Cornell's Goldwin Smith Hall gets "Automatic" Sprinkler protection throughout

Operating an educational institution like Cornell University is big business, the problems of administration often more complex than those faced by industry in general. Not the least of those problems is plant safety, and, fire protection "with teeth" is a necessity for the multi-million dollar properties which comprise the University . . . for the safety to life of the thousands of students and faculty members who daily make it their home.

"Automatic" Sprinkler protection recently installed in Goldwin Smith Hall is an excellent example of modern planning and administration. Yet, "Automatic" Sprinkler's record of fire extinguishing effectiveness is all conclusive . . . the thousands of dollars annually saved through reduced insurance costs, a further substantiation of their value as INVESTMENT PROTECTION.

Whether your business be institutional, industrial or commercial, your responsibility for the provision of dependable fire protection is absolute and "Automatic" Sprinklers are as necessary as your electric lights.

Your nearest "Automatic" Sprinkler representative will gladly assist you with your fire protection planning and furnish surveys and estimates without cost or obligation.

Save lives . . . save property . . . save money with "Automatic" Sprinklers.

Reunions Promise Full Schedule For Alumni of Thirteen Classes

Class Reunions, June 9 and 10, will bring to the Campus for scheduled Reunions the alumni of thirteen Classes from the Fifty-year Class of 1900 through those of five-year intervals and including the Two-year Class of '48.

These Class secretaries or Reunion chairmen have outlined to their Classmates the special plans of their own celebrations and costumes, among which are rumored a circus calliope and Scotch bagpipers to help the Thirty-year Class of '20 celebrate, a fife and drum corps to rally the Ten-year Class of '40, and many others with bands and various special arrangements. As usual, the men who come back will be quartered for the week end in the Baker Dormitories on West Avenue and alumnae will be housed in the women's dormitories across Triphammer bridge. Class tents will be erected on Library slope and Barton Hall will be headquarters for official registration, for loading "Campus Caravan" guided bus tours, and for a general Reunion luncheon and parade of all Classes, Saturday noon, and a Reunion Rally that night.

Busy Program for Two Days

Registration opens at 9 Friday morning, June 9, and closes at 3 p.m. Saturday to count for the cups awarded by the Association of Class Secretaries for the best attendance. Friday Class luncheons are scheduled for Willard Straight Hall and the women's dormitories, and the Class dinners Friday and Saturday evenings will be in various places downtown and on the Hill, including the new Statler Hall.

Friday afternoon, the baseball team plays Colgate on Hoy Field. At 3:30, alumni-Faculty round-tables, started last year with considerable success, will be led by Faculty speakers on topics of current general interest. Friday at 6, the Home Economics Alumnae Association gathers for supper and its annual meeting in Martha Van Rensselaer Hall. After their Class dinners, alumni will gather with Seniors for singing at Goldwin Smith portico. At 8:30, the Dramatic Club presents in the air-conditioned Willard Straight Theater "Two Blind Mice," Samuel Spevack's comedy-satire on Government procedures. At 8:45, the Glee Club sings in Bailey Hall.

Saturday will open with breakfast for all alumnae at 7:30 in Willard Straight Memorial Room. From 7:30 to 10, the Faculty of Civil Engineering will entertain CE alumni in Lincoln Hall and College of Architecture alumni will breakfast at the Johnny Parson Club at 8:30.

At the annual meetings of the Cornell Alumni Association and Alumni Fund

Council, at 10 in the auditorium of Statler Hall, results of Alumni Trustee elections will be announced and new-by-laws of the Alumni Association will be voted on. At 11 in the same place, Acting President Cornelis W. de Kiewiet will give the annual "Report to Alumni."

Classes will parade in Barton Hall after lunch, and to Schoellkopf Field for a track meet between the Cornell-Princeton team which will go to England to meet Oxford and Cambridge and a Yale-Harvard team. At the same time, the annual meeting of the Federation of Cornell Women's Clubs will be held in Willard Straight Hall. Campus Caravans will run again, and at 4:30 Faculty and alumni will get together in Willard Straight Memorial Room, while some former oarsmen of some Classes will have opportunity to row again from the Boathouse.

After the Saturday night Class dinners, the Dramatic Club will repeat "Two Blind Mice," and at 9:30 all visitors will attend the Reunion Rally in Barton Hall. Here Harry V. Wade '26 will preside for the Association of Class Secretaries, direct the entertainment, and present the Association cups for best registered attendance at Reunions.

The celebrations will continue Saturday night in Class tents and at the dormitories, and those alumni members who are able will attend the Sunday morning Reunion breakfasts of Sphinx Head in Willard Straight Hall and Quill and Dagger in Statler Hall. Some will remain to attend the baccalaureate service in Barton Hall, Sunday at 11, conducted by the Rev. Joseph R. Sizzo, president of the New Brunswick, N.J., Theological Seminary. Sunday evening, the Dramatic Club will again present "Two Blind Mice." The University's eighty-second annual Commencement is at 11 Monday, June 12, in Barton Hall.

University Delegates

Official delegate of Cornell at the inauguration of Carrol O. Morong as head master of The Peddie School, Hightstown, N.J., April 30, was Ross A. Harrison, PhD '36. He heads the mathematics department at Peddie.

Mrs. Alexander M. Dushkin (Julia Aronson) '17 will represent Cornell at ceremonies celebrating the twenty-fifth anniversary of Hebrew University in Jerusalem, Israel, May 5. Her husband is director of undergraduate studies at Hebrew University and their daughter, Avima Dushkin '48, is working in Israel.

Bequests to Cornell

In memory of the late Heatley Green '01, his widow at her death left the family home in Detroit, Mich., to the University. It is suggested that the income from the gift be used to establish scholarships in Agriculture in his memory, or for other University purposes. Green received the ME in 1901 and was a Varsity baseball player. He was president of Automatic Products Co. and Bangor Investment Co. in Detroit and was the eleventh president of the Cornell Club of Michigan. He died September 20, 1947.

The will of Paul G. Brown '95, who died last March 25, left one-sixth of his residual estate to Cornell. He was in Sibley College in 1892-93 and a member of Delta Kappa Epsilon; became a leading construction engineer and was president of Keystone State Corp. in Philadelphia.

Appoint New Vice-president

Board of Trustees, meeting in Ithaca April 22, appointed John E. Burton (above) as Vice-president-business of the University, effective next July 1. He will succeed in that post George F. Rogalsky '07, who has held it since it was established in January, 1948. Rogalsky continues as Vice-president to work in close association with Acting President Cornelius W. de Kiewiet, who explains that the new appointments will bring some realignment of administrative responsibilities.

"Expansion and the increasing complexity of the University's educational activities have added a number of new and important responsibilities to the position of Vice-president-business," President de Kiewiet said. "Burton brings to these responsibilities an exceptional combination of experience and abilities in financial and educational problems." Of Rogalsky, who became Treasurer of the University in 1920 and assumed also the duties of Comptroller in 1938, at the death of Charles D. Bostwick '92, he referred to the many times when University problems are being considered that it is suggested, "Let's ask 'the Count'."

Burton has been State Budget Director since Thomas E. Dewey became Governor of New York in 1943. In March he resigned, effective May 6, and Governor Dewey appointed him chairman of the State Power Authority on a per diem basis. He received the BA at Hiram College in 1928 and the MBA at Northwestern in 1929, then was with the Institute for Economic Research until 1935, was research director for the State Mortgage Commission for three years, and from 1938-42 headed his own research organization. He lectured at Northwestern and NYU; was chairman of the New York State Post-war Works Planning Commission, 1943-47; a member of the State Veterans Commission since 1944; of Governor's commissions on State educational program since 1945, on State-local fiscal relations and municipal revenue, 1945; of the State University Commission, 1946-48; and was a member of the Hoover Commission committee on Federal-State relationships in 1947-48. He was the first president, in 1946, of the National Association of State Budget Officers and has written numerous reports and articles on public administration.

The Trustees also confirmed the appointment of Douglas J. Lathwell as assistant professor of Soil Science in the Department of Agronomy. He came April 1 from Ohio State University, where he received the PhD in March, having received the BS at Michigan State University in 1947.

Cornellians Get Awards

Fellowships from the John Simon Guggenheim Memorial Foundation have been awarded this year to four members of the Faculty, six other Cornellians, and the son of an alumnus. Awarded annually to persons "who have demonstrated unusual ability for productive scholarship or unusual creative ability in the fine arts," the grants are each worth approximately $3,000. The 158 awards for 1950 mark the twenty-fifth anniversary of the establishment of the Foundation.

Professor Max Black, Philosophy, was awarded a fellowship for a project "Studies in the Philosophy of Language." Professor Gregory Vlastos of the same Department received one of six awards granted to Canadian citizens and will work on "A Study of the Development of the Moral and Political Concepts of Greek Democracy."

Professor Victor Lange, German Literature, will use his grant for a study of Goethe's fiction. He will do research in Europe this summer.

Professor Marshall W. Stearns, English who is on leave this year in New York City where he is teaching a course in jazz at Columbia, will prepare a history of jazz music.

Franklin Edgerton '05, Sterling professor of Sanskrit and comparative philology at Yale, has a grant for work on a Buddhist Hybrid Sanskrit grammar and dictionary. He has taught at Yale since 1909. Mrs. Edgerton is the former Mary Eagan '08.

Edwin G. Nourse '06, former chairman of President Truman's Council of Economic Advisors, has received a fellowship to continue his studies "into the possibilities of developing an approach to dynamic stabilization of free enterprise within the structure of free government."

A grant to Francis Harper '14, resident naturalist at Edmund Niles Huyck Preserve in Rensselaerville, will enable him to complete a volume on the life and letters of the early American naturalist, William Bartram. In September, he and Mrs. Harper plan to return to their former home on RFD 1, Mount Holley, N.J., so that he can be near the Philadelphia libraries.

Charles M. Wiltse, PhD '32, who received a Guggenheim Fellowship last year, has been awarded another grant to continue work on a biography of John C. Calhoun. Son of the late Herbert A. Wiltse '00, he is historian and consultant on industrial mobilization to the National Security Resources Board in Washington, D. C.

Chester G. Starr, Jr., PhD '38, associate professor of history in the University of Illinois, at Champaign, has a grant for a study of freedom of thought in the Roman Empire.

A fellowship for research on electrochemical thermodynamics went to Frederick O. Koenig, Grad '92-'93, professor of chemistry at Stanford University.

Professor Charles M. Rick, Jr. of the University of California, at Davis, son of Charles M. Rick '05, has been awarded a second grant. He is making cytogenetic studies of wild and cultivated tomato species.

US Rubber Aids Research

United States Rubber Co. Fellowship for research in Chemistry has been renewed for 1950-51, its fourth successive year. Holder this year is Roderick A. Mundy, who received the BS at Hampden-Sidney College in 1943, entered the Graduate School in 1946, and has been working under Professor William T. Miller on free radical reactions in fluocarbon solvents. Recipient for next year is George V. Downing. Winners of the Fellowship receive $1200 a year if unmarried or $1800 if married, and the University receives $1000 for tuition and other costs. Cornell is one of ten universities granted these Fellowships.

Gives Messenger Lectures

Messenger Lectures for this term were a series of six describing "A Trail of Research" by Professor Vincent du Vigneaud, head of the Department of Biochemistry at the Medical College in New York. Dr. du Vigneaud received international recognition as one of the team of Cornell medical scientists whose research during the war discovered the structure of crystalline penicillin. He has worked also on the chemistry of insulin, pituitary hormones, amino acids and peptides, and biotin; has won many awards for his contributions to medical science.

His lectures in Olin Hall, May 1-11, dealt with the chemistry of several important biochemical compounds and their fate and interrelationships in the body.

The Messenger Lectures on the Evolution of Civilization, twelve each year "to be delivered by the ablest non-resident lecturer or lecturers obtainable," were endowed by a bequest from the late Hiram J. Messenger '80 which came to the University in 1923. They are published each year by the University Press.

Publish Wordsworth Booklet

"The Cornell Wordsworth Collection," published by the University Press at the observance of the centenary of Wordsworth's death, contains an account of the Collection and its origin and an illustrated catalog of its sixty-two items which were exhibited for a month in the University Library. Professor Robert C. Bald, English, tells of the beginning of the Collection in 1883 by Mrs. Cynthia Morgan St. John of Ithaca, mother of the late E. Morgan St. John '11, and its purchase for the University in 1925 by Victor Emanuel '19. He describes some of its interesting and important items and gives credit for its development to the curator, Professor Leslie N. Broughton, PhD '11, English, Emeritus, who first interested Emanuel in the Collection and has kept his interest in adding to it. The booklet may be obtained from the University Press, Ithaca, at fifty cents a copy.

Formal greetings "to the friends of Wordsworth assembled at Cornell," April 20-22, came from a similar group commemorating the occasion at Princeton. They wrote: "On this happy occasion when the greatness, the humanity, the profundity, and the poetic mastery of William Wordsworth is once again being reaffirmed by his admirers in all countries, those scholars and critics who have met at Princeton to do him honor join in sending greetings to the convocation at Cornell. We share with you and your distinguished speakers the joy that great art knows no country nor any limitation of time."

Wordsworth lectures and a discussion on the Campus were attended not only by members of the University and others from nearby, but by 100 members of the Western and Central New York branch of the College English Association who met here, April 22.

The Wordsworth Centenary committee was composed of Professors Broughton and Lane Cooper; Bald, George H. Healey, PhD '47, Meyer H. Abrams, and Francis E. Mineka of the English Department; Giles F. Shepherd, Jr., Assistant Director of the Library; and Raymond F. Howes '24, Secretary of the University. The University observance was made possible by a special gift from Trustee Emanuel.

Commend Class Efforts

To the Editor:

Bill Emerson, the bald cherub of the virile '19 Class, is deserving of carrying the torch in a worthy cause. As you well know, experience has shown that the best way to build up strong alumni support is through the Classes. Since the Class is the rallying point for (a) getting together and (b) effective University support, it should be set up on a well-organized basis.

Our Class of '14 has not done too badly with the old set-up. We have always been up with the leaders. On the other hand, I can see room for improvement, particularly in these later years. First, we must have continuity to carry on from year to year as the ranks get thinner. Second, notwithstanding all the fanfare to drum up interest, we have not yet found a successful way to bring more Classmates to Reunions and to get them solidly behind their University. Third, there is constructive work to be done with the women, who are entitled to share the pleasures and responsibility of the Class on an equal basis.

I am pleased that the Class Secretaries Association at its last meeting worked over the matter of Class organization. We are fortunate in having our capable '14 secretary, "Doc" Peters, a member of the committee. As a result, you will one of these days find the Class of '14 set up on a sound, well-organized basis, with no fancy trimmings but ready to profit by experience and capable of carrying on through the years, down to the last man. Of course, we will go along with subscriptions to the Alumni News, which is vital in the reorganization.

Shaking up the Classes is certainly opportune. It is a good healthy sign and well worth while. We fall into a rut very readily. What I like in Bill Emerson's efforts along these lines is to let each Class do the job, as far as possible, which generates enthusiasm.

—James J. Munns, '14 President

To Emerson:

I want to congratulate you on your excellent article "Cornell Deserves Better Class Organization." I think you have started something that, if pushed, will have a tremendous influence for Cornell alumni in general, on Class organizations in particular, and on increased giving to Cornell.

Good Class leadership is, of course, no different than good corporate management. When you have the right men at the top, you usually have good organization and active participation. The change every five years puts a limitation on poor leadership and creates interest and new effort because of the change.

—Alfred M. Saperston '19

Sage Chapel Services

To the Editor:

The articles which you have been printing about the Library are interesting to me and I think to others, also. I hope they will be continued.

It would also be interesting to me if you would include something about the happenings at the Chapel on Sunday in your column of "Coming Events." My impression is that Sunday has not been mentioned in this column for a long time until the issue of April 15. The opening of the University Festival of Contemporary Arts on Sunday, April 23, is mentioned and the supper of the Cornell Women's Club of Boston on the same date. Mention is made of the opening of the Interfraternity Council "Work Week" on Sunday, April 30, at Ithaca.

When I was at Cornell, the Chapel services on Sunday morning and Sunday afternoon were events of outstanding interest. There was an unusually fine sermon and excellent music in the morning and a service of music in the afternoon, sometimes with chorus and orchestra. I think you would find that many Cornell alumni would like to know what happens in the Chapel on Sunday morning and would like to see this referred to in the column of Coming Events.

—William Osgood Morgan '00

Because the number of Campus events has so greatly multiplied, our column has tried to list only those which Cornellians away from Ithaca might attend. If Sage Chapel services are in this category, preachers can be announced in advance; or they can be reported elsewhere if there is sufficient alumni interest. What is your preference?—Ed.

Richmond Club Elects

Cornell Club of Richmond, Va., has elected as president for this year Ivan Buys '17. W. Wallace Neale '21 and S. Joseph Nadler '21 are vice-presidents and John S. Halsey '49 is secretary-treasurer. At the annual meeting, George L. Bascome '05 gave reminiscences of the "early days" of the University.

Forty-one members and guests, April 16, enjoyed a "smorgasbord" supper at Holly Hill Farm, the home of Arthur E. Booth '19 and Mrs. Booth (Mabel Lamoureux) '19.

New Band Record Ready

Cornell Alumni Association is publishing a new recording of Cornell music by the University Concert Band of seventy pieces. This replaces the former Cornell Band record, which was made nine years ago and has been out of stock for several months.

Players in the Concert Band are selected principally from the Big Red Band, and both are directed by Professor William A. Campbell, Music. This recording, on two sides of a standard twelve-inch record, was made by the Band shortly after its annual spring concert this year. After several tests in other places for the best acoustics, the Band was transported to the Ithaca High School auditorium to play especially for this recording, which was made by Norman R. Hoffman, chief engineer of University Station WHCU. Master records were sent to Columbia Transcriptions in New York City, where Alden O. Carlson '30 and William S. Bachman '32, chief of research for Columbia Records, Inc., directed the necessary processing before pressings were made for sale.

The result is a much improved record of Cornell band music, as compared with the old one. The record contains the same songs: "Cornell Victorious" by S. Hibbard Ayer, Jr. '14, "Fight for Cornell" by Kenneth Roberts '08 and Theodore J. Lindorff '07, "The Big Red Team" by Romeyn Berry '04 and Clarence S. Tourison '09, "March On, Cornell" by Marcel K. Sessler '13, "In the Red and the White" by Richard H. Lee '41, and "Alma Mater."

Alumni may obtain the new Band Record at $1.50 by sending payment with order to Cornell Alumni Association, Merchandise Division, 18 East Avenue, Ithaca.

Intelligence

By Emerson Hinchliff '14

An alumnus some time ago spent four days here while the University was in session. He visited old friends on the Faculty and met some new members; went to a lecture or two, visited the Library, browsed around the bulletin boards in different halls, felt the ceaseless come and go of the Straight, let his curiosity be his guide. I caught him on the last day and he said to me, shaking his head, "I don't see how you stand the intellectual stimulus of this place continuously!"

He should have been here the last week of April, for the fourth Festival of Contemporary Arts! Even my head—though bloody and unbowed—is still reeling from too much concentrated exposure to contemporary culture in the combined fields of architecture, art, the dance, literature, music, the theatre. Some of the reeling is due to the fact that a good deal of the approach in the modern arts seems to be to gain attention by means of shock, usually unpleasant shock. I prefer that Culture sidle up to me with an amiable mien, that she have flashes of wit and humor, and that these flashes be reasonably understandable.

The crusade got off to a fine start Sunday, April 23, with a poetry recital. Can you imagine a poetry recital on Campus? About 100 people gathered in the Willard Straight Lounge (all the events took place in the Straight) and saw four members of the English Department come out from behind their books and reveal themselves as poets at heart and in actual fact. Professor Charles I. Weir, Jr. was fine, Harvey Shapiro and Ephaim Fogel were good, and Professor David Daiches, chairman of the Division of Literature, was super. The audience burst into applause at the end of his first poem, written especially for the occasion. Professor Daiches, practically alone during the week, showed a rollicking sense of humor. Two showings of Laurence Olivier's film, "Hamlet," Sunday represented the theatre.

Monday night, my cousin Doris Humphrey, the famous choreographer, talked on the dance, illustrating the latter part with slides. She told of the revolution in the dance about the turn of the century, focussing around Ruth St. Denis and Isadora Duncan, accentuating freedom of the body and bare feet. They turned their backs on the ballet and removed the dance from the field of entertainment into a means of communication, a language of movement to communicate ideas. The fact that words are inadequate to describe a dance is an indication that it is a language of its own, which one has to make an effort to learn. And how!

I confess that I stayed away Tuesday from a poetry recital by John Malcom Brinnin, director of the Poetry Center in New York, and a lecture by Professor Daiches on Contemporary British Poetry, which I hear was jammed. I also slighted Professor Victor Lange's Wednesday talk on Contemporary German Literature, since I had already heard it at a Book & Bowl meeting, and that of Professor Robert A. Hall, Jr., on Contemporary Italian Literature on Friday. Fortunately, I was tipped off by the Freshman daughter of a '25 alumna that Professor Jean Bruneau, Romance Literature, was "wonderful," so went to hear him on Contemporary French Literature Thursday. He gave a brilliant disquisition on present-day writers, who are interested only in ideas, whose product will probably not live as works of art, who are groping to understand the last war (why they fought on one side, then the other, or not at all), and are desperately seeking new social values on which to build. Their style of writing, he said, is anything to attract attention. I can foresee that this young man could well develop into another Othon G. Guerlac.

Music got a work-out Wednesday night, and a good deal of it wasn't so modernistic that I couldn't enjoy it. I noticed my old friend, Jerome Fried '10, who dates back to the famous Egbert Quartet, sawing away on his cello in the Ithaca Chamber Music Society. Professor John Kirkpatrick, Music chairman, played six pieces from Carlos Chavez nicely, though they conveyed no hint of Mexico to me. What I enjoyed most was the last piece sung by the A Capella Chorus, a mischievous melange of Civil War patriotic airs, that had to be repeated. This chorus, led by Robert Hull, PhD '45, Music, is a young group of thirty-three mixed voices.

Professor J. LeRoy Davidson of Yale, the man who assembled the controversial collection of contemporary American art for the State Department two or three years ago that was finally called back after public clamor became too great, defended the project Thursday night. His slides should have been in color. Most of the subjects were horrible. He claimed the showings in Europe were great successes and was completely impatient with any criticism on any but artistic grounds. I agree that it might have been innocuous to send all pretty pictures, but it was twice as bad to export nothing but cuckoo stuff. His defense was to deride Congress and President Truman.

The Memorial Room was lined with pictures by fifteen European and American artists together with paintings by eight members of the Fine Arts Faculty. They covered a half-dozen artistic attitudes and must have been a stimulus to thousands whose curiosity was aroused in passing the open doors and stepped in. There were even budding trees standing

Faculty Members Discuss Arts Interrelationships—To close the Festival of Contemporary Arts, these experts led a forum in Willard Straight Memorial Room. Left to right, they are Professor Thomas J. Baird '24, Engineering Drawing; May Atherton, Physical Education; Professors Robert M. Palmer, Music; Arthur E. Murphy, Philosophy; David Daiches, Literature; Walter H. Stainton '19, Speech and Drama; and John A. Hartell '24, Architecture. C. Hadley Smith in earth. There was also an exhibition of paintings on loan from Ithaca collections over in Morse Hall. I found one there that I could live with, painted by John Marin and loaned by Professor John A. Hartell '24, Architecture. Entitled "Boats," it gave me a confused but charming sense of what makes a boat go: a hint of centerboard, hull, engine-room, sails, smokestack, yawing, tacking, sitting on the rail, making a landing.

Culminating, and perhaps high point, for me was the Concert in Dance given Friday and Saturday nights to full houses in the Theater. It was really distinguished, with the dozen or so barefoot maidens, and two men showing easy familiarity and competence in the medium. Not only did they dance, but nine of them doubled as choreographers. Outstanding were Mrs. Alta Ann Turner Parkins '50, Lois A. Flight '50 and Gloria Newman, instructor in Physical Education. Of course the director, May Atherton, was splendid in her two appearances. Professor Robert Palmer composed music for two of the pieces and accompanist Gertrude E. Rivers '47 was the composer of five others. Modern music seems to suit interpretive dancing. But in the program notes the words "anguish," "sad," "deaths," "alone," "pain" jump out at one. We certainly learned the modern dance vocabulary of sorrow! Miss Atherton was the only one who smiled, and she seldom. I'm afraid, too, that if a real torero (cq) saw the matador's performance in the Mexican dance, he would sink a pair of banderillas in the dancer, if not his espada!

I couldn't make a concert by student composers nor a summing-up forum on the interrelationships of the arts by seven members of the Faculty which ended the program, April 30. Perhaps this might have clarified my ideas somewhat. Among my rather jumbled impressions, there persists an overriding feeling of surging vitality of the arts in these parts.

For Anabel Taylor Hall

Two booklets are being used by Cornell United Religious Work to describe its activities and program and to point out the opportunity for gifts through the Greater Cornell Fund to assure the endowment of its work in Anabel Taylor Hall. The Hall will be erected as a gift of Trustee Myron C. Taylor '94 at cost of $1,500,000 and named for Mrs. Taylor as an interfaith center on the Campus and World War II Memorial.

One booklet, titled "For God and Human Liberty," describes the student interfaith group of CURW and outlines its many activities, guided by a resident staff which includes pastors of the Baptist, Roman Catholic, Congregational, Episcopal, Jewish, Methodist, Presbyterian, and Unitarian faiths. The other, "That They Shall Not Have Died In Vain," pictures on its cover the War Memorial tablet which, in the foyer of Anabel Taylor Hall, will bear the names of all Cornellians who died in the War. Gifts made as living memorials to these war dead by their parents and friends will be appropriately commemorated in the building and will be added to the endowment. Goal for the initial endowment to be obtained by the close of the Greater Cornell Fund campaign, June 30, is $500,000.

"We believe," says the War Memorial booklet, "it is the will of the friends of youth and of Cornell that the tried and true experiment in cooperative religious work pioneered on this Campus be continued with increasing vigor and success. We further believe that there can be no more fitting memorial for Cornell's honored dead than a fund to support these future efforts to foster freedom, tolerance, and peace in a troubled world."

Both booklets were written by Raymond F. Howes '24, Secretary of the University. They may be obtained from the office of Asa S. Knowles, Vice President for University Development, Administration Building, Ithaca.

Campus Groups Elect

Cornell Daily Sun, Willard Straight Hall, Cornell United Religious Work, and Women's Self-government Association have chosen officers for the academic year 1950-51.

New editor-in-chief of the Sun is Charles D. Graham, Jr. '51 of Dayton, Ohio. A member of Theta Xi, he has been active on the Sun news board, Desk Book, and Engineering Council. Business manager is Noah E. Franklin '51 of Lexington, Ill.; managing editor, Thompson B. McCune '51, son of Joseph C. McCune '11 of Edgewood, Pa.; associate editor, George D. Hano '51 of Granby, Mass. Other new staff heads are women's editor, Jane M. Haskins '51, daughter of Stuart C. Haskins '25 and Mrs. Haskins (Margaret Pritchard) '25 of Worcester, Mass.; circulation manager, William E. Phillips '51 of Chicago, Ill.; advertising manager, John G. Sherwood '51 of Palo Alto, Cal.; and women's business manager, Mary Ann Doutrich '51 of Harrisburg, Pa.

Willard Straight Hall president is Kenneth S. Jaffe '51 of Washington, D. C. He is a member of Pi Lambda Phi, was business manager of the Octagon Club, chairman of the Fall Week End committee in 1949, and was co-chairman of the Willard Straight Hall social committee. Other Juniors on the board of managers are Doris A. Baird of Suffern; Bruce Gray, Jr. of South Portland, Me.; Nancy A. Koehler of Pittsburgh, Pa.; Della B. Krause, daughter of Rudolph E. Krause '24 of Lake Charles, La.; Russell Ross of Jacksonville, Fla.; and Winifred A. Ruskin of Irvington, N. J. Members also are James N. Diefenderfer '52 of Bethlehem, Pa., and John E. Rupert '49 of Lakewood, Ohio, who is in The Law School.

Keith M. Seegmiller '51 of Washington, D. C., heads the student board of CURW for next year. Member of Delta Phi, he was a Freshman Camp counsellor, has been circulation manager of the Widow and a member of the Student Council. Vice-presidents are Katherine S. Kirk '51 of Webster Groves, Mo., and Mary J. Thoman '51 of Warren, Ohio.

Anabel Taylor Hall—To be erected for a Campus interfaith center to house CURW and World War II Memorial as a gift from Trustee Myron C. Taylor '94. It will rise on Central Avenue, near Myron Taylor Hall, which Taylor gave for the Law School.

Thomas H. Peterson '51 of Madison, Wis., is secretary.

New president of WSGA is Martha K. Palmer '51, daughter of James B. Palmer '21 and Mrs. Palmer (Martha Kinne) '24 of Newton, Mass. She is a member of Delta Delta Delta, Raven and Serpent, was vice-president of the Student Council and Freshman Class president. First vice-president is Marcella W. Norgore '51, daughter of Mrs. Martin Norgore (Elizabeth Stow) '27 of Seattle, Wash. Second vice-president is Joan M. Hartford '51 of Schenectady. Secretary is Jane E. Eagle '51 of Buffalo. Treasurer is Constance M. Pirnie '51, daughter of James A. Pirnie '24 of Exeter, N. H.

The Cornell Plantations

In the Spring number of The Cornell Plantations, Professor Ralph W. Curtis '01, Ornamental Horticulture, Emeritus, describes and recommends "Twenty-six Lilacs" for variety of color and continuous bloom. Frederick Houghton writes of the Houghton Preserve near Springville in "Bog Sequences" and Wilbur A. Maynard, Jr. '26 gives personal experiences as "The Tree Planter." Cover and an essay on "Early Leanings" are by the late Professor Walter King Stone, Architecture. Several contributions for the Cornell Plantations enterprise are acknowledged in this issue.

"The Play's The Thing"

Laboratory Players of the University Theatre scored a hit with their production of "The Play's The Thing," a comedy by Hungary's best-known man of the theatre, Ferenc Molnar, April 20, 21, and 22, in the Willard Straight Theater. The cast, mostly graduate students, was from a Speech and Drama course of Professor H. Darkes Albright, PhD '36, who directed the play.

The players, without exception, turned in good performances, and two, Frederick J. Titcomb as the butler and Edwin R. Hansen as the actor Almady, interpreted their roles excellently. Roderic B. MacDonald '49 took the leading part of the playwright Turai; William D. Hammack, his partner Mansky; Sidney L. Adam, Turai's protegee; and Munroe Scott, the secretary-factotum. The only undergraduate in the cast (and she stood up competently among the graduate actors) was Marion C. Danzig '51 ("Mimi" according to the program), daughter of Allison Danzig '21, as the young composer's fiancée.

A staging crew of thirty-three, under the direction of Robert F. Gatje '51, did a fine job of creating a room in a castle on the Italian Riviera. The draperies and servants' costumes were gifts to the Theatre from Andrew D. White and came from the American Embassy in Berlin.

Now, In My Time!

By Cornelius Perry

In Behind the Ivy, a forthcoming work noticed in the advertising columns of this issue, it is the index that gives pause. For it is the index that brings home the realization that in the body of the book there are mentioned, casually and without identification, scores of persons who only yesterday were as much a part of the Ithaca landscape as the Clock Tower and whose names would be wholly meaningless today to all save the older group of Campus dwellers. The mention of Eb Treman, The Mogue, Mrs. Henry Shaler Williams, or Piute Jones would awaken no associative vibration in any youthful brain. References to Pukey Pew, Officer Shannon, and Eschenberg the barber would draw no more than a blank look to the face of the Assistant Professor of American History.

Not that it matters much! These deficiencies are likely to be supplied in the annotated edition of the work that will appear in the fullness of time. Scholarly research has occupied itself for a century and a half in digging out information about obscure persons whose names survive only because Doctor Johnson happened to speak to them, or of them, in the presence of James Boswell. And what is historical scholarship for if it isn't to go back, search out dusty incunabula and the yellow files of the Ithaca Journal, and come up with learned monographs which will reveal to posterity the significance to the Ithaca scene of Husky Henry, Senator Murphy, Louis Bement, and Goldy, the tailor? Bring on your eager candidates for the degree of Pee Aitch Dee!

There may seem a certain amount of pert assurance in your correspondent's assumption that Behind the Ivy will survive the generation that saw its appearance. But we're trying to look at this thing with impersonal detachment. Why shouldn't it survive by reason of the characters and historical episodes with which it deals, irrespective of its structural defects? For a parallel, imagine a series of eye-witness reports made by a resident of Williamsburg, Va., on what was going on in that village and in the College of William and Mary in the half-century which saw the end of the old French Wars, the Revolution, the nearby siege of Yorktown, the Constitutional Convention, and the birth of the United States. Brave times and great events in which members of his college took worthy parts and through which the faculty and villagers were put to it to keep the institution going and the home fires burning! Such a book, whatever its original reception, would surely be studied now by historians with much collateral research expended on the Williamsburg counterparts of Eb Treman, Officer Shannon, and Jack Burns.

Nor would interest in such a book, a hundred and fifty years after its appearance, be limited to residents of Tidewater Virginia or to members of the College of William and Mary. Professors, students, alumni, and college-town characters are all of one species and, in essential matters, run true to type in all foundations. Therefore, in time, the Williamsburg opus would come to be regarded as a local record only in the sense that Moby Dick is a technical treatise on whaling and Thoreau's Walden is a guide to camping.

Most of the reports, reminiscences, and comments which make up the considerable bulk of Behind the Ivy have appeared in the Cornell Alumni News in the thirty years that your correspondent has been permitted to say his say in that amiable publication. Now, by condensation, alteration, and chapter arrangement, the items have been given a unity and coherence they did not possess as fugitive sketches. When the references to them first appeared, many of the characters mentioned still walked the streets and figured in the daily speech of the community; now, even a casual allusion to Charles E. Courtney would require amplification.

But it's better to let matters rest as they are, leaving the situation to develop under the hands of subsequent investigators hot to write scholarly footnotes. And one may be permitted to fan the spark of hope that there may some day emerge a supplementary work that will do for Piute Jones, Pukey Pew, Eschenberg the barber, and Mrs. Henry Shaler Williams what Professor Frederick M. Smith in his charming "Some Friends of Doctor Johnson" has done for Topham Beauclerk, Lady Craven, Mrs. Abington, and other eighteenth-century persons who are passed over all too lightly in the pages of James Boswell.

First Loss at Baseball

The baseball team went on the road for the first time, April 21, and came back with a 3-2 win over Fordham and a 5-3 victory over Pennsylvania. The latter game, the first League contest for Cornell, went fourteen innings. Against Fordham, Cornell committed eight errors, but these did not phase pitcher Albert C. Neimeth '50, who hurled a steady five-hitter. Lead-off man Richard C. Corwith '50, Robert B. Rider '50, and William F. Scazzero '51 each got two hits.

At the end of the regulation nine innings against Pennsylvania, the score was tied at 2-all. In the first half of the twelfth inning, Robert J. Haley '51 pounded out a home run with Corwith on base, for two runs and apparently the ball game. Pennsylvania, however, picked up two runs in their half of the inning when Bagnell smacked a four-bagger with a mate aboard, to tie it up again. In the top of the fourteenth, Hugh S. MacNeil '51 delivered a single to score Haley, who had also singled. Rider, who had singled behind Haley, was squeezed home by Scazzero to clinch the game for Cornell. Edward P. Winnick '51 pitched for Cornell the first twelve innings, and was relieved by Paul J. Gerwin '51 who got credit for the win. Cornell hitters, who pounded out twelve runs, were led by Hale who got three in five tries.

Back on Hoy Field April 26, the Varsity made it four in a row with a 7-2 win over Rochester. Gerwin, working the first five innings, got credit for the victory, his third this year. Cornell clinched the game with a 4-run rally in the fifth. Rider drove in three runs with a double and two singles in four trips to the plate.

Cornell defeated Harvard, 4-2, at Cambridge, April 28, for the second League victory. Winnick held the mound for the entire game, allowing seven hits. Four were doubles and one was a home run, but "Big Ed" was effective when the going was tough. MacNeil drove in two of the Cornell runs with a pair of singles; Roger W. Chadwick '52 and Rider were responsible for the other two. Cornell played an errorless game, to help Winnick chalk up his first win of the year. A League game scheduled with Brown at Providence for Saturday, April 30, was postponed until Monday because of rain but then was cancelled entirely when rain again interfered.

Cornell's string of five straight wins was snapped on Hoy Field, May 3, by Syracuse with a 5-2 count. The visitors clinched the well-played game with a 3-run rally in the eighth. Cornell threatened repeatedly, but every time a man got on base the Syracuse pitcher, Paul Royer, was equal to the situation; eight Cornellians were left stranded on the bases. Besides a good pitching job, Royer turned in a sensational fielding performance, starting one double play and having eight assists. Neimeth was the losing pitcher. He and Rider had two hits each.

Freshmen Beat Syracuse

After being overwhelmed in their first two starts, 11-0 by Ithaca College, April 22, and 8-0 by Colgate, April 29, on Hoy Field, the Freshman baseball team staged an about-face at Syracuse, May 3, to defeat the home first-year team, 11-3. Norman Lookner of Boston, Mass., pitching for Cornell, allowed only five hits.

Tennis Continues Wins

The tennis team made its season's record seven wins to one loss by defeating Navy, Syracuse, Colgate, and Army. The score of the meet at the US Naval Academy, April 22, was 7-2, with Cornell losing only the No. 6 singles match and the No. 3 doubles. April 28, Cornell took the measure of Syracuse on the Cascadilla courts, 7-2. The next day, in Ithaca, Colgate fell, suffering a 9-0 whitewash. The Army was defeated, 8-1, at West Point, May 1, where the matches were played indoors because of inclement weather. The Cornell aces, Richard Savitt '50 and Captain Leonard L. Steiner '50, remain undefeated. Steiner has not been defeated in the last two seasons and Savitt has dropped only one match, last year to Oliver of Army.

Track Team Does Well

The track team put on a good show for its followers at the Pennsylvania Relay games in Philadelphia, Pa., April 28 and 29, by capturing one first, three second places, two thirds, two fourths, and two fifths. Charles H. Moore, Jr. '51 was the blue-ribbon winner with a record breaking 51.5 seconds victory in the 400-meter hurdles. This mark has been bettered on this continent only by Moore himself when he did 51.1 in Fresno, Cal., last summer. Meredith C. Gourdine '52 was second and Harry B. Coyle, Jr. '52, fifth. Gourdine was fourth in the 100-yard dash and Walter S. Ashbaugh '51 and Coyle took third and fourth, respectively, in the invitational high hurdles. Eugene A. Zeiner '52 took third place in the pole vault with 13 feet. In the 480-yard shuttle hurdle relay, the Cornell team, composed of Coyle, Ashbaugh, Captain Robert G. Hunt '50, and John W. Laibe '50, was nosed out at the tape by North Carolina. The 880-yard relay was even closer, Gourdine losing by an inch to the NYU anchor man, Kaplan. It was so close that both teams were clocked in 1:27.3. Others running for Cornell in this event were Moore, Hunt, and Frank M. Miller '51.

Two Crews Win

Cornell Varsity and Junior Varsity crews won the first and only heavyweight regatta on Cayuga Lake this season, rowing the mile-and-five-sixteenths course along the west shore ending off the Ithaca Yacht Club dock at Glenwood, to defeat Syracuse and Boston University. The Freshmen took second place behind Boston. The Lake was smooth and rowing conditions were ideal and the races attracted a large number of Cornell Day guests and others.

Rowing in a new shell, as yet unchristened the "Edmund E. Day," the Varsity crew got off to a quick half-length lead and, rowing at 34 strokes a minute, led Syracuse by a length at the mile. Boston challenged then and Syracuse upped its beat to 37, as did Cornell, to cross the finish line in 10:41.4, three-quarters of a length ahead of Syracuse, which led Boston by three lengths.

The Junior Varsity crew rowed the distance at 34 strokes a minute in 10:42, to finish four-and-a-half lengths ahead of Boston, which led Syracuse by three-quarters of a length.

The Freshman boat battled the Boston yearlings, who had beaten Harvard and MIT the week before, for a half-mile; then went ahead for almost a mile, but somewhat erratic steering could not be overcome by a 38 beat in the stretch. So Boston, pulling steadily at 35, finished a length-and-a-quarter ahead, in 10:47.8. Syracuse was eight lengths astern of Cornell.

Football Prospects Good

Spring football practice came to an end, April 29, with the annual Red-White squad game on Schoellkopf Field. The Whites, coached for this game by Harold F. McCullough '41, defeated Robert L. Cullen's Reds for the second straight year; the score, 39-33. It was a hard-played, bruising conflict in which the offensive work of both squads was outstanding. For the White team, the quarterbacking and passing of last fall's Freshman field general, John E. Jaeckel '53, and the broken-field running of Stuart O. Merz '52, son of Harold O. Merz '22, was most effective. Merz, who was injured for most of last year, scored two touchdowns, both on seventy-yard runs. Jaeckel completed nine of fifteen passes tried. Robert G. Engel '53 tallied twice and Russel P. Zechman '53 and John G. Dorrance '52 were responsible for the other White scores.

Ends Richard T. Cliggott '53 and Victor A. Pujo '52 crossed the goal line twice for the Red team and Harvey E. Sampson '51, Varsity end last fall, went over for the final tally. Signals were called by Robert Malm '52, and he completed seventeen of twenty-five passes tried.

Three Freshmen showed special promise in the line: Charles K. P. Fratt, son of Norbert O. Fratt '27, and James D. Quinby, son of Carleton B. Quinby '23, guards; and James W. Beisheim, tackle.

Five good Varsity backs of last year were not in this game. Jeffery R. Fleischmann '51, son of Julian R. Fleischmann '24, broke his leg two weeks earlier; Frank M. Miller '51 is on the track team; Robert J. Haley '51 is playing baseball; Lyndon C. Hull '51, son of William C. Hull '22, is catching up on academic work; and Rocco J. Calvo '52 has been kept out of contact scrimmage because of a knee operation last winter.

Lacrosse Team Loses Two

The lacrosse team suffered defeats by the US Military Academy, April 22 at West Point, by a score of 19-6, and to Union, 8-7, April 29. After holding the Army to 2 goals in the first quarter and scoring once themselves, Cornell gave up 13 goals in the next two periods. Two more in the last completed the Army scoring. Thomas O. Nuttle '51 made 3 goals for Cornell, and ten Army players scored.

The battle with Union was a ding-dong affair all the way. Edward J. Rock '50 led the Cornell attack with 3 unassisted goals, and Nuttle hit the nets twice.

Golfers Lose and Win

The golf team suffered its first defeat, April 26, losing to Colgate on the University course, 6-3. Captain George P. Smith '50 shot a par to lead his team. Cornell got back on the winning side by blanking Bucknell, 9-0, April 29, and outshooting Syracuse, 4-3, May 3, in Ithaca. In the latter match, Robert J. Speer '50, playing No. 7, was medalist with a 77. John W. Bacon '50, Carl W. Foss, Jr. '50, and L. William Kay '51 also won points for Cornell.

The Freshman golf team, playing its first match of the season May 3, also defeated Syracuse, 4-3, on the University course.

Sports Shorts

The polo team defeated an alumni team, 17-16, in a hard-fought game in the Riding Hall, April 22. Captain Willard I. Emerson '51 scored 10 goals for the Varsity and Charles P. Gandal '48, last year's captain now a Junior in the Veterinary College, knocked in 7 for the alumni. The next Saturday, Cornell defeated the Ramapo Ramblers, 22-20 in the Riding Hall. Cornell was given 9 goals, Parsells of Ramapo having an 8-goal handicap.

Peter J. Bolanis '51 has been chosen captain of the 1950-51 wrestling team. He succeeds Robert S. Stedje '50, who, as toastmaster at the annual squad dinner, presented a travelling bag to Coach Erie J. Miller, Jr. '44.

Bernard S. Babula '50, Cornell's best ground gainer last year, has signed to play professional football next fall with the Baltimore Colts.

Frank McArthur '47 is playing baseball with Sioux City in the Class A Western League. He is under contract to the New York Giants. As a V-12 Navy student, he won the "C" in 1944 and was a Varsity outfielder and a leading hitter in 1946 and 1947, receiving the AB in February, 1948.

An attack of appendicitis and two breakdowns knocked Corinthian Yacht Club sailors out of the running for the America Trophy at Kings Point, April 22. April 29, the Cornellians finished tenth in a field of thirteen in races held on the windless and rain-drenched Severn River, off Annapolis, Md. George Washington was the winner.

Richard W. Johnston '41, sports editor of the Buffalo Evening News, had an interesting story, April 22, with a picture of Walter S. Merwin '35, J. Hamilton Hucker '37, and Walter W. Zittel, Jr. '40, former track captains at Bennett High School in Buffalo, who were to attend the annual "Block B" dinner of the School, April 26. Varsity track coach Louis C. Montgomery had coached all three at Bennett and was also invited to the dinner. Johnston pointed out that all three became captains of Cornell track teams, each became an Ivy League champion hurdler, each won points in an ICAAAA meet, and each went to England with a Cornell-Princeton team to compete against Oxford and Cambridge. The three Cornellians lived on the same block in Buffalo, Johnston says. Merwin went to high school first and Montgomery interested him in hurdling. Hucker had an electric saw in his basement, so he made some hurdles and they practiced in the street. Zittel came around and when they couldn't get rid of him they taught him to hurdle. . . .

Women athletes had their day, April 22, when Cornell was host to visitors from University of Rochester, Keuka College, Cortland State Teachers College, Wells, Elmira, William Smith, Syracuse, and St. Lawrence. Cornell women won in badminton and rifle shooting, but were defeated in fencing and basketball.

Dance Club group of twenty presented a program to an audience of about 600 in the Monroe High School auditorium in Rochester, April 22. The concert was sponsored by the Cornell Women's Club of Rochester for its scholarship fund, which netted about $150.

Mrs. Day Christens a Winner—This year's new Pocock shell was formally christened the "Edmund Ezra Day" on the Boathouse float at the Inlet, May 4, after it had won the Varsity race the previous Saturday. Coxswain Edward B. McGee '50 of Kenmore holds a hammer over the fragile bow for Mrs. Day to break a bottle of Cayuga Lake water, while the former President and Chancellor and Coach R. Harrison Sanford look on. Proudly handling the new shell are the members of the Varsity crew: from the stern, at left, Commodore Howard M. Smith '50 of Utica, stroke; at No. 7, John M. Ash IV '52 of Philadelphia, Pa.; No. 6, Melvin G. Harvey '52 of Newburgh; No. 5, John W. Morgan '52 of Linwood; No. 4, John W. Moyer '52 of Lyons Falls; No. 3, Donald C. Irving '52 of Port Washington; No. 2, William R. Hamilton, Jr. '51 of Little Falls; and bow oar, Frederick Sauer '50 of Brooklyn.

Grasses and Books

By PROFESSOR ROBERT T. CLAUSEN '33, Botany

More than 300,000 species of plants are known to botanists. Each of these species has one correct name, usually the earliest that has been applied to it. In order to determine the first name for each species and to check on its proper interpretation, the botanical literature of past centuries must be investigated. Much of this literature is written in Latin and many of the works are both rare and expensive. Only a few of the large universities and botanical institutions in America are blessed with large accumulations of old botanical books. Cornell is in this group.

Get Important Austrian Work

Although the botanical books are dispersed in several libraries on the Campus, perhaps the greatest number of the rare old tomes on plants is in the University Library. A recent addition to the collection there is a work by Nicolaus Thomas Host, "Icones et Descriptiones Graminum Austriacorum." This was published in 1801 and comprises four folio volumes. The 400 illustrations are hand-colored. They are both beautiful and scientifically useful, for details of floral structure are carefully depicted. Host, as so many of the early botanists, was a doctor of medicine. He was royal physician in Vienna. This occupation did not prevent, but instead seemed to facilitate his studies of the Austrian flora. He was born in Fiume in 1761 and died at Schonbrunn in 1834. Besides the work on grasses, he published in 1797 a synopsis of the plants of Austria, in 1827 a flora of Austria, and in 1831 a small volume on willows.

Many of the most important grains and forage grasses grown in America are of European or Asiatic origin. For that reason, works on European grasses are of more than slight interest to American agrostologists. In addition, some of the species found naturally in America have wide distributions and are also known from Eurasia. Accordingly, problems in classification of such species on both continents are similar.

Host, in the work recently acquired by the Cornell University Library, proposed as new to science no less than sixty species and at least two genera. His interpretation of "gramen" was broad, really grass-like plants, for he described and illustrated not only grasses, but also sedges and rushes. Of the many species that he described as new, few have stood the test of time. These few are the primary reason for the value of his work, because his published descriptions and plates of these are the basis for correct interpretation of those species. The other names, supposed by Host to apply to undescribed species, have by subsequent authors been assigned to synonymy under names previously published by other botanists for the same species. Needless to remark, such assignment cannot be made accurately without careful study of Host's publication. Since such evaluation is a continuing process, botanical scholars at Cornell now will be aided by the acquisition of the four big volumes on the Austrian grasses.

Trustees Elect Scheetz '16

To fill the vacancy which has existed since the resignation last year of Frank E. Gannett '98, who is now Trustee Emeritus, the Board of Trustees April 22 elected Francis H. Scheetz '16 to serve Gannett's unexpired term, to June 30, 1953.

Scheetz is a member of the law firm of Evans, Bayard & Frick in Philadelphia, Pa., of which Benjamin O. Frick '02 is a partner. He has been chairman of the Class of '16 fiscal committee which since 1941 has raised a fund of more than $75,000 toward endowing a Class of 1916 professorship. In 1946, he became chairman of the alumni committee on bequests and annuities, and since the organization of the Greater Cornell Committee in 1948, Scheetz has been its vice-president and chairman of the annuities and bequests section and ex-officio a member of the Alumni Fund executive committee. He is a member of the administrative group of the Greater Cornell Committee and of its interim committee; drafted the plan of organization of the Greater Cornell Committee and the present articles of association of the Alumni Fund Council, and is chairman of a special committee which has revised the by-laws of the Cornell Alumni Association. In 1946, Scheetz and his sister, Mrs. Sara Scheetz Quillman, established the Charles J. Quillman, Jr., Fellowship Endowment in the School of Nutrition for basic research in biochemistry and biophysics, which now exceeds $17,000. It is a memorial to Mrs. Quillman's son who died in World War II.

Scheetz entered Arts and Sciences in 1912 from the Norristown, Pa., High School, received the AB in three years and the BChem in 1916, and remained in the Graduate School until he went to France with the American Field Service in June, 1917. He transferred to the American Army and became a captain in the Chemical Warfare Service, then went to Harvard and received the LLB there in 1921. He was chairman of his Senior Class pledge committee for the Alumni Fund, manager of Freshman football, and a member of the Mandolin Club; is a member of Theta Delta Chi. He and Mrs. Scheetz came to Summer School in 1947 and 1948, he to take courses in the School of Industrial and Labor Relations and in Public Speaking and English composition.

Program for Security

Security for the People: Ways of Maintaining Full Employment and High Farm Income. By Roland W. Bartlett '22. Garrard Press, Champaign, Ill. 1949. 303 pages, $4.

World peace and security for the people can be obtained if American leadership adjusts our economy so that continued depressions will be eliminated, helps put nations who want our help back on their feet, and maintains a strong military force to insure respect from the rest of the world. With this as his theme, the author, professor of agricultural economics at the University of Illinois, outlines a program for American leaders in urban industry, labor, and agriculture to follow in order to accomplish the first goal, that of economic security for the people.

He places the lion's share of the responsibility on the "large-scale, controlled industries," whose failure to reduce prices and maintain employment was one of the primary causes of our economic troubles in the 1930's, he charges. In addition to a program of reducing prices and maintaining high industrial production, he includes in his plan for security steps for the prevention of monopolies and encouragement of constructive competition; the expansion of free enterprise cooperatives, chain stores, and self-liquidating municipal or regional government-operated businesses to compete vigorously with independent private businesses; and a plan for guaranteeing fifty-two pay checks a year to wage earners. An appendix of 145 pages contains articles by economists, Henry Ford II, Fowler McCormick, and others; and extracts from legislative reports.

Compile Herb Chart

An attractive wall chart of Herb Seasonings, eighteen by twelve-and-a-half inches, printed in colors and suitable for framing, is the work of Professors Helen J. Cady and Myrtle H. Ericson, Home Economics. Thirteen commonly-used herbs are tabulated, with suggested uses for each to flavor various dishes, such as appetizers, soups, meats, vegetables, salads, sauces, and desserts. Priced at $1, the chart may be obtained from Cady-Ericson Co., Box 130, Ithaca, and is also on sale at Macy's, New York City; Wanamaker's, Philadelphia, Pa.; and Marshall-Field Co., Chicago, Ill.

Bequest Aids Department

Memorial lectures named for the late Grace H. Griswold '18 were initiated in Comstock Hall, April 24, 25, and 26 by Curtis P. Clausen, who is in charge of foreign parasite introduction in the Bureau of Entomology and Plant Quarantine, US Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C. He spoke on "History, Practices, and Accomplishments in Biological Control." Griswold Lectures are being continued this month by R. E. Snodgrass, now retired from the Bureau of Entomology, who is a leading insect anatomist.

Miss Griswold, who died in Ithaca January 23, 1946, left a bequest to the University of some $26,600 with provision that the income be used for the benefit of the Department of Entomology. She had been a member of the Department from 1922 until she retired in 1943; was a member of Sigma Xi and Sigma Delta Epsilon. The Griswold Lectures are the first use of her bequest. It will also finance publications from the Department, including these lectures, and may be used also for needed scientific equipment and other purposes.

Cornell Day Brings 220 School Boys Invited By Clubs to See University

Alumni "chauffeurs" from twenty-eight Cornell Clubs brought 220 juniors from secondary schools in their areas to see the University at Cornell Day, April 29. Driving their own cars loaded with boys who had been invited by the respective Clubs to attend the first Cornell Day since 1942, they began to arrive at Willard Straight Hall Friday afternoon, April 28. Here all were registered and the boys taken in charge by members of fifty-one fraternities where each had been assigned for room and meals and special entertainment.

Get Round of Entertainment

They continued to come in Saturday morning, and the boys were conducted on tours of the Campus and to visit the various Colleges in which they were interested. Conferences were arranged with Faculty members in the Colleges and 150 exhibits and displays of Engineers Day, arranged by the Engineering Council in four Schools of the College and at Newman Laboratory of Nuclear Studies, attracted many. The boys enjoyed the intrasquad football game which ended spring practice, a Freshman baseball game with Colgate, and other athletic events, including crew races on the Lake.

After dinner at the fraternity houses, they all went to Bailey Hall for a Cornell Day Rally. With James D. Hazzard '50 as master of ceremonies, they were welcomed to Cornell by Acting President Cornelis W. de Kiewiet and entertained by the Big Red Band and cheerleaders, the Glee Club and its Cayuga Waiters, and by David P. Guest '53 and Stuart Raynolds '50. To close the evening, the Band and cheerleaders led a parade to an open house at Willard Straight Hall, where the prospective Freshmen were further entertained by students and shown football movies.

Alumni Have Own Program

Alumni who brought the boys also enjoyed Engineers Day, the athletic events, and the Rally. They were guests at luncheon Saturday at Willard Straight Hall with members of the Faculty, where George Munsick '21, chairman of the Alumni Association secondary schools committee, introduced President de Kiewiet, who thanked them for their interest in the University. Before dinner, alumni gathered again at President de Kiewiet's home, and after the Rally went to the Johnny Parson Club for a smoker and get-together arranged by the Cornell Club of Ithaca.

In general charge of Cornell Day arrangements were R. Selden Brewer '40, Alumni Field Secretary, and Robert W. Storandt '40, Assistant Director of Admissions and secretary of the secondary schools committee. Student chairman, appointed by the Interfraternity Council, was Kenneth W. Tunnell '52. Alumni "chauffeurs" and chairman of Club secondary schools committees (often the same person) who brought boys to Ithaca and made arrangement in the Clubs are listed on page 422.

Cornell Day Guests Register—High school juniors brought from the Cornell Club of the Lehigh Valley, Pa., just arrived, are given name-buttons and assigned to their fraternity hosts at the registration table in Willard Straight Hall.

Engineers' Day Draws Crowd

Engineers' Day, arranged by the Student Council of the College the afternoon and evening of April 29, drew 3300 visitors, including boys here for Cornell Day, to its 150 exhibits and demonstrations. Student guides were on hand in all the buildings of the College and at Floyd Newman Laboratory of Nuclear Studies, "to acquaint the general public with the projects, processes, and machines used in the various Schools of the College of Engineering."

A prize given by the Cornell Society of Engineers for the best exhibit was awarded to a work-place layout in Mechanical Engineering, with honorable mentions to a Mechanical Engineering, ram-jet exhibit and a Civil Engineering demonstration of soil mechanics. Chairman of arrangements was Alfred Blumstein '50, president of the Engineering Student Council.

Students Elect To Council

Student Council elections, April 26, brought 2973 ballots for members-at-large, the largest vote polled in recent years. Tents were set up in front of Sibley, Goldwin Smith Hall, and on the Agriculture Quadrangle, and booths were opened also in Willard Straight Hall, Martha Van Rensselaer Hall, Baker Cafeteria, and in the Dairy Building lunchroom. Each voter had to present his University registration certificate, and Seniors were allowed to vote. Men of the other Classes also elected their Class officers and members of Class Councils for next year. The Sun the day before published a two-page spread of the pictures and brief platforms of the forty-six men and three women who were candidates.

Elected members-at-large for next year, in order of the votes they received, are Jack R. Vinson '51, Sally E. Williamson '51, Robert C. Mealey '51, Harry B. Coyle, Jr. '52, John C. Lankenau '52, Evan B. Hazard '51, Derl I. Derr '51, William A. Ispirian '52, and William W. Bulger '51.

Also members of the Student Council will be Water S. Ashbaugh, Jr. and James B. Stocker, president and secretary of the Class of '51; Walter A. Harrison and Roger W. Chadwick, Class of '52; and Joseph Hinsey and Gordon B. Lankton, Class of '53.

At later Class meetings, undergraduate women re-elected Charlotte E. Williams president of the Class of '51 and elected Fraeda P. Aronovitz president of '52 and Nancy B. Helm to head the Class of '53.

Cornell Daily Sun, May 6, signalized the dedication of Statler Hall with a twenty-four-page supplement, featuring an inside spread of pictures taken in the building, a summary of "Fifty Years of Expansion: 1900-1950" by Emerson Hinchliff '14, many historical pictures, news items quoted from the Alumni News and Sun through the years, and articles on Hotel Administration. It was generously packed with advertising.

Kappa Sigma won the annual Interfraternity Council song contest, having survived eliminations that began early in April, with twenty-six houses entered. The finals, between the winners, Phi Kappa Sigma, and Sigma Phi, were in Bailey Hall at the final meeting of the Interfraternity Council "Work Week." Four days earlier, Sigma Alpha Epsilon singers won a contest for "barber-shop quartets" sponsored by Willard Straight Hall. Head judge was Harry B. Morey, Ithaca barber and member of the SPEBQSA.

Seniors in Architecture chose Robert G. Neiley to represent the Class at the annual meeting of the American Institute of Architects in Washington, D.C., May 8-10. The Central New York Chapter of the AIA made a grant to the College to send a Senior.

School of Business and Public Administration was admitted to membership in the American Association of Collegiate Schools of Business at the Association's thirty-second annual meeting in Cincinnati, Ohio, April 29.

Young Republican Clubs speaker on a cross country tour starting in Long Beach, Cal., May 23, is Alexander M. Lankler, a second-year student in the Law School. He is director of youth activities for the New York State Republican Committee; came to the Law School from Hamilton College, where he received the AB in 1948.

Mademoiselle for May, in an article on "Women and Rockets," lists Janice Button of East Lansing, Mich., Freshman in Engineering Physics, as one of six women college students in the country who are studying rockets. Miss Button is the only woman member of the Cornell Rocket Society and its publicity chairman.

Tompkins County gave $29,296.25 to the Red Cross in this year's campaign, headed by Colonel Ralph Hospital, Commandant of the ROTC. Largest return, of $5,432.95 came from the University division, of which Lieutenant Colonel Philip B. Stiness was in charge. Ithaca business men, who were solicited under Paul Gillette '19, gave $5,029.70; and students in the University gave $834.49. Henry L. Rather '52 has been elected president of the Campus unit, succeeding Constance P. Naegely '50.

Myron Taylor Lecturer on International Affairs, April 27, was Dean Rusk, recently appointed US Assistant Secretary of State for Far Eastern Affairs. He spoke on "Public Opinion and Parliamentary Diplomacy" to an audience that about half-filled the moot court room in Myron Taylor Hall.

John W. Dunn '52, drum major of the Big Red Band this year, has been elected its student director and Americo E. Capucci '53 is promoted from assistant to head drum major.

Third annual Sophomore Class concert for the benefit of the Music Department was given in Bailey Hall, April 21, by the Men's Glee Club, Sage Chapel Choir, and the University Orchestra. Featured was a performance of four hands on one piano by Professors John Kirkpatrick and William W. Austin, Music, of Darius Milhaud's "Le Bouef sur le Toit."

Mrs. Fanny Ogden Smith, known to thirty years of Widow boards as "Smitty" until she retired from the Widow office in 1943, died May 2 at her home in Trumansburg. Her sister is Isabelle Ogden, who runs The Cornellian office at 209 East State Street in Ithaca.

Forbes Heermans Awards for the best one-act plays on an American theme went this year, first of $100 to Anthony G. Dower '53 for "A Man's Duty," and second of $50 to Shelley B. Tartaro '51 for "The False Teeth." The awards were endowed by the late Forbes Heermans '78.

COVER PICTURE shows this year's contest staged by the Octagon Club to select a "Campus Apollo," promoting the Club's Spring Day show. Ten fraternities originally entered their favorite sons, to ride down Central Avenue on elaborate floats and appear on the Willard Straight terrace to be interviewed by the master of ceremonies, Howard C. Heinsius '50. But rain interrupted the show after five had appeared, and the contest was first postponed, then called off. Our picture shows the Theta Delta Chi entrant, "Hector the Golden Fleecer," in the person of E. Whitney Mitchell '52, after he and his Greek warriors and maidens had debarked from a mammoth wooden horse drawn by fraternity "slaves."

Interfraternity Council's second annual "Work Week," April 28-May 3, brought to the Campus for sparsely-attended lectures in Bailey Hall US Senators John W. Bricker and Joseph C. O'Mahoney and Judge Frank M. Meyers of the District of Columbia municipal court, former chairman of the national Interfraternity Conference. Discussion groups in the fraternity houses considered the general topic, "Fraternities: Right and Wrong," and were led by members of the Cornell Interfraternity Alumni Association and other visitors prominent in fraternity affairs. President Glenn W. Ferguson '50 of the Interfraternity Council summed it up as a wholesome self-appraisal by the fraternities. Chairman of arrangements was Robert E. Vanderbeek '52.

"Uncle George" Livermore, oldest resident of Ithaca, founder of the Ithaca Gun Co., and father of Paul S. Livermore '97, died, May 5, at the age of 104.

Richard A. Mulligan '51, who won the '94 Memorial Debate this year, was elected "speaker of the Assembly" of twenty-six New York State colleges gathered for the annual student conference on public affairs in the Assembly chamber in Albany.

Varsity debaters won decisions over Rutgers and Syracuse to close the season. Upholding the affirmative against Rutgers of the question, "Resolved: That the United States should nationalize all basic non-agricultural industries," were Elaine R. Stern '53, Debate Association vice-president next year, and Constance A. Stanton '53, secretary. Stephen R. Kaye '52 is the new president. The Syracuse contest was a cross-examination debate of the Taft-Hartley Law. Cornell speakers were William J. VandenHeuvel '50 and Houston I. Flournoy '50.

Captain Irving T. Duke, USN, who was assigned to command the USS Missouri in April, is the father of Miss Terrill Duke, Sophomore in Arts and Sciences.

Rota, Law School society, brought to Ithaca for the first annual public lecture sponsored by the society Judge Samuel S. Liebowitz '15 of the Kings County Court. He spoke April 21 on "The Art of Cross-examination" in Myron Taylor Hall, and the next evening addressed the annual banquet of the Law Quarterly board. Walter J. Wiggins and Georgiana Koenig, Law School Juniors, have been elected vice-chancellor and recorder, respectively, of the national Rota society.

CORNELL ASSOCIATION OF CLASS SECRETARIES

Alumni Association Annual Meeting To Vote on Proposed New By-laws

New by-laws of the Cornell Alumni Association will be voted upon by members of the Association at its annual meeting during Class Reunions, June 10 at 10 a.m. in the auditorium of Statler Hall. All alumni are members of the Association.

The by-laws have been revised by a special committee appointed for that purpose last November. Francis H. Scheetz '16, chairman of the committee, explains that the principal change is the substitution of eight directors elected by the executive committees of the Federations of Cornell Men's and Women's Clubs instead of seven district directors formerly elected by members in their geographical district. They permit also the enlargement of the board of directors by allowing the board or its executive committee to elect not more than eight directors-at-large instead of the two previously provided for. Added also to the board of directors and executive committee is the chairman of a projected Cornell University Council which is being formed to aid in the development of the University.

With these changes, the new by-laws provide for substantially the same organization and functioning of the Alumni Association as was set up in the last major revision, by a committee headed by Phillips Wyman '17, adopted in June, 1944. Members of the present committee, besides Scheetz, are Elbert P. Tuttle '18, former Alumni Association president now Alumni Trustee, William Littlewood '20, George Munsick '21, General Alumni Secretary Emmet J. Murphy '22, and Mrs. Henry Gichner (Isabelle Saloman) '29. The committee has issued the following statement concerning its revision of the by-laws:

The revised by-laws set forth below are the product of a special study of the existing district directorship plan, and a comprehensive study by the special committee, assisted by the officers of various component Alumni Agencies.

The principal changes are the substitution of eight directors-at-large to be elected by the Federated Clubs, in lieu of the seven district directors now elected by regional elections and the changes in the composition of the Board of Directors and Executive Committee. The Revised By-laws provide that the Federation of Cornell Men's Clubs shall elect three directors-at-large and the Federation of Cornell Women's Clubs shall elect one director-at-large, annually, for two-year terms. The consensus of the Executive Committee and officers of the Alumni Agencies is that a more effective geographical representation on the Board of Directors will be obtained by this method. In addition, the Board of Directors or Executive Committee may appoint not exceeding eight directors-at-large, and by this means the Board will be in a position to obtain the services, of additional directors having special talents and interests, whenever needed.

The proposed change in the method of electing directors requires substantial changes in the text of the existing By-laws and it was decided to revise the entire By-laws in the interest of better correlation. The special committee believes that the changes made by these Revised By-laws will substantially aid the administrative work of the Association without departing from the philosophy of the existing By-laws.

Proposed New By-laws of the Cornell Alumni Association PREFACE

These By-laws are promulgated under the Membership Corporations Law of the State of New York and the Amended Certificate of Incorporation of the Cornell Alumni Association filed July 26, 1940, in the Office of the Secretary of State of New York, which states the purposes and power of the Association to be:

"To promote in every proper way the interests of Cornell University and to foster among the graduates a sentiment of regard for each other and attachment to their Alma Mater; and as a means to this end to publish an alumni magazine or periodical for the Alumni of Cornell; to serve as the general alumni association of Cornell University; to provide for a continuity of alumni activity and interest in the University; and so far as specialized alumni agencies authorize it to do so, to co-ordinate the activities of such agencies; and to do any and all proper things necessary or incidental to the realization of these stated purposes, including employment of help in the affairs of the corporation and the payment of their salaries and wages."

I. DEFINITIONS, INTERPRETATIONS

1. Definitions. The following definitions are adopted for the purpose of these By-laws:

(a) "Association" means the Cornell Alumni Association, a membership corporation of the State of New York.

(b) "Alumni Board" means the Board of Directors of the Association.

(c) "Alumni Fund" means the Cornell Alumni Fund Council, an association engaged in the promotion of annual giving of unrestricted funds for the support of Cornell University.

(d) "Alumni News" means the Cornell Alumni News, a periodical owned and published by the Association.

(e) "Alumni Secretary" means the General Alumni Secretary appointed by the Board of Trustees of Cornell University under the University By-laws and serving as such.

(f) "Alumni Trustees" means the Trustees of Cornell University elected by the alumni in accordance with the University By-laws and serving as such.

(g) "College Associations" means, collectively or severally as the context requires, the Alumni Associations of the Colleges and Schools of Cornell University in which degrees are awarded, and also such Alumni Associations of Departments thereof as may be found qualified by the Alumni Board pursuant to Article IV, Section 5.

(h) "University Council" means the Cornell University Council, an agency organized to aid in the development of Cornell University.

(i) "Directors-at-large" means directors of the Association elected by the Federated Clubs or the Alumni Board or Executive Committee of the Alumni Board pursuant to Article IV, Section 1, (c), (d), and (e).

(j) "Federated Clubs" means the Federation of Cornell Men's Clubs and the Federation of Cornell Women's Clubs or either of them, as the context requires.

(k) "Secretaries Association" means the Association of Class Secretaries of Cornell University.

(l) "University By-laws" means the By-laws of Cornell University in effect from time to time.

2. Interpretation. These By-laws shall be subject to and construed consistently with the Certificate of Incorporation of the Association as amended and the University By-laws.

II. PURPOSES

1. The purposes of the Association shall be as stated in the Certificate of Incorporation as amended. Subject thereto and to the other provisions of these By-laws, the Association shall provide and maintain the facilities and personnel necessary for carrying out such purposes.

III. MEMBERSHIP

1. The members of the Association shall be persons who, as former students at Cornell University, have qualified or hereafter shall qualify as a member of one of the following four groups: (a) graduates; (b) matriculates in the undergraduate Colleges and Schools whose entering Classes have graduated; (c) former candidates for advanced degrees; (d) Army and Navy personnel and civilians who, while engaged in full time resident war training programs, have taken courses which are acceptable for credit toward a degree and whose written requests for membership have been accepted by the Alumni Board.

IV. ALUMNI BOARD AND EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE

1. Alumni Board Membership. The Alumni Board shall consist of members of the Association who qualify as follows:

(a) Presidents of the Federated Clubs, College Associations, and Alumni Fund; chairman of the Publications Committee; chairman and vice-chairman of the Secondary Schools Committee; chairman of the University Council; and Alumni Secretary, each ex-officio.

(b) President of the Secretaries Association ex-officio, and one member of the Secretaries Association to be elected by it. If the president be a man, the elective member shall be a woman, or vice-versa.

(c) Six directors-at-large to be elected by the Executive Committee of the Men's Federated Clubs. The Men's Federated Clubs, in electing directors, shall endeavor to obtain geographical representation on a national basis insofar as available nominees will permit.

(d) Two directors-at-large to be elected by the Executive Committee of the Women's Federated Clubs.

(e) Such additional directors-at-large not exceeding eight, as may from time to time be elected by the affirmative vote of a majority, but not less than eight members, of the Alumni Board or the Executive Committee.

(f) Whenever the president or chairman of any Federated Clubs, any College Association, the Alumni Fund, or the Publications Committee, is absent from any meeting of the Alumni Board, the senior vice-president or vice-chairman of such organization may attend such meeting in the absentee's stead as a fully qualified director.

Each elector shall promptly advise the Secretary of the Association by written certificate of any election of directors by it. Whenever any elected director becomes a director ex-officio, such elective directorship shall automatically become vacant. Directors-at-large may not serve consecutively for more than two terms.

A quorum for the purpose of any meeting shall be a majority of the directors in office or eight directors, whichever the larger number.

2. Executive Committee. The Alumni Board shall have an Executive Committee consisting of directors who qualify as follows:

(a) President and vice-presidents of the Association; presidents of the Federated Clubs, Secretaries Association, and Alumni Fund; chairman of the Publications and Secondary Schools Committees; Alumni Secretary; and chairman of the University Council, each ex-officio.

(b) Two directors to be appointed by the Alumni Board.

(c) Whenever the president or chairman of any Federated Clubs, the Secretaries Association, Alumni Fund, Publications Committee, Secondary Schools Committee, or University Council, is absent from any meeting of the Executive Committee, the senior vice-president or vice-chairman of such organization may attend such meeting in the absentee's stead as a fully-qualified member of the Executive Committee. Whenever any appointed member becomes a member ex-officio, such appointive membership shall automatically become vacant.

A quorum for the purpose of any meeting shall be a majority of the members of the Executive Committee in office or eight members, whichever is the larger number.

3. Elections and Terms of Office. Prior to November 1, 1950, the Men's Federated Clubs shall elect six directors-at-large, and the Women's Federated Clubs shall elect two directors-at-large. The terms of half the directors so elected by each elector shall expire October 31, 1951, and the other half on October 31, 1952. After the year 1950, and prior to November 1 in each year, the Men's Federated Clubs shall elect three directors-at-large and the Women's Federated Clubs shall elect one director-at-large. Except as otherwise herein provided, the terms of such directors shall be two years; they shall commence November 1, and expire October 31 in the second year following the year of election. The Alumni Board or Executive Committee may elect directors-at-large electable by it at any meeting. The terms of such directors shall commence at such time as shall be specified at the time of election, but in no event shall run for more than two years from the October 31 next preceding the effective date of the election.

4. Eligibility of College Associations. The Alumni Board shall be the sole judge of the qualifications of any College Association under Article I (g). The Alumni Board may on application qualify as a College Association an Alumni Association of any Department of any College or School in Cornell University if (a) the alumni of such Department are not eligible for membership in the Alumni Association of any College or School, and (b) the Alumni Board finds that such Departmental Alumni Association is not adequately represented on the Alumni Board by any other College Association and otherwise has the qualifications of an enduring and representative College Association.

5. Vacancies. A vacancy in any directorship-at-large under Article IV, Section I, Clauses (c) or (d) shall be filled by the organization entitled to elect such director, but pending election, the Alumni Board or Executive Committee may make an interim appointment to fill the vacancy in the same manner as prescribed by Article IV, Section 1 (e). The Alumni Board may fill any vacancy in any directorship-at-large established under Article IV, Section I (e) or may terminate the vacated directorship.

6. Powers. The Alumni Board shall have general supervision and control of the Association, its affairs, funds and other property, except as otherwise expressly provided in these By-laws. The Executive Committee shall have and may exercise all the powers of the Alumni Board between the meetings thereof, subject to the established policies of the Alumni Board and these By-laws. Any grants of special powers to the Executive Committee contained in these By-laws are not intended to limit the general authority of the Executive Committee. The Alumni Board may delegate its authority to the extent that it deems appropriate to such committees as it may designate or constitute for the purpose, consistently with the functions of the committees prescribed by Article VI of these By-laws.

7. Meetings of Alumni Board. The Alumni Board shall hold two regular meetings in each year, one in the October-November period to be known as the autumn meeting and one in the May-June period to be known as the spring meeting. The Alumni Board or Executive Committee shall fix the time and place of the meetings. The president may call, and upon written request of any eight directors shall call, special meetings to be held at the times and places stated in the respective calls.

8. Meetings of Executive Committee. The Executive Committee shall hold such meetings between the regular meetings of the Alumni Board as are necessary for the proper conduct of the business of the Association. Meetings shall be held at such time and place as the Executive Committee may prescribe. The president may call, and upon written request of any five members shall call, meetings to be held at the times and places stated in the respective calls.

9. Notice of Meetings. Written notice of all meetings of the Alumni Board or Executive Committee shall be given to each member in advance of the meeting, unless notice is waived in writing by all members prior thereto, as follows: (a) 30 days for regular meetings and 15 days for special meetings of the Alumni Board; and (b) 10 days for all meetings of the Executive Committee. The notice of a special meeting of the Alumni Board shall include a statement of the business to be transacted. The notices of any meeting of the Executive Committee need not include a statement of the business to be transacted except in case of election of directors-at-large. Notice shall be sufficiently given if mailed to each member at the address thereof registered with the Secretary for such purpose or otherwise to the member's last known address.

10. Transaction of Business. Motions regularly made and seconded may be adopted by a majority vote of those present provided a quorum be present and except as otherwise provided in Article IV, Section 1 (e), regarding election of directors-at-large. Reports of committees shall be presented to the Alumni Board or Executive Committee at each regular meeting thereof and otherwise whenever requested.

V. OFFICERS

1. Enumeration and Eligibility. The officers shall be a president; a first vice-president and second vice-president, one of whom shall be a woman; and a secretary-treasurer. Only members of the Association shall be eligible.

2. Election and Term of Officers. The officers other than the secretary-treasurer shall be elected by the Alumni Board at the autumn meeting in the even-numbered years, and their terms shall expire at the autumn meeting in the next even-numbered year or upon election of their successors, whichever is later. The Alumni Board may fill vacancies in any office other than the secretary-treasurer. The secretary-treasurer shall be the incumbent of the office of Alumni Secretary. As provided in the University By-laws, the Alumni Secretary shall be appointed by the Board of Trustees of the University upon the nomination of the Alumni Board and the approval of the President of the University, and he may be removed from office by the Board of Trustees of the University after consultation with the Association or its duly-qualified officers concerning such removal.

3. Duties of President and Vice-Presidents. The president shall preside at all meetings of the Association, the Alumni Board, and the Executive Committee. He shall be the chief executive officer of the Association and have all powers and duties incident to such office, and he shall conduct the affairs of the Association subject to the control of the Alumni Board. He shall present the annual report of the Alumni Board to the Association at its annual meeting. Whenever absence or disability requires, the duties of the president shall be performed by the first vice-president or second vice-president in the order named. The first and second vice-presidents shall perform such other duties as may be assigned by the Alumni Board or Executive Committee.

4. Duties of Secretary-Treasurer. The secretary-treasurer shall be the administrative head of the Alumni Office at the University and, subject to the direction of the president and except as otherwise expressly provided by these By-laws, he shall supervise all the activities of the Association. As secretary he shall (1) keep the records and documents of the Association; (2) give notice of all meetings of the Association, Alumni Board, and Executive Committee; (3) notify directors, officers, and committeemen of their election or appointment; (4) act as secretary of the Alumni Board and Executive Committee; (5) assist the Executive Committee in preparing the budget; and (6) perform such other duties as pertain to his office or are assigned to him by the Alumni Board, the Executive Committee, or the president. As treasurer he shall have charge of and administer the finances of the Association, subject to Article VIII and the direction of the Alumni Board. He shall cause accurate accounts to be kept of all receipts and disbursements under his jurisdiction, and make reports thereof to the Association, the Alumni Board, and the Executive Committee at their regular meetings and otherwise whenever requested.

VI. STANDING COMMITTEES

There shall be standing committees with functions and duties as follows:

1. Alumni Publications Committee consisting of five members to be appointed annually by the Alumni Board, which shall designate the chairman thereof. The Committee shall have full responsibility for the publication and operations of the Cornell Alumni News and such other alumni publications as may be authorized from time to time by the Alumni Board.

2. Committee on Alumni Trustee Nominations consisting of representatives of Alumni Trustees of the University, Alumni Board, Men's Federated Clubs, Women's Federated Clubs, Secretaries Association, Alumni Fund, and College Associations, each of which shall appoint one member from its own group. The Committee shall elect its chairman. The terms of such members shall not exceed four years and shall be served in such manner as the Alumni Board shall determine. The Committee shall have the duty of stimulating interest in Alumni Trustee nominations through the various alumni groups without, however, interfering with the election procedures prescribed by the University Charter.

3. Committee on Secondary Schools consisting of five members to be appointed annually by the Alumni Board, which shall designate the chairman and the vice-chairman, who shall be a woman. The Committee shall have the duty of promoting good relations with secondary schools.

4. Committee on Alumni Placement consisting of seven members, two of whom shall be women, to be appointed annually by the Alumni Board, which shall designate the chairman. The Committee shall advise with and report to the Director of the University Placement Service on all phases of alumni placement.

5. Committee on Elections consisting of five members, only one of whom may be a director, to be appointed annually by the Alumni Board, which shall designate its chairman. The Committee shall, subject to the provisions of the University Charter, conduct the election and canvass the vote for Alumni Trustees.

6. Committee on Nominations consisting of five members, one of whom shall be a woman, to be appointed annually by the Alumni Board, which shall designate its chairman. The Committee shall present at the autumn meeting of the Alumni Board and whenever requested by the Alumni Board, nominations for officers and any directors-at-large the Committee may wish to propose.

VII. ASSOCIATION MEETINGS

1. Annual Meeting. The Association shall hold an annual meeting in the May-June period in each year at such time and place as shall be fixed by the Alumni Board or Executive Committee. The purposes of the meeting shall be: (1) receiving the annual report of the Alumni Board and the reports of the retiring Alumni Trustees; (2) receiving the report of the Committee on Elections on the election of Alumni Trustees; (3) receiving and acting upon such reports of other committees as may be presented; (4) considering and taking action upon such subjects as the Alumni Board may present; and (5) transacting such other business and carrying out such other appropriate programs as may be brought before the meeting.

2. Special Meetings. Special meetings may be held on the call of the Alumni Board, Executive Committee, or president at such times and places as shall be stated in the respective calls.

3. Quorum. All members of the Association present are eligible to vote on any matter brought before any meeting. Fifty members shall constitute a quorum. Motions regularly made and seconded may be adopted by a vote of a majority of the members present provided there be a quorum present.

4. Notice of Meetings. Notice of the annual meeting and of any special meeting shall be published in one issue of the Cornell Alumni News having a release date not more than thirty-one days nor less than fourteen days prior to the meeting. The notice shall include a statement of the business to be transacted at the meeting. No other notice shall be required.

5. Order of Business. The order of business at the annual meeting shall be arranged by the president, subject to the approval of the Alumni Board.

6. Rules of Order. Roberts' Rules of Order shall be the parliamentary authority of all meetings of the Association.

7. Annual Report. The Alumni Board shall make an annual report to the Association at the annual meeting. The annual report shall include (a) such review of the activities of the Association and other material as the Alumni Board deems of importance to the membership, and (b) financial statements showing the total amount of real and personal property owned by the Association, its location and character; the cost and value of any investments; and the amounts appropriated and expended during the current fiscal year. Copies of the annual report shall be furnished to members of the Association on request.

VIII. BUDGET AND AUDIT

1. Budget. The fiscal year shall commence July 1st in each calendar year. The Executive Committee shall annually prepare and submit to the Board of Trustees of the University through the office of the President of the University a budget for the ensuing fiscal year, together with the supporting data and reasons for the proposed appropriations. The budget shall be submitted at such time as the University By-laws may prescribe. The budget shall include estimates of income wherever practicable and expenditures for the Alumni Office and any other proper alumni activities approved by the Alumni Board or the Executive Committee, and shall reflect the joint use of all facilities and services which may be feasibly shared with other alumni organizations or agencies of the University. The budget as approved by the Board of Trustees shall constitute the budget of the Association for the ensuing fiscal year. Purchases and disbursements shall be made out of funds appropriated by the University in accordance with procedures established from time to time under the University By-laws.

2. Audit. The accounts of the Cornell Alumni News shall be audited annually by such independent auditor as the Alumni Publications Committee may select. The other accounts of the Association shall be audited by the regularly retained independent auditors for the University. The audited reports shall be furnished to the Alumni Board.

IX. ALUMNI TRUSTEES

1. Reports by Alumni Trustees. Retiring Alumni Trustees shall make written reports, which may be joint or separate, to the Association at its annual meeting in the year of their retirement.

X. DISSOLUTION

Upon the dissolution or other termination of the Association, the balance of the assets after the payment or provision for payment of its debts and expenses of dissolution shall be transferred to any non-profit organization which may succeed it as the general alumni organization of Cornell University, or if there be no such successor organization, then to Cornell University.

XI. AMENDMENTS

These By-laws may be amended or repealed at any meeting of the Association provided that notice of the proposed amendment shall have been published in the Cornell Alumni News along with the notice of the meeting as prescribed in Article VII, Section 4.

Robinson Airlines, with no passengers injured in its five years of operation, will receive a plaque from the National Safety Council for no fatalities in its first year of certification by the CCA. The Airlines corporation has re-elected as directors L. Nelson Simmons '12, E. Victor Underwood '13, and University Vice-president Theodore P. Wright. Robert E. Peach '48 is executive vice-president and general manager John R. Carver '33 is vice-president and secretary.

The Faculty

University Trustee John L. Collyer '17, president of B. F. Goodrich Co., Akron, Ohio, has been elected chairman of the company's board of directors. He continues as president. Collyer was one of fifty US business men given the honorary Doctor of Commercial Science when NYU celebrated the fiftieth anniversary of its school of commerce. The group was pictured in Life for April 24.

Dean Robert S. Stevens of the Law School has been appointed to the New York State Bar Association committee on legal education and admission to the Bar.

Director William R. Sears of the Graduate School of Aeronautical Engineering was the speaker at the annual Engineers Night of the Cornell Club of Michigan, April 19, at the University Club in Detroit. He made "Some Remarks about Aviation, Aeronautical Engineering, and Cornell."

Oxford University Press has published A History of Horticulture in America to 1860 by Professor Ulysses P. Hedrick, Director Emeritus of the Geneva Experiment Station. Professor Hedrick dedicates the 550-page volume to his former colleagues at the Station.

Director Clifford C. Furnas of the Aeronautical Laboratory was guest of honor and spoke on the Laboratory at the Niagara Newcomen Society annual dinner, in the Buffalo Club, May 4. He traced the history of the Laboratory, its acquisition by Cornell University, and the research and teaching it is carrying on.

Professor Herbert W. Briggs, Government, addressed the annual meeting of the American Society of International Law in Washington, D. C., in April, on "Community Interest in the Emergence of New States: The Problem of Recognition," and reported as chairman of the Society's committee on research in international law. He also attended a meeting of the board of editors of the American Journal of International Law.

March issue of the National Geographic Magazine contains an article on frogs, "Voices of the Night," by Professor Arthur A. Allen '08, Ornithology. The twenty-seven illustrations, twenty-three of them in color, are from photographs taken by the author.

Professor Robert A. Hall, Jr., Modern Languages, has received a grant from the Rockefeller Foundation to undertake a preliminary study of bi-lingualism next summer. He will investigate the practical and linguistic problems which arise in parts of the world—India, Puerto Rico, the Philippines and others—where official language is not the native language of the bulk of the population. Professor Hall completed a similar survey, covering the islands of the Pacific, for the US Navy during the latter stages of the war. Last year he made such a study in Haiti for UNESCO.

An ingenious computer for taking the guesswork out of municipal water and gas systems and other networks of pipelines or ducts has been developed by Professor Malcolm S. McIlroy '23, Electrical Engineering. The device, called a "pipeline network analyzer," offers an electrical shortcut to specifications usually obtained by time-consuming calculation. The apparatus is set up as an electrical representation of a system. The principle behind it is the basic analogy between fluids and their electrical counterparts. Fluid flow is represented by electric current. Pressure loss in a pipeline is represented by voltage drop in a special type of resistor. The analyzer can represent three fluid sources, sixty-seven network pipelines, and ten points of discharge.

Professor Walter H. Stainton '19, Executive Director of the University Theatre, was a speaker at a conference on "The Theatre" in Ann Arbor, Mich., April 14-15, sponsored by the college of architecture and design of the University of Michigan in cooperation with the American Educational Theatre Association and the American National Theatre and Academy. He discussed the importance of the school theatre, particularly for the architect, the high school, and for sheer magnitude of the project. Estimates of schools needed in the next ten years or so run as high as $10 billion, at least $500 million of which will go into auditoriums, he says.

Mrs. Katharine E. F. Ryan, widow of Professor Harris J. Ryan '87, who was head of the Department of Electrical Engineering for seventeen years before he went to Sanford University in the same capacity in 1905, died in April in California.

Professor John A. Hartell '24, Architecture, was invited to exhibit a gouache painting, "Meditation," at the Whitney Museum 1950 annual exhibition of contemporary American sculpture, watercolors, and drawings, in New York City. The show is on until May 28.

Professor Albert B. Faust, German Literature, Emeritus, celebrated his eightieth birthday April 20. He lives at 125 Kelvin Place in Ithaca.

Professor Mario Einaudi, Government, recently gave eight lectures on "The Christian Democratic Governments of Western Europe: Promise and Fulfillment," at the University of Notre Dame, Notre Dame, Ind., under the auspices of the Committee on International Relations. The lectures were given over a period of two weeks, starting April 25.

Professor William B. Ward, Extension Teaching and Information, was elected president of the Ithaca-Syracuse chapter of the Alumni of Utah State Agricultural College, April 22.

Leonard C. Urquhart '09, former professor of Structural Engineering, has been named chairman of a twelve-member committee of the New Jersey Society of Professional Engineers to study the effect of truck weights on highways and bridges. He is in charge of the eastern offices of O. J. Porter & Co., consulting engineers, with headquarters in Newark, N. J.

Dr. F. Lovell Bixby, PhD '26, former instructor in Psychology, is credited with helping to start a new method of treating criminals, that of letting them talk things out in a group, in an article in the May Reader's Digest on how Lloyd W. McCorkle uses the method in New Jersey's penal system, "The idea developed during World War II, when the Army faced a crime wave among draftees," James Finan writes. "Soon word came from the Rehabilitation Center at Fort Knox, Ky., of a new kind of program. Here Dr. F. Lovell Bixby, ex-Cornell psychologist and acting director of the Army correctional program, and a young sergeant, Lloyd McCorkle, were experimenting with group discussion. Encouraged by Colonel Bixby, Sergeant McCorkle would gather prisoners into a barracks hall, let them sit and smoke until they began swapping complaints about Army life—as all soldiers do . . . After the war McCorkle was helping revise the prison system of Japan under MacArthur when New Jersey's prison commissioner, Sanford Bates, and Dr. Bixby, now Jersey's number-two prison man, called him to New Jersey to set up group practices there." McCorkle has received from The Reader's Digest a distinguished service award of $2,500.

His color etching, "Cycle," won for James L. Steg, Fine Arts, the Charles M. Lee Purchase Prize of $75 given by the Print Club of Philadelphia. The print will be placed in the permanent collection of the Philadelphia Museum of Art.

Mrs. Susan N. Harris, former chapereone at Sigma Kappa and mother of Professor Katharine W. Harris '22, Institution Management, died April 15 at her home in Ithaca.

Professor Herbert T. Jenkins, Civil Engineering, now on sabbatic leave, is co-operating with Government surveying agencies in rewriting the US Geological Survey Topographic Instructions. He is editing new material for the Instructions, including sections on serial photography, photogrammetry, and map reproduction.

He has also visited the Army Map Service, the Coast and Geodetic Survey, and the Aeronautical Chart Service.

Wayne L. Fry, graduate assistant in Botany, has been awarded the Cornell-Glasgow University Exchange Fellowship for the year 1950-51. After his year abroad, during which he will study fossil plants petrified in coal balls, he will return to Cornell to complete requirements for the PhD.

Charles Sigler, who for twenty-five years has helped supply the Campus with light, retired May 1 as operator of the University power station below the Suspension Bridge. He is eighty years old. During the 1935 flood, Sigler recalls, he watched Fall Creek rise steadily until the water came in the door. A year earlier a vicious, six-hour thunderstorm that struck power lines some fifteen times kept him busy throughout the night. Though hundreds of students see the plant every day from the bridge, Sigler says he has had very little to do with them, "except, of course, those who come in here occasionally for classes and those who paint their Class numerals on the roof."

Dr. Ellis F. Wallihan, PhD '38, assistant professor of Forestry from 1938-47, married Mrs. Lorraine S. Houlihan of New York City, April 9 in Berkeley, Cal. Mrs. Wallihan is a graduate of Columbia University and has been home economist with the Food Marketing Program in New York City, a part of the State Extension Service. Since 1948, Dr. Wallihan has been agricultural chemist at the University of California Riverside Citrus Experiment Station. They live at 1818 Sixty-second Street, Berkeley.

Cries of a bat are described by Professor Donald R. Griffin, Zoology, in the Journal of the Acoustical Society of America for March. Science News Letter for April 15, reporting on Professor Griffin's analysis in the Journal, says, "The special cries that bats send out to search out unseen objects in their paths are similar to the radar and sonar systems humans use. Study of these cries that humans cannot hear may lead to possible devices for blind men to 'see' with their ears."

Leland M. Griffin, teaching fellow in Speech and Drama, will join the faculty of Washington University, St. Louis, Mo., July 1, as assistant professor of speech.

Ag-Domecon Association, student governing body of the two State Colleges, has installed as its new president John Talmage '52, who is the son of Nathaniel A. Talmage '22 of Riverhead. Dick D. Darley '51 of Webster Groves, Mo., is vice-president; Margaret M. Bailey '52 of Smithville Flats, secretary; and Alice H. Halsey '51 of Southampton, treasurer.

CLASS REUNIONS AT ITHACA, JUNE 9 & 10, 1950

'90, '95, '00, '05, '10, '15, '20, '25, '30, '35, '40, '45, '48

'94—Daniel W. Tomlinson now has three great-grandchildren. His son is an Annapolis graduate and a captain in the US Navy. Tomlinson, president of Batavia Metal Products Corp., lives at 26 Ross Street, Batavia.

'95, '96 ME—Ernest M. Gilbert has been elected a fellow of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers. He is chairman of the board and chief engineer of Gilbert Associates, Inc., 412 Washington Street, Reading 7, Pa.

Class of 1900

George H. Young, Correspondent
5 North Street, Binghamton, N.Y.

Some of the members of the Class of 1900 who are considering a trip to Ithaca in June will be glad to know that a passenger elevator will be available in Risley Hall, the Class headquarters, and walking up and down stairs will not be required at any time as a professional operator will be on full-time duty throughout the Reunion.

Gradually the names are coming in of more of the members who definitely expect to be on hand for the Fifty-year Reunion.

Charley Babcock of Chicago got into the habit some years ago of only attending his Ten-year Reunions, but that makes him due in 1950 anyway and he fully expects to keep up his record this year.

Ernest Quackenbush seldom attended any other than his Five-year Reunions and that makes him definitely due for this year which is also in line with his present plans.

Phil Will doesn't have to come so far from Rochester and he has been less choosy about skipping, so that in the last quarter century he has made three or four Reunions in addition to the fives and expects surely to be "among those present" at the Fifty-year.

Abe Mott and Mike Shea are both expecting to come up from the Philadelphia neighborhood, but it is doubtful whether they will be able to extract Johnny Moyer from the Pennsylvania Building in Philadelphia for the first time in at least twenty-five years. Maybe they might do it with Woody's help.

Fred Hufnagel has finished his Florida vacation, heading towards Ithaca later, and Talcott Brooks is in the same category except that he plans to bring Mrs. Brooks along, and rarin' to go.

More later—after the census.

'00 EE—Charles R. Scott of 1850 Asheville Road, Hendersonville, N.C., is retired but is "finding plenty to do in Kiwanis, Boy Scout, church, and Executive Club work." He also writes that he frequently sees E. Ross Sutherland '09 and Erle G. Stillwell, Sp Arch '10-'12; and that he expects to be at Reunion in June.

'05 AB, '07 LLB—George J. Nelbach, executive secretary of the State Committee on Tuberculosis and Public Health of the New York State Charities Aid Association for forty years, has been made an honorary life member of the American Social Hygiene Association. He lives at 28 Wendover Road, Yonkers 5.

'06 CE—John Wiley & Sons, New York City, has released a new second edition of the Creager-Justin Hydroelectric Handbook, which Joel D. Justin revised before his death in February.

'08 ME—The Very Rev. Henry H. Shires, since 1935 dean of the Church of Divinity School of the Pacific, in Berkeley, was elected Suffragan Bishop of the Protestant Episcopal Diocese of California, April 20. He was the unanimous choice of the nominating committee.

'09 ME—William G. Seyfang, managing engineer for the Buffalo Board of Education, is a member of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers, the American Society of Civil Engineers, the American Society of Heating and Ventilating Engineers, and Professional Engineers of New York State. His address in Buffalo is 116 Dorchester Road.

'11—Our Class dinner held at the Cornell Club of New York, April 21, was attended by twenty-five members. After our usual song session, preliminary plans were discussed for our Forty-year Reunion, June, 1951.—O.G.M.

'11 ME—William G. Christy, smoke abatement engineer of Hudson Company, N. J., was recently appointed by Mayor William O'Dwyer to the Board of Smoke Control for the City of New York.

'12; '48 PhD—Donald G. Munroe, PO Box 397, Montreal, Canada, retired as president and managing director of Montreal Coke & Manufacturing Co., January 1, 1948, after twenty-one years of service in the company, which he organized. His elder son, Eugene G. Munroe, PhD '48, of 237 Fairmont Avenue, Ottawa, Ontario, is entomologist for the Department of Agriculture of the Dominion of Canada.

'12, '13 CE—Charles T. Wanzer is supervising engineer in charge of construction for Duke Power Co., Charlotte 1, N. C. He has three sons: Charles Robert, Duke '41; Philip Hayden, Duke '49; and Sidney Hovey, Duke '50. Sidney, recently elected to Phi Beta Kappa, enters Duke medical school next fall.

Class of 1913

M. R. Neifeld, Correspondent

15 Washington St., Newark 2, N.J.

Flash! Is there a geratologist in the house? Or maybe a gerontologist? Gather 'round, ye gammers and gaffers of 1913, for a bull session on gerocomy, of much interest now. Let's call in the medical talent in '13: Sam Bartley, Phil Barton, Wendell Bennett, Archie Dean, Ed Douglass, Scott Fox, Cameron Goff, Harvey Harrington, Oran Klin, Henry Meister, Ezra Sanford, Dan Schultheiss, and Hudson Wilson.

Now then, what about this pursuit of youth by the unyouthful? Would you rather be unmolested in your dotage, or do you yearn to recharge rheumatic limbs with adolescent energy, to restore teenage coordination to muscles, to grow hair on the bald spots, and to start the sap pulsing in the arterio-sclerotic system? Then list to the siren promise of Dr. Emanuel Jean Sobieski. Every man a Methuselah! This biologic genius at the Pasteur Institute of Paris has brewed a Ponce de Leon concoction reputed to have done good for an overworked photographer, an aged actress, and a retired race horse.

Some of you may qualify under one or as a reasonable facsimile thereof; on the co-ed side of the Class there may be a candidate for two, but a diligent search of Class records fails to disclose any degree "in honoris causa" or in course conferred on a whole horse, race or truck. Nevertheless, what if imbibers of the new elixir are on the right track to outpace anemia, diabetes, cirrhosis of the liver, arthritis, stiffening of the arteries, and other degenerative afflictions?

If memory faileth not, a bearded gent from the Balkans some years ago touted sour milk as the prolonger of life but he himself succumbed in early course, and millions of hopefuls stopped torturing their diet with fermented milk. The Balkan dollar shortage was aggravated and international tension was heightened.

Scorning such monolithic medical advances as penicillin, streptomycin, aureomycin, and the anti-arthritis hormone, cortisone, as imperialistic discoveries by reactionary doctors of the capitalistic democracies, the Russian, Boglomets, not so long since announced the discovery of a brew that would enable all workers of a Peoples' Democracy to live to 150 years, and with the versatility of a true Soviet serum would prevent cancer, heal broken limbs, and restore flexibility in hardened arteries. Within a year, poor Boglomets betrayed the Politburo. He died at age 64. And a good thing for the workers. For who would want to live to 150 in a Peoples' Democracy?

But what a thought that the Frenchman may succeed where the Balkan and the Russian floundered! On the brighter side, suppose that through the potency of the new youth drug three-score oldsters become adolescent youngsters. A few swigs of the stuff and J. P. Jones, Dutch Cozzens, Snitz Snyder, Ced Major, and other track luminaries of 1913 will again cavort around the cinder path to set new records.

But in spite of the rejuvenated photographer, the youthized actress, and the pasteurized race horse, consider the darker side. Consider gerontes of the ripe age of seven-score-plus. Their muscles flex with the vigor of youth and their tissues recoup from physical exertion with the rapidity of adolescence. Nature's teeth have replaced store teeth, and new crops of hair cover patches that erstwhile shone ignorant of adornment. The physical man has been rejuvenated.

What a tragedy! The flesh is willing, but the spirit knows no exaltation. The serum does not work on the mind. The frisky gramps of a century and more are saddled with the tired disillusioned minds of seventy (seen all—done all); youth is wasted on the aged. The promise of Sobieski is the call of the Loreli!

'14—Last call for the Class dinner, Friday night, May 19, at the Cornell Club of New York! Bill Myers '14, who, among a myriad of other things, is Dean of the College of Agriculture, is to speak. His subject might be "How I Traveled to Europe or Mexico with John D. Rockefeller III" (that's how broadminded he is), but it actually will be "National Agricultural Programs and Consumers' Interests," a vital topic. You also could ask him afterward about your life insurance (he's a trustee of Mutual), or place an order for some cans (he's a director of Continental), or check up on your local bank (he's deputy chairman of the Federal Reserve Bank of New York).—E.H.

'14 BS, '27 PhD—Dr. Isaac Neuwirth, charter member of the New York University college of dentistry, was one of twenty who received an award for twenty-five years of service from the alumni association of the college at a dinner in the Waldorf-Astoria, April 14. The dinner celebrated the twenty-fifth anniversary of the affiliation of the old New York College of Dentistry with NYU.

'15 BArch; '01 BArch—Harold R. Sleeper will continue the architectural practice of the late Frederick L. Ackerman '01 with Charles G. Ramsey. Offices of the firm are at 25 West Forty-fourth Street, New York City 18.

'17 BS—Henry E. Allanson retired December 1 as assistant chief of the Bureau of Plant Industry, Soil, and Agricultural Engineering, US Department of Agriculture, Washington, D.C., after thirty-five years in the Bureau. He has built a home at Scientists Cliffs, Port Republic, Md., and is experimenting with plants there. He visited the Alumni News office April 25.

'18—Author Louis Bromfield was among some twenty-six signers of an eighty-page report issued by the National Council Against Conscription in protest against what they call "the systematic and well financed efforts of the national military establishment to penetrate and influence the civilian educational life of America."

'18—Morris W. Reynolds has been promoted to vice-president in charge of sales of Acheson Colloids Corp. His headquarters are in Port Huron, Mich.

Hollis, 29 West Thirty-ninth Street, New York 18.

Howard B. Ortner, Varsity basketball coach for sixteen years, was guest speaker April 13 at the Ithaca High School's victory dinner honoring the Little Red basketball team. Record: 37 consecutive victories, two straight Southern Tier Conference championships, two Section 4 championships. Howie, director of athletics at Nichols School, Buffalo, and director of Camp Otter (boys' camp), Dorset, Ontario, Canada, coached the last Cornell Eastern Intercollegiate League championship team in 1924.

Edward E. Conroy has retired because of ill health as executive vice-president of the Security Bureau, Inc., organized to combat theft and pilferage at the Port of New York. He had been the active head of this highly successful bureau since its creation early in 1947. Before coming to the bureau, Cactus was in charge of the New York office of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, of which he had been an agent since 1922.

'19 BS, '20 MS; '19 AB, '20 AM—Mrs. William W. Frank (Marian Priestley) of 326 Robert Avenue, Glenside, Pa., came to Ithaca for Farm and Home Week. She stayed with her former roommate, Katharine Thorp '19 of the Danby Road.

May 20, the Class of Twenty again gathered at the Cornell Club of New York for cocktails and dinner to discuss the coming Reunion. Bennie Benisch brought his violin—Nuf Sed! The usual heckling took place as Kelly Sachs in his own inimitable way tried to report on his plans for the music. Jack Meadow showed up with a southern sun-lamp tan. Joe Diamant and Walt Archibald joined the ribbers.

Eddie Cadiz, who spends his working hours digging up business for the firm of Parsons, Brinkerhoff, Hall & MacDonald, consulting and estimating engineers on all kinds of projects, (no charge for the plug) made his usual concise report: "We will be housed in the Dorms." (Note: He is down to his fifth carbon copy of this report.)

Irv Schustek again reported on uniforms: "Bring gray slacks; the 'shorts' and caps we furnish." Last word is we are to be in red. This committee really keeps you guessing from green to red to red to green but wait till you see what we are going to wear.

Bill Colvin, looking better and smiling (since the steel rate seems to be holding), promised that he and Bennie and other members of the finance committee would keep the chairman within their budget and brother that's something.

Stan Smith airmailed a letter in explaining why he couldn't make it as he was in Ohio busily engaged at his new occupation.

Stew Salomon, photographic committee, objected to fact he was not included in the budget and interjected "If you guys think I am doing this for free, you'll get charged double. Furthermore I won't bring Goofy or Toots."

Hal Fishback and Ben Fishman made their second appearance. Hal couldn't stay for dinner but was the last to leave. So goes this Class of ours. Don Blanke and Spike Livingston report the century mark for attendance had been hit with Bob Phillips and Pat Collum sending in their checks. Incidentally, Red Ashton, still one of the best patent attorneys in this city, (well at least in our Class) in spite

Cornell Blankets, now at The Triangle, are just the thing for picnics this summer and football games next fall. We think that at $9.00 you can't match them anywhere.

The heavy, 100 per cent wool, dark Cornellian Red blankets measure 54" by 72" and might be just the thing you're looking for to dress up that den or the rooms at school of your sons and daughters. A large block C in the center and white stitching around the edge give that distinctive Cornell appearance.

Your orders will be promptly filled and postage will be paid by The Triangle.

'20 Women—The women of 1920 have received their first general mailing, work of the enthusiastic committee in Ithaca. Keep this and do a little homework learning the married names of your friends. Send in that modest check now for the best vacation buy of the year. Agda Swenson Osborn and Ruth Foster Roberts are just back from Florida. Ask them. Agda's first grandchild, Robert Curtis, was reported under Class notes of 1947, but we have a real interest, as the lawyers say. Edith Warren Holcomb was, at time of writing, taking care of her grandsons (Aren't we all?), but you will have to get members' ages and names at Reunion. Edith is sure to be there, for her daughter, Mary, is a graduate. Ditto for Bessie Levin Gribetz whose youngest, Grace, will soon be an alumna; a valuable one, too, we may assume, for both Bessie and her oldest daughter, Dorothy, were active in the Greater Cornell Fund drive in New York.—M.M.H.

'21 BS—Harold I. Fanaberia, investment builder, is building apartment houses in Montreal, Canada, under a new government insurance rental guarantee program. Last summer he finished his first development and started a new one, each involving about $1,320,000. His address is 4 Hudson Avenue, Westmount, Que.

'21 AB—Morristown (N.J.) Trust Co., whose president is George Munsick, sponsored a series of three forums on the making of wills and trust agreements, investments, estate planning, life insurance, and annuities, April 17 and 25 and May 1.

'22—Francis W. Lake moved to Midland, Tex., the first of the year to be manager of the Texas and New Mexico division of Wilshire Oil Co., Inc., of California. His headquarters are in the Leggett Building.

'22 LLB; '44, '47 AB, '49 LLB—John D. Shepard and Roger F. Dykes '44 have formed a law partnership under the firm name of Shepard & Dykes, with offices in Brevard County State Bank Building, Cocoa, Fla. Mrs. Dykes (Marilu Shepard '47) is Shepard's daughter.

'23 MS—A book entitled Campaigning for Members by Herman A. Sarachan, assistant executive director of the Jewish Young Men's and Women's Association in Rochester, has been published by Association Press, the publishing division of International YMCA. It gives detailed directions to organizations for all phases of campaign effort from the initial planning to the final reporting.

By now you have just about the complete dope on our Big Fifth this June back on the Hill. The rest of the story is simple: you be there! Highlight of the week end, June 9 and 10, will be a good old college style picnic on Kite Hill with lots of beer and song. Tom and his committee figured we all get enough of these stuffed shirt get-togethers during the year and calculated most people would rather be informal than formal. They hope they're right.

Response to the Reunion mailings hasn't exactly reached earthquake proportions but no fooling, it has come mighty doggone close. Brother, you're in the minority if you haven't planned on coming back. It isn't too late—it's never too late—so even if you can't get back until Saturday, it'll still be worth while.

Still not space enough to list the guys who'll be back but here are over a score more to add to the list in the last issue: Howie Fernow, Bob O'Rourke, Tom Miller, Jim Carley, George Offerman, Gordy Pritchard, J. Amorizegar, Jack Tewey, Woody Bacon, Newt Hunsberger, Dick Frost, Bill Allison, George Rautenberg, Bill Bush, Don Siskind, Pren Cushing, Ward Mellon, Mort Rauff, Hank Deutsch, Al Zimmerman, and Mason Britton.

Our news sleuths have picked up the scent of Doug Archibald; he's busy selling the spices that Archibald & Kendall, Inc., import and grind in New York. Wife Marcia Noyes '46 keeps the home fires burning at 244 Monroe Avenue, River Edge, N. J. Former big gun in the Octagon Club, Wally Ross has gravitated to the big city and now white collars it for The Mutual Life Insurance Co., where he holds down a position in their public relations department. Word has it that he feels right at home in Mutual's big new building. And George Karp became a benedict at the Hotel Pierre on April 16, marrying Mary Ann Peterson of Mamar-

3-speed gears $59.95
Extra: Dynohub Lighting Set

There's a Raleigh for every purpose, every age

Raleigh Dealers everywhere give reliable, prompt service. Write for free illustrated booklet.

EASY... Raleigh lightweight construction makes Raleighs about 37.5% lighter than comparable ordinary bikes: eliminates at least 15 lbs. of dead weight, doubles your cycling enjoyment.

Sturmey-Archer three-speed gears act as your Raleigh's transmission; they help you ride leisurely over rough roads, climb smoothly tough slopes.

SPEEDY... Raleigh precision engineering reduces mechanical friction to the bare minimum, converts without waste your energy-output into forward motion. Narrow tread high pressure tires decimate surface-resistance, make you attain top speed easier and faster.

SAFE... Raleigh safety two-wheel brakes eliminate the chain as a braking agent—assure quick, smooth stops at any speed, in any terrain. Raleigh dynamo electric lighting set self-generates car-type lighting without loss of energy through friction, illuminates the road with a piercing beam while the Raleigh is in motion.

'45 AB—Mrs. George M. Crall (Muriel Salman) has moved to 31 Carces Drive, Parkmerced, San Francisco 27, Cal.

'46 AB; '47 BCE—Mrs. Hiram G. Fuller (Dorothy Stuart), whose address is Post Engineer, FMP, APO 757, Care Postmaster, New York City, writes: "I am now living in Frankfurt, Germany, with my husband, son Jimmy, and daughter Anne. I occasionally find a familiar Cornell face over here and always welcome the News." Her husband is Hiram G. Fuller '47.

'47—It has been quite a while since I last threw my oar into the '47 column. About time. Right off I want to get in my licks in telling you of the appointment of Herb Roth as our Alumni Fund representative. We are extremely lucky to have a Class member who is as genuinely interested in '47 to take over this most responsible job. He succeeds Tom Berry, who did a wonderful job the year following our graduation in getting us off to a flying start on Alumni Fund raising. Tom had to resign when his job with the Dravo Corp. took him too far afield. I know Herb can count on the same high level of cooperation. Let's show that cooperation by responding as fully as we can. Remember, our aim is annual giving by everyone; number of givers is what counts!

Had a memo from the Foreign Mission Commission in December informing me that Rolland Flory was stationed in Shanghai, China. Address was at that time Care National Christian Council, 169 Yuen Ming Yuen Road, Shanghai. Anybody have more recent lowdown? Amory Cooke has switched his address to 2001 Seventy-Seventh Avenue, Elmwood Park, Ill. We have a member of an older Class who wishes to join the ranks, the only difficulty being that I can't seem to get him to notify the Alumni Office in writing. His name: Carl W. E. Almquist, an Ag student of some ability, who also found time to win the Eastern Intercol-legiates in wrestling one year; Carl now lives on RFD 3, Geneva. If you see him please again remind him to write the Office. Last report from Howard Donnelly was that he is assistant manager of the Lake Placid Club. That job would be a tough one to take. Hm-m-m. Is George Gurnee in or out of the Navy? I have had two yes's and two no's—which is it? His last address is 22 William Street, Cortland, definitely not nautical. Charlie Morand in Rochester, Box 82. Heard that John Bothwell is on Guam. Enough said. William L. Tyler's father writes that Louis was married way back in July in Bierut, Lebanon, to a sunny California girl who worked in Arabia. Lou has signed up with his company for another two years on foreign shores which means he probably will be on hand for Reunion in '52. Hollis Hatfield is connected with the Livingston County Farm Bureau, Box M, Mount Morris. Have noticed that Dan Kelly is now at 3030 Buchanan Street, Fairlington, Va. His index card shows him as still in Atlantic City, N. J. The motto of that story is to notify the Alumni Office of any change in address. We don't want to lose you. Leopoldo Margareda is at Cornell Med College in New York City. Richard H. Jones is with H. H. Robertson Co., 122 East Forty-second Street, New York City 17.

That's all for this harangue, men. Hope I'm a better news reporter in the future. Don't forget the Alumni Fund. It is so very important.—Barlow Ware

The next few weeks may be the most important in your life

Between May 15th and July 4th, you can make a move that may change your life, regardless of your age. During these seven weeks of the U.S. Treasury's Independence Drive, you can lay the groundwork for making your fondest dreams come true.

The next decade will be one of the greatest America has ever seen. The opportunity of a lifetime will come to millions—it can come to you.

The opportunity to start your own business. To buy a share in the business you're now in. Even to take a job that pays less at the start—but has a tremendous future.

Don't let your opportunity pass because you were financially unable to grab it!

If you are not now buying U.S. Savings Bonds automatically, this is the time to begin. If you are, sign up for extra bonds. Sign up and buy up all you can. That golden opportunity in the 50's may be the "one in a lifetime" for you—be ready for it!
