Reaching into a lost world ... for a plastic you use every day

Massive creatures once slogged through endless swamps, feeding on huge ferns, luxuriant rushes and strange pulp-like trees. After ruling for 100 million years, the giant animals and plants vanished forever beneath the surface with violent upheavals in the earth's crust. Over a long period, they gradually turned into great deposits of oil and natural gas. And today, Union Carbide converts these vast resources into a modern miracle—the widely-used plastic called polyethylene.

Millions of feet of tough, transparent polyethylene film are used each year to protect the freshness of perishable foods such as fruits and vegetables. Scores of other useful things are made from polyethylene . . . unbreakable kitchenware, alive with color . . . bottles that dispense a fine spray with a gentle squeeze . . . electrical insulation for your television antenna, and even for trans-oceanic telephone cables.

Polyethylene is only one of many plastics and chemicals that Union Carbide creates from oil and natural gas. By constant research into the basic elements of nature, the people of Union Carbide bring new and better products into your everyday life.

Cornell men in good company

Cornell men who are policyholders, field representatives or staff members of the Massachusetts Mutual are in good company . . . with a good Company.

You will like the Massachusetts Mutual, one of a small group of life insurance companies known and respected as the "Old New England Companies."

Since the Massachusetts Mutual Life Insurance Company was founded in 1851, its management has been sound and conservative, its policies progressive and liberal, and its practices always dedicated to the best interests of its policyholders.

Massachusetts Mutual representatives — most of them husbands, fathers and homeowners — are men of high character. They are successful men, the kind you like to know and do business with, the kind you are glad to welcome into your home.

EXPANDING THE FRONTIERS OF SPACE TECHNOLOGY

Lockheed Missiles and Space Division is systems manager for such major, long-range projects as the Navy POLARIS Fleet Ballistic Missile; the AGENA satellite in the DISCOVERER program, under the direction of the Air Force Ballistic Missile Division (ARDC); MIDAS infrared detection satellite system; SAMOS satellite program; Air Force X-7; and Army KINGFISHER.

These programs include: applied mathematics; celestial mechanics; computer research and development; electromagnetic wave propagation and radiation; electronics; the flight sciences; human engineering; hydrodynamics; man in space; materials and processes; operations research and analysis; ionic, nuclear and plasma propulsion and exotic fuels; sonics; space communications; space medicine; space navigation; and space physics.

Headquarters for the Division are at Sunnyvale, California, on the San Francisco Peninsula, and research and development facilities are in the Stanford Industrial Park in Palo Alto and at Van Nuys in the San Fernando Valley. Facilities are new and modern and include the latest in technical equipment. A 4,000 acre Division-owned static test base in the Ben Lomond mountains near Santa Cruz provides for all phases of static field test. In addition, flight test facilities are provided at Cape Canaveral, Florida, and Vandenberg AFB, Santa Maria, California.

It takes more than pressing a button to send a giant rocket on its way. Actually, almost as many man-hours go into the design and construction of the support equipment as into the missile itself. A leading factor in the reliability of Douglas missile systems is the company's practice of including all the necessary ground handling units, plus detailed procedures for system utilization and crew training. This complete job allows Douglas missiles to move quickly from test to operational status and perform with outstanding dependability. ## Bill McDonald delivers a policy for $250,000 after only 8 months of selling life insurance

Bill McDonald had a fine record as an enlisted man and commissioned officer in flight engineering. After his discharge, Bill wanted a career where his initiative would enable him to get ahead fast. A job where his earnings would be directly related to his efforts and ability.

A leading Sacramento employment agency told Bill that life insurance selling — and specifically, life insurance selling with New England Life — would give him the best opportunity to realize his ambitions. He went to our General Agent in Sacramento and was impressed by what this company could do for him. He was especially interested in the training and supervisory support which would quickly prepare him to enter the more challenging areas of estate and business security planning.

Bill has done an outstanding job. This quarter-million dollar policy is representative of the kind of performance that brought him our Rookie of the Year Award for 1959.

If a career like Bill McDonald's appeals to you, there may be a place for you with New England Life. Men who meet and maintain our requirements get a regular income right from the start and can work practically anywhere in the United States.

What's ahead for you... after you join Western Electric?

Anywhere you look — in engineering and other professional areas — the answer to that question is progress. For Western Electric is on a job of ever-increasing complexity, both as the manufacturing and supply unit of the Bell System and as a part of many defense communications and missile projects.

These two assignments mean you'll find yourself in the thick of things in such fast-breaking fields as microwave radio relay, electronic switching, miniaturization and automation. You may engineer installations, plan distribution of equipment and supplies. Western also has need for field engineers, whose world-wide assignments call for working with equipment we make for the Government. The opportunities are many — and they're waiting!

You'll find that Western Electric is career-minded . . . and you-minded! Progress is as rapid as your own individual skills permit. We estimate that 8,000 supervisory jobs will open in the next ten years — the majority to be filled by engineers. There will be corresponding opportunities for career building within research and engineering. Western Electric maintains its own full-time, all-expenses-paid engineering training program. And our tuition refund plan also helps you move ahead in your chosen field.

Western Electric's needs include electrical, mechanical, chemical, civil and industrial engineers, as well as men in the physical sciences. ## A Gift With Intelligence:

Clark Family Helps English Teaching

BY PROFESSOR WILLIAM R. KEAST

FOR MORE THAN TWO YEARS, John M. Clark '29 and Mrs. Clark (Emily Blood) '30 of Wilmington, Del. have supported grants to assist scholarly research by members of the Department of English. They established the Department of English Grant-in-aid Fund anonymously in July, 1957, to help improve instruction in a basic subject in the College of Arts & Sciences. At first, the Fund provided $5000 a year for grants to junior members of the Department. Now they have increased it to $7000 a year to allow grants also to some senior members. The Fund's aid for the professional development of members of the Department of English helps the College to recruit and maintain first class scholar-teachers.

Junior Faculty members were singled out to receive the bulk of the grants for several reasons. They are most heavily engaged in underclass instruction, and hence their quality has a decisive effect on the Arts College underclassmen. This year, for example, the nineteen instructors and twelve assistant professors in the Department are responsible for more than half the instruction given in the Freshman English course required of all students in the University. The teaching done by junior members of the Department, since it involves much paper-reading and student conferences, leaves them little time for research and writing. And younger Faculty members have relatively few of the opportunities for relief from regular duties that are available to more mature scholars: sabbatic leaves are some distance in the future; Guggenheim and Fulbright awards usually go to established scholars; contracts for sponsored research are virtually unknown in the humanities. It is especially important to the present welfare and future prestige of the University, therefore, that its most promising younger teachers be given opportunities to pursue the scholarship on which their future work will rest.

In the last two and a half years, the Department of English Grant-in-aid Fund has provided grants ranging from $25 to $1000 to eighteen teachers in the Department. Their uses have varied widely. Several grants have been made for purchase of microfilms and photocopies of rare or inaccessible research materials. Several have been used for secretarial assistance, notably for the typing of books and articles: manuscripts of five books by junior members of the Department have been completed with aid from the Fund. Twelve of the recipients have used their grants for research trips to libraries elsewhere in the United States, in England, and on the Continent. An especially valuable result of the Fund has been the Department's ability to buy additional instructional time to reduce the teaching load of a Faculty member while he is bringing a research project to completion. Six members of the Department have thus been given teaching relief in the last two years.

Support Scholarly Work

Among the scholarly projects that have been supported by the Grant-in-aid Fund are books on Matthew Arnold by Robert A. Donovan, William Faulkner by Walter Slatoff, Arnold Bennett by James Hepburn, Sir Philip Sidney by Ephim Fogel, and John Marston by Anthony Caputi. The Fund has also assisted James Rosier's studies of Old English and Elizabethan lexicography; John Senior's work on the occult in modern literature; Robert Durling's study of the Renaissance epic; John Feil's investigation of the career of the seventeenth-century man of letters, Sir Tobie Matthew; and Robert Langbaum's study of the Danish short-story writer, Isak Dinesen. One of the most unusual enterprises which has received support from the Fund is the Concordance to the Poetic Works of Matthew Arnold, prepared on an IBM 704 computer. This work, the first in a new series of Cornell Concordances, was edited by Professor Stephen M. Parrish and was published last fall by the Cornell University Press. Professor Parrish is now completing a similar concordance to the poems of William Butler Yeats. Among the research projects of senior members of the Department, grants have been made to Professor Robert M. Adams for a critical study of Joyce's Ulysses and to Professor Baxter Hathaway for a study of Renaissance literary criticism.

The Department of English Grant-in-aid Fund is administered by a Department committee. In making awards the committee is guided by three principles: first, that no grant should be made for a purpose which can be supported by an alternative source, in the regular budget or elsewhere; second, that the grants should be used primarily to assist in the professional development of the Department's most promising younger members; and third, that merit and not simply need should be decisive in making awards.

Fund Assists Teachers

The Department of English is deeply grateful to Mr. and Mrs. Clark for the generosity and vision that led them to establish the Grant-in-aid Fund. Grants from the Fund have facilitated work that would have had to be postponed, provided services that members of the Department would have had to do without or wastefully provide for themselves, and have helped get the rarest commodity in academic life: free time for scholarly work. The Fund has given support to a large number of valuable scholarly undertakings, and it has made an important contribution to raising the quality of teaching in the Department. I hope that the example set by Mr. and Mrs. Clark will encourage others interested in promoting the joint cause of scholarship and teaching to provide similar funds for other Departments in the College.

Clark is general manager of the Du Pont photo products department in Wilmington. He is the son of the late Eugene B. Clark '94 and holds three Cornell degrees: BChem '29, MChem '31, and PhD '33. He is a member of the University Council and College of Arts & Sciences Council and took part in a symposium on the liberal studies at Cornell during the University Council meetings here in 1957. He was formerly president of the Cornell Club of Delaware and a member of the National Secondary Schools Committee; was a member of the Musical Clubs and circulation manager of The Widow; is a member of

Sigma Phi, Sigma Xi, and Pi Delta Epsilon. Mrs. Clark is the daughter of the late Charles H. Blood '88 of Ithaca, who was a University Trustee for twenty-three years. She received the AB in 1930; was a member of the Arts College honor committee and active in WSGA; is a member of Alpha Phi and Phi Beta Kappa. John M. Clark, Jr. '54 and Charles B. Clark '58 are their sons.

Veterinarians Gather Again

FIFTY-SECOND annual Conference for Veterinarians brought 480 veterinarians from the northeastern United States to the Campus, January 6-8. Registration was more than 750, with 218 Veterinary students and some seventy members of the College Faculty.

Highlights of the busy three-day meeting were the establishment of a Veterinary Student Loan Fund honoring Former Dean William A. Hagan, MS '17, by the Veterinary Alumni Association; and provision of a lecture in memory of Dr. Raymond R. Birch '12, professor of Veterinary Research who died last September, by members of his Class.

Alumni Give Loan Fund

A check for $7100 establishing the Loan Fund was presented by Professor Gordon Danks '33, Veterinary Surgery, to University Budget Director Paul L. McKeegan at an Alumni Association dinner meeting in the Ithaca Hotel. Professor Danks cited Professor Hagan for his contributions to the growth of the College and for his teaching and research here and throughout the world. "It is not unusual," Professor Danks said, "that the alumni should wish to honor him in some tangible manner, in a way that will perpetuate his name on the Campus, that future students may know who for so many years gave unselfishly of his time for the improvement of the profession." A past-president of the American Veterinary Medical Association, Professor Hagan was professor of Veterinary Pathology & Bacteriology from 1918-32 and Dean of the College from 1932 until his retirement last June. He left Ithaca last month to become director of the National Animal Disease Laboratory in Ames, Iowa.

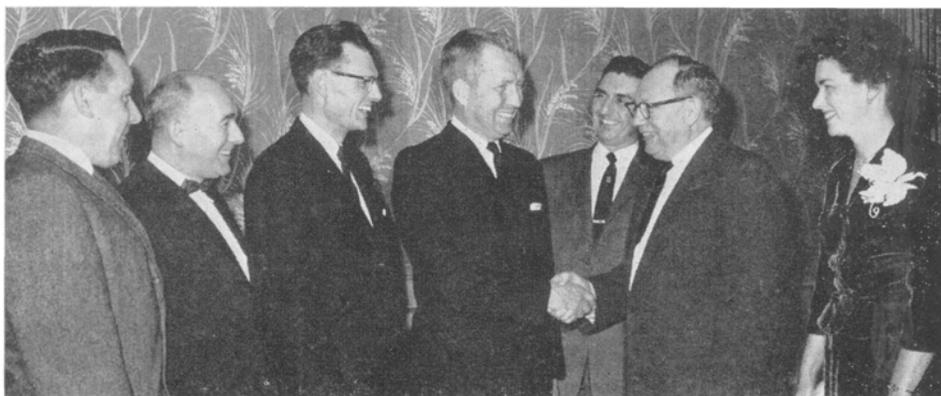

The first Raymond R. Birch Memorial Lecture was given during the Conference by Dr. Douglas G. Blood, professor of medicine in the veterinary college of University of Toronto.

Present Faculty Portraits

Two long-time members of the Veterinary Faculty were honored by alumni and colleagues at the Conference dinner in Statler Hall. Professors Henry H. Dukes and Joseph A. Dye, PhD '25, Veterinary Physiology, will retire next June. Their portraits were presented to Dean George C. Poppensiek, MS '51, by Dr. E. Nathan Coye '43 of Lyons, newly elected president of the Veterinary Alumni Association. Dr. Arthur Trayford '27 of Huntington was elected vice-president and Professor Stephen J. Roberts '38, Veterinary Medicine, was re-elected secretary-treasurer.

The Veterinary Class of '40 commemorated its twentieth year since graduation by presenting $200 to the College Library for the purchase of books. The Class held a Twenty-year Reunion dinner with their wives and Faculty members who were teaching in 1940.

As in former years, the Conference offered the visiting veterinarians a wide range of professional lectures and demonstrations by Faculty members and others. Alumni speakers included Drs. Alan A. Creamer '43, manager of the veterinary department, Merck, Sharp & Dohme, West Point, Pa.; Donald J. Dean '41, veterinary consultant to the New York State Health Department; John H. Graves '47 of the Plum Island Animal Disease Laboratories, US Department of Agriculture; Peter C. Kennedy, PhD '54, professor of veterinary pathology at University of California at Davis; A. Donald Rankin '39, associate medical director of Squibb & Co., New Brunswick, N.J.; Leon Z. Saunders, PhD '51, head of the pathology and toxicology section of Smith, Kline & French Laboratories, Philadelphia, Pa.; and Alexander Zeissig '23, director of veterinary research for Merck, Sharp & Dohme.

Is Cornell Too Big?

YOUR REPORTER, thanks to Don Hershey's diligence as Class of '27 correspondent and secretarial factotum, has become a minor buffer in an argument between Hershey and Dee Walsh '27. Dee, remarking on Don's extensive questionnaire for Class "personals," praised it as one communication not concerned with money. Most mail from Cornell, waving a tin cup, Walsh feels is evidence that the University has grown too big and impersonal for its own good. Don flatly disagrees with him (perhaps on evidence presented by his two Cornell sons) and has suggested that I do a piece on the subject.

I cannot find myself wholly agreeing with either debater. Unquestionably, if the Ag Campus spreads out any farther to the east, the men's dormitories will have to be equipped with autogyros to get the future agronomists and dairymen to classes on time. And it is difficult to deny Dee Walsh's contention that mail to the alumni bristles with yowls for their hard-earned millions. On the other hand, some Colleges were quite self-contained units in our day; among such, I recall a certain cliquishness about the College of Architecture, which probably colors the opinion of Hershey, an addict of the drafting board. Fund-raising we have always with us; which doesn't make it entirely damnable. Alumni contributions are the price we pay for insuring that government bureaucrats don't have too much say in determining what our candidates for liberal arts and professional degrees shall read or think.

We Knew Professors

If I incline slightly toward Walsh's side of the argument, it is because an alumnus twenty years our junior tells me he went through both Arts and the Law School without once having had meaningful personal acquaintance with a professor. Should this be general, it seems disturbing indeed and contrasts markedly with my experience as a student in Arts & Sciences. Our intimate contact with genuinely distinguished professors was often more rewarding than any other college experience. Moreover, such intimacies might begin even in one's second year. One instance of this was the broad and tolerant spirit of Martin W. Sampson, head of the English Department in my time.

Neither his students nor his Faculty associates fully appreciated Martin Sampson during his lifetime; the innocent reason being that none of us knew how far-seeing he was. For instance, Sampson anticipated by twenty years the recent realization that Henry James's novels are among the glories of American literature. He foresaw that often the young graduate student who could write or teach would prove far more valuable to the world than the painstakingly accurate scholarship that produced Doctoral dissertations entitled "An Inquiry into the Nasal Grunts in English." Therefore his guidance, though sometimes decried by pedants, gave free play to such men as Herbie Muller '25, now a top-flight writer of both history and literary criticism.

Sampson Inspired Students

In Sampson's courses, English literature became not a dry culling of antiquated language, but a demonstration that the great refreshing gale of inspired writing which began with Chaucer was still alive and roaring in the tree-tops. English 22, his course in Modern English & American Poetry, was one of those lecture series which literally pack them into the aisles. Standing-room-only was the rule when Sampson talked on Byron's "Don Juan," and his achievements in making college sophomores really understand Wordsworth were amazing. "Listen, the mighty being is awake/And doth with his eternal motion make/A sound like thunder, everlasting." Few of us who heard the long sea-call of that line in Sampson's beautiful voice have ever forgotten it, or needed to ask again what a great falling cadence was. Then, in the second term, Sampson, a pioneer among professors, dared to assign the controversial Monroe-Henderson anthology called The New Poetry, and the Soph's feet went tapping to the crash and beat of Vachel Lindsay's "The Congo" or the haunting strain of A. E. Housman, and Anglo-American poetry entered the life-blood of many a student.

Nor, although this was a lecture course with a huge attendance, did Professor Sampson hold himself aloof from second-year students. Undrilled by the teachers' colleges of our day, Sampson never acquired the habit of giving true-false prelims that could be scored 1500 a minute by IBM. Instead, he demanded that students write their ideas upon various poems, and he read those ideas personally if they appealed to the needy and brilliant young men who served as his markers. Really good papers got a Sophomore an interview with the head of the English Department, and if he managed to deepen the favorable impression he had made, he might receive the accolade of an invitation to the Manuscript Club even in his second year.

The Manuscript Club's reputation can be gauged from its having been well and faithfully attended, even though it met on Saturday nights. The long, low living room of the Sampson home on Seneca Street was book-lined and fire-lit. Sampson picked our contributions out of a bucket. They could be unsigned if we wished, which led to some uproarious ribaldry. And the company was grand, especially when alumni of the MS. Club happened to be in town. George Jean Nathan '04, America's ace dramatic critic, might drop in; or Frank Sullivan '14 or E. B. White '21 of the New Yorker; or Morris Bishop '14, with a preview of a piece of light verse to appear in the Saturday Evening Post; or Kenneth Roberts '08, a burly man from Maine who had not yet written Rabble in Arms and Northwest Passage. There was one unforgettable night, too, when I drank sour red wine in the Senate after the Manuscript Club adjourned; my companions being Professor Sampson and a slim, modest Oriental named Hu Shih '14, who was then translating the Mandarin classics into dialects that would make them available to the Chinese at large and who was to become his country's Ambassador to the U.S.

Cornell was big even in my day; but a man like Sampson could make it and the world outside seem small and precious.

Alumni Directory Appears

LONG AWAITED, the 1960 Alumni Directory of the University is being mailed to some 1600 advance purchasers who ordered and paid for the book since it was announced last summer.

The new Directory is a monumental volume of 1092 pages. The last one appeared in 1938. This one contains the names of all the more than 97,000 living alumni who registered for regular courses in the University, both as undergraduates and as graduate and special students. The main body of the book is an alphabetical listing with full name, address as on record with the University July 10, 1959, Class, years of attendance, and course or degrees. Maiden names of married alumnae are cross-referenced to their married names.

Names of some 76,800 alumni who were undergraduates here are also listed according to Classes, separately for women and men. The women's Class lists show also the maiden names of married alumnae. Classes run from '79 with one living member through '59 with 2280 members recorded.

A third section, of 202 pages, six columns to a page, has alumni listed by States and postoffices within the United States and by countries and cities abroad. More than 15,000 places in all fifty States are included, and seventy-seven foreign countries, from Afghanistan to Yugoslavia.

The book has a three-page summary and interpretation of "The Cornell Idea" contributed by Professor Morris Bishop '14, University Historian.

Publication of the Directory was made possible by a gift from the Nordberg Foundation, through the interest of Robert E. Friend '08, president, and James A. Friend '16, senior vice-president, of Nordberg Manufacturing Co., Milwaukee, Wis. University Printer M. R. Kerns was in charge of design and production, with assistance of Mrs. Richard M. Ramin (Frances Anthony), AM '52. The work was planned under a special committee of the Alumni Association composed of Professor A. Wright Gibson '17 and Mrs. Thomas T. Mackie (Helen Holme) '29, University Trustees, and Walter K. Nield '27, former president of the Association.

Three thousand copies of the 1960 Alumni Directory were printed. It may be ordered, with payment at $10 a copy, postpaid, from Cornell University Printer, Day Hall, Ithaca.

Professor Bishop '14 Retires

MORRIS G. BISHOP '14, Kappa Alpha Professor of Romance Literature, retired February 3 and was elected emeritus professor by the Board of Trustees. He continues as University Historian and a Faculty Trustee.

Professor Bishop is widely known as a scholar, biographer, translator, and author of light verse and fiction. His biographical works include The Life and Adventures of La Rouchefoucauld; Ronsard, Prince of Poets; Pascal, the Life of Genius; Champlain, the Life of Fortitude; and The Odyssey of Cabeza de Vaca. He wrote a two-volume Survey of French Literature and translated the Love Rimes of Petrarch and Moliere's "Le Malade Imaginaire," first performed in 1956 by the Dramatic Club. Professor Bishop has also written A Gallery of Eccentrics and edited A Treasury of British Humor. He is a collector of limericks and his humorous verse appears frequently in magazines, notably The New Yorker, and is in three books: A Bowl of Bishop, Spilt Milk, and Paramount Poems ("If It Isn't a Paramount, It Isn't a Poem"). With the nom de plume of W. Bolingbroke Johnson, he wrote The Widening Stain, a murder mystery which takes place on a college campus (Cornellians have no difficulty in recognizing which college campus).

Born in nearby Willard, Professor Bishop entered Arts & Sciences from

Books for Bishop—Professor Morris Bishop '14 (left), University Historian & Trustee, who retired February 3 as Kappa Alpha Professor of Romance Literature, and President Deane W. Malott examine the diary of a Frenchman who fought under George Washington and Napoleon. The rare, three-volume, hand-written diary, "discovered" by Professor Bishop last summer in France, was purchased for the University Library to commemorate his retirement after thirty-nine years as a member of the Faculty.

Yonkers High School in 1910 and received the AB in 1913 and AM a year later. He was elected to Phi Beta Kappa in 1913; was a member of the Manuscript Club and Janus, president of the Savage Club, and on the Era board. After three years in business, he was commissioned first lieutenant of Infantry and served in France and as a member of the American Relief Administration mission to Finland in 1919.

He came back to the Graduate School in 1921 and was instructor in Romance Languages, receiving the PhD and becoming assistant professor in 1926. Associate editor of the ALUMNI NEWS from 1926-34, he wrote "The Week on the Campus" and then, briefly, a column, "Just Looking Around." In 1936, he was promoted to professor and named chairman of the Department, a post he held until he resigned it in 1957. He was appointed in 1945 the first incumbent of the Kappa Alpha Professorship. On leave during World War II, he was director of the Italian section overseas radio for the Office of War Information, and later was with the Third Army in France and Germany and assistant radio chief of the Twelfth Army Group in Luxembourg.

In 1919, he was decorated with the Order of the White Rose by the Finnish government and in 1937, he was made Officer d'Academie of France. After World War II, the French government named him Chevalier de la Legion d'Honneur. He holds honorary degrees from University of Rennes, Union College, Laval University, Hofstra, and Colgate. In 1954, he was made an honorary citizen of Quebec City, Canada, for his biography of Samuel de Champlain, founder of Quebec City and first governor of New France. Professor Bishop is a member of the American Academy of Arts & Sciences and of the Senate of the Phi Beta Kappa Society of America and was vice-president of the DeWitt Historical Society of Tompkins County.

Since 1957, he has been a Faculty Trustee of the University. In 1956, he was appointed University Historian, a post which had been vacant since the death of Professor Carl L. Becker, History, in 1945. He was the first president of the Library Associates; was treasurer for many years of Book & Bowl; and is a member of the Humanities Council, established in 1957 by the College of Arts & Sciences. He has spoken frequently at alumni gatherings and presides as Marshal at Commencements. Mrs. Bishop is the daughter of the late Albert Kingsbury '89. She assisted Ezra Winter with the murals in Willard Straight Hall and painted those in the new Gannett Clinic.

At the Trustees' meeting in New York City, January 23, President Malott announced that as a tribute to Professor Bishop, the University had acquired for the Library a rare, three-volume, hand-written diary of a French soldier-of-fortune who fought under George Washington in the American Revolution and later in the armies of Napoleon. Professor Bishop found the Journal d'un Emigré by Denis duBouchet in France last summer and recommended that the Library purchase it; but he did not know that it had been acquired until the volumes were produced at the Trustees' meeting, in his honor.

For Serious Discussion

THE FORUM, a new student publication, published its first issue last October 14, and the next three appeared November 5, December 1, and January 14. The first issue announced that the publication and its sponsoring organization, the Cornell Forum, aim to bring to the Campus "the stimulation of an outlet for a level of intellectual discussion which is now afforded by no institutional facility." Credit for support was given to Watermargin, Telluride, Young Israel, and the Men's Independent Council and to six members of the Faculty. The Cornell Forum has arranged lectures and discussion groups and the publication was announced as "a journal in which a student can have published any body of serious thought . . . of any ideological context whatever." This concept seems to be materializing, if seriousness and scope of the articles in the first four issues are indicative.

Gerald Friedberg '60 of Brooklyn is editor-in-chief of The Forum and Barton J. Winokur '61 of Philadelphia, Pa. is business manager. Charles Levenstein '60 of Ithaca is president of the Cornell Forum. The Forum, appearing every three weeks, is priced at 25 cents a copy, $2 a year. Its address is Willard Straight Hall, Ithaca.

IT IS THE FASHION now in some quarters to criticize fraternities as being anti-intellectual. Showing that they can be useful for education in communal living, the Cornell Chapter of Kappa Sigma aranged an interesting district conclave, January 15 & 16, and invited the other fraternities here to send representatives. The late "Davy" Hoy '91, father and grandfather of the Chapter and sometime national president of Kappa Sigma, would have been delighted. The idea came from District Grand Master (president) Robert L. Kenerson '44, former Varsity wrestler born and raised in Ithaca and now in Buffalo.

The Place of Fraternities

The first discussion subject was "A Fraternity and Its Purpose," with R. Selden Brewer '40 as moderator. Professor Charles I. Sayles '26, Hotel Engineering, stressed the ability to work in groups and how the group accentuates the individual, sometimes negatively in "goofing off." Stuart M. Pindell, Jr. '60 of Phi Gamma Delta, IFC president, warned that a closed-mind attitude could be the fraternities' downfall. Professor Stuart M. Brown, Jr. '37, Philosophy, not a fraternity enthusiast, recognized some changes and progress. Assistant Dean Hadley S. DePuy, Coordinator of Student Affairs and a Sigma Pi at St. Lawrence, remarked that "an awful lot of people have got a lot of satisfaction and pleasure" in fraternities. He distributed constructive suggestions from the National Interfraternity Conference, and his own, and an article by Andrew Dickson White from The Forum of May, 1887, on "College Fraternities." President White stated pros and cons and closed with: "My contention is that they reduce certain inevitable evils in college life to a minimum, that they produce good in many ways, and that, when college authorities deal with them in a large-minded spirit, they can be made to do still more good." Discussion was spirited, as in all the meetings. For instance, the necessity of lifetime membership and of national affiliation was questioned. DePuy gave a good rushing tip: stress fraternity ideals, not just creature comforts. Kenerson called the fraternity a tool of education and said that members were not selfish enough in making the most of their opportunities.

"Philosophy of a College Education" that evening was led by William H. Orr '52, research assistant in Engineering Physics. J. Duncan Sells '49, Director of Financial Aids, said education is a lifelong occupation. Assistant Director William H. Erickson, Electrical Engineering, stirred things up with extracts from his recent article in The Cornell Engineer expressively titled, "How to Not Get an Education." Sample: a cut means loss of instruction costing $2.50 to $12 an hour. He also told of teaching a class "like adults," with no roll taken and voluntary computing sessions; results were ghastly. Good students told him, "Never try that again!" John Summerskill, Vice President for Student Affairs, asserted that industry recruiters now are interested in sheer talent and ability; no more is there a premium on social status. "The fraternity has a plus-factor in its living unit such as the University can't afford," he said. Associate Dean of Men Eugene Haun, recently from Penn, said, "Non-educational activities are merely fluff." He directs student counselors in the dorms; spoke highly of the Faculty, though he said he had had complaints of Faculty 'time-servers.' There was talk of the "publish or perish" system in university faculties.

Star of the show, making a profound impression, was Professor S. C. Hollister, recent Dean of Engineering. He believes a high-school education is enough for survival, but it takes further study to develop leaders, reasoners who can see the scene in all its components. He abhors the 'contented cow' philosophy of education. A Syracuse chapter delegate said that students are too sheep-skin-conscious and one from Hobart warned against an anti-intellectual attitude.

A session on "The Fraternity and the Community" was conducted by Robert Z. Fowler '53, local Kappa Sigma adviser and a GE Advanced Electronics engineer. He told of the national fraternity's stress on responsibility of chapters to train for citizenship. He liked work projects and was backed in this by an undergrad who spoke of the satisfaction and fun the fraters had had in cleaning up the Boy Scout camp and in children's parties. John L. Munschauer '40, Director of Placement and president of the Cornell Resident Advisers Association, belittled work projects as somewhat "phony," particularly if done purely for public relations and not altruistically. He wanted improved relations with the Faculty and in meeting foreign students.

Headliner here was Ithaca Mayor Ralph C. Smith '15, who helped pay his Freshman year expenses by working in the Kappa Sig kitchen and harked back to it with pleasure. He remembered the pre-dormitory 'students-are-a-necessary-nuisance' days, saying that they are much more mature when they come downtown now. He highly approved of work jobs; said they generate a tremendous amount of good will. He singled out the recent record-breaking blood-bank giving, run by the ROTC brigade. The Ithaca Journal's lead editorial of January 19 hailed the two-day, 630-pint harvest and closed with: "These Cornell students have set a fine example of generosity." Mayor Smith pointed to the large number of Cornell alumni who live in Ithaca and said that half the people on City boards (most of them unpaid) are Cornellians. With this makeup, "Ithaca can't help but be approaching the ideal community."

I like it too!

THE FACULTY

President Deane W. Malott and Mrs. Malott and Professor Norman S. Moore '23, Clinical & Preventive Medicine, and Mrs. Moore spent the Christmas holidays in Guatemala. They were entertained at a party for the Cornellians of Guatemala at the home of Roberto C. Rios, MBA '59, in Guatemala City. President Malott addressed the annual dinner meeting of the Tompkins County United Fund in Statler Hall, February 3.

Former Trustee Walter S. Carpenter, Jr. '10, chairman of the board of directors of E. I. du Pont de Nemours & Co., is pictured on the cover and is the subject of a seven-page, illustrated article in the January-February number of Better Living, Du Pont employee magazine. Included is a picture of Carpenter Hall, Engineering library and administration building at the University, as one of Carpenter's gifts to education.

Former Trustee Edward R. Eastman is chairman of the 1960 Heart Fund campaign in Tompkins County. He is president and former editor of American Agriculturist and contributes to it regularly. Since August, 1957, he has written a weekly column, "Let's Visit Awhile," for The Ithaca Journal. He served on the State Board of Regents and at the time of his retirement, April 1, 1956, he was its vice-chancellor.

Professor Glenn W. Herrick '96, Entomology, Emeritus, 219 Kelvin Place, Ithaca, was ninety years old, January 5. His son, Marvin T. Herrick '21, is professor of English at University of Illinois, Urbana; Stephen M. Herrick '27 is with the US Geological Survey in Atlanta, Ga.; and Mrs. John M. Raines (Ann Herrick) '31 lives in Norman, Okla. There are four grandchildren. Mrs. Herrick (Nannie Burke) '97 died in 1957.

Director David B. Williams '43 of the Foreign Student Office will be on leave from March 1 until the middle of June to visit colleges and schools in Latin America with a grant from the Rockefeller Foundation. The first of its kind awarded by the Foundation, the grant is designed to assist Williams in working with students who come to the University from that area. Central and South America were chosen for his trips because in the last ten years, some 600 students from there have come to Cornell. He hopes to gain information that will be helpful in evaluating the preparation of students who come from there and to enlist the help of Cornellians and others in finding the best qualified students for the University. "It will be most helpful to visit the universities and schools in Latin America," he says. "The trip should greatly benefit the work of my office and our international education program at Cornell." After a month in Mexico, he will travel in El Salvador, Honduras, Costa Rica, Panama, Colombia, Ecuador, Peru, Bolivia, Chile, Argentina, Brazil, Trinidad, Venezuela, and Jamaica.

Faculty members and alumni of the Department of Speech & Drama, and the Speech Association of America, paid special tribute to Everett Lee Hunt, Public Speaking, 1918-26, Emeritus Dean of Swarthmore College. A Cornell luncheon, December 28 at the Statler-Hilton Hotel in Washington, during conventions of the American Educational Theatre Association and the Speech Association of America, honored Dean Hunt with addresses by Professor Herbert A. Wichelns '16, Speech & Drama, and Professor Richard Murphy of University of Illinois. A special session of the SA meetings, presided over by Professor Wilbur E. Gilman '23 of Queens College, Public Speaking, 1925-26, was devoted to papers on rhetoric prepared in honor of Dean Hunt's contributions to teaching and research in public speaking, rhetoric, and English literature. He is widely known for his researches and published papers on theories of rhetoric, particularly Platonic and Aristotelian. Professors Carroll C. Arnold, George A. McCalmon, and John F. Wilson also attended the meetings.

The Avian Embryo: Structural and Functional Development, by Professor Alexis L. Romanoff '25, Chemical Embryology, Poultry Husbandry, was published in December by Macmillan at $35. Like Professor Romanoff's predecessor volume, The Avian Egg, published in 1948, this is an exhaustive treatise of more than 1350 pages, with many illustrations by the author.

Professor Gordon M. Kirkwood, MA '39, Classics, was presented the Award of Merit of the American Philological Association at its recent convention in New York City. He received the Award, given each year to a member of the Association in recognition of outstanding authorship, for his book, A Study of Sophoclean Drama, published in 1958 by the Cornell University Press. Professor James Hutton '24, Classics, was elected a director of the Association. Professor Friedrich Solmsen, Classics, as president, was in charge of a meeting of the Society for Ancient Greek Philosophy.

Neal R. Stamp '40, Associate University Counsel, has been promoted to Secretary of the Corporation and Secretary of the Board of Trustees. He succeeds Robert B. Meigs '26, who resigned to devote full time to his increasing duties as University Counsel. Stamp has been Assistant Secretary of the Corporation and Assistant Secretary of the Board of Trustees since 1948. He continues as Associate University Counsel. Stamp received the AB in 1940 and LLB in 1942. After overseas service with the US Fifth Army during World War II, he practiced law with the Rochester law firm of Webster, Lamb & Webster until he returned to the University in 1947 as assistant to the University Counsel. Mrs. Stamp is the former Maja Cavetz '41.

Karl E. H. Moltrecht and John M. Allderige joined the Sibley School of Mechanical Engineering this fall as associate professors. Professor Moltrecht is head of the Department of Materials Processing. He came from University of Michigan, where he did advanced work in machining and process engineering. He was also with the export division of Chrysler Corp., and assisted in coordination and solution of manufacturing problems for overseas plants. Professor Allderige is in Industrial & Engineering Administration. A graduate of Yale with the Columbia MS in industrial engineering, he has been management consultant for Allerton Chemical Works in Rochester and was in the work measurement group at Eastman Kodak.

Professor Donald E. Wilson, Food Science & Technology at the Geneva Experiment Station since 1954, has resigned to join Pet Milk Co. as chief of technical services in the product development division at their research center in Greenville, Ill.

In a year's exchange with Chalmers Technical University of Gothenburg, Sweden, starting in February, Professor Lester F. Eastman '52, Electrical Engineering, will travel to Sweden and Professor Sven Olving of the electrical engineer school at Chalmers will come to Cornell.

Robert A. Saunders '36, an Associate Director of University Development, is president of the Trumansburg board of education.

Director of Athletics Robert J. Kane '34 has been elected chairman of the Intercollegiate Rowing Association. The fifty-eighth IRA regatta will be in Syracuse, June 18.

Trustee Vacancy

FOR THE FIRST TIME since the University was chartered in 1865, there is no member of Ezra Cornell's family on the Board of Trustees. The Charter provides that "the eldest lineal male descendant of Ezra Cornell shall be a Trustee during his life." Next after the late William E. Cornell '40, who died last November 12, would be his son, Ezra Cornell, great-great-great grandson of the Founder. But young Ezra is eleven years old, and New York State law prohibits a minor from serving as a director or trustee of a corporation. The future Trustee is a student at Brookdale School in Bloomfield, N.J. He will be twenty-one November 16, 1969.

Sports Halt for Finals

AT THE BREAK for mid-year examinations, only one Varsity team, the rifle team, remained undefeated. The famed wrestling team took a 22-8 beating from powerful Penn State, January 23, to mar its unblemished record of twelve successive wins. Even the polo team was lately beaten twice.

Just about the most exciting team this season is Freshman hockey. The poor, impoverished hockeyists have been trampled on for the last three years and now it appears there are bright prospects for the future. The Freshmen have beaten the Colgate freshmen twice, Hamilton junior varsity once, and twice a powerful amateur league team from St. Catharines, Ontario.

Basketball Team Wins

THE BASKETBALL TEAM was a grave disappointment in its 77-59 downfall to Dartmouth, January 8. Three straight victories after that have enlivened hopes. The 81-57 win over Harvard the next night and defeats of Colgate at Hamilton, 71-69, January 13, and Columbia at New York, 76-72, January 16, are the reasons. The small Colgate and Columbia gyms have always been jinxes to Cornell teams, so there was more than ordinary glee about the results. The Red had not won on the Columbia court in six years.

Colgate put on a fiery challenge in the second half and almost upset a cooled-off Cornell team. An 85-54 triumph at Ithaca, December 5, and a 40-27 bulge at the half of the game at Hamilton served to instill complacency in the Red players. They were barely able to forestall the rampaging Raiders in the final minutes.

Colgate closed the gap to 51-45 with ten minutes to go. John C. Petry '61 had scored 7 straight points for the Red just after the second half began. But Colgate was on the move. With five minutes to go, the score was 60-59 for Cornell. Then the star of the last three games, Jay S. Harris '60, came to the rescue with 7 successive points. A rapid exchange of three baskets by Salisbury of Colgate to one by George A. Farley '60, a foul shot by Tansy of Colgate and another by Duffy of Colgate, and it was 69-67 with thirty seconds to go. Ronald S. Ivkovich '61 drove in for one to make it 71-67. And Duffy hit on two foul shots with nine seconds to go, to bring the score to 71-69. Harris was high with 23.

Coach Sam MacNeil's experiment in the Harvard game, of employing Harris in the backcourt and teaming him there with Frederick J. Wynne '60, was likewise effective against Colgate and Columbia. Though the score was close, the Lions were never a serious threat. It was the second 4-point loss to the Red. The first one was at Ithaca December 14, 74-70.

Columbia Fights Hard

The score was tied and the lead changed hands several times in the first half and was a mere 40-39 for the Red at half-time. Cornell dominated the second half, however, as the height of the Red players gave them the ball off the boards most of the time. Seven minutes after the second half started, the Lions trailed, 53-42. By the time the half was ten minutes old, three Columbia starters had four personal fouls and a fourth had three. With just over two minutes to go, Cornell led by 12 points, but careless ball handling and an implausible refusal to play it safe were responsible for 8 straight Lion points before the buzzer sounded.

Harris was again the leading player and tied Sophomore William J. Baugh as high scorer with 20 points. The summary:

Cornell was 8-5 for the season at this mid-year point and 3-1 in the League, in second place behind undefeated Dartmouth.

The Freshmen team had six wins and three losses when term examinations started. They defeated Colgate at Hamilton, 73-64, January 13, and Cortland State at Cortland, 90-76, January 19. Gerald Krumbein, six-foot-six center from Larchmont, was high against Colgate with 21. Gerald J. Szachara of Johnson City led against Cortland with 25. Richard Crone of Cincinnati had 17.

BEFORE a sell-out audience of 6000 at wrestling-imbued University Park, January 23, two undefeated teams met and the home forces of Penn State won decisively, 22-8. Only Ithacans David C. Auble '60 at 130 pounds and Allan R. Marion '61 at 167 pounds came out with clear-cut decisions. Previously unbeaten Allen T. Rose '61 of Johnstown, Pa. lost to Jerry Sickler of State, 10-5, in a match in which both were near to pins on two or three occasions. Philip M. Oberlander '61 of Rosemere, Quebec, saved his unbeaten string, but had to settle for a tie, 4-4, with likewise-unbeaten Hank Barone in the 177-pound class.

Auble tried valiantly, but could not pin Don Wilson. Marion crushed the highly touted sophomore star, Ron Pifer, 17-5. Barone was a rugged opponent for the tremendously improved Oberlander. It was a bruising match. Cornell beatings in the other weights were achieved without too much strain.

The Freshmen lost to State, 28-8, in a preliminary match. Carlton T. Orr of Greene at 147 pounds and Peter M. Cummings of Ithaca at 167 pounds kept their undefeated records by winning decisions, as did James M. Meldrim of Cortland who tied Dennis Slattery in the 130-pound class. The summaries:

VARSITY
123—Tony Scordo, PS,	defeated Jerry Barlow, 10-2.
130—Dave Auble, C,	defeated Don Wilson, 11-3.
137—Guy Guccione, PS,	defeated Bob Jones, 6-2.
147—Sam Minor, PS,	defeated John Shaffer, 10-0.
157—Jerry Seckler, PS,	defeated Al Rose, 10-5.
167—Al Marion, C,	defeated Ron Pifer, 17-5.
177—Phil Oberlander, C,	drew with Hank Barone, 4-4.
191—Phil Myer, PS,	defeated Don Jayne, 4-1.
Heavyweight — Johnston Oberly, PS,	pinned Dan Konover with half-nelson and press in 4:25.

FRESHMEN
123—Al Hastings, PS,	defeated Don Seacord, 7-3.
130—Jim Meldrim, C,	drew with Dennis Slattery, 7-7.
137—Mike Williams, PS,	pinned Bob Alberga with half-nelson and press in 6:51.
147—Carlton Orr, C,	defeated Charles Beatty, 12-8.
157—George Noll, PS,	defeated Doug Bliss, 8-6.
167—Peter Cummings, C,	defeated Dan Kolody, 9-3.
177—Ed Pohland, PS,	pinned Butch Brand with half-nelson and press in 7:47.
191—Don Lucas, PS,	won by forfeit.
Heavyweight—Dave Hayes, PS,	won by forfeit.

Penn fell victim to the Red in an unexpectedly close match, 19-13, at Philadelphia, January 16. It was the heavier men who had to come through to save Cornell's three-year dominance over Ivy opponents.

Cornell led, 14-11, going into the last two bouts. Penn had two top men in these weights, Ed Smith at 191 and six-foot-four-inch, 275-pound heavyweight Frank Traendly. But Donald Jayne '61 of Waverly, wrestling in only his second bout this year, tied Smith, 1-1, and 185-pound Daniel I. Konover '62 of West Hartford, Conn. got a takedown with fifteen seconds to go to beat the huge Quaker, 3-1. Auble did not wrestle because of an injured knee. Rose won, 10-4; Marion, 18-3; Oberlander won by default, Wilmot Carter '61 of Ithaca won the 130-pound division, 5-1, for the other points.

Konover had the hero also in the opening Lehigh meet, when he won the 191-pound bout in surprise fashion over favored Charles Moore. He could not make the Freshman team last season until the second semester when the regular heavyweight, William H. Werst '62, dropped out. Against Pennsylvania, the count was 1-1 in Konover's bout with the giant Treandly and with about a half-minute to go, Treandly tried to crush him to the mat for take-down points. Konover ducked him twice and on the third lunge, grabbed him from behind and tripped him for the winning 2 points.

Swimmers Beat Princeton

EXCITING EVENT of the winter season was the 57-38 victory of the Varsity swimmers over Princeton in Teagle Hall pool, January 16.

Cornell showed surprising strength in spots. John N. Motycka '61, son of Joseph Motycka '22 of Coventry, Conn., won the individual medley and butterfly; both relay teams won; and most surprising was the victory of diver Paul D. Grannis '60 of Dayton, Ohio, over favored Tim Walker of Princeton. George Brakeley was the big star for the Tigers. He won the 50, 100, and 440-yard races. It was the first loss for Princeton in four tries. Cornell came to four wins, three losses. The summary:

400 medley relay — 1, Cornell (Gerrit White, David Stiller, Richard Fine, Jonathan Hinebauch). 4:04.5.

220 freestyle—1, George Brakeley, Princeton; 2, John Waterfield, Cornell; 3, Michael Gogh-Hendrikssen, Princeton. 2:16.

50 freestyle—1, James Flynn, Cornell; 2, Alan Dybvig, Cornell; 3, John Greist, Princeton. 0:24.1.

200 individual medley—1, John Motycka, Cornell; 2, Donald Keel, Cornell; 3, Barry Bosak, Princeton. 2:25.8.

Diving—1, Paul Grannis, Cornell; 2, Tim Walker, Princeton; 3, Stu Brown, Princeton. Winner's points, 69.1.

200 butterfly—1, John Motycka, Cornell; 2, Keith Barton, Princeton; 3, Richard Fine, Cornell. 2:32.7.

100 freestyle—1, George Brakeley, Princeton; 2, Gerrit White, Cornell; 3, Franklin Cibula, Princeton. 0:53.4.

200 backstroke—1, Tom Welch, Princeton; 2, Gerrit White, Cornell; 3, Art Smith, Princeton. 2:17.

440 freestyle—1, George Brakeley, Princeton; 2, John Waterfall, Cornell; 3, Michael Gogh-Hendrikssen, Princeton. 5:02.4.

200 breaststroke—1, Jim Beattie, Princeton; 2, David Stiller, Cornell; 3, Alan Dybvig, Cornell. 2:30.4.

400 freestyle—1, Cornell (Alex Vollmer, James Flynn, Jonathan Hinebauch, John Sherrod). Princeton disqualified for fouling turn; no time taken.

Hockey Prospects Improve

WHILE its older compatriot continues to eat humble pie, the Freshman hockey team succeeds in fortifying early optimistic aspirations with each contest. Successive defeats of the Varsity by Hamilton (9-1), Yale (7-0), and Dartmouth (12-0) deterred the Freshmen not at all as they beat the Hamilton junior varsity, 10-2; Hill School, 11-2; and St. Catharines of Ontario, 5-1 & 6-3.

The Varsity game with Hamilton was at Clinton, January 13, and the Yale and Dartmouth matches were in Ithaca, January 16 & 23. Despite the burdensome beatings, the Varsity players give each opponent a rigorous contest. Goalie John T. Detwiler '60 is the busiest undergraduate on Campus when he is in the net. He made thirty saves in the Hamilton game, thirty-five in the Yale game, and thirty-nine against Dartmouth. The team is so busy playing defense it has little time or energy to go on the offense.

The Freshman game with the Hamilton jayvees was also at Clinton, January 13. The team met Hill School at Pottstown, Pa., January 16, and the two games with St. Catharines were at Lynah Rink, January 22 & 23. Stephan F. Kijanka of Sarnia, Ontario, Canada, is the leading scorer with 22 points. Second-best scorers are Harvey W. Edson of Duluth, Minn. and Robert J. Myers of New Haven, Conn., each with 13. Outstanding is goalie Laing E. Kennedy of Oxford Centre, Ontario. This 150-pound six-footer does not have the classical sturdy build of the ideal goaltender, but he is a deft, lightning-fast operative. There are some fine skaters on the squad and they have developed into a well coordinated unit under Freshman Coach Morgan Hatch, a former Harvard player.

Other Sports

ONLY UNDEFEATED Varsity team, the riflemen, are sporting an eight-match streak and leading the New York State Intercollegiate Rifle League with six victories and no defeats. The Varsity team beat Colgate, Syracuse, and Hobart, January 9, in a quadrangular match at Barton Hall. Cornell scored 1399; Colgate, 1373; Syracuse, 1349; and Hobart, 1266. John B. Roach '60 was high man with 284. January 16, Cornell defeated Colgate at Hamilton, 1407-1335. Robert P. Declerck '62 paced the Red with an outstanding 287 performance, followed by Paul D. Thompson '61, 282; Daniel T. Christianson '61 & Jon A. Nelson '62, 280; and Paul H. Johnson '61, 278.

Polo Team Loses Two

Defeat of the Varsity polo team is most unusual, but it happened twice in three weeks. January 9, Yale trimmed the Red riders, 18-12, at New Haven and the coaches achieved it, January 23 at the Riding Hall, 19-9. Sandwiched in between, January 16, was a most convincing win over Squadron A team of New York City, 20-13, in the Riding Hall. The Red team was without the services of Stanley R. Woolaway '60 in the Yale game and this proved upsetting. But Woolaway was to graduate February 3, so the team will not have his accomplished help any more. The team has won nine games and lost three this season, having lost the opening game to a Fairfield, Conn. team.

Penn defeated the Cornell Varsity fencers, 15-12, January 16, at Philadelphia. Cornell had the edge in epee, 6-3, but lost the other weapons. This makes the record 1-1, the victory being over Harvard.

The Varsity track team lost decisively to Army at West Point, January 23, 70½-38¾. Captain John S. Murray '61 vaulted 13 feet 10½ inches to set a new Cornell indoor record, topping the 13 ft. 10¼ in. set by Everett L. Colyer '31. Other fine performances were those of Sophomore Eric P. Groom in winning the mile run in 4:19.7, and of Murray B. Moulding '61 in winning the 600 in 1:12.9.

The Freshmen just lost out to the Army plebes in a preliminary triangular affair: Army 59, Cornell 57, Albright varsity 20. Allan W. Chapman '63 of Huntington won the mile in 4:30 and the 1000 in 2:20.

The Varsity squash team lost to Princeton, 8-1, at Ithaca, January 16, and to Dartmouth at Hanover, 8-1, January 23. Haym L. Braveman '61 won at No. 7 over Princeton's John Trimble.

Alumni Oarsmen Practice

Four members of the great crews of 1955, 1956 & 1957 are working out with the Varsity candidates for a try at an Olympic berth they so narrowly lost to Yale in 1956 when they rowed in the famous Cornell eight. This time, it is for a shot at the Olympic four-oared shell with coxswain. All are members of the Class of '57. Lieutenant Clayton W. Chapman, USAF, who was Commodore of the 1957 crew, is attached to Grif-fis Air Force Base at Rome; William J. Schumacher is on leave from Procter & Gamble Co. and is a graduate assistant in Chemical Engineering; David F. Davis has a leave of absence from Raymond Concrete Pile Co.; Robert W. Staley, just out of the Army, is an assistant in Mechanical Engineering. Coxswain Carl W. Schwarz is in law school and has a Government job in Washington, D.C.; will join the four next month.

Calendar of Coming Events

Players Are Students

A recent "Confidential Letter" from Director Robert J. Kane '34 to members of the Athletic Association notes that nine of the ten Seniors on last fall's Varsity football team will continue their studies. Tackle Thomas W. Revack, guard Carl Bancoff, and halfback Philip G. Taylor will enter medical schools; end John J. Sadusky will be in the fifth year of Civil Engineering; end Howard M. Picking and center R. Edwin Maglisceau will be in the fifth year of Mechanical Engineering; halfbacks Daniel L. Bidwell and George G. Gellert will be in the Graduate School of Business & Public Administration; and halfback Richard A. Nicoletti will be in law school. Captain and guard David W. Feeney, in the top tenth of his Hotel School Class, plans to enter the hotel business.

Student Costs Go Up

AVERAGE EXPENSES of undergraduates in the endowed Colleges of the University are now estimated at $2850 a year, besides cost of transportation to and from their homes. This figure is used in determining the award of most scholarships and other financial assistance to students in these divisions. Two years ago, the estimate was $2425 a year. Students in the State-supported divisions have lower expenses, since those who are residents of New York pay no tuition and those from out of State pay $400 a year tuition, as compared with $1200 for all undergraduates in the endowed divisions.

Students Aid Admissions

UNDERGRADUATE Secondary Schools Committee is playing an increasingly important role in assisting the Admissions Office of the University. It was formed several years ago to enlist student help in encouraging well qualified students to come to Cornell. USSC members call on prospective students around their homes during Christmas and spring vacations. The Christmas contacts are with seniors in the schools who are considered for admission; and in spring vacation, Committee members talk with seniors who have been accepted and with promising juniors. They are given the names of Cornell Day guests and others recommended by alumni and of those who inquire about admission. They also look up other qualified prospects.

The Committee's 275 undergraduate members are chosen by invitation or by personal interview following a general sign-up period. During this year's membership drive, the Committee had some 300 applicants, of whom 125 were chosen to join the group. Since each member represents the University through personal contacts with potential Cornellians, the committee maintains strict selection requirements, and only students of high calibre are invited to membership.

This year, the co-chairmen of the Committee are Fredric H. Genck '60 of Hinsdale, Ill. and Stephen W. Hatch '60 of Muncie, Ind.; both members of ATO. The USSC has twenty-nine hometown areas, primarily in the East, each with a chairman. Other members are scattered over the country. This large group of Committee members has an opportunity to serve Cornell by creating local interest in the University and by providing the Office of Admissions with information on juniors and seniors who are prospective applicants for Cornell.

Cornell Countryman won four awards, including third prize for general excellence, at the Agricultural College Magazines Associated convention. Successful Farming magazine gave its first prize for covers for the Countryman's December, 1958, cover. Brenda L. Dervin '60 of Port Washington, now editor emeritus, won second prize for her handling of material of interest to women, and second prize for technical presentation went to Steven A. Breth '60 of Hobart, who is now editor-in-chief.

Thomas H. Roelofs '59, fifth-year student in Electrical Engineering, as University Chimesmaster commemorated the 153d birthday of Ezra Cornell, January 11, with a special half-hour program of the Founder's favorites from the Clock Tower.

With final examinations over February 3, all student activities centered around rushing. This year, for the fraternity men, this time-consuming endeavor was to be essentially the same as last year, but with more "smokers," which saved the fraternities considerable sums in meal expenses. Some changes and improvements were made in the sorority rushing program. Rushing for the girls started with that of the men, the last day of examinations. A consulting system was established by the Panhellenic Association with twelve upperclass sorority women serving to aid Freshmen with rushing problems. The most noteworthy change was in the procedure for scheduling the rushees for parties at the houses. Each rushee indicated which invitations she wished to accept and alumnae of the Ithaca Panhellenic group made up the party schedules. It was hoped that this procedure would eliminate many of the mix-ups that have occurred in past years.

Playing in galoshes and with socks on their hands and hats on their heads, the third-string basketball team of Tau Kappa Epsilon downed the female members of "The Amazons" in a thrilling, overtime, sudden-death battle. It is reported that it was a hard-earned victory for the TKE men, but fortunately, no injuries resulted.

Students who have difficulty in finding off-Campus housing may be aided by a promised "1960 Men's Independent Council Housing Directory." This listing will designate those landlords who sign a pledge not to discriminate as to race or color in accepting tenants. The Council says it will list living places for some 1000 students.

Students voted in favor of "changing the basic ROTC program to an elective basis" in a poll conducted by the Student Government Executive Board in fraternities, dormitories, and at Willard Straight Hall. The count was 1752 for making the first two years of ROTC voluntary and 597 for keeping it as a requirement of Freshmen and Sophomores.

On the basis of 6159 undergraduate men enrolled in the University last fall, this means that some 3800 did not express an opinion. Asked if they would choose an elective ROTC course if it were offered, 587 Freshman men said yes and 473 said no; 791 upperclassmen said yes and 645 said no. The poll followed months of Campus debate and the next day, the executive Board voted, six to two, to recommend to the Faculty and Board of Trustees that basic ROTC be changed to an elective program.

SAE Wins Prize—At "Fraternity Skit Night" in Willard Straight Hall before finals, this singing team of "Carmen Co-ed" (James P. Baden '61 of Hamilton, Ohio) and "Freshman" (James B. Sullivan '62 of Birmingham, Ala.) won first prize for Sigma Alpha Epsilon. Norman M. Ellis '62

News of the Alumni

Addresses are in New York State unless otherwise noted. Personal items, newspaper clippings, or other notes about Cornellians are welcomed for publication. Class columns are written by correspondents whose names appear. Names & addresses in column headings are for Classes with group subscriptions or those in which at least half the members are NEWS subscribers.

'90 ME(EE)—Henry P. Broughton, who at his death last May was believed to be the world's oldest active amateur radio operator, has been honored by the Federal Communications Commission and the Amateur Radio Association in Schenectady, his home town. His call designation, K2AE, has been given to the Schenectady Amateur Radio Association, henceforth to be known as the Broughton Memorial Station. A Broughton Achievement Award will be given periodically by the SARA in recognition of community service or outstanding contribution to amateur radio on the part of a local "ham." Backing the award is Broughton's son William G. Broughton '23, an engineer with General Electric in Schenectady and also one of the nation's senior "ham" operators. He and his father formed the only father-son combination to hold membership in the Old Old Timers Club, a nationwide organization of amateurs licensed for forty years or longer. Henry P. Broughton joined forces with a scientist, Nikola Tesla, in 1893 and gave the first public demonstration of wireless.

'92—James E. Gleason of 766 East Avenue, Rochester 7, celebrated his ninety-first birthday in November. He is chairman of the board of Gleason Works, Rochester, of which he was president from 1922-48.

'93 AB — Trophy named in honor of Spencer L. Adams of 967 Garcia Road, Santa Barbara, Cal., has been established by the Spencer Adams Shuffleboard Club at Spencer Adams Park. Adams also has been made a life member of the Club.

'00 AB—Permanent address of Mrs. Clifton B. English (Anna Barker) is now Christ Church Hospital, Forty-ninth Street & Monument Avenue, North Wynnefield, Philadelphia 31, Pa. Mrs. English hopes to attend her Sixty-year Reunion.

'00 LLB—John T. McGovern was presented at a surprise luncheon at the Overseas Press Club in New York City on his eighty-third birthday, December 9, a plaque that bears an inscription complimenting his launching of the Correspondents Fund and his "wisdom and guidance over the years." In 1943, McGovern noticed how many top reporters and foreign correspondents were killed or injured, or suffered diseases, and no provision had been thought of for them. Lowell Thomas asked him to set up a corporation, known now as the Correspondents Fund, and McGovern did so at his own expense. The Fund is combined with the Overseas Press Club of America and now has more than 2000 members. McGovern is chairman of trustees of the Carnegie Fund for Authors. His address is 60 East Forty-second Street, New York City 17.

'04—Edward F. Brundage is president of Finger Lakes Chemical Co., Etna.

'04 AB—Mrs. Walter H. Whiton (Avice Watt) lives at 539 Corliss Avenue, Phillipsburg, N.J. Her granddaughter, Barbara Avice Upham, daughter of Wendell K. Upham '35 and Mrs. Upham (Janet Whiton) '36, entered Arts & Sciences this fall.

'03 MCE, '05 PhD—Articles on Richard R. Lyman appeared in the July, 1957 and July, 1958 issues of the Sons of Utah Pioneers News and in the Spring, 1959 number of The Gear of Theta Tau. A consulting civil engineer, Lyman created the modern Lyman Street Numbering System that is spreading throughout the West. The many towns and cities that use it include Salt Lake City, where Lyman lives at 1084 Third Avenue. He was a consulting engineer on three of the seven "modern civil engineering wonders of the United States" selected by the American Society of Civil Engineers: Chicago's sewage disposal system, Colorado River Aqueduct, and Grand Coulee Dam. Lyman prepared the memoir on another well known engineer, Howard Chester Means, for the American Society of Civil Engineers.

'05—Edward B. Raiguel of 1021 Tenth Street, Huntington, W.Va., retired in 1950 but "got unretired" in 1953. He is looking after the construction of an $11,000,000 sewer project as engineering member of the sanitary board of Huntington. He also participates in Civil Defense work.

'06—Willis H. Brown of 1140 South Los Robles Avenue, Pasadena, Cal., certified public accountant, retired October 31 from the firm of Brown, Lloyd & Stevenson. He has been elected president of the board of trustees of Alhambra Community Hospital.

'07 ME—Albert C. Blunt, Jr.'s winter address is 3710 Gulf Mexico Drive, Sarasota, Fla. Blunt and two other '07 men, "all pals in Engineering," Grover W. Lapp and Henry S. Putnam, have enrolled in the Ivy League Club of Sarasota.

'07 BSA—John Goldhaar is retired and lives at 174 West Seventy-sixth Street, New York City 23. He now has more time to devote to camp for underprivileged boys and other community activities.

'08 ME—William B. Rapley of 462 Egleston Street, Kalamazoo 29, Mich., has been timing football, basketball, and track events at Kalamazoo College for some thirty years. His two sons and daughter are graduates of Kalamazoo. Rapley is an insurance salesman.

'09 CE—Ambrosio Magsaysay is president of A. Magsaysay Inc., shipowners, operators, and agents, PO Box 21, Manila, Philippines. He has four children: Miguel A. Magsaysay, MME '50, and three daughters, one of whom is a famous artist. The late Philippines President Ramon Magsaysay was his nephew.

In November, the following members of the Class of '10 met for dinner, and an informal get-together, at the Cornell Club in New York to discuss a very important event coming up, come June: our Fifty-year Reunion. Present was our Reunion chairman, Lyman C. (Juddy) Judson, and Sam Adler, Larry Bandler, Ike Behrman, Lou Bogert, Milton Brower, Bill Clift, Don Crossman, Abe Doris, George Dutton, Rick Hewitt, Bill Marcussen, Frank Oates, Larry Richardson, Marty Rutherford, Roy Taylor, and Allan Trimpi. Brad Delahanty, Harry Kiep, Polly Noyes, and Felix Thomas expected to be there, but at the last minute could not make it. Word comes from Ed Goodwillie that he would like to hold a similar meeting in March or early April.

Wallace (Blondy) E. Caldwell is pictured above with his house guest, Dude, at his home in Chapel Hill, N.C. Our Classbook has this notation: "Blondy hit Ithaca from Brooklyn, with two scholarships and a crop of 'Yaller' hair." Since 1922 Wallace has been teaching ancient history at University of North Carolina. For three years he served as head of the department from which he expects to retire next June. His book, The Ancient World (Rinehart & Co.), is still considered the standard text in that field. In 1951 he was grand master of Masons in North Carolina, in 1952 grand high priest of the Grand Chapter RAM, and in 1954-55 served as sovereign grand master of the Grand Council, Allied Masonic Degrees. For a number of years he was intendant general for North Carolina of the Red Cross of Constantine. With all these Masonic duties Wallace still had time to serve as governor of the North Carolina Society of Mayflower Descendants, and now represents the North Carolina Society on the national board.

One son, Edward E. Caldwell, Grad '40-'41, is an electronics engineer with Glen Martin in Baltimore. The other son, Robert W. Caldwell '40, PhD Johns Hopkins '43, is now in our Foreign Service currently stationed at Karachi, Pakistan as second secretary and labor attaché. Wallace's daughter, Martha Caldwell '54, is now finishing PhD work in archaeology at Bryn Mawr. Wallace writes: "My wife and I will continue to live in Chapel Hill and hope to see some of our Classmates as they drive to and from Florida. We plan to be in Ithaca in June for the 50th and are looking forward to it."

Your correspondent has received several nice, colored photos along with news notes to be used in this column. Unfortunately, our Ithaca facilities cannot get good reproductions of these colored prints. We welcome pictures, but they should be clear black and white prints, glossy finish preferred, and can be of any size.

'11 Howard A. Lincoln

We know the gals are loathe to admit their age, and we hate to dispute William G. (Bill) Christy in his contention in the following: "I have now been in air pollution control work for thirty-five years. October 27, I celebrated my seventy-fifth birthday. Does anyone dispute my claim to be the oldest man in the Class? Was in excellent health until last September when I had an attack of severe nose bleed and found I had high blood pressure. Now blood pressure is reduced and am feeling fine." But there is John L. Doan, 37 S. Second St., Chambersburg, Pa., who wrote to John Rewalt: "I make a small annual contribution early each year to Cornell. I have stayed close to the side of my good wife since she was disabled by a paralytic stroke in July, 1955. I am not in poverty, but have no salary coming in and need to be careful with my dividends and Social Security. I am not proud of my record as an alumnus of Cornell. Enclosed is my check for $5." Johnny Rewalt advises us that John Doan was thirty-three years old in 1911, so that makes him eighty-one years of age now. So, Bill Christy, you will have to relinquish your claim, and we crown that fine old gentleman, Jack Doan, as champion in your stead.

Sandford Brown lives at 377 South Harrison St., East Orange, N.J. Sandy is a man of few words and for latest news his comments are "Ask Wheels." We understand he has retired as chairman of Bakelite Co. and is now living the life of Riley. From Clarence N. (Sliver) Seagrave, 20 Noyes St., Needham, Mass.: "Feeling fine, hope you are, too." Edwin H. Fisher, RD 1, Naples, writes: "Enjoyed a visit from Sam Graham and his wife this fall. Expect to be at 2043 Alameda Ave., Sarasota, Fla., for January, February, and March."

Claude M. Thiele, Lake Wales, Fla., writes: "Spent the summer roaming Europe. Am going to spend the winter trying to beat Bunny Tilden at golf and shooting pheasant and quail." Harold E. Drake, Gardner, Mass., reports: "Woodie Wood and I are planning to make the Fiftieth (God willing) and will be pleased to hear how plans are coming. Keep us posted. Regards, Ducky. What do you mean 'Final Big Show?' Hope to see you at the Seventy-fifth. Where? Who knows." Charles A. Volz, PE, Buffalo, writes: "Still active as a consulting engineer. Let me know of any Class parties at Ithaca and I will drive down." Norris M. Jameson says, "Expect to be in Florida for a couple of months; back for Reunion."

W. C. M. Butler writes: "Took my grandson to Ithaca last summer, and the Campus surely has changed in the last year or two. Have missed the Homecoming football games the last three years." E. E. (Ned) Sheridan says: "Still alive and kicking. See you in Ithaca in 1961." Harry A. Bade, Hartsdale, comments: "I just want to congratulate all you officers mentioned above and thanks for your industry in behalf of the Class of '11 since graduation." Arthur B. (Art) Holmes writes: "Nothing you haven't already heard. All my best to you and my other Classmates. God willing I'll be with you in June, 1961."

Paul F. Titchener (above), president of E. H. Titchener & Co., 67 Clinton St., Binghamton, was signally honored last November when he received the 1959 Hall of Fame Congress Award presented by the American Legion Post 80. This was in recognition of his outstanding work in civic affairs and in establishment of Broome County Community College. When this college was originally organized in 1946, Governor Dewey appointed Paul chairman of the first board of directors. The Institute offers a two-year terminal course in mechanical, electrical, chemical, and business technologies. Paul is a past-president of the Binghamton Chamber of Commerce, has been chairman of the Citizens Committee for Urban Renewal & Development, and a member of the executive committee of the Valley Development Foundation. Nice going, Paul.

Hage (Hermann W.) Hagemann, PO Box 285, Millburn, N.J., is having too much fun to retire; feels like a million all the time. He is spending the winter in Jamaica. He reports his principal form of exercise is golf, tennis, elbow bending, and gin rummy. He has 3 Rules for getting old gracefully: (1) Preserve your sense of humor; (2) Don't take yourself too seriously; (3) Keep busy.

Sorry to learn that Newc (Frank Newcomb, Lake Waterloo, RD 1, Stanhope, N.J., was recently in the hospital with a heart attack, but is probably home by this time. I know he would be glad to hear from the gang. Drop him a line and cheer him up. Here's hoping for a complete recovery, Newc.

Jack (John H.) Brodt, 729 Windsor Rd., Glenview, Ill., is still active in business in a partnership with his son in a new firm started a little more than a year ago. He writes that he has one wife, three children, and three grandchildren. It seems to me I detect a little wishful hoping that there were more grandchildren.

We have one man in our Class who keeps writing you urging you to send in personals about yourself for use in this column. I am referring to Tris Antell, 1 Pierrepont St., Brooklyn. Lord bless him! His efforts time after time save the day for me. But just try to get some news out of him about himself! He becomes the human Sphinx. But finally I've caught up with him in the public press, and so help me, here comes some news about Tris for a change. Along about last October, I read that he had changed his status from partner in charge of research for Hornblower & Weeks, 40 Wall St., New York City, to a limited partnership. I don't pretend to know exactly, but that sounds like a nice kind of semi-retirement. Then along comes a story in the New Yorker about Ivar Kreuger, once famed as the match king, who years ago disappeared into thin air (literally true; disappeared from an airplane), and I discovered that our Tris has been struggling as secretary for more than twenty-five years in behalf of a protection group formed in 1932 for the owners of some $45,000,000 gold debenture bonds handed down from Kreuger & Toll. A little later I read, and you can see I am giving Tris both barrels on this publicity business, that he had become a director of B. F. Drakenfeld & Co., a maker of ceramic colors, with a plant in Washington, Pa., and also a director of Drilling & Exploration Co. of Dallas, a producer of oil and gas in the non-Communist world. And here's the final shot. I understand Tris became their thirteenth director. So there you have it, news about Tris Antell. So long!

'13 PhD—Earle H. Kennard has retired from Government service as chief scientist with the David Taylor Model Basin (Navy), Washington, D.C., and he and Mrs. Kennard, Margaret Jarman Kennard, MA '26, have moved to 4057 Tenango Road, La Verne, Cal. Son Jarman G. Kennard '43 represents GE at Edwards Air Force Base, Cal.; has four children. Son Paul H. Kennard '52 is with Hughes Aircraft Co., Culver City, Cal., and lives at 8922 Rayford Road, Los Angeles 45, Cal.; has three children.

'14 Emerson Hinchliff
400 Oak Ave.
Ithaca, N.Y.

Make Bob Shoemaker's address 7 Westland St., Worcester, Mass. (his home). He says he'll be at our 50th. A December 9 postcard (uncoded) from Bill Friedman from Cambridge, England, reported that he had been there since mid-October, visiting all the colleges at a slow walk. Bill expected to spend Christmas with his daughter and family there; daughter's husband is doing research on neurophysiology and bio-physics. Ed Bowden of Seattle keeps in touch with Cornell through a Wells College student, daughter of a friend and neighbor. Had a nice note from Harry Harris, Rochester, who always keeps his eyes open for good Cornell material. Ned Billings, Elmira, has changed his address to his residence, 970 Scio St.: for thirty-three years previous to its sale in 1953, he had been in the undertaking business with his wife's folks. Ned sent a notice of the death of Dr. Charles H. Ott; a heart attack, he believed. Ned reported seeing Bill Myers in June, 1958, at their 50th high school reunion, remarking, "He hasn't changed a bit; fine fellow." Bill certainly hasn't changed in the last nineteen-and-a-half years, except for the aura of relaxation since he retired as Dean of the Ag College last July.

Ced Guise's sister, with whom he lived in Ithaca, died November 30; Ced is off soon on a repeat mission to the Philippines on the Los Baños Project. Sam Schwartz writes: "I am retiring after having served a total of about forty years, all in the engineering field, with the State of New York, City of New York, City of Philadelphia, the FHA, the RFC, and the last ten years with the US Army Corps of Engineers, Eastern Ocean District. Ben Kriegel and William C. Anderson have served with me in the Engineers and will soon retire, too." Roger Brown will be at 245 Venetian Dr., Apt. 1, Delray Beach, Fla., until April 27, a temporary fugitive from Mountain Lakes, N.J.

Two delayed changes of address: George B. Fisher, 215 Live Oak Lane, Largo, Fla., and Charles W. Lake, 2234 Pow Wow Trail, Beloit, Wis. That's my old stamping grounds, Charlie; I was Beloit '13 for a year until I jumped to the major league. Ralph Ginrich is a full colonel. Walt Addicks "unwound" through a long summer on the shore of Lake Waramaug in the Litchfield Hills of Connecticut but is now back in Ardsley-on-Hudson. George Barnes sent me the card of Norm Kappler, showing him as executive vice-president, Eagle Chemical Co., Mobile, Ala., and 300 Park Ave., New York City 22. The factory is in Mobile and makes moisture-absorbing products, with wide industrial use, such as for wrapping pipes that would otherwise collect moisture and drip. George, a former Alabama district governor, now has a son and two sons-in-law in Rotary.

Doc Peters reports that Yervant Maxudian has come to life again. Max is executive vice-president of Interamerican Refining Corp., 4 W. 58th St., New York 19. I remember that he used to be in the oil business in Venezuela. Give us a story sometime, Max. Weinie Weinberger, East Orange, is looking forward to our 50th; meanwhile he's planning a world tour next fall and hopes to drop in on some of those mentioned in the Class Letter. Scotch Ballard writes that his son, Wilson T. Ballard, Jr., BSinCE '49, is a member of the firm (Wilson T. Ballard Co., consulting engineers, 824 N. Calvert St., Baltimore 2) and is in general charge of production of highway, bridge, and other plans and reports, and also takes part in development of new projects.

William T. Diefenbach (above), 4819 Leland St., Chevy Chase, Md., is one of fifteen authors of Printing Progress: A Mid-Century Report, published by International Association of Printing Craftsmen, Inc., to outline the progress in the graphic arts in America during the last fifty years. His subject is printing ink. Bill is supervising chemist at Bureau of Engraving & Printing, Washington, D.C.

Frank J. Wiffler, 1245 Raleigh Rd., Glenview, Ill., says that he is looking forward to meeting Classmates next June and lifting a cup at the Dutch Kitchen. He writes: "I graduated again last June from Cornell's Business Philosophy "Freedom and Responsibility," to a natural manner which came easily. I enjoyed motoring with my wife Sally for three months in the States, visiting friends and many places."

Ed Dixon's statements for our 1959-1960 dues have been received by all whose addresses are in order at the Alumni Office. This means that news items will come tumbling in. We shall publish these items in the order in which they are received. Before very long you shall receive your Class directory. So get busy and start an exchange of letters with Classmates whom you want especially to see at the Reunion. Walter A. (Walt) Priestner, 601 Brady St., Davenport, Iowa, is anxious to receive his directory. He feels that its use will generate a lot of enthusiasm for the Reunion.

Arthur (Art) Dole, 2 Golf Lane, Winnetka, Ill., says it's too early for him to say whether or not he can come to the Reunion. As long as he has not said no, I think we can count him in. Jules E. Piccard, 139 Emory Rd., Mineola, who ended up getting the ME at Polytechnic Institute of Brooklyn, is now a retired aero engineer. He has not gone to seed, however, as he has a variety of interests and hobbies. If you want to know more about his activities, drop him a line.

From Herbert J. (Herb) Adair, Suite 1600, 1421 Chestnut St., Philadelphia 2, Pa.: "I spent about two months in Europe last August and September, visiting Germany, England, France, Portugal, and Spain, mostly on business. However, it was delightful to see Bob Doyle at the Brenners Park Hotel in Baden Baden and in London to see Lakin Baldrige and his wife, who were staying at the same hotel that we were, The Claridges. At the Ritz Bar in Paris, I met several younger Cornell men, after our time, and on my way back on the Elizabeth, I met John Ward, vice-president of North American Reassurance Co. Both he and his wife went to Cornell. All in all, it helped to make the trip most pleasant and much fun."

'17 Men — Big News! Our annual Class dinner will be held Monday, April 18, at the Cornell Club of New York. Bigger News! Glen Acheson will again be chairman of the committee that will make this get-together a big success; in fact, another Baby Reunion. Mark the date on your calendar! It's a must!

Another proof that we read alumni columns of other Classes. In the December 1 issue of the ALUMNI NEWS, the Class of '19 scribe, Colonel L. Brown, gave our publication, "The Call of 1917," a plug. For his information (and others) we have three six-page issues of "The Call" each year with four issues in our big Reunion years. We appreciate the publicity and have put Colonel Brown on our mailing list. Incidentally, we are grateful for a copy of "Cornell 1914 Class Letter" sent us by Emerson (Hinch) Hinchliff, historian or recorder of his Class, and also the scribe of their News column. The Class letter, dated October, 1959, consists of sixteen pages of three columns each and contains a review of '14 Class news for the last five or six years. It is "loaded" with personals which should be of interest to all members of the Class. We also publicly thank Foster M. Coffin '12, Class secretary, for copies of the daddy of all Cornell class publications, the On-To-Ithaca Gazette.

Just heard that Harold J. Humphrey, one of the pioneers of the frozen food industry, retired December 31 after more than thirty years' service with General Foods. He will continue as president of the National Association of Frozen Food Packers until his term expires in March. In January, Harold undertook a special project for the United Nation's Children's Fund (UNICEF). He and Mrs. Humphrey live in Apt. 4C, Hudson House, Ardsley-On-Hudson. They have two sons: the older, Paul, is with Scott Paper Co. in Everett, Wash.; David is a senior at Princeton.

Bob Bahney, another retired '17er, wrote from 2611 North Lake Dr., Boynton Beach, Fla., where he spends winters. Bob "summers" on South Bass Island in Lake Erie at Put-in-Bay, Ohio. He was formerly chief engineer of steel plants with Republic Steel Corp. Bob reported that Russ Dixon had retired also (wonder how they all do it?) and will spend most of his time in Florida. Russ sold his home in Butler, N.J., but is retaining his other extensive real estate holdings in the North. He and Mrs. Dixon expect to build a new home soon in Florida.

Another '17er in Florida! Clinton R. Tobey retired as comptroller of the Detroit Ordnance District and went to Florida for a vacation. There he met George B. (Pork) Howell and became interested in University of Tampa where he is now business manager. Cint forgot Pork was a Classmate and referred to him as '16, not enough to sue for libel, but nevertheless a serious error!

Just heard the sad news that Harold C. Strotz passed away October 29 in Santa Monica, Cal.

Had lunch a few weeks ago with Jack Fruchtbaum, our busy CE, who is president of J. Fruchtbaum Co., planning & designing engineers. He reported that his business is booming, especially in the chemical industries. Jack designed the nuclear reactor for University of Buffalo now in process of erection. Jack also designed the now completed nuclear reactor for Massachusetts Institute of Technology, no insignificant accomplishment for a Cornellian! Jack's daughter, Mrs. Robert E. Buyer, writes for the Buffalo Evening News under her maiden name, Sue Fruchtbaum. Remember Monday, April 18! See you at our Baby Reunion!

—HERB JOHNSTON

'18 Stanley N. Shaw
742 Munsey Bldg.
Washington 4, D.C.

Indefatigable Charlie Muller when not engaged in arranging for a Reunion, Class picnic, or other '18 affair devotes his leisure time to writing books. In the "mellow years of life," that must be lots of fun. John Day & Co., the publishers, have just accepted Charlie's latest for early publication. That probably means next summer, if I know publishers. Well, anyhow, the book is the result of almost fifteen years of research and writing; so I know it's going to be a good one. Entitled The Proudest Day, it is a biography of "the most outstanding naval hero up to modern times and also the most unknown," to use Charlie's own description of it. Of course, you'll have to guess his name. Obviously, it's not John Paul Jones. He was a member of the Class of '13 and a miler, anyhow, wasn't he?

Other Classmates, if not writing books, are often busy writing and making speeches. One of them is Joe Lorin of Grey Advertising Agency and author of its unusual little publication "Grey Matter." Joe spoke to the annual marketing seminar at NYU in December on "The Nature of the Sophisticated Customer," and recently addressed the National Retail Merchants Association in New York. Also, he wrote articles recently for the Journal of Retailing & Food Topics.

It sometimes seems to me that '18 has done better for itself in a religious way than most Classes. Every month or so comes another news item about one of our well known ministers. Harold Kaulfuss writes from Lake Pleasant that after twenty years as rector of Trinity Episcopal Church, Gloversville, he has become rector of St. Huberts of the Lakes, Lake Pleasant. It's a wonderful little Adirondack community where he's ready to welcome both the skiers and the summer visitors. Incidentally, the present church building, built in 1957, was presented to the parish by Mrs. Dorothy Harris Kaulfuss '18. It is the first year-round church Hamilton County has ever had. Another churchman is Milt (the Rev. Milton C.) Westphal, who has been pastor of Lansdowne Baptist Church, Lansdowne, Pa., since 1923. Milt reports one, a graduate of Univ. of Penn medical school, who is a practicing pediatrician and also continues government research with the Pennsylvania Hospital.

From Puerto Rico comes the good word that Juan M. Bertram is still active as a consulting engineer and grandfather. The latter title is especially important as he reports now a present grand total of eleven grandchildren. His two sons, both Cornell graduates in Arts and Medicine, appear to be active also both as doctors and parents.

Another pending retirement, just reported, is that of Norm (Norman W.) Barrett, who will leave George M. Fuller Co. March 1. Norm lives in Cambridge, Mass., where he holds up the Cornell name amid the Harvardians. Norm has a Cornell son '42, a daughter-in-law '45 and a son-in-law '49, not to mention the six grandchildren.

The travellers are again reporting in from odd corners around the world. Tex (Henry W.) Roden reports driving some 12,000 miles, flying twice that number, and visiting twenty-two countries during an 8½-month European trip last summer. By all odds the most exciting part of the trip was the three weeks spent in the USSR, divided between Leningrad, Moscow, and Kiev.

Dick (Richard P.) Matthiessen writes that his new job as Chicago representative of Porter International Co. has required him to move into Chicago from Warrensville, Ill. His new address is 60 East Scott St., Chicago 10. The company is a unique service organization which assists US companies to enter into or expand their foreign operations. Dick, incidentally, has a young grandson now in school in Switzerland whom he fondly hopes will become a fourth-generation Cornellian.

'19 Colonel L. Brown

Mount Vernon, N.Y.

As more experienced and diligent newshawks will inform you, the annual meeting of Class officers and Reunion chairmen at the Hotel Roosevelt, New York City, January 23, was a great success. H. A. (Steve) Stevenson, editor of the ALUMNI NEWS and sailboat enthusiast, came down from Ithaca to preside at the meeting of Class correspondents and group subscription chairmen.

Ed Carples, vice-president, Lloyd Bemis, treasurer, and your correspondent attended the meetings. Rudy Deetjen, president, was at Nassau in the Bahamas on a business trip and did not get back in time. Your correspondent gleaned the information that Stevenson, Carples & Bemis (not inc.) had all been basking in Florida sunshine prior to the meeting. While there they met Frank B. Bateman, 209 Banyan Rd., Palm Beach, and Robert K. Story, Jr., 430 28th St., West Palm Beach. Strange how everybody has business in Florida or the Bahamas in the dead of winter and nobody, but nobody, has any business in Fairbanks, Alaska that needs attention.

Also very much in the limelight at the January 23 sessions were Lawrence S. Waterbury and Alfred M. Saperston. Larry received a citation for his record-breaking, fund-raising activities in 1959. Al presided at one of the sessions, and also gave what I thought was a very convincing talk about bequests to Cornell. We missed several Classmates who frequently attend. Among those mentioned were Jack Leppart, Jack Shepard, Johnny Hollis, and Mal Beakes. My Brooklyn intelligence agent reported that Bob Story was in from Florida, but he didn't appear either.

This is my lucky day for news. I picked up the morning paper and find that Wallace B. (Birdie) Quail has been elected vice-president for distribution for Armco Steel Corp. Previously he had been sales vice-president for the Armco division of Armco Steel Corp. Birdie was back at Reunion last June. His address is 503 S. Main St., Middletown, Ohio.

C. Wesley Purdy, PO Box 142, Rockport, Mass., "makes and sells faithful reproductions of olde Colonial pewter plates & all sorts of pewter ware on Cape Ann." This sounds like an interesting business and one where he doesn't have to depend on the New Haven, New York Central and/or IRT to get to the shop and back.

Norman T. (Fig) Newton is a Harvard professor. His address is 20 Prescott St., Cambridge 38, Mass. The last time one of my intelligence agents approached him, he said he had no news to report. John C. (Jack) Gebhart is a Cornell professor. His home address is 216 Kelvin Pl., Ithaca. He can also be reached at Lincoln Hall, Cornell University. He said he had no news to report. Your correspondent draws these conclusions: 1. These professors are a close-mouthed lot, or, 2. The intelligence agents are no good.

Harold H. Moore, 16 Hopper Ave., Pompton Plains, N.J., is assistant manager, Prudential Insurance Co. of America. His business address is Suite 2900, 116 John St., New York City 38. Henry J. Kaltenthaler, Jr. is retired and lives on Church Rd., Pao-li, Pa. The Kaltenthalers live on a sixty-acre farm at the beginning of the Philadelphia main line. They have eight grandchildren.

'19 Women—Helen Bullard wrote to tell me of the death of Ruth Lobdell Niles, November 10. Ruth attended the 1954 Reunion with Helen but had been ill and in a nursing home much of the time since.

Marian Priestley Frank sent me a program of World Community Day, November 6. This program was written by Gladys Gilkey Calkins who was formerly the national chairman of World Community Day. Last month, Marian came up to Ithaca and I went down to Ithaca and we both stayed with Katherine Thorp. Ithaca treated us to snow, rain, and fog, but we had a grand visit. My daughter, Betsy Myers Wright '53, has just moved to Ithaca and will be there for the next two years while her husband works for the PhD. Betsy now has a son and daughter to keep her busy. My younger daughter, Nancy '58, is married and teaching science in the Central School at Hannibal.

On her Christmas card, Mary Ellen Ford Totman tells me that she is caring for her new granddaughter, born November 2, as the baby's mother is ill. Ellen teaches school in Maryland and I imagine finds no idle minutes.

Louise Hamberger Plass wrote me that there were thirty-five women of the Class of '19 at Reunion last June. While at Reunion, Agnes Conroy Wadsworth fell on the Statler steps and had to have thirty stitches taken in her leg. She was in bed two weeks.

I'll try my hand at composing another column as soon as you send more news to me, Mrs. Kirk H. Myers, at Cato.

It matters not, at least a lot
If the Ground Hog saw his shadow;
You know darn well a goodly spell
Of ice and snow will follow.
It matters most, if we can boast
That guys with bucks a-plenty
Have planned to go and sent their dough
For the Reunion of 1920!

Each day the list grows longer as we get the good news of more who are planning to join us in June. Morton Woodward, Glendale, Ohio, is associate director, Overseas Division, Procter & Gamble, and travels about 100,000 miles a year to inspect P & G plants and operations in all parts of the world. That means he goes clean around the world four times a year. Well, that's the soap business for you! The short hop from Cincinnati to Ithaca will be a cinch for Mort.

Sam Althouse, our v-p in charge of geniality, who markets his own brand of advertising and public relations in Swarthmore, Pa., recently had a visit from Postmaster Jesse T. Van Doren of Chaumont. Jess was in Washington, not under investigation, but at a convention, looking over his new line of merchandise for 1960. He says the Commemoratives are out of this world; must be space stamps! Sam hadn't seen Jess since they were at Plattsburg in 1917. Boy, that's way back! They're going to finish their reminiscing in June.

Big news at Christmas for our genial vice-president in charge of swimming pools, E. W. (Pete) Lins, with his appointment as division manager of the Appalachian Division, American National Growers Corp., with headquarters in Hagerstown, Md., as part of an important expansion program. Pete, who has lived in Ft. Pierce, Fla., for many years, has been outstanding as senior division manager for the Southeastern Division of American Growers, and his new assignment is evidence of his continued success. It'll be quite a wrench trading his swimming pool for a skating rink, although the move North won't take place until June, just in time to get to Ithaca on the 9th. Pete'll make sure of that!

Harold M. Florsheim of the great Midwest recently was elected to the board of trustees of Chicago Medical School. Hal is president of Florsheim Shoe Co. and vice-president of International Shoe Co. of St. Louis. During WW II, Hal served as assistant of the Chief Quartermaster of the European Theatre of Operations, and is now a director of the Illinois Manufacturers Association, Michael Reese Hospital, and the Highland Park Hospital. He's a busy guy, but hope he'll take time off to see how healthy it is in Ithaca in June.

Bill Covington of Chicago and Lake Forest is getting his serious traveling and wifely obligations out of the way early this winter. Bill and Betty shipped out on the Santa Lucia last month and right now are up in the air somewhere between Lima, Peru, and Santiago, Chile. They'll take a fling at Buenos Aires and Rio before sliding in at New Orleans in March. That gets Bill all fixed up for the June Reune, and makes another addition to The Sun breakfast table. We had a nice note from Len Masius in London, who considers himself the best qualified unsuccessful competitor The Sun ever had. In that we heartily agree! Len hasn't seen the Campus in thirty years, and might feel like Old Rip as he gets newly acquainted. What a thrill he'll have!

Warren Weiant, the intrepid tour-conductor of Tillie the Teapot, ran into serious physical difficulty while displaying the charms of his 1899 Locomobile Steamer in England, which necessitated an operation after his return home to Newark, Ohio. It's good to know Wy is back in harness again and says "I've got the Sax overhauled, valves ground, and barnacles scraped. So if Benisch shows up with fiddle in hand and the poet Whit (Bill Whittemore), we will finish off that piano that Hibby Ayer '14 operated on all night five years ago. Hibby will not be with us, but his melodies will. I am looking forward to Ithaca in June and being with you all again." After the rigors of her trip abroad, Tillie is resting peacefully, being admired in the Thompson Museum in Cleveland. Dick Coker '24 of Hartsville, S.C., having read about Tillie in this column, (ahem!) wrote Wy that his father owned a Locomobile, model no. 2, purchased in 1899 which was shipped by sea from New York to Norfolk and then driven to Hartsville. It was reputed to be the first automobile in South Carolina and is now on display in the Charleston Museum.

We hear there's a long line standing outside the 20-40-60 Club door with membership applications in one hand (that's coat measurements and stuff) and $15 or $40 in the other (that's deposit or Reunion fee). We haven't seen the official announcement yet, but by the time you read this, you will. Dick Edson says he has to have those costume orders at once; so get on the ball, you all, and let's not stall, get outta that crawl and into action!

'21 Charles M. Stotz
Bessemer Bldg.
Pittsburgh 22, Pa.

Griff Ashcroft, ME, announced in October his resignation as staff associate with Arthur D. Little, Inc. He is now operating as an independent research consultant primarily in the textile industry at 280 Bronxville. Three cheers for our one time Cornell cheer leader.

Winks (L. Wainwright) Voigt was back at the Yale game looking chipper as ever. He lives at 7423 Richland Manor Dr., Pittsburgh 8, Pa., and surveys the economic scene from his desk at Hemphill-Noyes. He prognosticates a fine market for 1960 and a remarkable Forty-year Reunion in June, 1961.

Harold E. Simpson, Law, a Utica boy who made good in Ithaca, was honored by his legal peers when more than 100 lawyers from the ten counties of the Sixth Judicial District converged on the Ithaca Hotel, December 8, to celebrate Harold's elevation to the Supreme Court bench. He had the deep satisfaction of hearing many good words from his colleagues who believed him to be "the right man, at the right time, for the right place." This had been strictly a '21 political race, as described in this column in the last issue. At the dinner Al Treman said, "I don't know of anyone I would rather lose to." I suggest we start another contest between these lawyers for the post of Sergeant-at-Arms for the Reunion in 1961.

No one has come forward as yet to report a great-grandchild. Perhaps we should lay off that gimmick and see who in the Class has the most grandchildren. To start it off, let me say that W. Frederick R. Davis of 216 Metcalf Bldg., Auburn, reported eight grandchildren in December and another due as a Christmas present. Have had no further news since then, but I suspect Fred is well down the list. Those with more than nine grandchildren please submit to this correspondent their entry for the 1921 Stud Memorial to be awarded in June, 1961.

Roy E. Pratt, CE (you remember "Mother" Pratt, the power behind The Cornell Civil Engineer in your school days), declared a moratorium on business last summer and took his wife for a five-week vacation in Europe. The Pratts live at 122 Childs St., Springville.

Edward Wilson, ME, of 1284 S. Citrus Ave., Los Angeles 19, Cal., reports nothing about himself but does say that he and his wife recently attended a fine barbecue at T. E. (Tom) Sauters' place in Altadena, Cal. Ed, you can't keep that trim figure you developed on the track team by attending barbecues, or have you given up?

'22 Men—January 12, the following sat for luncheon and a meeting of the Class executive committee at the Cornell Club in New York: Henry O. Chapman, president; Don Baker, secretary; Ross Anderson, chairman of the dinner committee; Dave Dattlebaum, Cornell Fund representative; Andy Baldwin, Ben Burton, Frank Casey, George Dunham, George Eidt, Bill Friedman, Caesar A. Grasselli II, William Hill, Dick Kaufmann, Edward K. Kennedy, Al Morris, Joe Motycka, Clarence Roberts, Robert Thompson, George Thornton, P. A. Wade. The purpose was to make final plans for the annual dinner, discuss Class affairs in general, and to have a short but enjoyable get-together. Tommy Thompson was nominated to act as toastmaster at the dinner and, since there were no further nominations, his appointment was unanimous.

Dick Kaufmann explained further details of his plan for our gift to the Cornell Fund in 1962, our 40th year. He believes it possible to greatly enhance the amount the Class will give by starting yearly contributions at this time and allowing them to accumulate until 1962. There was some discussion about the seemingly large number of obituaries reported during last year, with concern over our decreasing numbers. It was pointed out, however, that there still remain on our rolls a large number who have seldom or never checked in with the Class since graduation for no apparent good reason. Ways and means are contemplated, between now and our Fortieth, to get these men within the fold but, in the meantime, if you are one of them, how about dropping a line to this editor.

When the Traus go home to Sherman, Tex. for Thanksgiving dinner with their parents, it's not an ordinary family gathering at the dinner table but a Cornell Reunion as well. The following of the Traus are Cornellians: Frank, Sr. '22 CE and his wife (Imogene Guion '22 Arts); Frank, Jr. ME '50 of Springfield, Mo. and his wife (Dorothy Krieger '50 Arts); and Edgar R. Taylor of Pittsburgh, Pa., EE '52, and his wife (Guion Trau '50 Arts). Also, among the drumstick gnawers you would find a pair of Trau kids wearing Cornell 19?? on their tee shirts, namely, Susan, age 6, and Frank G. III, I could almost match that if my wife weren't a Syracusean.

When the subject of degrees comes up in the Bill Archbold family, Bill, the poor soul, has to take a back seat; he has only an ME. His wife (Mabel Leshner) has degrees from Bucknell and Yale. She is an assistant professor at Oswego State Teachers and is listed in American Women Who's Who. His daughter, Louise Archbold, has a degree from Drexel and is now working for a Master's in Home Ec at Cornell. His son, Bill, Jr., has degrees from Syracuse and George Washington Law. Even Bill's mother-in-law has degrees from Bucknell and Johns Hopkins Medical. Inasmuch as Bill's father was William K. Archbold '89, that makes his daughter a third-generation Cornellian, an occasion which will be celebrated at the annual Class outing in June.

Colonel Benjamin S. Mesick is an alumnus of both Cornell and West Point. A few years ago, he retired from the Army as head of the Watertown Arsenal to become a consultant in engineering. He is now professor of mechanical engineering at University of Arizona in Tucson and consulting engineer for Grand Central Rocket Co., Redlands, Cal. To get a more nearly complete line on the contributions to science by this prominent engineer, read Who's Who in Engineering.—JOE MOTYCKA

Last November, it was suggested, in fact, recommended, that if you intended being in sunny Florida this winter, and happened to be in or near Palm Beach, to visit Ted Stone's new restaurant. Well, if you know where Lake Placid is in Florida, (I can't find it on any map), drop in and visit Noil H. (Sim) Simpson. Sim retired from the Army as a colonel and now has a thriving caladium bulb nursery business at Lake Placid, a lovely home on Lake June, and, more particularly, a lovely wife named Ann and two attractive kids, a boy 9, and a girl 6. Sim, isn't Lake Placid, Fla., a long way from Sanford, Me.?

Henry Ward (Ack) Ackerson of Brightwaters is celebrating his thirty-sixth year as a realtor, dealing exclusively in Suffolk County properties.

Leon Mandel and his sharpshooting wife, Carola, recently returned from Monaco. And do you know what? Leon reached in his pocket and brought out a gold marksmanship medal. Chastely inscribed on its surface was the information that both Leon and Carola were winners of the 1959 international doubles championship in live pigeon shooting at Monte Carlo, the first world championship trophy they have won jointly. Now Carola, Leon's pupil, is bragging about the teacher. Attaboy, Leon.

Last October, there was a special meeting of the Association of Class Secretaries (Johnnie Cole is president of that outfit) and there was a big pow-wow over providing adequate housing for the alumni returning to the Campus for Reunions, and also much talk regarding scheduling Reunions at a time other than the pre-Commencement week end. So maybe by the time 1963 rolls around, there'll be a new date for our Forty-year Reunion.

Way back in 1763, James Boswell hesitated about writing his "London Journal" because, as he told Sam Johnson, "I put down all sorts of little incidents in it." "Sir," replied Johnson, "there is nothing too little for so little a creature as man. It is by studying little things that we attain the great knowledge of having as little misery and as much happiness as possible." That goes for this column, too. Write me about the little things that are happening. Your Classmates are eager to know about them.

As Ben Franklin said, I hope your maid servant is faithful, strong, and homely. See you next month.

Got a nice note from Charlie Adler expressing regrets at missing the last Reunion. However, he must have been having a great time because he was in the "land of the Midnight Sun" at Reunion time and on his trip visited Paris and England. What fun!

Orin Severn from the eastern fringes of Jersey writes that he is patent counsel for the electronics division of Curtiss-Wright. He presents for challenge an interesting claim: the distinction of having the youngest family in the Class, having postponed creating a family until late in the '40's. He reports "three beautiful daughters: Betsey, 8; Virginia, 6; and Marian Jane, 5." Is there a comrade who challenges this statement?

Norm Harvey deponeth that he is with Union Carbide and manager of personnel development for the sales division since 1955. He is a senior trustee of the Village of Pelham, former Republican County committeeman in Westchester, and many other community activities, and likes gardening and swimming. Has two sons, Darrell and Bill, the latter of whom was recently taken ill, but is now recovering rapidly. Norm tells John Brothers that he sees Sam Bernart and Si Pickering with some regularity.

From Logan, Utah writes Leslie Hawthorn and wife, Ruth Reynolds '25. They now have four grandchildren; each of their two daughters has a boy and girl. Les is chairman of the western region of American Society for Horticultural Science, which includes all Western States and British Columbia.

Our old comrade-at-arms and great stalwart, Charlie Cassidy, was sworn in as a member of the Supreme Court of the State of Hawaii. Not too long ago, Duke Byron sent us a newspaper clipping which pays Charlie this great compliment: "If all Honolulu lawyers were pitted against one another in a popularity contest, Charles E. Cassidy well might emerge the winner." This comes as no surprise to those who have watched Charlie win on through the years. Carl Brown writes from Scarsdale briefly that he is a partner with Dean Witter & Co. Has a daughter, a graduate of Stanford U, who is married. He also has a son who is a sophomore at North Carolina University.

From White Plains reports Otto Jaeger. For the last twenty-five years he has been with the law firm of Kent, Hazzard, Jaeger & Wilson, Wilson being Malcolm Wilson, lieutenant governor of New York, and both Kent and Hazzard, the other members, are Cornellians. Ott has two children, three grandchildren.

Milton G. Dexter of Belmont, Mass. writes he is chairman of the secondary school committee of the Cornell Club of New England. He is apparently having good fun with amateur dramatics with the Belmont Dramatic Club and the Kupples Klub. His wife, Jennie Curtis '24, is chairman of the secondary school committee of the Cornell Women's Club of Boston. Daughter, Patricia Dexter Clark, is president of '52 women. They have one grandchild, not yet a Cornellian.

A brief, but pleasant note from R. T. Erickson from Greenwich, Conn., tells us he is secretary-treasurer of Adams Erickson Co. Inc., a building construction outfit. His daughter, Nancy, teaches school in San Francisco and he has two sons, Richard, with Adams Erickson Co., and Peter, vice-president of Stuart Muller Co., general contractors.

Jerry Guinn writes from Riviera Beach, Fla. a newsy and reminiscent letter about his Cornell association with the late Professor Sumner H. Slichter. Jerry recollects that Slichter was professor of Labor & Management in Cornell when we all were there. He remembers him as a most likeable and popular professor.

Raymond Johnson reports from Chevy Chase that he is the owner of his own Flower Center, is a member of the Friendship Lines Club, and the Optimist Club of Northwest Washington, D.C. Ray also informs us that he has two sons and one daughter.

'25 *Herbert H. Williams
Admissions Office, Day Hall

Stu Richardson reports that in answer to Chairman Frank Henderson's letter, he has heard from the following members of the Class: Johnny Johnson, Bill Elkins, Vic Chalupski, "E" Wolkowitz, Tom Roberts, Herb Williams, Chuck Gillett, Ben Levitan, C. E. Paine, Rastus Bardwell, Bill Nugent, C. P. Harder, H. L. Hunter, Leftie Thaler, O. R. Bell, Ben Harrison, Stan Baldwin, Jim Warden, Bill Marple, Bill Naill, J. B. McKeon, W. Simpler, Sam Talbot, Dick Bonyun, M. G. Bush, Rex Tracy, Morris K. Womack, A. G. Wosek, Jr., J. J. Piekarski, T. C. Ingersoll, A. Chenault, C. R. Holmes, Dick Davis, Irv Weill, Jack Crandall, Battleaxe Erde, Si Eichen, Herb Wallace, Jack Mykrantz, Rip Ripley, Rudy Vogeler, Bub Wade, S. C. Haskins, Lemp Lempert, Dick Markin, P. H. Smith.

Most of these men advised they will attend our Thirty-five-year Reunion. This is a good start and Stu hopes that we can get the show on the road with a big bang. He's waiting to hear from a lot more real soon.

'25 BS—Helen F. Green has sold her ancestral home in Gloversville, following her father's death, and moved to 480 S. Pleasant Street, Amherst, Mass.

'26 Hunt Bradley

Ithaca, N.Y.

C. Carver Pope has been elected to the newly-created position of vice-president in charge of personnel, Clevite Corp. He joined Cleveland Graphite Bronze Co., Clevite's largest division, in 1953 and became personnel director the same year. Since 1957 he also has been personnel director for Clevite. Carv's home address is 25110 Community Dr., Cleveland 24, Ohio.

Robert B. Doing, 41 Cambridge Ave., Garden City, is the author of a new book, Witness by Word and Life, distributed by The Strait Gate Project of Garden City. In the Foreword to this volume, J. Edwin Orr, ThD, DPhil, of Los Angeles, says in part: "Most of the matter in this volume I have heard taught or preached, and all of it I have read with deep interest. The book speaks for itself and I am happy to commend it along with its author to the whole Christian constituency."

William F. Merritt of 1105 New Jersey Ave., West Chester, Pa., writes that he is temporarily in Fort Wayne, Ind. on an ice cream plant for The Borden Co. and will be back to West Chester in the fall of 1960. A note from Maurice B. White, 150 Lake Dr., Mountain Lakes, N.J., advises: "My older son, Gordon White '55, is currently in Antarctica courtesy the Navy, to write up his experiences. He's a news reporter in Washington, and last spring had three weeks in Europe, courtesy the Army. Maybe I picked the wrong profession!"

Jean H. Miller has worked thirty-three years for Public Service Electric & Gas Co. in Newark. Jean lives at 25 Dogwood Dr., Summit, N.J. James Singer of 3054 Bedford Ave., Brooklyn 10, has a son John Alan, who is a Freshman in Arts & Sciences. His other son, Richard, is an upper junior at University of Wisconsin. Jim is professor of mathematics at Brooklyn College, deputy chairman of the department, and secretary of the faculty. He gave a short paper at the International Congress of Mathematicians in Edinburgh, Scotland, a year ago in August.

Tom Termohlen, 358 21st St., SE, Cedar Rapids, Iowa, states that his daughter Karen now teaches English in the high school in Port Washington. She received the Master's last summer at the Breadloaf School of English at Middlebury College. She decided to teach after working for CBS in New York City and was on the staff of "Person to Person." Before this she was in France having received a Fulbright scholarship at the Sorbonne.

'27 Don Hershey
5 Landing Rd., S.
Rochester 10, N.Y.

Jesse Van Law (above), Class treasurer, is a certified licensed underwriter with Massachusetts Mutual Insurance Co. New York City office, 300 Park Ave. A member of Massachusetts Mutual's Leaders Club for eight consecutive years, Van is active in Larchmont Grand Jurors Association, St. John's Episcopal Church, vestry; Community Chest, past-president; Larchmont Yacht Club; Orienta Beach Club; Cornell Club of New York. The Van Laws have two daughters, one a graduate of McGill, who, with her husband, teaches at Stanstead College, Quebec, Canada. Van's address is 3 Glenn Rd., Larchmont.

Ezra Cornell is a member of White & Case law firm, 14 Wall St., New York City. He is a director of Atlantic Gulf & Pacific Co., Chicago Pneumatic Tool Co., and Cornell McMullen Scholarships. Ez is a former president of Cornell Club of New York and a life member of its board of governors. He is active in various civic affairs, a trustee of St. Lukes Memorial Trust, and finds time to member golf at Montclair Golf Club. The Cornells have one son, one daughter, and two grandsons. Home address is 550 Park St., Montclair, N.J.

G. Gordon Mitchell, Class vice-president, is manager of Industrial Relations Division, Du Pont Co., Wilmington, Del. Mitch is active in Wilmington community fund, Boy Scout Council, District Republican chairman, Du Pont Country Club, and Cornell Club of New York. The Mitchells have one son, one daughter, and one grandson. Home address is 308 Cornwall Rd., Wilmington, Del. Edward Schimmel, owner-partner of Blackstone Hotel, Omaha, Neb., has three sons. Home address is 6724 Davenport St., Omaha. William Joyce, Jr. is vice-president of Rockwell-Standard Corp., Coraopolis, Pa.; director of Cobrasma Rockwell Eixos, Sao Paulo, Brazil. The Joyces have two sons and one daughter. Home address is 135 Abbeyville Rd., Pittsburgh.

James Wright is president of Monarch Oil Co., Elizabeth, N.J. and Home Fuel Oil Co., Passaic, N.J. Jim is a governor of

Passaic General Hospital. The Wrights have one daughter, one grandson, and one granddaughter. Home address: 211 Boulevard, Passaic, N.J. W. '28 H. Victor Grohmann
30 Rockefeller Plaza
New York 20, N.Y.

Roland Ruhl (above) has been operating his own fashion store, Ruhl's, in Freeport, Ill., for the last thirteen years. Before opening his own store, Rolly had been in the high-pressure corporate field of retailing for eighteen years and he writes that he is "very happy to operate a pleasant little business by the side of the road while the corporations sail by with all their tensions in tow." His son, Roland Jr., hopes to enter Cornell next fall.

H. Richard Hilary was recently the subject of a feature article in the Buffalo Evening News. Since 1955 he has been supervisor of construction on the New York State Thruway and represents the State of New York in disputes involving contractors and engineers. Before he was appointed supervisor, he did missionary work with Kiwanis, Rotary, and other luncheon and civic clubs to promote understanding and agreement on where access roads and bridges should be located and often the main Thruway route itself. In the article one of his associates says of Dick: "He has been carrying a terrific load, but he has the personality to get along with the people he works with and it is principally because of him that work has progressed as well as it has."

Since graduation Dick has also worked for the New York State Highway Department, the US Forestry Service, and the New York City Transit Commission. During World War II, he served as a reserve officer. Now a lieutenant colonel, he commands the 41st Mobilization Designation Unit of active reserve forces. Dick and his wife live at 300 McKinley Ave., Kenmore. Two of their three children are attending Cornell: Richard B., a Sophomore, and Carol, a graduate student.

Don't forget to send your $6 Class dues to Ray Beckwith, Recordak Corp., 415 Madison Ave., New York City 17.

'29 Men—Warren A. Ranney, BS, director of public relations & information for Grange League Federation Exchange, presided at one of the important meetings during the thirty-first annual meeting of the National Council of Farmer Cooperatives in Atlanta, Ga., early in January. Ranney also presented a paper on pension policies and retirement programs. Ranney is first vice-president of the Council. Congrats, Warren; we're proud of you. We need your home address and some data on the family. Please rush it to me for the next issue.

Kenneth E. Caster, University of Cincinnati professor of geology and fellow of the UC graduate school of arts & sciences, has been named an official US delegate to the International Geological Congress, in August, 1960, in Copenhagen, Denmark. Thanks to Leo P. Katzin for his nice note revealing that 90 Aldrich Ave., Binghamton, is home and the exciting news that daughter Davi-Linda is in the Class of '60, College of Home Economics, and that daughter, Judy, is applying for admission to Arts & Sciences in the fall of 1960. We are mighty proud of the Katzins; they are battling a thousand.

Bob Rose sends along his address, 86 Ocean Ave., Monmouth Beach, N.J., for which we say "amen." Now how about a few choice tidbits about yourself and the family, Bob? Please! Mike Bender, our roving undersecretary, sends word that he bumped into Bill Kerr, an official of Ins. Co. of North America, in Philadelphia. Bill, please send along your home address and a few personal notes. Thanks! At the third annual award dinner (NYC alumni), I had the pleasure of discussing with Helen Holme (Mrs. T. T.) Mackie '29, a great, mutual friend, Ambassador John Davis Lodge. Mr. & Mrs. Nathan Ohrbach (Jerry's parents) also attended as did the Mike we all like, Bender!

At the Cornell meetings, held at The Roosevelt here in New York, Mike Bender said to me, "I wonder if anybody has heard from Dud Schoales from Africa." Are you back, Dud? I hope the column has first call on all the exciting news of your safari.

A. C. Blackman, ME, 325 Castenada Ave., San Francisco, Cal., is chief of the Division of Industrial Safety of the State of California. Are there any details you can now reveal about your trip to Geneva as a US delegate to an industrial committee meeting of the ILO on the timber industry? Did you meet Ferris Kneen on the plane or in London?

Ted Heine EE, is at 28 Nixon Ave., Staten Island. The New York Telephone Co., 140 West St., New York City, employs Ted as an engineer. Lieutenant Ted, Jr., we are proud to report, is Cornell '54. My son, Lieutenant (jg) Charles Freedman, ditto. Ted, are you still speaking for Cornell on college nights at Tottenville High, Staten Island? What else is news?

No word yet on the whereabouts of Lou Walinsky. The column may have to offer a prize to get his address. Eugene Roe's exact address is Lake States Forest Experiment Station, Grand Rapids, Minn. The column thanks you for the wonderful letter. '29ers would like to know the whereabouts of Classmates Sidney Beck, Francisco De P. Correa, Alfred Henderson, Herman Kanofsky, Salvatore Lantieri, William Low, Yui Ming.

Please send news to me at 233 E. 32d St., New York City 16.—ZAC FREEDMAN

'29 Women—Four '29 women were among those honored at a cocktail party and reception given by the Cornell Women's Club of New York for those Cornellians living in the Metropolitan area of New York City who are listed in the first edition of Who's Who of American Women. These were Sylvia Goldstein Levy, AB '29, lawyer, who with her husband, Eli Bennett Levy, now owns and manages an art gallery; Helen Holme Mackie, AB '29, an Alumni Trustee of Cornell and a member of the Connecticut State Legislature; Annie Parks McCombs, MD '29, physician; and Marjorie A. Rice, BS '29, food executive at Borden Co. and president of the Federation of Cornell Women's Clubs.

To help acknowledge their Classmates' achievements and celebrate the occasion, Mary Groff and Geraldine D'heedene Nathan came from Philadelphia, while Helen Cuyler Sheffield, Josephine Mills Reis, Anna K. Schmidt, Dorothy Peets, Caroline Getty Lutz, Agnes Kelly Saunders, Charlotte Gristede, Anor Whiting Van Winkle made up the New York-New Jersey cheering section.—CHARLOTTE GRISTEDE

'30 ME—Charles F. Crane retired from the Army December 31 after more than twenty years of active duty with the Signal Corps. His last assignment was as deputy commander of the USA Signal Intelligence Agency, Arlington Station, Va. He lives at 35 Queen Anne Drive, Shrewsbury, N.J.

'30 AB, '32 MA, '35 PhD—Robert P. Ludlum, president of Blackburn College, has been elected a member of the board of Christian education of the United Presbyterian Church. He is now president of Associated Colleges of Illinois. He and Mrs. Ludlum (Ruth Smith) '28 live at 501 College Avenue, Carlinville, Ill. Their daughter Susan is a Freshman at Cornell and their other daughter, Margaret, is a junior at Wayland Academy, Beaver Dam, Wis.

'31 Bruce W. Hackstaff

Huntington, N.Y.

At times we feel that the regularity involved in preparing and writing these columns is just too much. We reach a point where a little more would cause us to say, "to H—— with it." Then we hear from some Classmate and the world is full of roses again.

The present situation is a case in point. A letter from Harding Van Schaack has restored our energies. He is with Caterpillar Tractor Co. in the Milwaukee plant. Before that, he was with The Heil Co., also in Milwaukee. Harding has recently lost two daughters, in marriage, that is. His older daughter, Betty, a graduate of Northwestern with a Master's of Teachers College, Columbia, was married to Richard M. Bock of Forest Hills, November 28. The couple both taught at Farmingdale, about ten miles from our home. His other daughter was married to Charles Kirckhoff, August 28, 1958. Both are graduates of Michigan State and Sue was a classmate of Bill Hudson's daughter there. The major Van Schaak residence is 2460 Pasadena Blvd., Wauwatosa 13, Wis.

Archibald G. Durham, 25 E. Cedar Ave., Merchantville, N.J., was appointed assistant to the manager, general marketing operations department, Sun Oil Co., Philadelphia, last August. Archie has been with Sun Oil since 1934 and before this appointment was manager, package goods handling. Our last reports on Archie show that he and his wife, Frances F. Staley '33, have three daughters, Jean, Margaret, and Barbara, all of whom should now be young ladies.

Dr. Edward J. Kreuzer is a newcomer to these columns and very welcome. Starting as a CE and ending up an MD is quite a change and accomplishment. We feel he has a renewed acquaintance and interest in Cornell through his son, Edward H. Kreuzer, who entered the University last fall. Ed's home is at 6709 Ridge Blvd., Brooklyn 20.

One of our regular correspondents is C. Rollin Allen. Every time he moves out on an adjustment job, we hear from him. Last year it concerned two trips to Africa on insurance adjustments for dam failures. This time it is a trip to London, again as a dam adjuster. In his own words, this is "after getting back from Honolulu working on hurricane and furniture fire losses. Never a dull moment. Daughter 'Rolline' is in College of Marin, part of California. Couldn't get her back East. Her father does all the travelling." Home, when he is there, is 20 Coste Alegre, San Raphael, Cal.

Dr. Hugh S. Cameron, at University of California, in Davis, writes that he is spending a year in New Zealand on a Fulbright Scholarship. We seem to have a nomadic Class. We had our share of travelling in the past and can appreciate the broadening powers of travel. To finish off this travelogue, James W. McCullough is still in Turkey. He is now president of all Mobil Oil interests, including marketing, exploration, and refining in Turkey. His address is c/o Mobil Oil Turk AO, Istanbul, Turkey. Enough travelling. Home for a rest and the next column.

*Richard H. Sampson
111 W. Washington St.
Chicago 2, Ill.*

Robert E. Stevens (above) was recently elected president for 1960 of the National Society of Sales Training Executives. This organization includes in its membership men responsible for the selection and training programs of the nation's top sales organizations. Its object is the exchange of ideas and experience looking toward better sales training and, as a result, better selling. Robert is sales personnel manager for Carnation Co. in Los Angeles and has returned to the Campus on recruiting missions.

Ward R. Ellsworth teaches vo-agr. at Brookfield Central School and operates the home farm south of Utica. His daughter, Mary Elizabeth, graduated from Plattsburgh State Teachers College in June, and is one of the school nurses at Whitney Point. His son, Deane, is a Freshman in Agricultural Engineering at Cornell and a member of the Big Red Band. Ward's home address is RFD, Unadilla Forks.

Robert M. Lovejoy asks: "Did anybody get any good pictures at the 25th Reunion that those of us who couldn't attend might see? Maybe a "package" deal of individual and group photos could be put together. I, for one, would like to have such a rare collection." Bob can be reached at 7215 Colby Ave., Des Moines 11, Iowa.

Wilfred E. Huelsenbeck has been promoted to general manager of the comptroller's department of Prudential Insurance Co. He has been with Prudential since 1935. He served with the US Navy for twenty-seven months during World War II and was discharged a lieutenant. Wilfred lives with his wife and two sons at 5 Dogwood Lane, Rumson, N.J.

Joseph E. Comtois writes: "Status still quo. Daughter, Michelle, still attending Hathaway Brown School, Cleveland. Also I've arrived at the stage of having college bills to pay. Daughter, Carol, at Chatham College (Pennsylvania College for Women for us older fellows), majoring in Carnegie Tech, U of P, Dennison, Bucknell, and Washington & Jefferson, I believe. Just completed my quarter century in insurance; some day I'll understand it!" Joseph lives at 3387 Glencairn Rd., Shaker Heights, Ohio.

According to a recent newspaper article, Erik B. J. Roos has given up in his efforts to hand New Jersey back to the British. Erik, who is a New York engineer, living in Westfield, N.J., admitted that his recent proposal doesn't stand a chance and the movement will be abandoned. Roos and five other commuters from that area had suggested the return to British rule as a protest against income taxes imposed by New York State on New Jerseyans who work there. Erik's wife is the former Margaret Douglas '37.

'33 AB—William R. Lockridge (above) has been appointed director of market planning for Servo Corp. of America, Hicksville, where he is in charge of corporate policy on product development, acquisitions, and general business expansion activities. The company produces infra-red military systems, doppler direction finding and omnirange systems, servo system test equipment, industrial controls systems, and railroad electronic equipment. Lockridge was formerly director of marketing of The New York Air Brake Co. Before that, as assistant secretary of Bendix Aviation Corp. he handled product and company acquisitions and the development of world-wide licensing and distribution programs, traveling to many foreign countries. During World War II, he negotiated and administered military contracts forsylvania Electric. He had also practiced corporate law with a law firm and several companies in New York City. He has written articles and spoken frequently on marketing and legal topics at industry forums. For the last fifteen years, he has circulated a newsletter among Sigma Alpha Epsilon Classmates. The Lockridges live in a rambling country house in Chappaqua. Mrs. Lockridge is organist of the Chappaqua Congregational Church. Daughter Lydia and son Bobby hope to enter Cornell.

'35 Men — With the Twenty-five-year Reunion of the famous Class of '35 just around the corner, interest in this great event seems to be building up. Christmas cards from some of the fellows have carried notes indicating their intention of "being among the casualties." I have also had the pleasure of seeing some of our members from time to time during the last few months, and perhaps a quick summary of all this will help some more of our cohorts to decide to join the festivities.

From the Boston area, Fred Miller and Art Rodgers definitely will be on hand, along with Wen Upham from Phillipsburg, Pa., Jack Sullivan from Dayton, Ohio, Tom Borland from Darien, Conn., and yours truly. Pittsburgh will definitely be represented by John Batchelar, Ed Gibbs, and Sewell Crisman (who has already started the ball rolling in the December 15 ALUMNI News). Of course, we're assuming Jack Todd and others from that area will be there, too. Dr. Bill Dugan from Hamburg is hoping to make it, as well as Hank Rogers from Freeport. Naturally, Paul McNamara, our Reunion chairman, will be coming from Philadelphia, together with Bill Einwechter, our secretary-chairman. It goes without saying that Jack Cobb and Bruce MacLeod, Class president and vice-president, will be on hand, and we'll certainly be looking for all the old stand-bys, such as Bo Adlerbert, Dave Abbott, Frank Delaplane, Don English, Jack Mount, Bus Olsen, Paul Torrence, Jack Wilson, Russ Boettiger, John Leslie, Roge Hamilton, Scotty McQueen, and Frank Irving, to name just a few. Let's hope we can get George Kennaday from California and Jim Tate and George Barns from down Virginia way, too. How about some more of the gang talking it up and letting us know?

My only personal news is that I left Westinghouse last year and am now with Steel & Alloy Sales Corp., a manufacturer's representative and distributor here, handling such items as forgings, welding fittings, special machined and fabricated products, industrial heating equipment, etc. We cover northwestern Pennsylvania and part of New York, and I like it very much. Quite a change for an EE, what?

—JOSEPH E. FLEMING

'35 AB—Garner A. Adams has been elected treasurer of Bigelow & Dowse Co., Needham Heights, Mass., oldest and largest distributor in New England of hardware, housewares, sporting goods, and floor covering. He has been with the company for eight years in sales and purchasing department administrative posts. He was formerly assistant Alumni Fund secretary. The Adamses live with their son, Randy, and daughter, Judy, at 791 Main Street, Hingham, Mass.

'35 AB—J. Alwin Froehlich is an attorney and president of Jos. T. Froehlich Co., Inc., real estate brokers & developers, which is celebrating its fiftieth anniversary on Long Island (office in Rockville Centre). He lives on South Country Road, Bay Shore.

*Robert A. Hamburger
6 Locust Dr.

William H. Hoyt is now manager of personnel for General Atomic, a subsidiary of General Dynamics. Bill is the father of four children, and recently moved into a new home at 6045 Folsom Dr., La Jolla, Cal.

Kenneth M. Lord (above) has been appointed vice-president and general manager of the electronics division of Stromberg-Carlson. He had been director of engineering in the electronics division, which manufactures a variety of equipment for civilian and military use. Before joining Stromberg-Carlson in 1958, Kenneth was consulting engineer to the general manager of the aircraft gas turbine division of General Electric Co. in Cincinnati. He lives with his wife and daughter at 1367 Clover St., Brighton (a suburb of Rochester).

'37 Alan R. Willson
State Mutual Life Ins. Co.
Worcester, Mass.

Bernard N. Rolfe recently joined Sinclair Research Laboratories, Inc. as assistant director of exploration research. He and his wife and two children live at 5335 E. 5th St., Tulsa, Okla. Following his service in the Air Force during World War II, he went on to get the PhD from Penn State and then worked for the US Geological Survey until his new affiliation.

John T. Barton lives at 211 South Genesee St., Montour Falls. He recently made the news because, as a member of the school board, he was appointed director of a humanities seminar offered to gifted high school students. This was especially newsworthy because his son, J. Edward, is a member of a science seminar and his daughter of the humanities seminar directed by her father. Johnnie works at Seneca Engineering Co. in Montour Falls.

'36 AB — Mrs. Newell R. Washburn (Elizabeth Fessenden) is an analytical research chemist with Anasco Division of General Aniline & Film Corp. and lives at 2204 East Main Street, Endicott. She writes:

Last summer my husband and I visited Eskimo settlements around Hudson Bay, Foxe Basin (north of the Arctic Circle), and Baffin Island via Hudson's Bay Co. supply ship Rupertsland. We encountered ice that held us up for a day or two, but also enabled us to get close looks at families of walrus and seals. The Eskimos of the far north still live in a primitive culture, but the DEW line installations, commercial and military bases are rapidly "civilizing" the Eskimo, presenting a considerable problem to the Canadian government. We found this glimpse of Arctic life most fascinating and are anxious to return, in spite of the fact that my husband suffered a heart attack as we were passing through Hudson Straits. We were without medical aid, except for brief messages from a Navy doctor via radiotelephone, for four days, when we reached Frobisher Bay and were flown out to Montreal via the US Air Force. It was certainly an unforgettable trip in many respects. Happily, he has recovered almost completely.

'37 Women—Here is part of a long letter written by Elvira Swayze Clough last April and addressed to "Dear Classmates of '37." The letter did not reach me till midsummer and I put it away so carefully that I have just now found it. This is the first time Elvira has ever written us a letter, but I hope it won't be the last.

First of all, you will note that I have moved back to my old college days' home at 406 Elmwood Ave., Ithaca. This followed the death of my mother in October, 1958. My father and mother had lived here all that time and now my family and I have come to be with my father . . . My oldest daughter, Norma Mae, graduated from Cornell last June as a French major and this year is doing some special work at Houghton College. Next year she expects to be teaching French or Spanish in a high school in Central New York . . . Joyce is in 8th grade and Cheryl in 2d grade . . . Woodrow Clough '37 is still working in the Dairy Bacteriology Department at Cornell.

For the last ten years I have been a licensed foster mother for our county welfare department. I have had 25 to 30 different children to care for. They stay anywhere from a few days to several years. Some are new babies being prepared for adoption. Some come because of sickness of the parents and some from broken homes, and some because they have been taken from their parents because of bad (cruel) treatment or poor care. Sometimes an emergency comes up and I take a child with practically no notice. One came to me with only a T shirt and a diaper, no other clothes on him, and a part of a bottle of milk. I asked the case worker his name and age and formula and she said: "We will have to guess. I know only his last name and that his mother had to be rushed to the hospital." The baby had been taken to the hospital with his mother in the ambulance and the hospital called the welfare department. The people were new in town and had no friends yet. The mother was too sick to talk. After looking at the way this young fellow walked, and counting his teeth, I decided he was about 11 months old. Then I sipped some of his formula and made a good guess what was in it. Relatives came and got him next day and all ended happily. (He was 11 months old!)

Usually things go pretty well, but part of one week I had to keep "prisoner" a little boy who wanted to go back to a "Mommie" who was too ill to have him. Doors had to be double locked and his clothes hid and many many stories told and games played. Many times children are very disturbed by troubles in their homes and the older ones have to be taken to the mental health clinic. Sometimes I have to deal with "problem parents" and that is not exactly fun, but the work has rewards, too. Often half-starved children just blossom with simple good food, vitamins, and some love . . . I have two now, one 8 months and one 20 months old. How long they will be here is a question.

You can guess we stay near home most of the time. We like picnics and go on two family trips each summer, one to Woodrow's parents' home in Vermont and one to the C&MA camp at Rome, where we live in tents and cook outdoors for two weeks. Besides our own, we have from one to four foster children with us on these camping trips. The older children like to hunt with Woodrow, with his camera, for birds, squirrels, and moths (once even a bat got his picture taken). I teach first grade in vacation bible school at the C&MA church each summer and take my turn working in the church nursery which my foster babies help to fill. Woodrow still likes to sing in choirs, but I don't seem to find time to do much away from home . . .

Gosh, I'd say Elvira finds time to do a lot of really worthwhile things, wouldn't you?—CAROL CLINE

'38 LLB—Sol M. Linowitz of the law firm of Harris, Beach, Dale & Linowitz, Rochester, has been named chairman of the New York State Bar Association's special subcommittee on world peace through law. The subcommittee will work with a similar committee established by the American Bar Association. Linowitz is New York State president of the American Association for the United Nations. He recently gave the main address at a dinner at a District IV conference of Zonta International in Rochester. He and Mrs. Linowitz (Evelyn Zimmerman) '39 live at 2563 East Avenue, Rochester 10.

'39 Women—To the women of '39 a belated but heartfelt New Year's greeting from your tardy correspondent. Before you let fly the brickbats, be it known that high on my list of resolutions is the determination to keep you better informed on the whereabouts and activities of our Class. This presupposes a resolution on your part to send me such news.

Christmas time brought some lovely cards and a few items of interest concerning Classmates. Olive Vroman Rockwell now lives at 1535 Kensington Circle, Los Altos, Cal. To those of us living in the Modern Ice Age, her description of sun and swimming pools is enchanting. Mary Rogers Hillas of 3 Lansdowne Estates Dr., Lexington, Ky., reports that Sylvia Dean Hunter is "still on the West Coast and living with her sister." Where are you, Sylvia? The West Coast covers considerable territory. Mary also mentioned that, while visiting on Long Island last summer, she talked by telephone to Ruth White Pachuta.

Rosemary Sharood, the belle of Northwestern Bell Telephone Co., writes that she took a grand trip to New York and Washington, D.C. in October to visit members of her family. Jean Curtis Callaham states, with a mixture of regret and anticipation, that her Marine husband's tour of duty in Hawaii will soon be over, and they will be returning to the mainland soon. Possibly we can persuade her to hula for us at our Twenty-five-year Reunion. Her address is 146 Main St., Honolulu 18, Oahu, Hawaii.

Binx Howland chides me gently for no newsletter, but gives me little information concerning her Life and Hard Times in the radio business. The address I have for Binx is 336 Doris Ave., Vestal, but I have a vague recollection that there has been a change. Please send your new address, Binx; so you won't get the next Christmas card on St. Patrick's Day.

Betty Chambers Loomis of 3 Pilgrim Circle, Rochester 18, and your correspondent are both members of a very unscientific and talkative bridge foursome. She is president of the Pittsford PTA. Betty's younger sister, Ann '42, is now Mrs. James Pennington and lives in Rochester.

Ethel Piness Abrams of 521 Stelle Ave., Plainfield, N.J., asks tactfully how our news coverage has been (Well, Piney; it's this way . . .), and asks, "Do you want us to dragnet some news?" The answer is an unequivocal yes! Post cards, clippings, old shopping lists, notes to the milk man, changes of address, and any other likely tidbits of information will be gratefully received by your reluctant but dutiful correspondent at 28 Westwood Dr., East Rochester.—MARIAN PUTNAM FINKILL

'40 John L. Munschauer
Cornell Placement Service
Day Hall, Ithaca, N.Y.

I received a note from Dave Chambers in Kansas which says: "Munsch; Mark Douglas Chambers, 7 pounds 6 ounces, 8 January 1960, 2:15 p.m. Mother and child are both OK and father will make it also they think." They are all well, very busy with the new baby and moving into a new house at the end of this month. Having mentioned in a recent column that the offsprings in our Class were beginning to enter Cornell, I can't help wondering how we'll react to the same piece of news in 1978 when I report that Mark Douglas Chambers has applied for admission.

Art Durfee, our erstwhile editor, received this card at the end of September: "Dear Art: Sorry, have no news about '40 Classmates. However, this particular member has moved from Lyndhurst to New Brunswick, N.J. Same job, manufacturer antibiotics, S. B. Penick & Co., Newark, N.J.; same family of three children.—Charles Monroe, 11 Bloomfield Ave., New Brunswick, N.J."

Stan Russell wrote October 2: "Recently returned from 10,000 miles worth of 'Seeing America First' by auto. With us, Mark (13), Marilyn (12), and David (10). Lots of educational value and fun. Still living in Rosemont, Pa., and engaged in the securities business with Blyth & Co., Inc. (vice-president), with new address at 2 Penn Center Plaza, Philadelphia. Regards, Stanley A. Russell, Jr."

Charles Huggett of Pound Ridge Rd., Bedford Village, reports that he is a patent attorney with Socony Mobil Oil Co. in New York City. He also reports: "My wife, Daphne, was unable to complete her educational plans when we married because of war time conditions. Later, there were three children, Harold, Richard, and Diane, now 14, 13, and 11. But last year, she got the AB at Hunter College, New York City. This year we moved into a new house and are just getting over the shock of transfer."

According to our records here are some new addresses we picked up while collecting dues: William T. Ayers, 50 Corwin Dr., Alamo, Cal.; Stephen M. Barker, 171 Raymond St., Darien, Conn.; Richard C. Beuttell, Rosewood Blvd., Vero Beach, Fla.; John E. Billings, Scenery Hill Dr., Chatham, N.J.; Roland R. Graham, Jr., 30 Colby Lane, Cranford, N.J.; Richard G. Phelps, 33 Club Dr., Massapequa; Walter Zeldow, 35 Adair Court, Malverne. Glad to know you have moved, gentlemen, and thanks for your dues. Come to Reunion and fill us in on the news you did not write.

'41 Robert L. Bartholomew
51 N. Quaker Lane
West Hartford 7, Conn.

Milwaukee newspapers have announced the candidacy for governor of Wisconsin of former Republican State Chairman Philip H. Kuehn (above), 6104 North Berkeley Blvd., Milwaukee 17, Wis. Several items have appeared previously in these columns about Buzz, who is president of Wisconsin Cold Storage Co. Mrs. Kuehn is the former Margery Holley of Detroit. They have three children. Cornellians in the family include George M. Holley, Jr. '38 and John C. Holley '42. Buzz writes that "All our energies are being directed to the gubernatorial nomination." The primary will be in September and the final election in November. Buttons worded "Kuehn for Governor" are already in circulation in Wisconsin.

Dr. Theodore C. Bernstein, 11 Cypress Dr., Woodbury, practices internal medicine and neurology in Levittown. Ted is now director of medical service at Mid Island Hospital and is associate attending in medicine and neurology at Meadowbrook Hospital. He "recently took on an associate, making life much easier." Mrs. Bernstein is the former Evelyn Nathanson. They have three children.

John N. Hall, 1305 Woodford Place, Arlington Heights, Ill., recently changed jobs and is now sales manager of the industrial division of The House of Vision, manufacturing optical company. John directs the sale of industrial safety prescription glasses to plants in a five-State area. John and his wife Pauline have two children: Ruth, 11, and John III, 9.

George Chrein, 137-83 75 Rd., Kew Garden Hills 67, is chairman of the agricultural department of Newtown High School, Flushing. Mrs. Chrein is the former Ethel Silver. They have two children: Joan, 11, and Martin, 9. George is a member of numerous educational and vocational associations and the Schoolmen's Post of the American Legion.

James S. Wittman Jr., 19 Baywood Dr., Pineville, La., is chairman of the department of sociology at Louisiana College. Jim's wife is the former Ardelle Huber. The children are Margaret, James, Ruth, Robert, and twins Bette and William. Jim writes: "Margaret is a freshman in Louisiana College. She was valedictorian at Chautauqua Central School, but decided to stay with the family in Louisiana. She almost went to Cornell. I still have five more chances. Ardelle and I like golf and the climate here provides us with an all season hobby."

S. R. (Rusty) Irish, Jr., 123 Eleventh St., Lincoln, Ill., included this note with his 1959-60 Class dues check, "Don't know if I have passed on the fact that I am now with Stetson China Co. as works manager; still living here in Lincoln."

Edwin L. VanAllen, 1137 Elmwood Rd., Rocky River 16, Ohio, is with Minnesota Mining & Manufacturing Co. as division sales supervisor for the Cleveland division of "Scotch" brand tapes. Ed adds this note, "Plan to make the Reunion in 1961." Felix M. DeRose, 9509 Monroe St., Silver Spring, Md., is a patent attorney and an associate member of the law firm of Watson, Cole, Grindle & Watson. Mrs. DeRose is the former Angela Venza. They have two boys and a girl, Flip, Bart, and Lisa.

In the event that this is being read by the wife of a Classmate, please continue reading as the next few lines are directed to you. First of all, it is hoped that you like what you read in this '41 column. Perhaps, however, the name of your husband has not appeared. Why? Chances are that we have not heard from him. Here's where you can help. Drop me a line (my name and address heads this column). Of undisputed interest are additions to your family, job changes, promotions, and changes of address. Example, Mary Arden Page writes about her husband, Gerald S. Page: "Gerry is abroad on business for Esso Export touring operations in fourteen countries. There has been a slight change of address here at home. We moved four houses up the street to 45 Briarcliff Rd., Larchmont, as we needed a bit more room."

'41 Women—A very belated Happy New Year to you all. Boy, did I "goof"; the deadline for the January News came and went and I was still unwinding from a crazy but wonderful Christmas and New Year's. All of the Cornell Buells were here at my house with spouses, children, and in-laws. They included Mrs. Fisk Shailer (Louise Buell) '35; Richard Buell, LLB '37; Robert Buell '39, and Mrs. Henry Lyon (Bettie Ann Buell) '52. I hope that's excuse enough for negligence.

Much of the following news came as Christmas greetings and I really do appreciate everyone's thoughtfulness. Mrs. G. Burge DeWitt ("Mame" McCann), 3127 4th St., SE, Minneapolis 14, Minn., wrote she had "no news" but from her note she's obviously busy with her two sons, Donny, 11, and David, 7; they have a summer cottage in the "land-o-lakes," are all water skiers (one ski she says); they usually get back to Ithaca, her former home, at least once a year but on a hurried visit. Her husband, Burge DeWitt '39, is in design work in the aeronautical division of Minneapolis Honeywell. Elizabeth R. Gass, 72 Macondray Lane, San Francisco 11, Cal., after eight years of interviewing, counseling, training, etc. with the Army Corps of Engineers, San Francisco District, has been promoted to a similar job with the 12th Naval District Headquarters in San Francisco.

Mrs. A. Roger Clarke, Jr. (Gay Churchill), 499 Vosburg Rd., Webster, writes: "Still married, still four children. Have lived in Webster on Lake Ontario for last ten years. Practice law, politics, and horses in about equal proportions. Have converted Webster into a Democratic oasis in this conservative upState Sahara. My husband is Democratic leader of the town which has gone thataway since he took over in 1953." Sounds busy and interesting; my own husband is a Republican leader. Another former Ithaca friend of mine, Mrs. Harold C. Cope (Ann Reeves), 906 Abington Pike, Richmond, Ind., also states "no startling news." Her husband is business manager of Earlham College; she has four children, the youngest now 4, and she is up to her ears with family, college, church and community affairs.

Helen Douty writes that she taught at University of Hawaii for exactly ten years after getting the MS at Cornell in 1948; taught at University of Washington last year; now has begun work on the PhD in clothing & textiles at University of Florida in Tallahassee where she plans to be for several years. Mrs. Edgar N. Jay (Rosalie Pittluck), 22 Tilrose St., Lynbrook, reports that her husband Ed is a patent attorney; daughter Ellen is about to graduate from high school this June and on to college, and son Robert has just started junior high.

Kathryn E. Barnes, 1006 Mitchell St., Ithaca, writes she's still pushing propaganda for the New York Artificial Breeder's Co-operative, working in information & publicity department. She has been there for fifteen years, except for four years with a similar outfit in Connecticut. She had a week in Bermuda last spring and now wants to see Hawaii.

I have more news, but I think I had best save it for the next issue; my mail may not come in as fast once the January "slump" has set in.—VIRGINIA BUELL WUORI

'43 Men—Jes J. Dall III (above), son of the late Jes J. Dall, Jr. '16, has been appointed assistant general manager, electric welding, Linde Co., division of Union Carbide Corp., New York City. His responsibilities will include all phases of Heliarc, Sigma, Unionmelt, and Unionarc welding processes. Jes, who among other things managed the 150-pound crew and was a member of Quill & Dagger, has lived since graduation in Wichita, Kans., San Antonio and Houston, Tex., Youngstown, Ohio, and now resides at Hillcrest Park, Old Greenwich, Conn.

Enjoying the sun of California when business permits is John B. Chase, chief engineer of William Brand Wire & Cable Corp., Santa Monica, Cal., manufacturers of custom electronic multi-conductor cable.

In the event that you've been looking high and low for such, search no longer. Write Jack at 9423 Swinton Ave., Sepulveda, Cal., where he lives with Mrs. Chase and their four children.

Robert A. Moore writes to announce the birth of Robert A. Jr., July 8. Andy joins his older sisters, Demie and Tracy. Dad, reporting that he had a grand time at the Fifteen-year Reunion, looks forward to the Twenty-year Reunion in 1963. Bob is president of Aquatrols Corp. of America and can be reached at Fox Run Rd., Sewell, N.J. S. James Campbell of 1904 Indian Head Rd., Ruxton 4, Md., is treasurer of J. T. Campbell Sons' Corp. Jim numbered among his activities at Cornell the cross country and lacrosse teams and Sphinx Head.—S. MILLER HARRIS

'44 '47 BCE—J. Warren Finch of 7427 Westview Dr., Youngstown 12, Ohio, has been in general contracting for three years. He was awarded the general contract for the construction of a $93,000 fire station in Youngstown. He has two daughters and one son.

'44, '49 AB; '44, '43 BS — Arthur H. Kesten and Mrs. Kesten (Dorothy Kay) '44, who lived at 9 Elizabeth Drive, Westport, Conn., moved February 1 to Crestwood Road in Westport. They own Army Aviation Magazine.

'44, '47 AB, '49 LLB—Judge Samuel R. Pierce (above, left) of the Court of General Sessions in New York City receives his life membership in the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People from Jackie Robinson, former baseball star for the Brooklyn Dodgers, member of the NAACP national board of directors and co-chairman of the Association's life membership committee. Judge Pierce was given a temporary appointment to the General Sessions bench by Governor Nelson E. Rockefeller in January, 1959. He was narrowly defeated in the November elections, but has since been given a temporary appointment to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Judge Jacob G. Schurman, Jr. '17.

'45 Eric G. Carlson
69 Carlton Ave.
Port Washington, N.Y.

Philip R. Macy, The Yacht Windrift II, 25 Dyckman St., New York City 34, is living, as his address indicates, on a forty-foot

Matthews Cabin Cruiser tied up to a dock on Manhattan Island. Phil is chief studio engineer at Bell Sound Studios in New York. The largest independent recording studio installation in Manhattan, they record everything from Frankie Avalon and Fabian to Warner Brothers large orchestra albums. Phil is in our large bachelor group. L. P. Vollers, Jr., 36 Townsend Dr., Florham Park, N.J., is with Hess-Goldsmith & Co., a division of Burlington Industries. Lud was one of our hosts for our national get-together and attended the Princeton game last fall where he saw Doug Archibald and Stan Johnson. He has three boys, 14, 12, and 8.

William J. Rothfuss, 6 Norwood St., Winchester, Mass., writes: "The Rothfuss family consists of my wife, Toni, Ann, 14, Billy, 9, and David, 5. This wide age variance in the family provides a three-ring circus (soon to be four in the circus). We moved to Massachusetts, from Iowa in 1957, where I am general manager of the CRYOVAC Equipment Division, which is part of W. R. Grace & Co. We attended the Harvard-Cornell game at Harvard Stadium, and following this, went to a Cornell reception where we met a lot of Cornellians plus some old friends such as Bill ('Teapot') Bertelson and his wife"

Major John G. Albert, 316 19th St., Santa Monica, Cal., is stationed at the Air Force Ballistic Missile Division in Los Angeles. His work is involved with military space missions. John and his wife, Jean, have a wonderful family of six children. Does anyone in the Class have seven or eight children? I would say the major, though he is very concerned with what is going on in space, has been actively concerned with affairs here on earth. William C. Menges, Woodland Farms Rd., Pittsburgh 38, Pa., is married with two boys and one girl. Bill is with Pittsburgh Plate Glass Co. Merle L. Dinse, 710 Governors Hwy., South Windsor, Conn., is a designer at Pratt & Whitney Aircraft and has three children, Linda, 13, David, 10, and Paul, 3. Merle is an active churchman as a clerk at the First Congregational Church.

William A. Franklin, 2 Standish Terrace, Syracuse 3, writes: "We have just moved into a new home this year and have been busy with all the familiar problems of a new house. I am still engaged as a manufacturers representative, handling electronic components in upState New York." Fred D. McNair, 4088 Brush Rd., W. Richfield, Ohio, has four children: daughters Pat, 12; Elizabeth 1½; sons, Denny, 9, and Tim, 5. Fred is manager of a plant manufacturing hardwood mouldings (Davidson McNair Co.) He is president of Bath Richfield Kiwanis Club and says he is looking forward to coming to Ithaca in June for the Reunion.

Robert Anfanger, 124 Glenhill Dr., Birmingham 9, Ala., writes: "Wife, Mickey (Marjorie Cohen '46), and I celebrated our fifteenth wedding anniversary last June. We continue to enjoy life in Birmingham; Susan Ellen is 8½ and Nancy Beth now 1 year. I am still district manager with Philco Corp., covering Alabama and Tennessee."

'47 Men — From the Great Lakes country we've had word from Mac (Malcolm R.) Rankin who married Marion Helen Tremblar of Ithaca.

They have three children: Bradley, 9; Dexter, 6; and Linda Diane, 1½. The youngsters run around with red heads and blue eyes. Mac has managed to put together a 1½-story Cherry Valley colonial house between Bradford, Pa. and Allegany State Park, with no help from anyone. In between hours spent in the building of a home, he has pushed a few papers around his desk at Kendall Refining Co., where he is project leader, research & development department. Mac specializes in petroleum work with some attention being given to lubricants. We asked for a photograph, got none, all because the single photograph on hand is punched full of holes. Maybe Bradley used it for a dart board.

George Goldsbrough has entrenched himself in Washington, D.C., at 2121 K St., N.W., where he is a partner in the law offices of Mehler, Goldsbrough & Ives. A quote from November letter: "At the present time, as a member of the faculty of the George Washington University law school and chairman of its fund-raising drive . . ." So we have a practicing lawyer, a teacher, and a fund-raiser all wrapped in one. I'm pleased to see him in the latter capacity for GW, as it is another indication that more Classmates are recognizing the need for helping institutional fund-raising efforts. The Class will give him a vote of confidence.

"Burghers, Shakes, 19¢." That's what the red letterhead says. It's from Miami, Fla., where Jim McLamore is located. In all possibility he is running Florida Restaurants, Inc., at breakneck speed. The executive offices are located at 3051 Coral Way. Partner involved in this operation is Dave Edgerton '51. They divvy up 60 Burger King self-service, Florida drive-ins, and they are developing the franchise on a national scale, principally in Chicago and the Midwest area.

From Gil Feldman, a DVM in Freeport, (L.I. to non-metropolitan area residents) there is news of two children: Melissa, who will be 3 in December, and John, who is bouncing along at 17 mos. Wife's name, Elaine. He might plow his way to Cornell for the Veterinary Conference after the first of the year.

Bob Claar is engineer-in-charge at Sylvania Products, Inc., Waltham, Mass., advanced development section. New home is at 29 Adams Lane, Wayland; interior painting and papering yet to be completed. Five youngsters wander through the paint buckets: Susan Leslie, 6; Robert Randall, 4; twins Virginia Leigh and Deborah Louise, 2; and little Richard Gregory, 6 mos. All of this info courtesy of Bob's wife, Janet Grafton Claar '47.

The Frank Carney family, Boston way, now includes Frank, Carolyn, Chris, and Pam (first daughter), born October 25.

—BARLOW WARE

'48 Men — Robert Treat Dann (above right) has been promoted to director of marketing research, by Roche Laboratories, Nutley, N.J.

Ben-Ami Lipetz is back East, working for Itek Corp., Concord, Mass., as head of their information operations section. Out West, Neal L. Hosper is opening his fourth restaurant in Fort Worth. Neal, we appreciate the warm welcome you Texans gave the boys from Syracuse.

The engineers of the Class are certainly moving up in their respective companies. Raymond E. Tuttle, Jr. is now director of development for International Minerals & Chemical Corp. Harold V. Engh, Jr. has been elected executive vice-president of Turner Corp., Sycamore, Ill. James S. McChesney has been appointed manager of engineering services for the Brown Instrument Division of Minneapolis Honeywell. Albert A. E. Back is now manager of the Prex plant in Franklin Park, Ill.

The most traveled Classmate this year will be Francis J. (Zip) Boland, Jr. Zip is governor of District 717 of Rotary International, of which the Ithaca club is a member.

The Class has certainly produced one good bridge player. Bernard P. Lampert, who was an intercollegiate bridge champion in 1946, is captain of the Cornell Club of New York bridge team. Bernie was also elected president of the College Club Bridge League. Ansley W. (Pete) Sawyer, Jr. is now director of advertising and sales promotion for Lincoln Electric. Here in Ithaca, Gordon Conklin has been named an assistant editor of The American Agriculturist. Looks at though we have a professional to take over this column.

Lieutenant Commander Joe Paulis is now serving on the USS Topeka, a new guided missile cruiser. Major Marco I. Cavaccia is now stationed in Cambodia, working with the Military Assistance Advisory Group. Clark Fountain is soon to open his second restaurant to feed the hungry men of Cape Canaveral.—DAVE CUTTING

'48 Women — Mary Lou Anderson Mason and her husband, Sam, send out a blanket invitation to those passing through to stop and visit. They live at 6 Sunset Dr., Homer. Sam is practicing medicine in Cortland. They have three children: Sammy, 6; Linda, 5; and David, 3.

A nice card came in from George and Betty Jane Lawrence Fosdick announcing that their fifth child, Kathy Ellen, was born October 25. Congratulations to the whole family! The Fosdicks live at 7180 South Delaware Dr., Littleton, Colo.

—HELEN CORBETT JOHNSON

'49 Men—The season "to be jolly" is over and after a few more weeks of rest, the Class ought to be back in shape. Many thanks for all the Christmas cards; now, send along some news when you mail your 1960 Class dues to Pete Johnston.

I saw John A. Watson at the annual award dinner given by the Cornell Club of New York and the Cornell Alumni Association of New York in December. Jack is assistant secretary of the New York Association. Among the younger characters there were Howie Heinsius '50, Ralph Starke '51, and down from Ithaca, Walt Bruska '50 and Frank Clifford '50.

'49ers were omnipresent at the Class officers and Alumni Fund meeting at the Hotel Roosevelt in New York, January 23. I saw or was told that Marty Hummel, Class President Chuck Reynolds, Pete Johnston, Don Geery, and Neil Reid were there. Dick Brown ended his term as Alumni Fund representative by accepting a merit award certificate for the Class of '49 at the meeting. Thanks, Dick, for a terrific job! Just to prove that '49 is a great Class from every angle, or should I say curve, Marty Coler Risch accepted a similar job for the '49 women. Following the meeting, Pete Johnston, Marty Hummel, Walt Peek, Paul and Pris Bretschger, Walt Elliot, Gene Von Wening, Tom and Jean Budd Jackson '45, and Ed and Char Moore '48 gathered at my house. The poor non-Cornellian wives suffered another night of "do you remember?"

We had an interesting note from A. Sahap Yalcin. Upon completing the MS in CE in 1953, he returned to his native country, Turkey, to fulfill his military duty as a lieutenant. After that, Sahap traveled to University of Toronto in Canada to study for the PhD. He intends to start teaching in California after this.

George E. Griffith is plant manager for Colgate-Palmolive in Venezuela, South America. George can be reached Care Colgate-Palmolive, Apartado IF2, Valencia, Venezuela. Mr. and Mrs. Bob Brietharth live only a block away! Robert D. Wittner has been promoted to engineering section head for electronic equipment in the electronic equipment design engineering department of the countermeasures division of Sperry Gyroscope Co.

Russell Smith is on his way from Fresh Meadows to St. Louis where he is joining Falstaff Brewing Co. as director of marketing promotion. Robert G. House is chief technical design engineer at Fenwal, Inc. Bob has two sons and lives at Brigham St., West Medway, Mass. Captain Stephen J. Ungvary, Jr., wife Jane, and son, Stephen III, live at 807 W. 4th, Stillwater, Okla. Steve will receive just about now the MS in industrial engineering & management at Oklahoma State University and is assigned to USAF Institute of Technology.

Erik Simons, 80 Westland Rd., Cedar Grove, N.J., has formed a new company, Vantage Manufacturing Co., in Newark, N.J., to produce and sell aluminum sliding windows of his own design. He and his wife, Phyllis Meyer '51, have three sons. Franklin C. Bishop was recently named advertising supervisor "in charge of planning advertising and sales promotion for petroleum" at GLF. Leonard Lehman is now with du Pasquier & Co., Inc., members of the New York Stock Exchange, 61 Broadway, New York City.—DICK KEEGAN would remind the Class about dues, which, according to the vote taken at the last Class meeting in June, 1955, are $5 for the five-year period between Reunions. This money is used largely for the expenses of printing and distributing the Class newsletter and also for certain pre-Reunion expenses like mailings. Lorraine has discovered that a number of Class members are uncertain whether or not they have paid their dues. "If they will write me a note (a postcard will do), I shall be glad to verify. And I am very honest," she claims. "I have returned several checks to very loyal Classmates who tried to pay their dues twice." The mailing address of our conscientious treasurer is Mrs. Gerald L. Klerman, 2544-A Holman Ave., Silver Spring, Md.

The annual January meeting in New York of officers and Alumni Fund chairmen of all the Cornell Classes found Reunion Chairman Jay Miller Weber, Class President Anne Schnee Johnson, and Alumni Fund workers Midge Downey Sprunk, Pat Carry, and this correspondent huddled together at a single luncheon table, paying scant attention to the excellent planned program but busily chattering about Class business. (Midge Sprunk had offspring number three, a girl named Liane Jean, at the end of November. Where is the globe-trotting Mari Lund Wright this year? Who's coming to Reunion?)

From Boston, Mass. comes news of the marriage of Pauline B. Rogers to Hassell Sledd, December 27, in Saint Paul's Cathedral. But Polly sends nary a word about her husband nor any further information about herself, except to add that they are at home at 275 Marlborough St., Boston. Another fascinating but cryptic communique reports that Mrs. Harold Reynolds, Jr. '50 (Ann Ellis), formerly of Woodstock, Vt., now lives at Beethovenstraat 66, Amsterdam-Z, The Netherlands.

Kitty Carey has forsaken Detroit for San Francisco where her new address is 1160 Clay St., San Francisco 8, Cal. Mrs. Benson Clymer (Elinor Chernoff) writes from a new home at 120 Brookside Lane, Fayetteville: "Each time we move it's nearer Ithaca, and since Ben is a Syracuse graduate, this new location pleases him, too. We came here in September. Ben is with General Electric defense system department, in Syracuse." The Clymer children are Neil, 3, and Steven, 1½.

A Christmas note from Lynn White, 13 Kent Place, Amity Harbor, Amityville, reports that she is still teaching a class for brain-injured children. "There has been much publicity about the class. We have had many visitors, and I have had to speak at several meetings. After four years of summer school at Syracuse, I have finally received the Master's in Special Education. I am living in a beach house, the smallest house I have ever seen, crude, but with wonderful possibilities, and have hopes of going to Europe this summer."

Dr. Jean Krag has been in Boston for three and a half years and likes it "pretty well, but sometimes I get pangs of longing for the West Coast. I am taking my second year of training in child psychology, and also work in a clinic that treats pre-school children, another clinic that treats older children, a court clinic where I treat delinquent girls, and also have five private patients." Jean now lives in an apartment at 214 Riverway, Boston 15, Mass.

—MARION STEINMANN

'51 Men — Melvin B. Diegert (above) has been appointed advisory engineer in advanced guidance systems at the Owego facility of IBM's federal systems division. Mel resides with his wife, Mary, and two sons at 604 Winston Dr., Vestal.

Lieutenant Charles F. James writes his current address is Hq. & Hq. Co., 3d Bn., 14th Armd Cav., APO 171, New York City. He recently became liaison officer with this unit which is a border recon unit. Says he doesn't see too many Cornellians, but he forgot to mention where he was stationed. Veterinarian Henry D. Bither, Box 269, Westbrook, Me., reports his second daughter and fourth child, Ruth Louise, was born October 17.

Paul E. Stubbe has been appointed an industry marketing assistant in the chemical sales department of Atlas Powder Co. Paul joined Atlas in 1954. The December 15 column carried news of Dale Pulver's promotion to technical superintendent by Diamond Alkali. The Pulvers, including new daughter, Clara Elizabeth, born in September, now live at 1519 C Lee St. E, Charleston, W. Va.

Out in California, Rolf B. Dyce married, November 28, Sherry Anne Ward of Stanford. Both Rolf and his wife work for Stanford Research Institute and live at 824 Woodland Ave., Menlo Park, Cal. The same day, but on the opposite coast, Iris Miller was married to Eric B. Outwater in New York City. Eric is with National Steel Corp. The couple will live in New York after honeymooning in the Bahamas.

Season's greetings were received from many Classmates and, like one of the other Class columnists said, it's a good time to drop a note to me about your doings while you are engaged in addressing all those Christmas cards. Here are a few this issue. Dr. Dave Epstein, our Class Ithaca contact, sent greetings. I received several cards from Classmates showing pictures of their children, including Jean and John Roberts's three girls, Jack and Betty (Meng '51) Howell's son Bruce, and Jesse and Betsy (Zobell '51) Hannan's two boys and a girl. Betsy reports that Jesse has been busy putting a roof on their patio and hopes to finish another room in the downstairs of their most attractive home outside Rochester designed by Classmate Bob Clark. Paul LaRochelle sent his greetings from Holyoke, Mass. Pat (Gunderson '53) Stocker noted on their card that Class President Jim was made advertising manager of Scott Paper Co. She also mentioned that Bud Herzstein is spending a year as assistant superintendent on a construction job and is living at 57 Bryan St., Saratoga Springs. From Greenlawn on Long Island, Bob and Mary Mealey sent their best and reported that Bob is kept pretty busy by United Airlines and his four children. Russ and Carol Schuh took their young daughter to see all the grandparents, etc., for Christmas and hope to be in their new home shortly after the beginning of the new year. Another of our husband-wife Classmates, Bob and Jeanne (Bayles '51), sent greetings from Rochester.

Pictured above are Donald E. Ordway, 304 Muriel St., Ithaca, his wife Audrey, and their children, Pamela and Jepson. An aerodynamicist, Don is head of aerophysics at Therm Advanced Research, in Ithaca. Prior to joining Therm, Don got the PhD in aeronautics at the University and then taught for three years in the Graduate School of Aeronautical Engineering.

Other Cornellians recently in the Capitol include Jack and Carolyn Veerman, 90 Beekman Pl., New York City, and Tim Williams '51 and his wife Sally Williams '51. The Veermans reported spending an enjoyable week skiing at Mont Tremblant, in the Canadian Laurentians, in early January. Jack is now in Japan, on a business trip. Tim Williams and his family are in this country for a brief visit, since Tim's grant from the Harvard law school for graduate legal research in Japan has another year to run. They spent the previous year in Kyoto, but will set up shop in Tokyo upon their return in mid-March.

Also, Will White III, his wife Phyllis, and their children Will IV, 7, Scott, 3, and Roddy, 1½, are in a new house at RD 1, North Olmstead Rd., Ridgefield, Conn. Will is with the public relations firm of Ketchum, McLeod & Grove, in New York City. James R. Bearce, 799 Curtiswood Dr., Key Biscayne, Miami 49, Fla., is resident manager of the Key Biscayne Hotel. Jim has two children: Leslie, 7, and Ward, 4. An engineer with Hotpoint now in Chicago, John Perris, 435 Lowell St., Glen Ellyn, Ill., is married, and has a son, Bobby. Robert Bull, 38 Minquill Dr., Newark, Del., is on University of Delaware faculty, teaching agricultural economics. Bob and Anne have two boys, Stevie, 4½, and Fred, 10 months. Lloyd M. Forstall, 336 Shabona Dr., Park Forest, Ill., is a chemical engineer with Standard Oil of Indiana. Lloyd is married to Jean Veitel '54, and they have two children, David, 3, and Laura, 1. David W. Buckley, 937 River Blvd., Teaneck, N.J., is in the merchandising department of Lever Brothers, New York City. He has a son, Jeffrey.

Alan Sokolski, 530 Briar Pl., Far Rockaway 91, is at Columbia working for the PhD in international economics. Al received the MBA at Columbia just a year ago, and in June, Al's wife, Carol Stitt '54, received the MS in Education at New Paltz State Teachers College, on Long Island. While working toward her degree, Carol taught kindergarten in Island Trees. The Sokolskis' daughter, Lynn, was born September 18. Before beginning work on the PhD, Al was nuclear energy contract administrator with Foster Wheeler Corp. in New York City. Al also reports that Dr. Dan Divack, 144 E. 208th St., Bronx, began his residency in obstetrics at Bronx Municipal Hospital last July, after a colorful tour of duty in the Navy. Dan's destroyer, the Forest Sherman, circled the globe, including stops at Formosa and Lebanon, during the time things were active there.

'52 MRP—Joseph L. Savick, Jr. now lives at 117 Governor Street, Providence, R.I. He resigned as vice-president of Economic Development Associates of Boston, a consulting firm, to become planning director of the planning board for the City of East Providence. He is also establishing his own consulting firm. October 19, a daughter, Tara Elizabeth, was born to the Savicks. They also have a fifteen-month-old son, Joseph Leo III.

To help salvage this column from the annual mid-winter news dearth, General Howie David of the Cornell Fund forces has supplied us with an advance copy of the battle plan for his '53 regiment. Among the names of David's chief subalterns for the 1960 campaign appear the usual '53 warriors: Beyers, Derrickson, Engel, Glah, Jahn, Jung, MacRossie, and Pyott. Newly inducted into the mysteries of the money-grabbers' organization are Lee Saperston, 85 Nottingham Ter., Buffalo, and Pete Eberlein, 3699 Stoneleigh Rd., Cleveland Heights, Ohio. The '53 guerrilla forces in the Middle West and Southern regions are still without regular army commanders. Any Classmates who would like to become senior officers in these areas may submit their credentials to David, c/o BBD&O, 383 Madison Ave., New York City 17, and may expect their battlefield commissions by return mail.

This year's operation order shows that maneuvers will get underway earlier than usual. General David states that by launching a March attack he hopes that his forces will have most of their objectives in hand before they are slowed down by the mud of the spring thaws. Any men who care to enlist for the cause may send their names to David or this correspondent.

Other exciting news is Class Treasurer Bob Abrams's report that some forty men responded to last fall's appeal for Class dues. At $5 per head, this just about covers the expense of making the solicitation, so the whole adventure set the Class treasury back by less than $50. Among the faithful whose contributions assisted in keeping the Class deficit within manageable bounds are (with previously unreported addresses): Bob Beyers; Mort Bunis; Jim Davis; Dick Diamond; Robert E. Freyer, 2565 Grand Ave., Bellmore; Cork Hardinge; Dr. John M. Hartzell, Mayowood, Rochester, Minn.; Steve Holland; Homer Pringle; Lee Saperston; Tom Slater; Joe M. Thomas, 1640 Skyline Dr., Pittsburgh 27, Pa.; James Wait, 63 West Lake Rd., Skaneateles; Bernard West, 411 East 53rd St., New York City 22; John H. White, 231 Atlanta Dr., Pittsburgh 28, Pa.; and John Will, 1502 Pinewood Dr., Pascagoula, Miss.

Robert Stuckelman is an assistant project manager on a marine tactical data system at Litton Industries, Canoga Park, Cal. He and his wife reside at 3824 Sherview Dr.,

I knew there was a good reason for my procrastination on the column this month and it arrived yesterday in the form of a letter from your regular Class correspondent, Dottie Clark. She writes from Haus Paumgarten, St. Anton / Arlberg, Tyrol, Austria, and says, in part: "The trip has been absolutely beyond belief. I had booked a room here for the two weeks around the holiday season, but have so enjoyed this little town, I have decided to stay through at least until the end of January and very possibly until the end of February. The skiing is out of this world and fortunately the ski school, where I spend all of my time, the best possible." Dottie's itinerary has included Japan, Hong Kong, Bali, Thailand, India, Nepal, Ceylon (where she rode an elephant!), Egypt, Syria, Turkey, Greece, and Italy. Do you have a feeling that you haven't lived? I do! Dottie will probably be abroad until summer, so bear with me and keep the news coming.

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Lankton '53 (Jan Kilby) announce the arrival of a daughter, Susan, November 29. The Lanktons plus their pet monkey moved in July from Delaware to 30 Fernstead Lane, Berlin, Conn.

Marcia L. Goldberg is engaged to Eugene N. Feingold '52. Marcia is with the Datamatic Division of Minneapolis-Honeywell Regulator Co. in Newton, Mass. Gene is research fellow in governmental studies at The Brookings Institution in Washington, D.C., and a candidate for the PhD in politics at Princeton. Marcia may be written in care of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Goldberg, 1051 NE 161 Terrace, North Miami Beach, Fla.

Mr. and Mrs. Stanley D. Deutsch (Genie Mandelbaum) announce the arrival of Arnold Bennett, November 12. Arnie joins Mark, 4½, Jerry, 3, and Steven, 1. The Deutsch address is 12 Washburn St., South Glen Falls 30. Stan is with General Electric as supervisor of quality control. Genie would like to know the whereabouts of Louise Klein and Barbara Linn. Can anyone help?

Mrs. Marvin Waxman (Barbara Palestine) of 85 Manor Dr., Newark, N.J., has been awarded her certificate for architectural registration by the State Board of Architects at a joint meeting of the Board and the State Society of Architects in Newark. Barbara has been with the office of Giorgio Caraglieri, AIA, for the last two years. Her husband maintains a law practice with offices in Newark.

Mrs. Hubert Schnell (Lorraine Kelafant) reports a new address, 2973 Epaulette St., San Diego 11, Cal. Her husband has transferred from the Marine Corps to the Navy, so they are presently stationed at NAS Miramar, San Diego. Address of Mrs. Barbara R. King is 271 Whippany Rd., Whippany, N.J.

Just heard from Charlie Bibbons and Bill LaLonde who have been recently getting the Cornell Fund drive underway for our Class in the Metropolitan area. They really need the wholehearted support of the entire Class if the drive is to be a success. Anyone who would be willing to contact half a dozen fellow Classmates on behalf of the Fund should write Charlie Bibbins at 58 Maplewood Ave., Maplewood, N.J., or call him during the day at PLaza 5-6100 (NYC) Ext. 327. Those outside the Metropolitan area should contact Bill LaLonde at 77 Jefferson Ave., Short Hills, N.J. Area chairmen are Al Cohen in Westchester, Fos Cunningham in Brooklyn, and Sam Hollander and Fred Lamon in Long Island.

Donald F. Clark is now general manager of Hotel Belgravia, Philadelphia, Pa., and secretary of the Philadelphia Hotel Association. He and his wife, the former Sue Stiteler, live at 1811 Chestnut St. in Philadelphia. New Class prexy William K. (Bill) Ebel attends University of Virginia graduate school of business and his new address is 1165 Kensington Ave., Charlottesville, Va. On the West Coast is William S. Jewell, now a consultant with Broadview Research Corp., Burlingame, Cal. His address is 3069 Washington St., San Francisco 15, Cal. Residing in our second largest State are Frank G. Logan II and Gerry Balcar. Frank lives at 1613 Aldrich Ave., Wichita Falls, Tex., and is manager of civic development for the Chamber of Commerce there. Gerry is with Collins Radio Co. and was living at 426 Grace Dr., Richardson, but at last report was planning a move to Dallas. May we have your new address, Gerry? Another address we would appreciate is that of Donald E. Richards, who received the Bachelor of Divinity at Garrett Biblical Institute, Evanston, Ill.

Al Beatty, who is now at 975 Pine Tree Lane, Winnetka, Ill., tells us that Dr. Larry Grolnick is now on the neurology service at Bellevue Hospital in New York City. Larry graduated from Cornell Medical College in 1956 and interned at Duke University. During his Senior year at Cornell Med, he married Gerry Modlin, Skidmore '56. In the fall of 1959, Larry completed six months in hematology at Mt. Sinai Hospital and in July, he will start a three-year residency in psychiatry in Denver, Colo.

The Grain & Feed Review has announced that Thomas Tveter has joined its staff in an editorial and advertising sales capacity. Richard D. Gifford is a hospital administrator and lives at 67 Village Lane, Rochester 10. Congratulations are in order for Dave Bradfield who married Anita Terinoni, a Syracuse graduate. After leaving Cornell, Dave served in the US Army through 1956, much of the time in Alaska. He returned to Cornell in 1956 and obtained the MBA at the Business School in February, 1959. Both Dave and his lovely wife (who has her MBA from Syracuse) are employed in the marketing division of General Electric and are living at Wash-

EXPLORER VI IS A SPACE LABORATORY NOW ORBITING THE EARTH

Space Technology Laboratories carried out the Able III program which put Explorer VI in space... one of a series of advanced scientific experiments conducted by STL in conjunction with the Air Force on behalf of NASA.

STL's leadership in military applications of space technology is illustrated by its successful accomplishments as the contractor responsible for over-all systems engineering and technical direction of the Atlas, Titan, Thor, and Minuteman programs. Scientists and engineers with outstanding capabilities relating to these activities, are invited to investigate positions at STL.

'54 Women: Mrs. C. S. Everett
59 Helen St.
Binghamton, N.Y.

A few more items come from our Christmas mail. We received a card from Mr. and Mrs. Irving Younger (Judith Weintraub), 65-09 99th St., Forest Hills. The Frederic C. Woods, Jr. '54 (Jane Barber) are busy with seminary and family life; "family" is Jennifer, 3, and Elizabeth Anne, 1½. They continue at 3268 Gunston Rd., Alexandria, Va., until June when Fred will be graduated and ordained. A darling picture came from Mr. and Mrs. John D. Twiname '53 (Carolyn Anderson), 7945 Winston Rd., Chestnut Hill, Philadelphia 18, Pa. It showed their two daughters: Karen, 3, and Jeanne, born last May 9.

While news received during the holidays helps a correspondent's file, it cannot be made to last forever. In other words, my supply is getting low and could use another shot in the arm!

At Christmas, news came from Mrs. Philip F. Gottling, Jr. '52 (Barbara Johnson), 261 Compton Rd., Wyoming 15, Ohio. Phil is production group manager (responsible for packing) at Procter & Gamble's toilet goods plant. "Kristin is two and Phillip is four, and they get along together about the way most siblings of that age do." Barbara says that Mrs. Clement Strisco (Betty Wagler) moved last August into a new house at 60 Viola Dr., Glen Cove; her children are Andy, 3, and Claire, 2. Mrs. Earl Flansburgh '53 (Polly Hospital) lives at 64 Walker St., Cambridge 38, Mass. Their son Schuyler is nearly three. Earl is busy with Architects' Collaborative, working on a university for Baghdad and a grammar school for Lexington, Mass.

It's about time for your mail to bring details of the Alumni Annual Giving. Mrs. Joseph Calby (Diana Heywood), 7 Windsor Dr., Princeton Junction, N.J., our faithful representative for five years, is now succeeded by Mrs. Robert Fried (Alice Green), 162 Midland Pl., Newark, N.J. Hers is a tremendous and important job, and I know each of you will respond promptly when called upon to help or give. Already I've heard from one of Alice's regional chairmen, Mrs. Lynn Wilson '54 (Jane Gregory). Lynn, stationed in Labrador, has managed to find an apartment for Jane and their daughter Sherrie. They expect to be north for fifteen months. After February 15, their address will be Box 13, 641 A C & W Sqn., APO 677, New York.

'55 Men: Robert I. Landau
405 Lexington Ave.
New York 17, N.Y.

Preston C. Bogley started three years of study in September at the Episcopal Theological Seminary, Alexandria, Va. David H. Coe, 28 Juliard St., Bainbridge, is with Bendix-Scintilla as a product manager. Jerry Klein and his wife (Arlene Rosen) '56 moved to 1578 Crest Hill Ave., Cincinnati, Ohio, in September, where Jerry is a financial analyst with Avco-Crosley.

Reports reach us that two of our Classmates are back "on the Hill," only this time as teachers. J. Richard Goldgraben is a teaching assistant in the Department of Machine Design, and working on his Master's; and David A. West is an assistant professor in the Department of Conservation.

C. Michael Curtis of 226 Linden Ave., Ithaca, is now a staff writer in the Ithaca College development office. The Howard Sklars (Lisa Weinstock) '56 live at 859A Park Ct. in Mountain View, Cal., where Howie is with Sylvania's reconnaissance systems lab.

Item in the New York Times reported the nuptials of James R. Marshall and Ann LeBaron Manierre, October 3. No address given, but the report was datelined from Cazenovia. R. Marvin Townsend and Jeanne Schwartz were married, April 25, in Corpus Christi, Tex. All '55ers welcomed at 207D Buccaneer Dr., in Corpus Christi, where Marvin is serving as assistant to the city manager. From across the Atlantic comes word of the marriage of Hans E. Dahl to Anne McCorquodale in Schenectady. For those wishing to send best wishes, the Dahl address is c/o Direct Support Co. 3767, 7th US Army QM, APO 227, New York.

Norman A. Nedde writes that he is working as a bond & burglary underwriter, and is living with his family at 4803 N. Kitley Ave., Indianapolis, Ind.

An August news item from the 98th ("Iroquois") Division at Fort Dix, N.J. (marked "for immediate release") indicated that Lieutenants Franklin W. Kahn and Martin I. Semel ran into each other for the first time since Homecoming week end in 1957. In the interim, Frank had received the LLB from Buffalo law school, and Marty the same degree from Cornell Law School.

A letter from Harvey R. Knaster brings us some news. After graduating from Cornell, Harvey attended Columbia, receiving the MBA in 1957. The Army took the next six months, after which he joined Haskins & Sells CPA's, in their New York office. Presently doing general audit work, he is also spending some time in the taxation field.

January 23, while attending the annual Class officers meeting at the Hotel Roosevelt in New York City, I ran into Joseph L. Marotta and Kenneth R. Hunt. Both were there to participate in a meeting of the Cornell Fund. Joe is working for Northwestern Mutual Life Insurance Co. and serving as our Class representative to the Cornell Fund. Ken is with the data processing division at IBM and working hard as our metropolitan New York regional representative. Both are extremely anxious to make this, our Reunion year, a great success in the participation of our Class in the Fund. The success of our Class will not depend upon the efforts of a few, but rather upon the concerted efforts of all. If any '55ers living in the metropolitan New York area have a little time to help, please contact Ken at 3162 William St., Wantagh. Your contributions should also be sent to Ken at that address. For those '55ers outside of that area, please contact Joe Marotta at 250 Park Ave., New York City 17.

'56 Men: Keith R. Johnson

the Army and back with the Statler in Boston as director of personnel. His address is Apt. 3, 2 Primus Ave., Boston 14, Mass. Dick Jacobstein and Bob Attiyeh '55 are in the first year at Harvard business school. Their respective addresses are Mellon B-25 and Morris B-34, Harvard Business School, Boston 63.

Alfred Apfel has joined Bache & Co. as a representative and commodity specialist in the firm's office in the Dixie Terminal Building, Cincinnati 2, Ohio. Lew Klotz, 1994 E. 22d St., Brooklyn, is a packaging technologist at Continental Baking Co. research laboratories in Rye. Jamie Potect is assistant manager of Hotel Carrera in Santiago, Chile.

Samuel Hutchins III, who received the DVM at Cornell in 1958, is now assisting another veterinarian and can be reached at Box 185, Vergennes, Vt. Allen Kopito is a business system computer programmer with Hughes Aircraft and has been working toward a business degree in operations research at UCLA. He has a daughter, Sharon Lee, and lives at 4167 Somerset Dr., Los Angeles 8, Cal.

Don Milne reports that he and three others have bought The Lodge at Eagle Knob, Cable, Wis., "on one of Wisconsin's most beautiful lakes" and operated year-round, since the cottages are five miles from skiing facilities at Mt. Telemark. He says "an especially cordial invitation to come up and see us is extended to all Cornellians."

Harvey Hammer is a senior at New York Medical College and was co-author of two articles published a year ago in medical journals on the effects of the drug meprobamate. He lives at 152 Van Houten Ave., Passaic, N.J. William Brink, a trainee with J. C. Penney Co., now lives at 1104 Pennsylvania Ave., Elmira. John Lobo, 2 Stoneleigh Park, Westfield, N.J., is a salesman of industrial adhesives and the father of a son, Patrick Carroll, born last April 3.

Henry Hubbard, now a buyer for J. L. Hudson Co., Detroit, married, June 20, Marianne Smith '59. They live at 985 Vernier Rd., Grosse Pointe Woods 36, Mich. Tom Sills is a missile engineer with Convair Astronautics in San Diego, and says he has run into Jim Larrimore there and Pete Melcher in Pasadena. Tom and his wife, Patricia, live at Apt. D, 5511 Adelaide Ave., San Diego 15.

After an Army hitch, Robert Bradford is a process engineer with Dow Chemical Co. in Midland, Mich. He married February 14, 1959, the former Sarah E. Swan, of Midland. They live at 357 Isabella Rd., Midland.

The Dues drive is on! $1 to Tony Cashen, RD 1, Hudson.

Saw Erik Rosenthal and Jack Schiebler during the intermission of the Moscow State Symphony Carnegie Hall concert recently. Both are in their third year at Cornell Medical, look well, and are enjoying their studies. Tom Keating was "in town" during the Christmas holidays. He is in the Navy, and is stationed on the West Coast. Talked briefly with Sharon Flynn Bump, now a school teacher, on the Times Square shuttle train last week. She and Dick live at 415 West 118th St. here in New York.

Some news of my own to add this issue. I expect to teach one night a week at Dutchess Community College, Poughkeepsie, Business 244, Introduction to Management. The college is new, two years old, a part of the State University, and offers terminal vocational training and liberal arts or pre-engineering subjects.

In reply to our latest newsletter distributed recently, I received an interesting if not controversial note from Arthur Springer which reads in part "... am putting in two years' service under the Selective Service System's Civilian Work Program for Conscientious Objectors, in lieu of spending two years in the job of organizing for a war that cannot be fought. The agency I am working with (Peace Education Program, American Friends Service Committee) looks out on a world that is torn apart by human fear, hysteria, and a runaway technology. . . . I'm working for a non-violent, internationalist American foreign policy that I think can reactivate a healthy hopeful vision in our country." Art lives at 130 Brattle St., Cambridge 38, Mass.

An overdue note from James Rosborough reports that he and Allene Clinkscales of Birmingham, Ala. were married August 15. Jim is a chemical engineer with Shell Chemical Corp. in Norco, La.

Dave Goldberg, 3526 W. Garrison Ave., Baltimore 15, Md., writes that he "holds a teaching assistantship at Johns Hopkins while working toward the PhD in physics. Dick Powell '58 is also down here working in the same program. Ran into Art Pfeffer '58 who is also at Johns Hopkins, doing graduate work in English."

William H. Dodge, Schenectady, has entered Princeton Theological Seminary, Princeton, N.J. Russell Whitney, Jr., Muncie, Pa., has been appointed to Hampton Institute, Hampton, Va. Whitney received the MA at Cornell in 1959, and taught English and ancient history at The Kiski School for Boys, Saltsburg, Pa., in 1958-59.

Charles E. Parker III and Gillian S. Allan were married September 26, in Hamilton, Ont. Donald Bulver and Jane Ratcliffe, Skidmore College graduate, were married in November.

Louis Miller, Bob Staley, and Scott Lewis, second lieutenants, US Army, were graduated high in their respective Army classes recently. Paul Miller left Procter & Gamble in October to spend three years in the Air Force. He is now stationed at Chanute AFB, Ill., but expects to go to Luke AFB outside Phoenix later this month.

Bruce Young received his jet pilot's wings at Craig AFB, Ala. in November. He is assigned to the Air Defense Command, and will fly F-86's out of Perrin AFB, Tex. for the next six months—"and, my wife is expecting in February."

Zanzot, now a Naval ensign. Ken's address is 108 Lake St. Neil McCormick's also married. The former Kristina Berggren, Gothenberg, Sweden, a student at University of Chicago, as is Neil, is the bride. They were married in Phoenix, Ariz., December 22. Address: 1401 E. 57th St., Chicago 37, Ill.

We had a Christmas note from Don Barber asking us to join the Navy and see the world. The irony of that may be overdone in a month or so. He is stationed at the Naval Air Station in Sanford, Fla.

Ran across a letter from Stu Brown that we'd laid aside months ago. He's full of news about our old friends. Stu's married. Right now he's running the officers' club at Ogden, Utah. He says the brass doesn't bother him. We suppose not. His wife, the former Nanci Simmons, Wells, was to have presented him with a child last summer, so you see how long this letter's been lost. Chick Robinson, Stu reports, had just arrived at Fort Lee when Stu left. Bob Flynn is stationed in Brooklyn; has an Army commission, too. Dick Payne is in the Navy, in San Diego. Bill Meyer married Sandy Thomas '58 and is now stationed in Texas with the Army. Stu closes with a note about Jim Brown who is in the personnel department of a Newark department store.

Lieutenant Jack Kelly's address (he's only a jg) is aboard the Kenneth D. Bailey, DDR 713, FPO, New York. The Kenneth D. Bailey homes in Jacksonville at the moment. We heard that Jack had had a fling at Florida real estate and we'd like to know how he fared. How did you fare, Jack?

Chase Lichtenstein married Marie Sullivan, Wells, last year, and then went off to Fort Benning. He is an Army lieutenant. Marie Joy McIntosh was married to Sandy Piper last fall, in Bedford Village. Mrs. Piper graduated from the Chateau Brillantmont and Finch College.

'58 Women: Patricia K. Malcolm
415 East 85th St.
New York 28, N.Y.

I enjoyed reading an article about Dr. Beatrice English, Vet '58, in the New York Herald Tribune "This Week Magazine." The article described in words and pictures Beatrice's work as a practicing veterinarian at the Yorktown Animal Hospital.

Doris Hamburg and Lewis Perlmutter planned to be married, January 31, in New York City. Their new home will be at 41-10 Bowne St., Flushing. Doris is with Harcourt, Brace & Co. doing sales promotion of college textbooks. Dorothy Berens and Jerry Greenspan '57 plan to be married in April. Another engagement is that of Annette Fogo and James Harper '58.

I read of Barbara Hauck's engagement to Edward Yates '58. Barb is a senior therapeutic dietician at Overbrook Hospital. Ingrid Allermann, 106 Buchanan Blvd., Durham, N.C., completed her dietetic internship at Duke and then began working at the VA Hospital nearby. Skip is engaged to a Duke medical student, Charles C. Massey, Jr. of Charlotte, N.C. They plan to be married in early April.

I had a nice card from Robin Bielski who is studying French phonetics, civilization, et al., at the Sorbonne. Her address, for the benefit of any traveling Classmates, is 225 rue St. Jacques, Paris, France.

Jo (Fromm) and Tom Alger '58 are Californians now. Tom is studying for the Master's at Stanford graduate school of business and Jo is a research assistant at Stanford research institute. Their address is 784 Cambridge Ave., Menlo Park, Cal., and they would enjoy hearing from other Cornellians out there.

Edith Salisbury and David Curkendall '58 were married in San Diego, December 19. Their address is 3265 Adams St., San Diego 16, Cal. Anita McKay and William F. Frech, Jr. were married, January 16, in Athens, Pa. Betty Bortugno and Robert Hollis '58 were married, December 26, and left the USA to live in Portier, France.

Suzanne (Davis) and Charles Hjerpe, Vet '58, are the parents of a daughter, Laura Suzanne, born December 30. Other new parents are Anne (DeNotaris) and Robert S. Warren '58, whose son, Robert Sidney II, was born November 24. The Warrens live at 80-15 41 Ave., Elmhurst 73. Another new arrival is Eric Wills Orts born to Carol (Ostergren) and Keith Orts, Vet '59, January 11.

Cindy Rogers and Fred Petarius of Cleveland became engaged at Christmas time. Cindy and her sister, Kay Rogers '60, are planning a double wedding in July. Fred is a graduate of Wayne State University and is district sales manager for Geigy Chemical Corp.

Ramona Taylor lives at 684 Water St., Apt. 3F, White Plains, while working as a case worker for Westchester County and studying for the Master's in social work.

'59 Men: Howard B. Myers
308 Mercer St.
New Castle, Pa.

Congratulations to Stanley M. Blau, who married Renee Sussman, January 24. Stan is undoubtedly basking in the sun in Mexico City, where he is spending a two-week honeymoon. From there he will report to Fort Bliss where he will attend the Officers' Missile School and Renee will settle down as an Army officer's wife for his six months' hitch. Stan also sends word that Paul Rosenberg is doing very well at NYU dental school. Paul will marry Maxine Schick, June 5.

Esso Research Labs report that Max Deibert, now also a hangover in Ithaca, spent an interesting and rewarding summer with them in Baton Rouge, La. at one of the world's largest petroleum pilot plant centers. Later reports from California have confirmed the rumors that Joe Braff and Peter Arden spent their summer with the world's largest ditch digging crew there. All three are finishing up their somewhat sporadic student careers. Jim Hobson was a recent winner in the Writer's Digest of Cincinnati 1959 short story contest. Jim lives at 2919 N. Newcastle Pl., Cincinnati, Ohio. Carl Leubsdorf, former associate editor of The Sun, also has made some contributions to the literary world to match those of the former editor of the Cornellian. Carl wrote a series of interesting and informing articles on his summer tour through the Soviet Union for The Sun. I ran into Carl about a month ago in New York where he is attending the Columbia school of journalism and doing a little free-lance writing in his spare time.

From the deep South I recently received letters from Jim and Mindy Herman and Arthur B. Malkin. Jim and Mindy now reside at 39 N. 25th St., Lawton, Ala., where Jim, awaiting his discharge with vigor, can't help but wish he was back home north of the Mason-Dixon Line. On the other hand, Timmy Malkin, after four freezing Ithaca winters, already writes with the style of a Southern gentleman. His residence is 128 Norwall Rd., Memphis, Tenn., just an outpost on the edge of the vast Malkin plantations. The cotton is growing and Timmy sounds contented. Pete Kellogg's note got to me quite late, I'm quite certain, after he graduated with honors from Mine Warfare School in Charleston, S.C. Pete's an ensign in the Navy now and his last address was given as BOQ Minecraft Base, US Naval Base, Charleston, S.C.

Hank Stark sent a very military letter out of ROTC manual FM, something or other, with much information from Fort Sill. Hank was there with Hank Cohen, Gaines Post, Fred Haab, and someone named Craft. Somehow during his travels, Stark landed in Chicago and spent some time with Jim Grunswieg at Northwestern law school. Hank also ran into Tom Golden who had just finished a successful first summer with a stock company (theatrical, not financial) on Long Island. Tom is now with the Adjutant General Corps at Ft. Benjamin Harrison, Indianapolis, Ind., where he received a medal for excellence in scholastic achievement.

Nat Cravener wins the prize for the most contributions to the column. Nat is now in the service with very interesting duty. He's spending a year studying economics at University of Stockholm. Nat may decide to stay a second year and get a Master's, and perhaps a Scandinavian wife à la Stephen Rockefeller, if his conversational Swedish picks up. He lives with a Swedish family outside Stockholm and would appreciate hearing from any and all of his friends. Address: Faltmars Kalksvagen, 12 Brommo, Sweden. Lenny Rubin also wrote from Europe. He is a med student at University of Basil, living at Colmaverstrasse 96, Basil, Switzerland. Lenny, the traveler, ran into Ricky Schloss's name on a Paris precinct blotter, but never got to see him. Anyone in that neck of the woods might give Len a buzz; he sounds lonesome.

has 20/20
HINDSIGHT

Any investor can tell you what he should have done last year.

But, to know what is going on today and to take intelligent, informed action—that calls for a large, inquisitive organization, bringing every pertinent fact to bear on the problem.

More important, those facts must be evaluated and applied with skill and understanding. Facts go only so far: then judgment must take over.

At the Trust Company there is in operation an investment procedure that brings unique advantages to our customers. We should welcome an opportunity to discuss this with you.
