I am visiting home for a while, I have unearthed a lot of old copies of the News that go back to '41, ripped off the covers and best of the pictures and all of Rym Berry's masterpieces and expect to make scrapbooks to comfort me in my old age." Sergeant Miller holds the Purple Heart, the Combat Infantryman and Expert Infantryman Badges, and the Good Conduct Medal.

'40—First Lieutenant Carl M. ★ Fick of 37 Washington Square, West, New York City, has won the Distinguished Flying Cross for "extraordinary achievement" as navigator in three important Eighth Air Force B-17 Flying Fortress bombing missions. He showed "exceptional proficiency in guiding his formations to the assigned targets in devastating attacks despite the danger of adverse weather conditions and anti-aircraft fire on each mission."

'41 DVM—First Lieutenant Joseph Ferris ★, USMCR, is credited with saving the life of a fellow Marine hit by a Japanese shell fragment on Iwo Jima. The man was hurt when they were both serving as forward observers for the Third Marine Division during the fierce fighting for Hotoyama. A jagged piece of steel lodged in his shoulder, the tip penetrating the left lung. Lieutenant Ferris removed the fragment and, while applying first aid, noticed air seeping up through the wound. Clapping the palm of his right hand over the wound, he stopped the flow of air and helped to prevent the lung from collapsing. He and another man carried the wounded Marine 500 yards through fire to a battalion aid station. Lieutenant Ferris, who has been seventeen months in the Pacific, was wounded slightly March 7 but has returned to duty. Mrs. Ferris lives at 915 East State Street, Ithaca.

'41 AB—Dr. Nancy V. Rider, an intern at Cambridge (Mass.) Hospital, was married April 22 to Lieutenant Ronald C. Bishop, Army Medical Corps, in Brooklyn. Patricia A. Hoos '41. Lieutenant Bishop, now interning at Massachusetts General Hospital in Boston, expects to enter active service next month.

'41 DVM—A son, Dale Herbert Simmons, was born April 19 to Dr. Eric W. Simmons and Mrs. Simmons of 286 Pleasant Street, Concord, N. H.

'42, '43 BS in AE(ME)—Lieutenant Edward B. Bruderlin ★ (above) conducts the testing and developing of small arm material at Aberdeen (Md.) Proving Ground. He is doing test and research work, primarily on the 50 caliber aircraft machine gun.

'42 AB—Lieutenant (jg) Frank ★ C. Abbott, USNR, of 32 Brown Street, Hudson, Ohio, is supply and disbursing officer on a destroyer in the Pacific. Since going overseas about a year ago, he has been to Saipan, Tinian, Guam, Formosa, the China Sea, and Tokyo.

'42—William J. Franke, son of Charles A. Franke '11 of 30 Edgehill Street, Little Rock, Ark., is on an LSM in the Pacific.

'42 BS—Second Lieutenant Elis ★ G. Heath, Army Air Corps, who was killed in action in France last August 23, has been posthumously awarded the Air Medal "for meritorious achievement while participating in aerial flight in the Mediterranean Theatre of Operations as pilot of a P-47 type aircraft." "On 13 August 1944," the citation reads, "Lieutenant Heath flew on an eight plane dive bombing mission briefed to attack enemy gun emplacements near * * *, France. Following a well-concentrated bombing of the objective he returned to effectively strafe one of the gun positions and silence its deadly fire."

'42 BS; '15 BS, '16 MS, '18 ★ PhD—Gustave F. Heuser, Jr., USNR, who has returned to the United States after twenty-one months in the Pacific, was promoted to lieutenant October 1. He recently spent a two-weeks leave in Ithaca with his parents, Professor Gustave F. Heuser '15, Poultry Husbandry, and Mrs. Heuser, while awaiting reassignment somewhere on the Atlantic coast.

'42 BArch—First Lieutenant ★ Laurence E. Morier, Jr., is an Artillery aide to Brigadier General Roland P. Shugg, Thirteenth Corps, with the Ninth Army. Overseas since last July, he has been in England, France, Belgium, and Holland. He and Mrs. Morier, the former Ellen Way of Wildwood, N. J., have a daughter, Sara Way Morier, born September 10. Home address, 1028 Cherokee Road, Louisville, Ky.

'42 BS in AE(ME); '38, '39 AB—★ Lieutenant Peter M. Wolff is a project officer in the research section of the AAF Fighter Gunnery Center at Foster Field, Victoria, Tex. His unit develops new ideas on shooting which are employed in teaching fighter pilots how to shoot more accurately in air to air combat, how to dive bomb with success, and how to use rockets effectively. The Center is under the AAF Training Command at Fort Worth, Tex. Major Marshall P. Hoke '38, now fighter gunnery man on the staff of Lieutenant General Barton K. Yount who is in charge of all the AAF Individual Training at Fort Worth, was instrumental in developing this system of training fighter pilots.

CAMP OTTER—35TH SEASON

Leadership in a boys' camp is of utmost importance. CAMP OTTER takes extraordinary care in the selection of its staff of counselors. It is now complete and the Director believes that despite the difficulties of the times, this year's staff will measure up to the high standards of former years. Besides the specialists in handicraft, nature study, athletics, camp craft, swimming and water sports, etc., there will be a resident physician and nurse on the staff.

Since there are just about a half dozen vacancies due to our limiting the enrollment to about 65 boys, it is advisable for parents to either wire or phone the Director if they want to be sure of enrolling their sons for 1945.

years to come," he said. "It was right after bombs away. Our hydraulic lines had been cut and several control cables frayed by flak. The engineer noticed that two of our bombs were stuck in the bomb bays. They had to be gotten out. I held his belt while he swung out over the open bomb bays, with nothing under him except the ground almost 30,000 feet below. Finally the bombs worked loose and the job was done. The sweat was pouring off us despite the fact that the thermometer had stopped at its lowest point, sixty below." IT'S UP TO YOU
TO HELP MAKE
2=3 WITH...

A job for seasoned executives—this 7th War Loan! Especially when we've got to make 2 war loans total just about as much as all 3 in 1944! Putting this over demands the combined and continued efforts of the "No. 1" men of American industry.

This means marshaling your plant drive to make every payday—from now 'til June 30th—do its share toward the success of the 7th. Directing the drive is not enough. It's equally important to check to see that your directions are being carried out—intelligently!

For example, has every employee had:

- 1 an opportunity to see the new Treasury film, "Mr. and Mrs. America"?
- 2 a copy of "How To Get There," the new Finance Division booklet?
- 3 a new bond-holding envelope with explanation of its convenience?
- 4 7th War Loan posters prominently displayed in his or her department?
- 5 information on the department quota—and an urgent personal solicitation to do his or her share?

If you haven't a copy of this important booklet, "7th War Loan Company Quotas," get in touch immediately with your local War Finance Chairman.

Remember, meeting—and beating—your highest-yet 7th War Loan quota is a task calling for "No. 1" executive ability. Your full cooperation is needed to make a fine showing in the 7th! Do not hesitate to ask your local War Finance Chairman for any desired aid. It will be gladly and promptly given.

GREAT DECISION...

A MAN THINKS deeply before he asks the one he loves to share his future for better or for worse. For no decision he can ever make will more completely affect his life and another's, than to become engaged and to marry.

A man wants everything in the world for his beloved wife, and means to have it. And yet he knows that many unexpected things may happen. So he makes another important decision—to protect her for always with insurance on his life. He knows that through Prudential life insurance, her whole future can be made more secure. And, if there are children, their lives as well as hers will be more free from the possibility of hardship and want.

A Prudential representative will gladly show you how Prudential policies have been especially designed for family needs. He will help you decide which kind of protection you should have, and which payment plan is best suited to your circumstances. Call him today, and have a friendly talk with him.
