Cornelliana.

This is the time of year when Cornell undergraduates and others connected with the University fully realize the natural beauty of Cornell. The many advantages offered by the pleasant spring weather are being taken. Senior singing on Monday, Tuesday and Thursday evenings of each week is calling hundreds to the quadrangle for an hour to enjoy the songs and the beauty of the Campus in the twilight. Band concerts which have been held weekly during the past month on the green in front of Sage College have attracted many. For those who are not musically inclined the Campus has other attractions. As long as the light lasts there are ball games in the intercollege or interfraternity leagues on the Alumni Field diamonds. The intercollege games are usually scheduled for five o'clock, but the interfraternity games are held at almost any time, and when extra innings are played they sometimes last until nearly eight.

After standing for many years under a pine tree near President's Avenue, the stone seat which was given to the University by Professor Goldwin Smith and which bore the words "Above All Nations Is Humanity" has been moved. It now stands in front of Goldwin Smith Hall, south of the main entrance. The tree under which it formerly stood died and was removed several years ago.

Excavation for the addition to the Infirmary is nearing completion. The general contract is held by Driscoll Brothers, of Ithaca, to whom it was awarded when the Elmira firm which was the lowest bidder withdrew its bid. The work is being rushed and it looks now as if the addition would be ready for occupancy next fall.

About 150 members of the senior class took part in an excursion down the lake Saturday. It was the annual "senior stunt." The men met at Zinck's at 1:30 o'clock and put on costumes of bright colors. Then they paraded to their boat and were taken to Frontenac Beach, where they had a clambake and athletic events.

An eleven-act vaudeville show was held in Barnes Hall last evening for the benefit of the Social Service League. The leading entertainers of the University were on the program.

The annual banquet of the Ithaca Section of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers is to be held at 6:30 o'clock tonight on the first floor of Sibley Dome. P. M. Lincoln, of the Westinghouse Electric & Manufacturing Company, will be the guest of honor.

Officers of the Debate Union for the coming year have been elected as follows: President, Frederick P. Murphy '12, Stamford; vice-president, Ralph E. Pierce '12, Rock Rapids, Ia.; secretary, Bleecker Marquette '14; representative at large to the Debate Council, R. H. Heath '12, Sidney; treasurer, A. D. Riley '12, Wellsville, O. The following faculty members were chosen for the Debate Council: Professors G. L. Burr, G. A. Everett, F. A. Fetter, E. W. Kemmerer and Charles H. Tuck. Professor Tuck takes the place of Professor Winans, who will be on sabbatic leave next year. The Debate Union formally recognized the Janus Club, which was organized several weeks ago.

The freshmen will burn their caps Saturday night. They will meet at Sibley Dome for some speeches, after which they will parade around the campus and meet on the Library slope for the fire.

Professor J. A. Lomax of the University of Texas was the guest of honor at the annual banquet of Book and Bowl, which was held at the Alhambra, Thursday evening. Professor Lomax spoke on "Some Types of the American Ballad."

CORNELL HOME SOLD.

Jenroc, Built by Ezra Cornell, Bought by the Delta Phi Fraternity.

The former home of Ezra Cornell, founder of Cornell University, was sold last week by the founder's daughters, Miss Mary E. Cornell and Mrs. Emma Cornell Blair, to the Cornell chapter of the Delta Phi fraternity. The property, which was known as Llenroc, includes a beautiful house and spacious grounds. The house was built by Mr. Cornell and was begun in 1868. It was hardly finished when he died in 1874. Stone-carvers and wood-carvers were brought from Germany and England to work on the house. It is a model of Gothic architecture. The grounds formerly extended from University avenue to Stewart avenue, but in the past few years several lots on the Stewart avenue front have been sold. About five acres are included in the present purchase.

As a part of the transaction the Delta Phi fraternity house at 515 Stewart avenue becomes the property of Miss Cornell and Mrs. Blair and is offered for sale. The Delta Phi chapter will take possession of its new home in July. The purchase price of the Cornell property was not announced.

'86 Memorial Prize.

William Walzer, of Brooklyn, a sophomore in the College of Law, won the '86 Memorial Prize in declamation at the annual contest held in the Armory Friday night. Of the ten contestants, Walzer was the only sophomore, the others being seniors and juniors. "The Attainable Ideal in Politics" was the subject of the winner's declamation.

The judges of the contest were Professor Edgar G. Frazier of the University of Rochester; Willard M. Kent '98, of Ithaca; and Walter T. Couper, of Binghamton.

Summer School in Agriculture.

An announcement of the Cornell Summer School in Agriculture is now on the press and will be ready for delivery in a few days. A change in the state educational laws made by the 1909-10 legislature has made it necessary that some institution provide training for public school teachers of agriculture. With this end in view the first session of the Cornell school will be opened on July 6. While the Summer School in Agriculture will be supported by the State of New York and will be independent of the Summer Session of the University, no work will be duplicated. The sessions of both will be of the same length.

The work of the Cornell Summer School in Agriculture will be in three main divisions: agriculture, home economics and nature study. About ten of the departments of the College of Agriculture will give work during the session. In most cases the lectures will be given by the head of the department. The heads of the departments and their assistants will make up the faculty of the school.

In not all of the subjects will instruction be carried on simultaneously. Each of the subjects to be considered will be taken up separately for the time which can be allotted to it. The particular reason for this form of program is that during the summer the members of the Faculty of the College of Agriculture are engaged in extension work in different parts of the state and are unable to be at Ithaca for the entire season.

Tuesday, June 20, and Wednesday, June 21—Alumni Days.

Art Exhibition.

Owing to the late arrival of many of the paintings for the first annual exhibition of the Cornell Art Association, which was opened in White Hall this morning, it is impossible to give a complete list of the artists whose work is on exhibition. The paintings fill most of the available space in the exhibition rooms on the third floor of White Hall. They are the works of some of the most noted American and foreign painters. The exhibition will be continued for the remainder of the term.

The collection includes landscapes, marines, portraits and miniatures. Several paintings by the Norwegian-American painter Jonas Lie were loaned to the association by the artist because of his friendship with Professor O. M. Brauner, who has done much to make the exhibition a success. Among the other artists whose work is on exhibition are the Italian painter Mariotti; the German-American painter Buehr; and the American painters Hubbell, Beals and Stetson.

Juniors of the College of Civil Engineering will go into camp on June 9 about three miles east of Ithaca in the Six Mile Creek basin. They will be in camp till July 10.

Aleph Samach.

The following elections from the class of 1913 have been announced by Aleph Samach, the junior honorary society: Edward Strong Bates, Ithaca. Varsity eleven. Varsity eight. Edmund William Butler, Brooklyn. Delta Upsilon. Varsity eleven. Varsity nine. Leslie Douglas Clute, Elmira. Psi Upsilon. Varsity nine. Glee Club. Elwyn Hathaway Dole, Riverside, Cal. Stroke of freshman eight. Varsity four. Harold Reeber Eyrych, Phoenixville, Pa. Delta Phi. Varsity eleven. Leslie Herbert Grosier, Brooklyn, Delta Chi. Managing editor of the Sun. John Paul Jones, Washington, D. C. Chi Phi. Cross-country champion. Varsity track team. John Wesley Little, Montclair, N. J. Phi Delta Theta. Varsity track team. Mandolin Club. Joseph Hobson O'Connell, Cincinnati, O. Sigma Chi. Varsity nine. Joseph Corboy John Strahan, New York City. Delta Upsilon. Assistant manager of football.

Dunstan.

Dunstan, the sophomore honorary society, has the following members from the class of 1913: Alfred Edward Bannister, Duluth, Minn. Kappa Alpha. Track team. Edward Strong Bates, Ithaca. Varsity eleven. Varsity crew. Wendell Hugh Bennett, Youngston, O. Delta Tau Delta. Track team. Clinton Willi Brown, St. Louis, Mo. Zeta Psi. Freshman crew. Edmund William Butler, Delta Upsilon. Varsity eleven. Varsity nine. Donald Keith Champaign, Ithaca. Phi Gamma Delta. Varsity eleven. Leslie Douglas Clute, Elmira. Psi Upsilon. Varsity nine. Elwyn Hathaway Dole, Riverside, Cal. Stroke of freshman eight. Charles Henry Elliott, Auburn. Varsity eight. Harold Reeber Eyrych, Phoenixville, Pa. Delta Phi. Varsity eleven. John Paul Jones, Washington, D. C. Chi Phi. Track team. Henry Gustav Kanzler, Saginaw, Mich. Chi Psi. Track team. Robert Bacon Krogstad, Washington, D. C. Alpha Delta Phi. Freshman eleven and nine. John Joseph McCormick, Holyoke, Mass. Sigma Alpha Epsilon. Varsity nine. Cedric Aylwin Major, Brooklyn. Delta Upsilon. Cross-country team. Sun board. Granbury Miller, Brooklyn. Zeta Psi. Varsity eleven. Bernard O'Connor, Watertown. Zeta Psi. Varsity eleven. Joseph Hobson O'Connell, Cincinnati, O. Sigma Chi. Varsity nine. Joseph Hunt Smith, Barnesville, Ga. Phi Delta Theta. Varsity eleven. Walter Morton Wellman, Huntsville, Ala. Chi Psi. Varsity nine.

Professor Wilford M. Wilson addressed the Aero Club Friday night on "Ferrel's Theory of Air Currents."

OBITUARY.

HENRY ALTMAN '73.

Henry Altman, B. S. '73, died at his home in Buffalo, N. Y., on April 25, after a brief illness. Mr. Altman was born at Rochester, N. Y., on August 12, 1854, the youngest son of Jacob Altman, and moved to Buffalo with his parents when a boy. He entered Cornell in 1869 and graduated in 1873. He was a member of the Alpha Delta Phi fraternity. After graduation he was admitted to the bar, and had ever since been engaged in practice in Buffalo. Mr. Altman was active in public affairs, although he never sought an elective office. He served as chairman of the Board of School Examiners of Buffalo. He had been president of the Buffalo Press Club, the Buffalo Republican League and the Cornell Alumni Association of Western New York. He was a member of the Buffalo, Saturn, University, Ellicott and Country clubs of Buffalo. In 1887 he was married to Sadie S. Raymond, who survives him, with a son and a daughter.

JOHN PAGE '80.

John Page died at his home in Oil City, Pa., on June 27, 1910. He was in the engineer department of the National Transit Company. Mr. Page was born in the County of Devon in England in 1854 and came with his parents to America when six years old, settling in Western New York. By working as a farm laborer and a school teacher he earned the means and fitted himself for entrance to the course in civil engineering at Cornell in 1874. Lack of funds compelled him to withdraw from college for two years. He returned in 1878 and graduated in 1880. For a short time he was employed in a railroad engineer corps, and in 1882 he entered the engineer department of the National Transit Company. He was employed by this and other branches of the Standard Oil Company until his death.

ISABEL ROGERS '01.

Miss Isabel Rogers, A. B. '01, died at Rochester, N. Y., on April 7. She studied at Cornell one year.

Emerson Hinchliff '14, of Rockford, Ill., has been elected to the editorial board of the Sun. He is a member of Kappa Sigma.

ATHLETICS.

Rowing.

Cornell's varsity eight had the honor of taking part in the first intercollegiate regatta ever held at Princeton when it met the eights of Princeton and Yale in a race over a course measuring a mile and three-quarters on Carnegie Lake last Saturday afternoon. In more respects than one it was an interesting event. A Princeton crew was seen in an intercollegiate race for the first time in more than twenty-five years. It was the first race between Yale and Cornell crews since 1898. Before the big race there was a race between the Cascadilla School crew, coached by Hugh C. Troy '95, and the Princeton freshmen.

The Cornell crew arrived in Princeton on Thursday morning and the Yale men arrived that evening. Rooms in one of the newer dormitories were given up for the visiting oarsmen, and the men were guests at the Cottage Club, where they were "put up" for meals. The members of the freshman crew entertained the Cascadilla oarsmen. After the races on Saturday the Yale and Cornell oarsmen were the guests of the Princeton crew at dinner at the Osborn Club. Dr. J. Duncan Spaeth, the director of rowing at Princeton, and his assistants did everything in their power to assure a good race and a good time for the visiting oarsmen.

Although Cornell won the race, Princeton students had good reason for the celebration they held Saturday night, for their crew finished second, after rowing a gritty race and showing signs of having had able coaching. The Yale eight, which has had a discouraging season, was a bad last.

The boat races were held after the Princeton-Harvard baseball game, which Princeton won, and the crowd which witnessed them from the banks and from a stand at the finish was estimated at 15,000. Mr. Thomas Reath of the University of Pennsylvania rowing association was referee. In the opening event the Cascadilla eight won over two crews of Princeton freshmen by about three boat lengths. The schoolboys gave a pretty exhibition of watermanship.

In the big race, which was started about 6 o'clock, Princeton caught the water first and got half a length the start. Cornell soon forged ahead and at the half-mile had a length the lead and Yale was two lengths behind Princeton. The distance separating the boats gradually increased, Cornell gaining and Yale dropping further behind. In the last half-mile Princeton spurted and cut down Cornell's lead a little; the Ithaca crew did not spurt. At the finish Cornell was about two and a half lengths ahead of Princeton, and Yale was practically out of the race. The official time at the finish was: Cornell, 9:01; Princeton, 9:10; Yale, 9:45.

A very different task is before the Cornell crew next Saturday. Yale's eight has been disorganized this season, and Princeton's oarsmen were inexperienced. Harvard is coming to Ithaca with a veteran crew and a determination to win the Cornell race if possible, come what may in the Yale race later on.

Baseball.

Considerable success attended the varsity nine in a very hard series of three out-of-town games last week. Two of the games were won. In the first of the three, with Dartmouth at Hanover on Thursday, Cornell was defeated by a score of 2 to 3. The next day, at Williamstown, the team defeated Williams, one of the strongest college nines of the season, by a score of 5 to 4, and on Saturday, at Philadelphia, the team won its first game with Pennsylvania by a score of 2 to 1. Cornell has played four games with Dartmouth this season, and each team has won two. Williams will play a return game in Ithaca on June 3. There are three more games to be played with Pennsylvania. Considering the amount of traveling the team had to do on the trip and the strength of the opponents it was a very successful trip.

DARTMOUTH 3, CORNELL 2.

In the Dartmouth game the Cornell team outbatted and outfielded its opponent, but was unable to overcome a lead which a few long hits gave Dartmouth in the early innings. In the first inning Dartmouth scored two runs on a three-bagger and a homer. In the second a three-bagger and a single brought in another. After that Dartmouth got only one hit off Nisbet until the seventh, when Carvajal replaced him. In Cornell's ninth, Mahoney and McCormick tripled and the latter scored on an error. With one down and Howard on third, Thompson tried to squeeze Howard in, but missed and Howard was caught at the plate. Thompson was out on an infield fly. The score:

Dartmouth . . 2 1 0 0 0 0 0 0 *—3 7 4

Batteries—Nisbet, Carvajal and McCormick; Morey, Ekstrom and Stern.

CORNELL 5, WILLIAMS 4.

With Williams an exciting ten-inning game was played, Hightower pitching the entire game for Cornell. He struck out nine men and gave no bases on balls. Besides that he got two hits himself. His work in finishing the Princeton game the week before in good style evidently gave Hightower the one thing he needed—confidence in himself. O'Connell had four put outs and one assist to his credit in right field and he landed on the ball twice, each time for a two-bagger. With the score a tie at 4 runs each at the beginning of the tenth, Clute singled and was caught at the plate attempting to score on O'Connell's two bagger. Meanwhile O'Connell reached third and came home on Butler's sacrifice fly. Hightower ended the game single-handed by fanning the three best batters on the Williams team. The score:

Cornell . . . 0 0 1 0 0 3 0 0 0 1—5 14 2
Williams . . 2 0 2 0 0 0 0 0 0 0—4 9 1

Batteries—Hightower and McCormick; Ainslie, Davis and Lewis.

CORNELL 2, PENN 1.

During practice just before the Pennsylvania game on Franklin Field, Captain Magner was struck on the forehead by a batted ball and so badly hurt that he did not take part in the game. Howard took his place at shortstop, Dauenhauer went to third base and Thompson covered second. Hightower was in center field. The game was cleanly played on both sides. Butler and Dauenhauer made spectacular stops of hot drives. Butler had six put outs in left field and made two hits, one of them a double. Clute scored for Cornell in the fourth, getting a base on balls and coming home on Butler's two-base hit down the left field foul line. In the fifth McCormick tripled and was squeezed home by Howard. The score:

Penn 0 0 0 0 0 1 0 0 0—1 6 1

Batteries—Nisbet and McCormick; Clark and Cozens.

Track.

Cornell's track team leaves Ithaca to-night for Winthrop Highlands Station, Mass., where they will be quartered at the Leighton House during the intercollegiates at Cambridge.

CAPTAIN MACARTHUR.

Coach Moakley has a team this year in which Cornellians are justified in placing great hopes. However, there is nothing at all certain about the outcome of the intercollegiates. Cornell has a fighting chance, but track experts are giving Pennsylvania a slight preference in their selections. It is quite evident that Pennsylvania, Yale and Cornell will enter the contests with a good chance of taking first place.

For the good showing made by the track team this year a great deal of credit is due to Captain Edward G. MacArthur. He has worked hard, and the team's success may be traced in a large measure to the spirit he has put into it.

So much depends on the little things at the big meet that it is ridiculous to forecast results when three of the teams are so evenly matched. On their showing in dual meets, MacArthur, Putnam, Jones and Berna should win the quarter, half, mile and two mile runs. Ford is figured to take about fourth in the 100-yard dash and second in the 220-yard dash. Some think that Stibolt will take fourth in both hurdles, although there is a possibility that he may finish ahead of Dwight of Princeton in the high hurdles.

In the field events, matters are more uncertain than in the sprints, runs and hurdles. Most of the hammer throwers this year are somewhat erratic, and although Tilley of Dartmouth has the best record this season, Cornell looks to Bannister to get a place somewhere in the event. Horner of Michigan and Kilpatrick of Yale will probably take first and second places in the shot-put. Kanzler of Cornell should get a place in this event. Nixon should be good for a place in the broad jump. The pole vault and the high jump are the two events in which Cornell has the least show. Yale will have the former event pretty much to herself and Pennsylvania men clearly demonstrated their superiority to the Cornell high jumpers in the dual meet a few weeks ago.

The Cornell team this season has had a wonderful development and judging on dual meets alone is the best among the colleges. But this is a very uncertain way of judging. It will not be the first places but the seconds upon which Pennsylvania will depend for her showing Saturday. Yale depends on Chisholm taking first in both hurdle races and on her strength in the field events.

Of the men on the Cornell team who are not generally considered as having the ability to place, Hunger in the two mile and Bennett in the quarter mile might add something to Cornell's score. If Jones should enter the 880-yard run in addition to the mile he might be heard from. He ran a pretty race in that event against Princeton and finished second, although the time was not exceptional. Several of the Cornell team will enter the preliminary heats of the sprints which will be held on Friday. MacArthur, Ford and Bennett are Cornell's best men in the dashes.

Cornell has won the Intercollegiates three times since the present cup has been contested for. Pennsylvania has two victories, Yale one and Harvard one. Permanent possession of the cup is secured by the university which first has five victories to its credit.

In addition to the men already mentioned the following will be taken on the trip: Pole vaulters—C. E. Everingham, H. H. d'Autremont and Harold Flack; hammer throwers and shot putters, J. L. Collins, C. N. Seagrave and H. W. Hageman; jumpers, W. K. Wells, J. W. Little, J. E. Whinery and A. S. Elsenbast; hurdlers and runners, E. A. McKrell, H. H. Snyder and L. S. Finch.

Lacrosse.

Harvard shattered Cornell's chances of lacrosse supremacy on Monday of last week by defeating the varsity 10 to 3. Harvard's greater aggressiveness won the contest. At Hoboken Saturday the lacrosse team lost to Stevens Institute by a score of 5 to 2. Stevens scored two goals in the first ten minutes of play. Cornell then played better and the first half ended 3 to 1 in favor of the Hoboken team. The failure of the Cornell men to cover-up closely in the second half allowed Stevens to score two more goals. The team will conclude its season by playing Hobart at Geneva on May 30.

Intercollege Athletics.

If one member of the College of Agriculture track team had walked over the line in the final heat of the high hurdles his college would have won the meet from the College of Civil Engineering. Four men had qualified for the final in this event and when the Agricultural man knocked over a hurdle or two he quit the race. The points at the end of the meet stood as follows: Civil Engineering, 102.3; Agriculture, 99; Sibley, 74.5; Law, 36.2; Arts, 31; Veterinary, 13; Architecture, 7. The best times of the meet were in the quarter mile, which was won by Burgdorff, a freshman in the College of Agriculture, in 52 1-5 seconds; the hundred yard dash in 10 2-5 and the half mile in 2 minutes 41-5 seconds. Undergraduates who had won their track or class insignia were barred from the class of events in which they had won them. The only events which remain in the intercollege championship series are baseball and crew. With the track meet included the colleges now rank as follows: Agriculture, 38; Civil Engineering, 31; Sibley, 30; Law, 19; Arts, 17; Veterinary, 15 1-2; Architecture, 8 1-2.

Athletic Notes.

Qualifying heats for the final of the intercollege boat race, which will take place next Saturday, were held last week and early this week. In the first heat the College of Agriculture won from Architecture and Law by two lengths, thus qualifying for the finals.

A few games are still to be played in the interfraternity league. Zodiac, Theta Xi and Kappa Sigma have already qualified for the semi-finals. The winners of the seven leagues will be divided into two leagues of three or four teams each. The winners of these leagues will play a series of three games for the championship.

At Philadelphia Friday the golf team defeated the team of the University of Pennsylvania. The Cornell men won all five of the matches.

Two defeats for the cricket team were the result of the games with the University of Pennsylvania and Haverford College on Friday and Saturday. Pennsylvania won by a score of 240 to 53. The Haverford defeat was not as bad. The Cornell men scored 62 runs and Haverford made 138.

In their baseball game with Lafayette High School of Buffalo at Percy Field Saturday afternoon, the freshman team won by a score of 11 to 4. Excessive heat made the game rather slow. For the freshmen Rahr pitched a good game and made two hits, one of which was a home run.

Cornell and Michigan each won three matches in a tennis meet held here Saturday. The team will finish its season next Saturday with Williams at Williamstown. Dartmouth will be played Friday at Hanover.

Clarence Francis Busch '12, of Babylon, has been elected captain of the fencing team for the coming year. He is a member of Kappa Alpha. An alumni' fencing meet is to be held in the Armory on the afternoon of May 26. Cornell's championship team will meet three of the best of the graduate fencers—Dr. J. E. Gignoux '98, W. L. Bowman '04 and W. E. Harries '08.

A notice that the third payment on the Alumni Field Equipment Fund is now due has been sent to subscribers. A short report by Chairman Bacon accompanies it. He reports that the committee had received in cash up to the end of March $32,665.64 for equipment of the field. The total amount due on the third payment is $13,366. All that is in sight, and perhaps a little more, is needed to complete the work planned for the coming summer and fall. This work will include the grading of the new varsity fields and probably the building of a training house. Of course the committee will not be put to the entire expense of grading the new fields, the University itself being pledged to meet any additional expense incurred by reason of the recent change in the location of the field. Much of the grading that is necessary will therefore be a charge upon the University. Undergraduates would not know how to get along now without the Flyground and the Common, the two sections of the Field already graded. There are often ten games of baseball going on there at once.

Who "makes good"—the "grind" or the "prominent student"? The Era has undertaken to find out, and by classifying the Cornell men whose names appear in Who's Who in America has discovered some interesting facts. The college record of each man was looked up and it was comparatively easy to find out what his bent was as an undergraduate. There were found 206 Cornellians in Who's Who, besides 68 who obtained advanced degrees here. First of all it may be observed that the number of famous Cornell men who failed to attain any sort of distinction while in college is negligible. The next fact to be noted is that a considerable number of men who can be classified as grinds also were prominent in "student activities." Eliminating these, the Era finds that the total number available for purposes of comparison is 170. Of this number 101 were grinds in college and 69 were "prominent students." That is to say, if the probability that a college editor or athlete or manager will attain eminence in after life be represented by the decimal .069, the decimal .101 will show the grind's chances. And the chances of the man who does nothing out of the ordinary in college seem to be practically zero. Of course, eminence is not always a fair measure of success, and there is a host of very desirable citizens who were inconspicuous in college and who have not been discovered by the editors of Who's Who. The Q. E. D. of the Era's proposition seems to us to be, not that high marks and undergraduate "honors" are in themselves things worth striving for, but that the grind is worthy of more respect than he ordinarily gets from his fellows. The value of a university is measured more by the kind of men it turns out than by the athletic victories its students win, and the figures show that the grind is more likely to reflect permanent lustre on his alma mater than the man who strokes the eight or gives the signals to the eleven.

Is the phrase "athletic relations" going to acquire a new meaning? To say that one university has athletic relations with another has often meant only that the managers of their teams had succeeded in agreeing upon a date for a contest and had not fallen out over the division of the gate receipts, the choice of officials, the eligibility of players, etc. Recently two Cornell fraternity houses were vacated for a night and a day by the members and were turned over to two Princeton teams. Last week the Yale and Cornell crews were entertained in a Princeton dormitory, instead of being allowed to find hotel accommodations where they could, and the men of the three crews were together at luncheon every day. The new kind of relations is a great improvement over the old.

We always mean to give our readers ample notice of any ticket sales for events in Ithaca that graduates are likely to attend. For the Harvard regatta to take place next Saturday, the sale was held on Wednesday of last week, and we were unable to get notice of it for publication beforehand. The athletic association had eleven cars in the middle of the observation train. On the night before the sale, after a line had formed, notice was given that a new method of disposing of seats had been adopted. Persons desiring tickets were to deposit their money and afterward draw for choice of seats. In this way all the cars at the disposal of the athletic association were sold by eleven o'clock Wednesday morning. Most of the less desirable seats retained by the railroad company were also sold by that time, and sold in the usual way. The railroad company runs the observation train as a courtesy to the athletic association, no doubt at a heavy loss, and it is to the association that Cornellians look for accommodation. The conditions surrounding this sale are the same every year, and it would be easy for the association to give early notice of it. To announce at the eleventh hour an entirely new method of selling seats is poor management.

Tuesday, June 20, and Wednesday, June 21—Alumni Days.

CLASS REUNION.

1896.

Alumni Days only four weeks distant—time is getting short. Don't forget our motto, "Everybody back this year!" Some of the fellows are coming who haven't been back for years. This is a good time to get in line, see the changes at Ithaca and renew old acquaintances. It is absolutely necessary that the secretary have some idea of the number returning this year, so send him word about yourself.

GEO. S. TOMPKINS.

Alumni Notes.

'91, M. E.—Henry Floy, of New York, delivered a lecture on the Panama Canal before the Middletown Scientific Association and students of Wesleyan University, Middletown, Conn., on May 9. The lecture was illustrated with lantern slides from photographs mainly taken by Mr.
Floy while on the Isthmus with the American Society of Civil Engineers during March.

'00—In The American City for March are articles by George H.
Young '00 and John Ihlder '00. Mr.
Young's article is entitled "The Williamsport Way" and tells how the citizens of Williamsport, Pa., organized and in ten years established thirty-nine new industries to take the place of the great lumber trade when that declined, and how the city profited in many other ways by the organization. Under the title "The New Civic Spirit" Mr. Ihlder, who is field secretary of the National Housing Association, writes of improvement work in various cities.

'03, M. E.—George J. Costello, of Syracuse, N. Y., and Miss Helen Deardoff Myers, daughter of George H. Myers, of Bethlehem, Pa., were married on May 10, by the Rev. J.
F. X. Walsh, of the Catholic Church of the Holy Infancy, South Bethlehem. Mr. Costello is connected with the Bethlehem Steel Works.

LIGHTNING FAST LOCK
READY FOR ACTION

Don't Count Lock Parts Until You See Them in the Gun Ready for Action

- ⚡ All gun makers claim a simple lock but no amount of paper-talk will make a lock simple.
- ⚡ The gun itself must consist of the fewest possible parts—advertising cannot accomplish this.
- ⚡ We do a little advertising but this is no reason why you should buy an ITHACA—the reason is in the gun itself.
- ⚡ Compare our lock, set up, ready for action, with any other make—if we haven't the simplest lock we'll give you the gun—let the gun talk for itself.
- ⚡ If you see more than one hole in a hammer, look out for toggles or stirrups not shown.
- ⚡ Our hammer is all in one piece, only one hole, no toggles or stirrups attached.
- ⚡ We use coil springs—the type adopted by Uncle Sam for Army guns—guaranteed forever.
- ⚡ Send for beautiful catalog in colors—FREE.
- ⚡ We make 18 different grade guns, $17.75 net to $400, list.
- ⚡ Our little 5 1/4 lb. 20 bore is a howling success.
