reliability

At Hughes the Systems Engineering approach is considered essential for optimum reliability.

The basic design of complex electronic systems is relatively more advanced than the Reliability Engineering which will ensure their successful operation.

Thus, the challenge of the reliability barrier now requires the optimum application of creative engineering.

Several openings for both senior and junior engineers—preferably with radar systems, missiles, or communications backgrounds—now exist in these areas of reliability: Prediction, Design Review, Analysis, Promotion. Your inquiry is invited. Please write Mr. J. C. Bailey at the address below.

Alice Statler Auditorium Opens In New Wing for Hotel School

THE NEW WING of Statler Hall was presented to the University by the Statler Foundation, May 3, as a feature of the annual Hotel Ezra Cornell. The $2,300,000 addition enlarges the facilities of the School of Hotel Administration and contains a completely equipped theater and auditorium that seats 920 persons. This is named the Alice Statler Auditorium, for Mrs. Ellsworth M. Statler, chairman of the board of trustees of the Statler Foundation.

Hall Fills Need at University

On the stage of the new auditorium, Dean Howard B. Meek introduced Mrs. Statler. She presented the Statler Hall addition to President Deane W. Malott for the Foundation that had also given the original building, opened in 1950. "The trustees of the Statler Foundation," she said, "join with me in expressing our personal pleasure and satisfaction at the extensive use made of the original building. The general acceptance of Statler Hall by both students and Faculty has given us the enthusiasm and desire to go ahead with this addition. I might mention the surprise we had in finding that the library was too small for the constant use the undergraduates made of it. We appreciate the many gifts of wonderful hotel books that have been given and I feel that this library of the School of Hotel Administration is the leading library on hotel subjects. The additional classrooms, laboratories, lecture room, and Faculty offices are to provide for the scholastic needs and comfort of the student body. We hope the new Auditorium, of a size not now available on the Campus, will provide useful facilities for both the Hotel School and the University. There will be many occasions to prove how greatly needed was the Auditorium, especially for scholastic work as well as the many uses to be made of it for lectures, musicals, and other functions that will be a pleasure to many."

She acknowledged the help given by Harold B. Callis, managing director of the Statler Foundation, Dean Howard B. Meek and Professor Charles I. Sayles '26 of the Hotel School, Professor Walter H. Stainton '19, Speech & Drama, and others who helped to plan "proper utilization of this space" and she thanked the architects, Holabird & Root & Burgee, and the builder, John W. Cowper Co.

"With me," she said, "the trustees of the Statler Foundation, Edward H.

Letchworth and Judge Michael J. Montesano, feel and believe that the School of Hotel Administration here at Cornell has had a distinguished leadership that makes it outstanding, one to be remembered. The Foundation is proud and happy to have the privilege of being associated with the Cornell University School of Hotel Administration and cherish it as a treasured memorial to Mr. Statler."

President Deane W. Malott expressed gratitude for the gift of the building "on behalf of Cornell University, its Trustees, Faculty, and students." He referred to Mrs. Statler as "that perpetual sweetheart of the Hotel School, our adopted co-ed, Lady Statler," and said:

Mrs. Statler Presents New Building—In the Alice Statler Auditorium named for her, Mrs. Ellsworth M. Statler, chairman of the board of trustees of the Statler Foundation, dedicated the new wing of Statler Hall, May 3. Her fellow trustees of the Foundation, Edward H. Letchworth and Michael J. Montesano (at left), presented this portrait of Mrs. Statler. It was accepted by Dean Howard B. Meek of the Hotel School and has been hung in the foyer of the Auditorium. President Deane W. Malott (right) expressed the gratitude of the University for the building. Harold B. Callis (next to Mrs. Statler) is managing director of the Statler Foundation. Mrs. Statler holds an armful of red roses presented to her by Leo Serebriany '58, president of the Cornell Hotel Association, "on behalf of all students, past, present, and future."

"We share with the Foundation the distinction of bearing the Statler name. Down the long years ahead, this partnership must jealously guard that name by our integrity and judgments, to assure that it may continue to have the luster with which it came to us; the name of the founder of a distinguished hotel chain and now, in this ceremony here today, the opportunity of carrying into future years the name of a very lovely and gracious lady, whom we honor as we accept her generosity and that of her associates. Generations ahead in long succession will have cause to be grateful for the Alice Statler Auditorium, a facility which expands so importantly the cultural, artistic, intellectual, and recreational life of the School of Hotel Administration and of all of Cornell. It is at once an ultra-modern theater with the latest facilities, a concert hall (with almost the only comfortable seats to be found in Cornell University), a lecture hall of inestimable use and value: altogether, something to cause the voluble envy of the academic world.

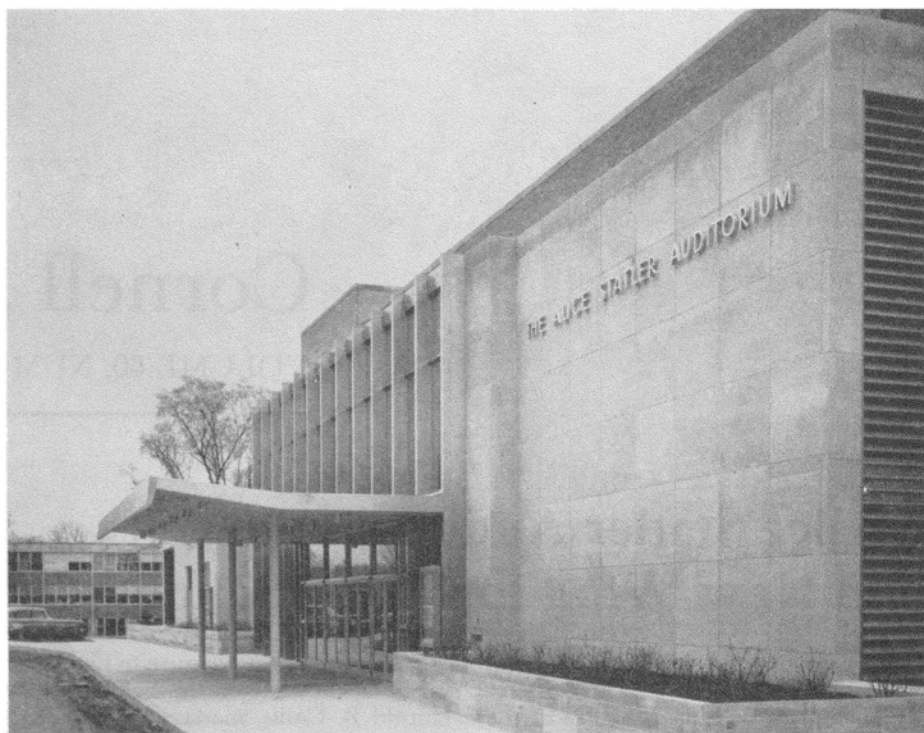

"Now, all we can say at this moment is a most heart-felt 'Thank you'; unless you feel because of our long and sincere friendship with this distinguished Foundation, we might indicate a rendezvous in the future reaches of posterity, in which case I close with the even happier phrase, 'Til We Meet Again'."

Adds to Previous Gifts

The Statler Foundation was established in 1934 by the will of the late Ellsworth M. Statler and its assets were increased when the Statler Hotels he founded were later sold. The Foundation is independent of any hotel operation; its earnings are expended for education and research to benefit the hotel industry. Statler was instrumental in getting support for the course in Hotel Administration when Dean Meek started it here in 1922 and he was a benefactor of the School while he lived. The Foundation built Statler Hall at cost of $2,350,000. It was opened in 1950 to house the School and including for student training the thirty-six-room Statler Inn, the Statler Club for the Faculty, and dining rooms. In 1953, the Foundation gave an endowment fund of $1,250,000 to provide for maintenance and replacement in Statler Hall and a supplementary reserve from this has grown to more than $160,000. Two years later, the Foundation endowed Ellsworth M. Statler Scholarships with a gift of $120,000 and these have benefitted many students in Hotel Administration.

Students Run "Hotel-for-a-day"

Thirty-third Hotel Ezra Cornell opened its doors to some 400 guests from the hotel and restaurant fields, May 2. Once again, the north section of Statler Hall became "the world's only hotel-for-

New Wing of Statler Hall—This shows the entrance to the Alice Statler Auditorium at the east side of the new addition to Statler Hall. This wing, given by the Statler Foundation, adjoins the former building at the south, where the residence of the late Professor Wilder D. Bancroft used to stand. On the East Avenue side, the ground floor has a new library for the Hotel School with room for 25,000 volumes, twice as many as the former space, and a student lounge and exhibition room adjoining. Four upper floors have a lecture room with 230 seats and more laboratories, classrooms, and Faculty offices for the School of Hotel Administration. All the new wing is air conditioned from a plant that also takes care of the dining rooms, ballroom, and lounges of the Statler Club in the original building. The addition is the work of the same architects and builders who did the original Statler Hall: Holabird & (John W.) Root ('09) & Burgee of Chicago, Ill., architects, and John W. a-day," with students in Hotel Administration performing all duties from chef to bellman, under supervision of an eighteen-member student board of directors. This year's Hotel Ezra Cornell had a combination of themes about America, under the general title, "United States, Melting Pot." There was a "Southern Hospitality" buffet supper Friday evening, followed by dancing in a "speakeasy" nightclub, and an "Early California" luncheon for out-of-town guests Saturday after the dedication of the Alice Statler Auditorium. The general theme was once again highlighted at the grand ball Saturday night by a large map of America, composed of "mobiles" of each State.

Arrange Special Exhibits

Exhibition rooms in Statler Hall attracted a steady stream of visitors. Students had arranged a wide variety of exhibits, from an extensive collection of fine glassware to examples of the latest styles of telephones. Particularly fascinating for many of the visitors was a display of gourmet foods, featuring such delicacies as alligator soup, roasted grasshoppers, and chocolate-covered ants.

Featured speakers at Hotel Ezra Cornell were J. Frank Birdsall '35, innkeeper of The Treadway Inn in Rochester and winner of this year's "Golden Host Award" presented by Hotel Management magazine; Maillard Bennett, president of the American Hotel Association, who was toastmaster for the Saturday evening banquet; and Wallace W. Lee, Jr. '36, vice-president of the Waldorf-Astoria Corp., who delivered the principal address at the banquet.

Alumni Society Meets

Annual meeting of the Cornell Society of Hotelmen was presided over by the newly elected president, Jerome B. Temple '38, former manager of the Seminole Hotel, Jacksonville, Fla. He now becomes a director of the Cornell Alumni Association. Other officers elected were James B. Smith '31, president of Wentworth-by-the-Sea in Portsmouth, N.H., first vice-president; and Roy Watson, Jr. '48, president of Kahler Hotels Corp., Rochester, Minn., second vice-president. Professor Robert A. Beck '42, Hotel Administration, was re-elected secretary-treasurer of the Society. Regional vice-presidents are Thomas C. Deveau '27, Eastern; Theodore W. Minah '32, Southern; F. Max Dean '29, West Coast; and Richard W. Steenberg '29,

Welcome to '41

CLASS OF 1941 men start a group subscription to the ALUMNI NEWS with this issue. From now on, all men of the Class will receive the NEWS with its regular '41 column written by the Class secretary, Robert L. Bartholomew.

Twenty-three men's Classes have group subscriptions bought by the Class at reduced rate and financed by collecting annual Class dues. The plan is patterned after the one long in use at Princeton, Dartmouth, and Yale, where all alumni get the alumni magazines through their class organizations.

It was started at Cornell in 1947 by the Class of '19 and the twenty-two Classes that have adopted the plan in the eleven years since are all continuing. The result of sending the NEWS to a larger number of members, with its regular Class columns of personal items, has been to re-enlist the interest of many in the Class and in the University.

'41 is the youngest Class to adopt the group subscription plan. Class of '40 has had it for five years. Any Class interested can get details from the ALUMNI NEWS office.

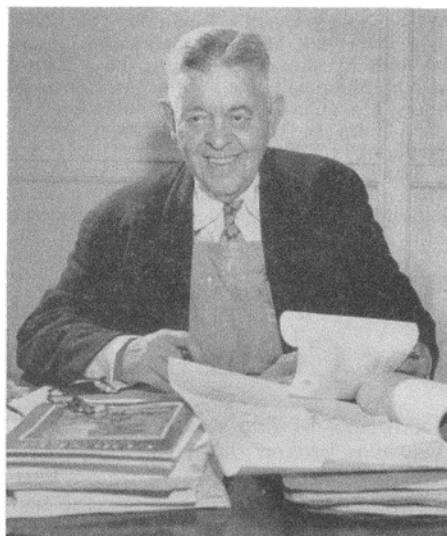

Another College President

K. ROALD BERGETHON, PhD '45, dean of the college at Brown University, has been elected president of Lafayette College in Easton, Pa. He will take office July 1. This brings to twenty-three the number of alumni known to head colleges and universities.

A native of Norway, Bergethon came to the United States at the age of eight. He received the AB at DePauw in 1938 and the MA at Cornell in 1940. During World War II, he supervised construction of military installations, and was awarded the Navy's Civilian Award for Meritorious Service in 1943. After receiving the PhD at Cornell, Bergethon became instructor in German at Syracuse University. In 1946, he was appointed instructor in German at Brown; became assistant professor the next year, associate professor in 1953, and dean of the college in 1955. He is the author of Grammar for Reading German and many articles on education.

Romeyn Berry '04

By SAM HORTON '27

No MAN is indispensable, but some are irreplaceable, and Romeyn Berry '04 was one of these. His particular combination of talents and virtues will not appear again in these parts. For more than fifty years he labored for the glory of Cornell and the greater joyousness of humanity in general. If some of the uniforms he wore while fighting for these causes were strange to the point of disguise, that only added to the gaiety of his career.

I first encountered Rym when he was manager of University athletics. His achievements in that post have been so publicized I have nothing to add about them. In any event, I first began really to know him during a stage of his life which might laughingly be called his 'retirement.' Relieved of the necessity of standing between us alumni and coaches who lost a game or two, Rym Berry removed himself to Stoneposts, a farm near Jacksonville. Some people may have thought of this as a hideaway for an aging man. If so, they quickly got their come-uppance. For out of the side road where Rym had holed up a phenomenon came forth, and it was about the reverse of hibernation. It was a flowering of the human spirit so quiet and unlabored that you have to stand off quite a way from it to realize how breathtaking it was. I'm referring, of course, to the kind of writing Romeyn Berry did: to the columns for the CORNELL ALUMNI NEWS and the Ithaca Journal; to the Sunday morning radio broadcasts delivered in person over Station WHCU.

As to the quality of that writing, it baffles me to describe it adequately. It appeared so effortless, and yet it touched

This article is adapted from a broadcast by the author commemorating Rym's seventy-sixth birthday, May 23. It was on Horton's WHCU radio program for Ithaca Savings & Loan Association. Berry wrote "Sport Stuff" and "Now In My Time!" for the ALUMNI NEWS for thirty years, until he died March 22, 1957. The photograph was taken by Sol Goldberg '46 in November, 1951.—Ed.

so many corners of the human mind and heart. Whether Rym is talking about the early days of Cornell or about how to cook eels or about some fantastic character of old Ithaca, the words always come out just right, with such seeming ease that you have to examine them carefully to appreciate the skill that makes them stick to your midriff, sometimes for years.

Most of this writing has the warm geniality of the man himself. It was Professor Billy Strunk who once said to him: "Berry, the only real humor is good humor." Rym lived up to that counsel to the extent that so far as I know he never wrote a line designed to hurt the feelings of a single individual. That doesn't mean, though, that he wouldn't stand up and be counted when a situation called for war. As a class, the sort of alumnus who lets the arteries in his head harden and his feet get covered with moss has suffered painfully from Rym's big stick. Page 123 of his book, Behind the Ivy, opens a piece that dusts down the pants of old fuddy-duddies who have forgotten what Cornell is for with a thoroughness that will never be excelled.

His Writing Was Universal

Rym followed Henry James's advice, too; he was "one of those upon whom nothing is lost." In his mellow years, he found red carpets rolled out for him in many places. We had a special chair for his Johnsonian frame at Ekholm's Bookshop, and at the long table in the Ithaca Hotel taproom the seat of honor was always his. Most of us who paid him this deference were naturally anxious to hear him talk, but it was part of the savor of his friendship that he listened, too. And if what you had to say pleased him, the result was sometimes amazing. In the first place, you'd be treated to the unique Berry smile, which no artist or photographer has ever been able to portray. It was a heart-stirring smile that began with the deep understanding eyes and extended to the sensitive lips, and it made you feel about twenty feet tall and crowned with laurel. And the next thing you knew, you might find that your simple idea had blossomed into a column of Rym's, always giving you much more credit than was due you, because he'd taken your small seed and grown it into a fruit far beyond your own imagining.

Above all, however, I think it is for its rounded championing of the humanities, all of them, that Romeyn Berry's writing will be remembered. Other men may write more detailed and factual histories of Cornell than Rym's wonderful Behind the Ivy. But I will bet my bottom dollar that no one is going to understand what made Cornell a great institution better than Rym did. Grandson of a man who was on Andrew Dickson White's first Faculty, Rym garnered early the idea of what made Cornell's first President tick. President White's notion was to produce men who were liberal in the true sense: men who believed in decently enlarging their own lives and the lives of others without being compelled to do so by the police. This sort of education worked with Rym. It made him that kind of a man himself, and it carried over into another generation, which is a pretty good test of an educational system. When Rym cracked his hip and was in danger of missing a newspaper deadline, his young son quietly went to work and turned out Rym's Journal column for him, all on his own hook. I don't know whether Rym realized what an educator that proved him to be, but I do know he was very proud of Butch that day.

I'm no expert on theology, but wherever the great white throne is, I expect Romeyn Berry will be there. He may be wearing overalls, and he will undoubtedly be spilling cigarette ashes, but I don't think the Almighty will mind a bit!

Thirty-six Clubs Send Schoolboys For Cornell Day at University

TRADITION of fine weather for Cornell Day was broken this year; but a cold, rainy week end over May 3 did not lessen a capacity crowd of 365 boys who were brought by ninety-nine volunteer alumni "chauffeurs" to see the University. These were juniors in secondary schools who had been selected and invited to Cornell Day by alumni in thirty-six Cornell Clubs. They came from all the Eastern States from New England to Virginia and from Ohio, Michigan, Illinois, and Wisconsin. Most of them drove in, brought by Cornellians who contributed their cars and time for the trip, but thirty-three boys invited by the Cornell Clubs of Chicago and Milwaukee travelled in a special railroad car with their alumni hosts.

Students Entertain Boys

Undergraduates again played a large part in entertaining the prospective Freshmen. The schoolboys were house guests at most of the fraternities for lodging and meals from Friday evening until Sunday morning, and some houses arranged special events for them. Girls of Mortar Board helped to register the boys in Willard Straight Hall and assign them for their rooms. Members of Sphinx Head and Quill & Dagger took the boys on tours of the Campus and the two Senior societies provided an illustrated souvenir booklet about Cornell for the boys to take home with them.

After dinner Friday evening in the fraternity houses, the prospective Cornellians gathered in the Baker Laboratory lecture room for a talk by Director of Admissions Herbert H. Williams '25 and a review of the Cornell Day program. From there they went in groups to the Colleges that interested them, where students and Faculty members were on hand to tell them about the various divisions. Again Saturday morning the boys had opportunity to talk with students and Faculty members in the Colleges and Schools. These meetings were arranged by Assistant Deans J. Dabney Burfoot, Jr., PhD '29, Arts & Sciences, and John F. McManus '36, Engineering; Professors John P. Hertel '34, Agriculture, Donald L. Finlayson, Architecture, and Thomas W. Silk '38, Hotel Administration; and Donald P. K. Dietrich, AM '48, Counselor in the School of Industrial & Labor Relations.

The visitors went to the swimming pool gallery of Teagle Hall for a talk on student activities by Todd M. Jenkins '59, president of Willard Straight Hall, and on athletics by Director Robert J. Kane '34. The boys met the coaches and were taken by them to see the other athletic facilities, while some stayed to swim in the pool. After lunch, some boys went back to Teagle to swim and some braved the rainy afternoon to see the track meet with Harvard and Pennsylvania, the lacrosse game with Yale, and a few got down to see the 150-pound crew beat the Detroit Boat Club on the Lake. Saturday night, boys and alumni were guests at the Glee Clubs and Savage Club show in Bailey Hall.

Alumni Get Together

The alumni "chauffeurs" gathered in the Big Red Barn with members of the University both Friday and Saturday nights, and they were guests of the University for Saturday luncheon in Willard Straight Hall. John Pennington, Jr. '24 presided, and University Vice-President James L. Zwingle, PhD '42, thanked the alumni and their associates in the Clubs for their work in finding and bringing well qualified prospective students to see Cornell. He spoke briefly of some of the problems and plans of the University and said he was trying to find ways "of keeping our most interested alumni better informed." Director Williams thanked the alumni for the Admissions Office and Richard M. Ramin '51, Assistant Director, introduced those present from the Faculty and staff. Alumni Field Secretary William D. Brown '57, who had shared in arranging for Cornell Day, called to his feet Chris J. Valianos '59, chairman of the Interfraternity Council committee that arranged for the fraternity hospitality.

Robert W. Storandt '40, Associate Director of Admissions and secretary of the alumni committee on secondary schools, suggested that to meet competition from other institutions for the best prospective students, it is desirable for alumni to keep in touch with boys after they are accepted for admission. He said that of the 358 high school juniors who attended Cornell Day last year, 194 had applied for admission to the University. Of these, 151 had been accepted to date and the applications of sixteen were still pending. Twenty-one of the 194 had been refused admission and six withdrew their applications before action was taken. He noted that a considerable number of last year's Cornell Day boys have received scholarships, with more still to be awarded.

Youngsters Are Impressed

Many of the boys who came this year spoke of their visit as "an unforgettable experience" and several expressed special appreciation of the hospitality extended by their fraternity hosts. One boy wrote after he returned, "It was the most interesting and enjoyable trip I have ever made." Another said, "I was extremely impressed by the magnificent grounds, buildings, and truly extensive and appropriate courses in the various colleges The courses . . . were very interestingly and appealingly described by the various guides. . . . The most impressive and thrilling part of the entire trip was the way we sub-Frosh were treated by the entire personnel at Cornell, and particularly by the boys at Sigma Phi. We were taken into all their activities and were made to really feel a part of life in the House. The members extended themselves in every possible way. Cornell can and should feel very proud of these fellows, for it was their attitudes and friendliness and general ways of doing things for us sub-Frosh that clinched it in our minds that Cornell would be the best school for us."

Clubs and "Chauffeurs"

To Revise Ithaca Charter

ALUMNI and Faculty members are playing an important part in the revision of Ithaca's fifty-year-old charter. Of nine Ithacans appointed members of the Charter Revision Commission last month, six are Cornellians. The Commission's draft of a new City charter is expected to be voted on in November, 1959.

Its members include Professors Alvin A. Johnson, Plant Breeding, and N. Arnold Tolles, Labor Market Economics; Paul Bradford '18, treasurer of Tompkins County Trust Co.; Mrs. Mary Enders Copeland '27, attorney and wife of Professor Morris Copeland, Economics; Truman K. Powers '30, attorney; and John Marcham '50, city editor of the Ithaca Journal.

Cornell Day Guests See Engineers' Day—Exhibits and demonstrations arranged by students in all the Schools of Engineering and in Architecture attracted some 2000 visitors the afternoon and evening of May 3. In this picture, a Cornell Day guest sights an aircraft gun turret controlled by a servomechanism as others look on in Phillips Hall of Electrical Engineering. Students in charge are Charles H. Thirteen Faculty Members To Retire

FACULTY MEMBERS who will retire June 30 and professors completing twenty years at the University were guests of honor at a dinner sponsored by the Cornell chapter of the American Association of University Professors, May 11, in Willard Straight Hall. Also honored were members of the Faculty who had retired earlier this year. The retiring professors were introduced by Provost Sanford S. Atwood, who paid tribute to the contributions each has made in his field. Dean A. Leon Winsor, PhD '29, Education, responded in their behalf. Vice-president James L. Zwingle, PhD '42, introduced the new members of the "Twenty-year Club" and Professor Richard Bradfield, Agronomy, spoke briefly as their representative. Vice-president for Research Theodore P. Wright discussed some outstanding accomplishments of professors emeriti since their retirement. Professors who will retire June 30 are listed below.

Dean Winsor, who also retires as head of the Department of Rural Education, came to the University in 1927 as a graduate instructor in Rural Education. He became assistant professor in 1931 and professor five years later. From 1944 until 1946, when he was named Director of the School of Education, Dean Winsor was professor of Hotel Management and Director of the Veterans Advisement & Guidance Center. After receiving the AB and MS at University of Utah, he was an instructor at Stanford University and director of teacher training at Weber College in Ogden, Utah. Dean Winsor has done extensive research in physiological psychology and personnel administration and has served as a consultant for industrial and educational organizations. In 1955, he traveled around the world studying Extension programs in Southeast Asia and the Middle East. He will continue to direct a special program here that trains Extension workers for foreign service. Among his professional affiliations are Sigma Xi, Phi Kappa Phi, Phi Delta Kappa, American Psychological Association, and American Association for the Advancement of Science. He and Mrs. Winsor have two daughters, Katherine Winsor '45 and Mrs. Maralyn Winsor Pritchard '45.

A leading authority on diseases of gladiolus and roses, Professor Louis M. Massey, PhD '16, has been a member of the Plant Pathology Department for forty-four years. He came to the Graduate School after receiving the AB in 1912 at Wabash College. After two years as an instructor, he was appointed assistant professor in 1916 and professor and head of the Department in 1922, a post he held until 1950. He was president of the American Rose Society in 1940-41 and received the Society's Gold Medal in 1947. He is a member of many professional and honorary societies, including Phi Beta Kappa, Phi Kappa Phi, Sigma Xi, and Gamma Alpha. He and Mrs. Massey (Margery Leonard), Grad '19-'22, have two children, Louis M. Massey, Jr., PhD '51, and Mrs. Ann Massey Barrett, Grad '56.

Professor Roy G. Wiggans, PhD '19, was appointed instructor in Plant Breeding in 1915, the same year he received the MSA here. After a year at Ohio State as assistant professor of farm crops, he returned as an instructor in 1917 and two years later became assistant professor of Farm Crops. He joined the Plant Breeding Department in 1921 and in 1934 was named professor. He has developed many varieties of hybrid corn and soybean that are suited to the short New York State season. He holds the BS of University of Missouri; is the father of Robert L. Wiggans '40 and Dr. Roy G. Wiggans, Jr. '44.

Engineers & Historian To Leave

Professor Burton A. Jennings '21 has been a member of the Agricultural Engineering Department since he received the BS here. He was appointed instructor in 1922, assistant professor in 1926, and professor in 1938. From 1937-39, he was Extension professor in Agricultural Engineering. He and Mrs. Jennings (Clara Oliver) '21 are the parents of Norman R. Jennings '50.

Professor Forrest B. Wright '22, Agricultural Engineering, received the BS in 1922 and the MS in 1924 after work in the Graduate School. From 1922-34, he was instructor in Rural Engineering and Agricultural Engineering. He became assistant professor in 1943, associate professor a year later, and professor in 1947. He is the author of two books on home electricity and rural water supply and of numerous articles on equipment for homes and farms. A former commissioner for the Cayuga District, Boy Scouts of America, he received in 1947 the Silver Beaver Award, Scouting's highest honor. He and Mrs. Wright (Mildred Deisler) '24 have a son, Paul M. Wright '53.

An authority in the field of ancient history, Professor Max L. W. Laistner, John Stambaugh Professor of History, came to the University in 1925 from University of London where he had been for four years assistant professor of ancient history. He is a graduate of University of Cambridge, where he received the BA in 1912, the MA in 1920, and the LittD in 1944. A corresponding fellow and former vice-president of the Medieval Academy of America, he is the author of many books and articles on Greek and Roman history. Last year, the Cornell University Press published a second edition of his book, Thought and Letters in Western Europe. He has been John Stambaugh Professor since 1940.

A native of Ithaca, Professor Carl

Insurance Men Win Prize—Syracuse agency of Massachusetts Mutual Life Insurance Co. won the President's Trophy for the best over-all operation in 1957 among the company's ninety-seven agencies. Harry C. Copeland, Jr. '40, general agent for the Syracuse district, is pictured seated at his desk. The others are Cornellians in his agency. From left, with their offices if other than Syracuse, are Charles W. Skeele '24, Cortland; Paul J. Weimer '42, Utica; Alexie N. Stout '38; Walter W. Schlaepfer '51 & R. Selden Brewer '40, Ithaca; Edward T. Peterson '48; Lauren E. Bly '38, Ithaca; Richard L. Stevenson '51, Cortland; Carman B. Hill '49, Ithaca.

Crandall '12, Administrative & Civil Engineering, joined the Faculty as an instructor in 1913, a year after receiving the CE. His father was Clayton Crandall '78 and his uncle was Professor Charles L. Crandall '72 who headed the College of Civil Engineering. Professor Crandall is secretary of the Engineering College Faculty and in 1948 was acting head of the School of Civil Engineering. He was consulting engineer to the Genesee State Park Commission, chief engineer of Enfield Falls State Reservation, and since its establishment has been secretary-engineer of Finger Lakes State Parks Commission. In 1934, he was the New York State representative in the US Coast & Geodetic Survey. He is president of Ithaca Savings & Loan Association. His daughters are Mrs. Nancy Crandall Johnson '46 and Mrs. Susan Crandall Whitaker '52.

Three in Home Economics Retire

Professor Lemo T. Rockwood leaves the Department of Child Development & Family Relationships after twenty-three years as a member of the Home Economics Faculty. She came to Cornell in 1935 as assistant professor and a year later was appointed professor. She formerly taught home economics at Nebraska Wesleyan University and at Lewis Institute in Chicago. From 1932-35, she was a field worker in child development for the American Home Economics Association. A member of Phi Beta Kappa and Phi Kappa Phi, Mrs. Rockwood is the author of three books on marriage and family life. She holds the BS of University of Nebraska and the MA of Teachers College, Columbia.

Professor Margaret Hutchins, PhD '43, has been head of the Department of Home Economics Education since 1946. She was supervisor of home economics in the New York State Education Department from 1929-35. She became instructor in Rural Education and director of home economics in the Ithaca public schools in 1935, assistant professor in 1943, associate professor in 1944, and professor in 1946. She received the BS in 1920 and MA in 1924 at Teachers College, Columbia.

Professor Dora W. Erway, Housing & Design, retires after thirty-six years on the Home Economics Faculty. She came in 1922 as assistant professor of Household Art and was named associate professor in 1945. From 1944-46, she was acting head of the Department of Household Art. Mrs. Erway has had her paintings exhibited in many major American cities, including New York City, Chicago, Philadelphia, Boston, and Santa Fe. Many of her paintings have been published in French art magazines. She is a former chairman of the related art committee of the American Home Economics Association.

Dr. Charles T. Olcott, MD '16, leaves

the Medical College in New York City, June 30, after thirty-two years as a member of the Pathology Department. A graduate of Princeton, where he received the AB in 1911, Dr. Olcott was appointed instructor in Pathology in 1926 and associate professor in 1943. He has been attending pathologist at The New York Hospital since 1927. He is a member of the American Association of Pathology & Bacteriology, the New York Pathological Society, and a fellow of the New York Academy of Medicine.

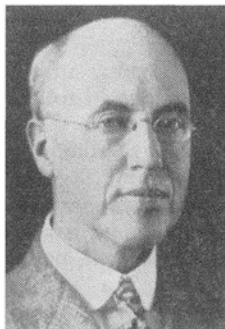

Also retiring from the Medical College is Dr. William F. MacFee, Clinical Surgery. Dr. MacFee joined the Faculty in 1936 as associate professor and was appointed professor in 1952. He is attending surgeon at many New York City hospitals, including St. Luke's, Stuyvesant Square, and The New York Hospital. He received the AB at University of Tennessee in 1914 and the MD at Johns Hopkins in 1918.

Professor Mary Klein, head of the Department of Surgical Nursing in the School of Nursing, retires this summer, having completed twenty-six years at the Medical Center. Miss Klein came to the School in 1932, and in 1946 was appointed head of the Department of Medicine & Surgery. When the Department was divided in 1949, she was named head of the Department of Surgery.

Professor Bedell Dies

PROFESSOR Frederick Bedell, PhD '92, Physics, Emeritus, died May 3, 1958, in Pasadena, Cal., where he had lived since his retirement in 1937. He was ninety.

A member of the Faculty for forty-five years, Professor Bedell gained a widespread reputation for his invention of the bone conduction type hearing aid and for his pioneering work in alternating electric currents. One of his early works, Alternating Currents, written in collaboration with Albert C. Creshore, PhD '92, and published in 1893, was for many years the standard treatise on the subject. For his work in these fields and for his invention of the cathode ray oscilloscope, he was honored in 1940 with the award of Modern Pioneer on the American Frontier of Industry by the National Association of Manufacturers. Professor Bedell became interested in another field of research early in 1917 when President Jacob Gould Schurman appointed him as adviser in the establishment of the Army School of Military Aeronautics here. Immediately he began investigating airplane performance and design, and he published several articles and three books on the airplane and the propeller.

When Professor Bedell retired, Professor R. Clifton Gibbs '06, then chairman of the Physics Department, said: "In the earlier part of his service at Cornell, Professor Bedell shared with Professors [Edward L.] Nichols ['75] and [Ernest G.] Merritt ['86] in making this Department one of the leading if not the leading department of physics in this country." With these two colleagues, Professor Bedell founded and for twenty years edited the Physical Review. When the Review became the official publication of the American Physical Society in 1912, he was named managing editor, a post he held until 1923.

Professor Bedell came to Cornell after his graduation from Yale in 1890. He received the MS in 1891 and the PhD in 1892, the same year he was appointed instructor in Physics. He became assistant professor in 1893 and professor in 1904. He was a fellow and former general secretary of the American Association for the Advancement of Science, co-founder of the American Physical Society, former vice-president of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers, and member of Phi Beta Kappa and Sigma Xi. In Pasadena, he continued his research in a laboratory managed by his son-in-law and at California Institute of Technology. His first wife, who died in 1936, was Mary Creshore, MS '94, and one of their two daughters is Mrs. Robert C. Burt (Eleanor Bedell), Sp '20.

To Assess Fraternities

RESIDENT FRATERNITY ADVISERS have organized a committee of their members "to make a thorough study leading to an assessment of the fraternity system and its operation at Cornell." Chairman of the committee is Arthur B. Recknagel, former professor of Forestry, who is adviser for Seal & Serpent. Its other members are Professor Paul P. Van Riper, Business & Public Administration, Beta Theta Pi; Wallace B. Rogers '43, University Manager of Purchases, Theta Chi; David M. Kopko '53, Assistant Director, Placement Service, Kappa Sigma; Walter I. L. Duncan '20, Phi Gamma Delta; and D. Boardman Lee '26, Kappa Alpha.

The group of fraternity advisers has in its membership the advisers of fifty-five of the sixty-three fraternity chapters and men's living associations at the University. Chairman of the group is John L. Munschauer '40, Director of the University Placement Service, adviser for Delta Phi, and the secretary is W. Barlow Ware '47, Assistant Director, Alumni Annual Giving, adviser for Chi Phi.

"OLD McDONALD had a farm" means a lot more to me after I visited one of Cornell's newest and brightest acquisitions: namely, McDonald Farms, near Cortland. Here is probably the finest herd of Guernsey cattle in the United States: a fantastic record of prize winners. Talk about your all-Americans; Cornell will pick up more all-American awards with this herd than in decades of football!

McDonald Farms came to the University last November, the bequest of the late James M. McDonald. It had an appraised value of $731,131. In some respects it was a rich man's toy; passion might be a better word. Its quality was built up at the expense of yearly deficits, sometimes as high as $75,000. The results, in prizes won and in the satisfaction of providing fine breeding stock for the improvement of other Guernsey herds, warranted the dollars spent. With some modifications, it will continue, under administration of the College of Agriculture, to serve the cattle and dairy industry. First modification (to cut the deficit) was to trim the size of the operation by reducing the herd to about 250 and manpower from thirty to twelve, partially by selling off approximately half of the land and installing some labor-saving equipment in barns and silos. The $85,844 from the land has been put into an endowment fund. Milk is sold at a premium as "Golden Guernsey" in Cortland; cattle sales will be the other source of income. 840 acres still remain.

My visit to the farm was most interesting. A bus-load went, chaperoned by Professors Kenneth L. Turk, PhD '34, and George W. Trimberger, Grad '45-'46, of the Animal Husbandry Department. In the party were President Malott, Deans William I. Myers '14, Agriculture, and William A. Hagan, MS '17, of the Veterinary College and others from the University. We were met by K. C. Sly, McDonald's manager of many years standing, who introduced us to most of the animals personally. They were beautiful. He told us of selling one bull to a customer who complained of his ugliness. "Just shut your eyes and breed him," was the answer; the resulting progeny proved his case.

I never saw such big Guernseys! Size, and resultant milk capacity, is the main aim. If Guernseys can be bred that will approach Holsteins in volume, even at the expense of some butter-fat, which is not so important these days, they can compete, largely because of the golden Guernsey color. This color results because Guernseys, Jerseys, and Alderneys do not convert the carotene in their feed into colorless Vitamin A; the carotene is just as healthful for humans and the color in the milk is an added attraction.

Jim McDonald must have been quite a person. He came from Missouri. His youth was an Horatio Alger story of work. He was associated with J. C. Penney in the very first Penney store. Then after six years of getting other experience, Penney got him back and he went on to become vice-president in charge of merchandising and apparently pretty much everything else. He left a tremendous mark on the Penney organi-

Story of Success

Law Alumni Hear Cabinet Member

ABOUT 400 ALUMNI of the Law School, wives, and guests attended the annual Lawyer's Reunion at the University, May 9 & 10. Opening meeting, Friday afternoon, was devoted to the Law School Fund, for which Lauman Martin, LLB '35, is national campaign chairman this year. Dean Gray Thoron told of the uses made of this Fund given by alumni of the School, for Faculty salaries, student aid, the Library. Walter G. Bruska '50, director for the Fund, said that gifts thus far this year totalled $40,907 from 921 contributors. For last year ending June 30, the Fund reached $46,357 from 941 givers.

US Attorney General Speaks

Reunion dinner that evening in the Statler Hall ballroom was served to 295 persons, the largest number ever. Guest of honor and the principal speaker was US Attorney General William P. Rogers, LLB '37. He recounted some of the problems of his office. He made clear his opposition to the Jenner-Butler bill, pending before Congress, calling it a "serious mistake" and a threat to the very power and existence of the Supreme Court. The bill would deprive the Supreme Court of jurisdiction in many areas, such as State Bar admission qualifications and contempt of Congress citations. Rogers said that the Department of Justice does not plan to recommend civil rights legislation this year, since there seems little chance of such legislation passing Congress. He said that the Federal Government must move cautiously in the field of civil rights and must get the support of courts and win all cases brought to trial. As examples of successful implementation of the civil rights law, he cited recent cases in Clinton, Tenn. and Hoxie, Ark.

Plans for the future operation of the McDonald Farms include research projects of from five to twenty-five years. Many 4-H Club and F.F.A. youngsters, college students, and interested dairymen visit the place for educational purposes. The J. M. McDonald Foundation is giving financial support for these expenses. The GLF Exchange is sponsoring an investigation of feed utilization. It will be an interesting place to watch.

Dean Thoron described the new Law School residence hall to be built west of Myron Taylor Hall along Cascadilla Gorge. Trustee Emeritus Myron C. Taylor '94 gave $1,000,000 for the building and it will be named for Charles Evans Hughes, who was professor of Law here from 1891-93. Alfred M. Saperston '19, president of the Law Association, was toastmaster.

Recent cases in Clinton, Tenn. and Hoxie, Ark.

Law Association Meets

Saturday morning, the alumni gathered in Myron Taylor Hall for the annual meeting of the Law Association. Judge John D. Bennett '33 of Rockville Centre and Theodore W. Kheel '35 of New York City were elected to three-year terms on the executive committee, succeeding Ralstone R. Irvine '23 and George R. Pfann '24, whose terms expired. Cornelius J. McCarthy, LLB '32, was re-elected to the committee for three years. After the elections, the alumni heard a symposium on the Federal income tax. Participating were Robert J. McDonald '38, who served as chairman, Albert E. Arent '32, and Professors Harrop A. Freeman '29 and Joseph T. Sneed. In Statler Hall that evening, four Classes had Reunion dinners. Their chairmen were Professor Lewis W. Morse, LLB '28; Sherman T. Rock, LLB '38; Orrie P. Stevens and Stanley Beriman for the Class of '48; and Professor Norman Penney, LLB '53.

Professor W. David Curtiss '38, as secretary-treasurer of the Law Association, was in charge of arrangements for the Reunion.

Teams Make Good Showings

CLIMAX of the spring season, May 17, was highly successful for Cornell. The track team grandly won the Heptagonal championship at Annapolis, Md. The lacrosse team remained undefeated and is causing a terrific stir about this game that has been played at Cornell for seventy years, but never to such popular appeal. And the 150-pound crew lost the championship by less than a foot to Harvard, on the Charles River. The Varsity baseball team won over Princeton and Columbia, May 16 & 17. So things were going pretty well, even if some handsome hardware was being removed each week from the Schoellkopf trophy case as the heavyweight oarsmen find it difficult to live up to the glittering exploits of the immediate past.

Track Team Repeats in Heptagonals

1. Cornell, 63½
2. Navy, 40
3. Yale, 38½
4. Army, 37
5. Harvard, 34½
6. Penn, 32¾
7. Princeton, 13
8. Columbia, 4
9. Brown, 3
10. Dartmouth, 0

Contributing to one of the greatest years in Cornell track, the 1958 team annexed all the Ivy League honors surrounding this sport when it won the outdoor Heptagonals by a whopping margin. The cross-country title last fall, the indoor track title last March, and now the outdoor meet: a clean sweep!

The startling performances of Coach Lou Montgomery's men left the others bewildered and weary. Six first places in sixteen events (scoring in twelve events) and a surprising show of strength where none was figured made the meet a runaway. It was not unexpected that Irvin Roberson '58 would win the 100-yard dash and the broad jump, but the performances on this brisk and windy day of 0:09.6 to tie his own Cornell record in the 100, and 24 feet 7¾ inches in the broad jump, were superb. He also took second in the 220. Co-captain John S. King '58 broke the Cornell record and the Heps record with his 6 feet 6¾ inches, and this was not astonishing. Nor even was Roger L. Garrett '58 with his 52 feet 10¾ inches for a new Cornell record as he took second in the shotput. Michael Midler '58 was supposed to win the mile run, which he did in 4:17.3.

But how about Paul K. Boguski '58 and Nathaniel J. Cravener '59? Boguski won the hammer throw with his best ever by eight feet, 177 feet 7 inches, and Cravener won the two-mile run, and beat three former champions in doing it, with a highly creditable 9:22.3. Arthur Reider of Harvard, 1956 indoor and outdoor winner, David C. Eckel '58, the 1958 indoor winner, and Edward Sullivan of Brown, 1957 indoor winner, were left gasping at his heels. Reider was twenty yards behind Cravener. It is only the second race Nat has won as a Varsity performer. Neither Boguski nor Cravener were picked to score at all. Ed Bagdonas of Army, indoor winner and record setter, was so upset by Boguski that he did not place. He was picked as "Outstanding Performer" in the indoor meet. David C. Heasley '60 was also a happy surprise. He placed second in the lows and fourth in a close high hurdles race. Charles H. Hill '59 ran a courageous race to take second in the 880. Frank A. Wyskiel '58 threw the javelin 200 feet 9 inches for his best distance.

John King's high jump record supersedes that of Alma W. Richards '17, who jumped 6 feet 5 in the 1915 Penn Relays. Roger Garrett surpassed the shotput record of 52 feet 4½ that he tied in the Harvard, Penn meet, May 10, and which was set originally by Richard M. Allman '57 in 1957.

Outdistance All Competitors

Army, which gave the Cornellians a close fight indoors, was a panting fourth. The Cornell performance could have been put on only by a spirited, well-conditioned, well-coached team. The summary:

Hammer throw—1, Paul Boguski, Cornell, 177 feet 7 inches; 2, John Dumoulin, Harvard, 174-5½; 3, Al Dorris, Army, 171-9; 4, James Doty, Harvard, 170-8; 5, Frederick Cooper, Yale, 168-2.

Mile run—1, Mike Midler, Cornell; 2, Jerry Lewis, Army; 3, Thomas Cathcart, Yale; 4, James Wade, Yale; 5, John Jerbasi, Penn. 4:17.3.

440—1, Peter Byrne, Army; 2, Robert Skerritt, Yale; 3, Albert Gordon, Harvard; 4, John Dettbarn, Navy; 5, Edward Holahan, Yale. 0:48.4.

100—1, Irvin Roberson, Cornell; 2, Luther Smith, Navy; 3, George Van Houten, Navy; 4, Walter Shaw, Penn; 5, Denis Dice, Army. 0:09.6.

120 high hurdles—1, Joel Landau, Harvard; 2, Donald Cohen, Columbia; 3, David Cutcomb, Navy; 4, David Heasley, Cornell; 5, Glen Kelly, Princeton. 0:14.2.

Javelin—1, Wayne Morris, Navy, 234 feet 1 inch; 2, Douglas Ayres, Princeton, 209-11; 3, Frank Wyskiel, Cornell, 200-9; 4, Carl Pescosolido, Harvard, 197-11; 5, Alasdair Swanson, Navy, 104-8 (Morris' throw of 234-1 betters the previous meet record of 225-9½ set in 1925 by Robert Allison of Navy and the stadium record of 233-5 set in 1952 by William Milled).

Shotput—Carl Shine, Penn, 55 feet 5 inches; 2, Roger Garrett, Cornell, 52-10¾; 3, William Markle, Yale, 52-2; 4, Keith Mance, Army, 51-6¾; 5, George Green, Yale, 50-½.

Pole vault—1, John Grey, Penn, 14 feet 4½ inches; 2, Robert Beaton, Navy, 14-½; 3, John McMichael, Navy, 13-0; 4, (tie) Karl Prunitsch, Army; John Young, Army; Samuel Halaby, Harvard; Barney Bertzinger, Penn, 12-6. (Gray's jump of 14-4½ sets a new meet record; previous record was 14-0 held by Joseph Perlow, Army, set in 1952).

880—1, John Slowik, Yale; 2, Charles Hill, Cornell; 3, Ron Salter, Army; 4, Eugene Shahan, Princeton; 5, William Hanne, Army. 1:58.

220—1, Peter Harwood, Princeton; 2, Irvin Roberson, Cornell; 3, Arthur Smith, Navy; 4, Irving Dardik, Penn; 5, Walter Shaw, Penn. 0:22.

220 low hurdles—1, Joel Landeau, Harvard; 2, David Heasley, Cornell; 3, Milton McHenry, Navy; 4, John Madigan, Army; 5, David Rosenthal, Harvard. 0:23.7.

Two-mile—1, Nathaniel Cravener, Cornell; 2, Arthur Reider, Harvard; 3, David Eckel, Cornell; 4, Edward Sullivan, Brown; 5, Richard Greene, Army. 9:22.3.

Broad jump—1, Irvin Roberson, Cornell, 24 feet 7¾ inches; 2, Robert Reed, Penn, 23-4¾; Randolph Teague, Navy, 23-3; 4, John King, Cornell, 23-0; 5, Frank Covely, Brown, 22-6.

High jump—1, John King, Cornell, 6 feet 6¾ inches (new meet record; old record 6-5½ set by Dick Phillips of Brown in 1949); 2, (tie) William Fay, Army; John DeKiewit, Harvard, 6-2; 4, (tie) Gerald Knapp, Cornell; Albert Leisenring, Yale, 6-0.

Mile relay—Yale (Edward Holohan, William Wardorf, Robert Skerritt, John Slovik), 3:17.8; 2, Army (Jerry Betts, Grant Schaefer, Ron Salter, Peter Byrne), 3:18.1; 3, Navy, 3:19.1; 4, Harvard, 3:21.9; 5, Penn, 3:23.3.

Discus—1, William Stack, Yale, 154 feet; 2, William Markle, Yale, 147-8½; 3, Ted Simroe, Army, 138-3½; 4, Paul Mankowich, Navy, 140-8½; 5, Tom Clarg, Army, 138-3½.

Some fine performances by the track men in beating Harvard and Penn, May 3 on Schoellkopf Field, and Princeton at Princeton, May 10, seem fairly tame after the Heptagonal triumph. The triangular affair in Ithaca was figured to be a close duel between Harvard and the Big Red. The score was Cornell 74½; Harvard 56½; Penn 42. The meet was held in a pouring rain, but there were some fine performances nevertheless, and there was a good Cornell Day crowd there to see it in spite of the weather. Roberson won the 100 and broad jump and set a meet record in the latter with 23 feet 7½ inches in an event held in Bacon Cage because of the sodden runway. Penn's Carl Shine set a meet and Schoellkopf Field record with 56 feet 3¾ in the shotput. Garrett tied Dick Allman's record of 52 feet 4½ in taking second. John Gray of Penn pole vaulted 13 feet 6 inches for another meet record and that was in the Cage, too.

Tussle at Princeton

Princeton gave the high falutin' Big Red team a good tussle, but succumbed, 75-65, at Palmer Stadium, May 10. Roberson's meet record of 0:09.6 also broke the Cornell 100-yard record of 0:09.7 which he and three others have shared. They were pretty good country movers too: Henry A. Russell '26, Richard F. Hardy '34, and Charles E. Shaw, Jr. '43. Roberson's 24 foot 5 inch broad jump tied the dual meet record set by F. Morgan Taylor of Princeton in 1952. Before he went home, Bo took the low hurdles in 0:23.9. Mike Midler ran the mile in 4:15.8 to break the meet record of 4:17.8 set by Joseph R. Mangan '34 in 1932.

The Freshman track men took a good lacing, 82-49, from Penn State, May 10 on Schoellkopf Field. Cornell's John E. Winter of Charleston, W.Va. won the high hurdles in 0:15.4, the lows in 0:25.2. Other Cornell winners were Peter W. Brandeis of New Rochelle with a 1:58.7 half-mile; Nicholas H. Niles of Carbon-dale, Pa. with 43 feet 9½ in the shotput; Robert J. Huenerfauth of Massapequa with 5 feet 9¾ in the high jump.

Lacrosse Stirs Record Crowds

The undefeated Varsity lacrosse team has created a sensation on Campus. It is a swashbuckling group that plays the game as though life and limb were not precious things at all, at all. League honors hinged on the last game, with Princeton at Princeton, May 24, the Tigers likewise undefeated in League play.

Yale was a disgruntled 13-6 loser on Upper Alumni Field, May 3. The Cornell midfield gave the Elis an unmerciful going over; all legal, too; although the uninitiated among the 1500 onlookers were seen to wince. Sophomore Stuart M. Pindell, nineteen years old, scored 3 and old timer George W. Bogar '59, twenty-five and a five-year veteran of the Air Corps, scored 2. So did Robert B. Hoffman '58, son of Professor Melvin B. Hoffman, PhD '34, Pomology.

Penn State gave the Cornellians a tussle at University Park, May 7. It went to overtime before the Red came out on top, 8-6. Again it was the midfield that predominated. Footballers Bruce W. Pfann '59, Gerard A. Cerand '60, and John W. Webster '59 were rough and always ready. Penn was an easy victim, 11-3, May 10 at Philadelphia. Richard H. Murphy '58, son of the former world professional wrestling champ, "Dropkick" Murphy, had 3 goals.

The big one was supposed to be Syracuse, May 14 on Lower Alumni Field, but it was a 13-5 rout. But not before some fine lacrosse was played and some anxious moments experienced. It was the first time in sixteen years Cornell has beaten Syracuse and it was Coach Ross H. Smith's first win over the Orange. There were 2500 highly vocal partisans present, and "partisans" was never more aptly used. Bogar got 4 and Murphy and Hoffman each scored 3 for Cornell. If it had not been for the full-blooded Onondaga Indian goalie, Oren Lyons, Syracuse would have been a more disheartened loser. He made thirty saves. Cornell got seventy-seven shots to a mere eleven for the Orange. The penalties were even, four apiece. But the Syracusans seemed to be taking the lickings.

Hobart was no match for the Red war-

Championship Polo Players & Gift Horses—Varsity polo team beat Yale, 20-4, for the National Collegiate championship. The five players standing are holding ponies that were given to the University this year, seven by W. G. Reynolds of Louisville, Ky. and one by A. D. Beveridge of Delray Beach, Fla. Palm Beach Polo Club also sent a gift of $2945 for use in polo activities. The husband of Mrs. Stephen Sanford (Mary Dungan) '24 of West Palm Beach is a trustee of the Palm Beach Polo Club.

riors, May 17, as a Lower Alumni Spring Day crowd of 1200 watched the local heroes take a 14-5 decision. Eight Cornellians figured in the scoring. Bruce Pfann sparkled as usual. It was the seventy-sixth game of this old rivalry. Cornell has won 43; Hobart, 29; and there were three ties.

Freshman lacrossers are doing well, too. Their only loss was the first game, to Colgate, 7-6. They defeated Penn State, 9-7, at University Park, May 7; tied Syracuse Lacrosse Club, 9-9, on Alumni Field, May 10; defeated Syracuse, 7-4, at Syracuse, May 14; and took Hobart, 9-5, at Geneva, May 17.

Baseball Team Climbs in League

Two fine victories over the week end of May 16 & 17 boosted Cornell to fourth place in the Eastern Intercollegiate Baseball League with four wins, two losses; but it appeared Harvard, with seven wins, no losses, was a safe winner. Dartmouth had 6, 2; Penn, 5, 2.

Cornell defeated Princeton at Princeton, May 16, by a 12-3 score and Columbia was a 4-3 victim in New York the next day. Fine pitching and timely hitting offset some ordinary fielding to win these games. Pitcher Theodore A. Thelander '58 of Indianapolis, Ind. allowed nine hits by Princeton, but fanned ten and hit a triple to help the Cornell cause. It was his third win of the season, with one loss. Cornell had nineteen hits for its 12 runs and there were three Princeton pitchers on the mound.

Sophomore hurler Larry Fuller had the Columbia Lions under his spell until the ninth, when he had to have the relief pitching of Robert M. List '59 to get him out of trouble. Having held Columbia scoreless until the ninth, the big Sophomore succumbed to fatigue. He walked two and was whacked for a triple and 2 runs when Coach George Patte called on List. List fanned one. A single brought in the third Lion run. He fanned the next man and the next one grounded out to second. Shortstop Robert J. Flynn '58 of Ithaca, back in the lineup again after an injury to his ribs in the Pittsburgh game, April 18, had two hits, as did Michael H. Kaufman '60, third baseman from East Rockaway.

Brown was beaten, 5-2, on Hoy Field, May 10, as Thelander allowed only two hits while he and his teammates collected twelve. Thelander got three himself for a perfect day at the plate. In five innings, Ted retired the side in order and fired only 129 pitches during the game. He fanned ten batters. Kaufman had four hits in five times at bat, but center fielder Ronald C. Muzii '59 had the game's only extra-base hit with a double in the first inning.

Beat Syracuse Again

Syracuse had been an easier victim at Syracuse than it was May 13 on Hoy Field. Cornell won, 9-8, in the last half of the ninth and it had to receive the benefit of some timely Syracuse errors to do it. Pitchers List and Fuller had to be rescued by Thelander. List lasted only two innings. Fuller got by for five and a half before Thelander came in with the bases loaded, none out. After giving up a walk, a single, and a run, he settled down and got the side out without further difficulty. It was 8-8 going into the ninth. Garrison H. Davidson '58 was walked and he stole second. An easy double-play ball was thrown wide by Syracuse footballer Dan Fogarty and Davidson came home for the winning run.

Lose To Dartmouth

A wild sixth inning in which three Cornell errors led to 8 Dartmouth runs produced an 11-4 shellacking for the Varsity at Hanover, May 2. Otherwise, the game was well played and the teams were well matched. The Yale game scheduled at New Haven for May 3 was rained out.

Freshman baseballers rained out of an Ithaca College game, May 3, and with Colgate at Hamilton, May 7, apparently lost their touch. The May 9 game with Cortland State Teachers junior varsity on Hoy Field was a 14-2 rout. The Cortland team got twenty hits. The game was stopped in the eighth because of cold weather. The yearlings got back in the winning column, May 13, by defeating Syracuse at Syracuse, 11-10. Left-hander Robert Marciniak of Watkins Glen saved the game for Richard Allen of Ann Arbor, Mich., who was tired after working five innings. Ithaca College lost to the Freshmen, 6-2, on the Ithaca College field, May 19.

Hardware Disappears

Varsity crew has been involved in three close ones this season, none of which it has won. Syracuse won the Goes Trophy, May 3 at Annapolis, by an estimated two feet over the Red oarsmen and Navy was third; May 10, Yale won the Carnegie Cup at Princeton by less than half a length over the Cornellians. Princeton was third. In the sprint championships at Princeton, May 17, Penn took Cornell in the trials by an alleged margin of a foot. There was no dispute about it. It was just close. Penn's time was 5:59.2; Cornell's, 5:59.3. It was the fastest heat by a wide margin. So Cornell did not get into the finals, but it won the consolation race over Princeton, Navy, and Wisconsin in 6:01 over the 2000-meter Lake Carnegie course to place an automatic fifth.

Yale won the race in 5:54.4 for a new Carnegie Lake record, beating the 1948 record set by Cornell in the Olympic trials. Penn was second and third-place Harvard crew had a safe second until its stroke oar, Bob Lawrence, was heaved from the boat when he caught a crab 200 yards from the finish. Syracuse was fourth. Penn won the junior varsity in 6:04.5. Navy was second; Cornell, third; and Yale was fourth. Harvard's freshman boat won in 5:57.7. Penn was second in 5:58.8; Navy, third, 5:59.4; Cornell, fourth, 6:01.5. Penn won the Rowe Cup, held here the last three years, for its second place in the varsity, first in junior varsity, and second in the freshman race.

Coach R. Harrison Sanford was not dissatisfied with the showing of his Varsity boat. "I have switched the boys around so much the boat has not had a chance to develop as a unit. I believe we have a sound combination now." The boatings at the sprint championships:

VARSITY—Stroke, John Meakem; 7, Ralph Cornwell; 6, Dick Boerner; 5, Herb Roes; 4, Bob Knowles; 3, Dick Phillips; 2, Rick Dyer; bow, Ted Buettner; coxswain, Ron Schroeder.

JUNIOR VARSITY—Stroke, Gaines Post; 7, Harold Craft; 6, Richard Schwartz; 5, Dave Knight; 4, Glenn Light; 3, Don Puschin; 2, Dave Merwin; bow, Bob Banta; coxswain, Tatsuo Matsushita.

FRESHMEN—Stroke, Tom Gittins; 7, Donald Johnes; 6, Larry Bortles; 5, Bill Wiseman; 4, David Haworth; 3, Don Spero; 2, Harry Moseley; bow, Ronald Reitmeyer; coxswain, Mike Hoffman.

Lightweight Crew Comes Close

Deprived of the Eastern Association of Rowing Colleges lightweight championship by a margin of less than a foot was the unhappy fate of the 150-pound Varsity crew, May 17 on the Charles River. Harvard won in 7:25.8 and Cornell was given 7:25.9. Princeton was third. It was the first loss this season for the Cornellians. They had recorded the fastest time in the trials, 7:23.5, and Harvard had 7:24. A strong headwind was blowing in the afternoon finals. Harvard took an easy lead and Cornell caught the Crimson boat, but could not pass it. They were never more than a half-length apart over the mile-and-five-sixteenths course. Both had a fine finishing sprint.

Cornell was fifth in the junior varsity, also won by Harvard in 7:51.8. Princeton was third. Harvard made it a clean sweep by taking the freshman event and Cornell was second. The Cornell boatings:

VARSITY

Bow, Wallace Foster; 2, Daniel Panshin; 3, Dale Goodfriend; 4, Richard Rittenhouse; 5, Philip Platt; 6, Alan Bowes; 7, Thomas Morrow; stroke, Robert Nerad; coxswain, Phillip Herkenhoff.

JUNIOR VARSITY

Bow, Jeff Leffingwell; 2, David Watts; 3, Terrence West; 4, Harry Kaiser; 5, Philip Bowes; 6, Carl Volkmann; 7, Jere Buckley; stroke, Bill Moseley; coxswain, Michael Gershon.

Bow, Anthony Seaver; 2, Daniel Morrell; 3, Bruce Osadchey; 4, David Gordon; 5, Clyde Crumpacker; 6, Daniel Robinhood; 7, Edward Earl; stroke, Charles Dann; coxswain, Terry Gardner.

Detroit Boat Club and Syracuse were defeated by the 150-pound Varsity eight on Cayuga Lake, May 3. The Junior Varsity and Freshmen took Syracuse in the other two races over a mile-and-five-sixteenths course.

May 10, MIT and Columbia lost to the lightweight Varsity on the Harlem River in New York City. The Junior Varsity was third behind Columbia and MIT and the Freshmen won; Columbia was second; MIT third. Time of the varsity race was 7:36 for the mile and five-sixteenths.

Other Sports

VARSITY TENNIS team did not win a match until it met Syracuse, May 12 on the Cascadilla Courts, when it took an 8-1 decision. It has lost only one since. It did not lose to Penn, May 3 at Ithaca, because rain cancelled the match. But it did lose to Dartmouth at Hanover, May 10, 7-2. And then it began to win. The big upset was provided by P. Kay Champion '60, who won the No. 1 match from Dartmouth's touted Richard Hoehn, 0-6, 6-1, 6-4. Penn State, May 14 at Ithaca, was beaten by the Red, 6-3, and Navy was an unexpected loser, May 17, to the improving Cornellians, 5-4, on the Cascadilla Courts. The lower end of the ladder was strong for Cornell as the summary testifies:

Singles: Griffiths (N) beat Champion, 6-3, 7-5; Johnson (N) beat Downs, 6-2, 3-6, 6-2; Sun (C) beat Hansen, 6-1, 6-2; Miscall (C) beat Stamp, 5-7, 11-9, 6-0; Derr (C) beat Parsons, 8-10, 6-3, 8-6; Temple (N) beat Ball 7-5, 6-4.

Doubles: Griffiths and Hansen (N) beat Champion and Downs, 6-0, 6-2; Sun and Miscall (C) beat Temple and Baker, 0-6, 7-5, 6-3; Derr and Ball (C) beat Johnson and Jim Atkins, 6-4, 6-4.

Golf Team Has First Loss

After winning three straight dual meets, with Bucknell, St. Lawrence, and Syracuse, the Big Red golfers lost a tight one to Penn State, May 17, on the University course, 4-3. There was some glory for Coach George Hall's team captain, Stephen Klein '58, who beat the Eastern Intercollegiate champion, Bill Davidson, by the wide margin of 6 and 5. The Varsity took seventh in the Eastern Intercollegiate meet at New Haven, May 9 & 10. Yale won; Penn State was second; Princeton, third; Syracuse, fourth; Navy, fifth; Boston College, sixth. Sixteen teams were entered.

Freshman golfers won their fourth straight when they defeated Hamilton junior varsity, 7-2, on the University course, May 17.

Sailors Miss Chance

Cornell's sailing team missed a chance to go to the National Championships when it came in fourth in the Eastern Championships at Annapolis, May 10 & 11. The Red was headed for a second place until Clayton D. Root, Jr. '59 was disqualified when his dinghy hit a Princeton boat.

Stanley R. Woolaway '59 of Maui, Hawaii, was elected captain of the 1958-59 Cornell polo team. He is in Agriculture and a member of Beta Theta Pi. Edward R. Eisner '60 of New York City was re-elected manager for next season. In Arts & Sciences, he is a member of Alpha Epsilon Pi.

Mrs. Ruth Chimacoff Macklin, South Orange, N.J.; Sally L. Meiklejohn, Wellesley, Mass.; Jack E. Rosenfeld, Paulsboro, N.J.; Alan N. Schechter, Brooklyn; Stephen A. Schuker, Forest Hills, son of Mrs. Millicent Milchman Schuker, Grad '31; Natalie Shulman, Floral Park; Stanley N. Turetzky, Brooklyn; Thomas H. Wirth, Syracuse.

Phi Beta Kappa Elects

PHI BETA KAPPA chapter at Cornell initiated fifty-six members, May 5. Three were students in the Graduate School and forty were Seniors and twelve, Juniors in Arts & Sciences. Eleanor C. Sosnow '57 of Hillsdale, N.J. was also initiated. Professor William G. Moulton, Modern Languages, chapter president this year, presided at the initiation banquet in Willard Straight Hall and spoke on "Our Explosive Educational System." Janet I. Farnham '58, daughter of Professor William H. Farnham '18, Law, spoke for the new members.

Officers elected for next year are Dean Francis E. Mineka, Arts & Sciences, president; Professor Paul M. O'Leary, PhD '29, Economics, vice-president; Professor George H. Healey, PhD '47, English & Bibliography, secretary; Registrar Walter A. Snickenberger, treasurer. The new members are:

GRADUATE STUDENTS: Lawrence I. Gilbert, Jamaica; Clifford S. Leonard, Jr., Guilford, Conn.; Karl F. Morrison, University, Miss.

CLASS OF '58 (besides Miss Farnham): Michael J. Berger, New York City; Charlotte M. Blomquist, daughter of Professor Alfred T. Blomquist, Chemistry; Joanna Brizdle, Buffalo; Robert L. Clark, Rochester; Julianne G. Cohn, Elizabeth, N.J.; Rita H. Davis, Washington, N.J.; Robert T. Dodd, Jr., Teaneck, N.J., son of Robert T. Dodd '28; Robert L. Dunn, New York City; Margot L. Eckhouse, Glencoe, Ill.; Johanna A. Fromm, Hamburg, Wis.; Cyd Gold, Brookline, Mass.; Alan I. Goldman, Brooklyn; Susan D. Grafman, Rego Park; Robert E. Harkavy, Bronxville; Sandra Hemming, Ithaca; David W. Hill, Livingston, N.J.; Mrs. Beverly Amerman Jones, Brooklyn; Mary E. Ketchum, Ithaca; Irene Lazarus, New York City; Mrs. Arlene Offenhender Lev, Elmhurst; Phyllis J. Levine, Liberty; Judith S. Lockser, New York City; Gerald L. Mandell, New York City; John E. Mawby, Dayton, Ohio; Ellen E. McDonald, Pleasant Valley, Conn., daughter of Mrs. Helen Byrne McDonald, MSinEduc '49; Howard J. An Undergraduate Observes

By Eugene L. Case '59

Spring Day is Quiet

THE SECOND WEEK OF MAY, 1958, somehow lacked that anticipatory glow that we have come to expect of the five or six days preceding Spring Week End. The weather was miserable, foggy and wet and much, much colder than May ought to be; and although the forecasters steadfastly insisted that it would clear by Friday afternoon, no one could quite bring himself to believe it. The Dean of Men gave warning that breaches of good conduct and morality would not be tolerated, and the Interfraternity Council nodded its respective heads and added yes, they mean what they say. In general, there was about the Campus a depressed feeling that all the Count's music and all the Count's men couldn't put Spring Week End back together again.

In the face of such dire warnings and predictions, "Color Crazy" emerged as one of the most successful houseparty week ends Cornell has seen in several years. Much of the credit must go to the previously maligned weather. The sun broke through the clouds at noon Friday, and except for an occasional brief thunder shower which served only to cool the air, stayed with Ithaca all through the week end. The soaring temperature sent partygoers to Taughannock, Buttermilk, and Enfield Glen, where they lay sleepily on the grass, drinking warm beer and listening to a bad band and gradually turning pinker and pinker and red.

"Color Crazy" was complete with the usual week end attractions. From a field of five alluring co-eds, Cornellians chose Cisela R. Edstrom '61 Spring Week End Queen, and Cisela reigned supreme throughout the festivities. (She is the daughter of Bjorn R. Edstrom '25 of Djursholm, Sweden.) Octagon and the Dramatic Club made their usual contributions, and the Saturday night Carnival was a resounding success. The dance in Barton Hall was "Paradise in Pastel," with the Count Basie Orchestra. The float parade was as colorful as ever; winners in the various classes (all of which were on the "color crazy" theme) included "Li'l Black Sambo" by Pi Kappa Alpha, "Old Grey Mare" by Sigma Chi and Delta Gamma, and "Red Hot and Blue" by Kappa Sigma and Kappa Delta. Friday's Sun had several startling "news" items and a listing of the houseparty guests at fifty-six fraternities. There was no water pageant, but Beebe Lake turned bright green Saturday morning, and architects' faces, when consulted, turned bright red, but spokesmen from the College pleaded innocence.

There were, of course, a few new features in the new Week End. One of them was a small booklet distributed to all visiting imports. The pamphlet included tidbits about Cornell traditions and "A Word from Antoine" ("... while you sit on ze libe slope on a blanket weez your amour and listen to le jazz hot..."), but the obvious reason for the whole thing was stated in the centerfold: "Now—the standards you will observe while visiting Cornell: ..." Enumerated there were the several restrictions which made Spring Week End, 1958, a little different from previous houseparties. No mixed company after three a.m., no private parties in individual study rooms, and a very rigid definition of 'the commons area'.

Unquestionably, the University was successful in controlling the Week End atmosphere, and unquestionably Cornell survived this week end with a great deal less lechery and destruction than some in the past. And because "Color Crazy" was a success, a lot of the distaste for the administration's methods will probably disappear. But in retrospect, it does seem to us that the committee on student activities somewhat overestimated the evil that is in the students' hearts, and that probably the same end could have been reached without sacrificing the name of student government and respect for authority as well.

Corinthian Yacht Club has a woman as rear-commodore for the next year. She is Lynn Osgood '59 of Old Greenwich, Conn. Commodore is Robert G. McClellan, Jr. '59 of Chicago, Ill. and David R. McDougal '58 of Rochester is vice-commodore.

K. Peter Kellogg '59 of Larchmont is president of the Student Council for next year. He has been active in student government for three years. As a Sophomore, he was elected second vice-president of the Council, a position that entails co-ordinating the various committees and presiding over the board of managers. Kellogg is in Arts & Sciences and a member of Delta Upsilon. He succeeds Arthur V. N. Brooks '58 of Maplewood, N.J. Elected first vice-president was Jayne M. Diehl '59 of Mechanicsburg, Pa. The new second vice-president is Edward Furtick '61 of White Plains. The Council's election of officers was held a week after the general election in which the studentry selects its Class Councils and representatives-at-large. The general election was marked by protests in which one election was declared void, then permitted to stand when the protesting candidate withdrew his complaint.

John M. Walsh III '58 of Gary, Ind. has been elected editor-in-chief of The Cornell Engineer. Harry A. Fertik '58 of Laurelton is managing editor and Robert M. Bryant '58 of Hanson, Mass. is business manager. All will be fifth-year students next year; Walsh in Chemical Engineering and the other two in Mechanical Engineering.

One of the most inconspicuous of Cornell celebrities is Shelly Mann '61, Olympic swimmer and world record holder who entered Cornell last fall as a Freshman in Arts & Sciences. But one Sunday last month, the Syracuse Post-Standard refocused the spotlight on Shelly, not because of her swimming achievements, but because of the naturalness with which she slipped into Cornell life. As the cover story in its Sunday pictorial, the Post-Standard traced Shelly's path on a typical school day,—and found her a most typical Cornellian.

Debate concerning regulations for student apartments continued through Spring Week End, as Student Council heard the presentation of a report of its committee on apartments. The report, presented by Chairman Glenn H. Wise '57 of Lancaster, Pa., stressed the need for "some degree of privacy in an atmosphere other than that of a party situation." A ruling is to be made by the University committee on student activities.

This year's winner of the Theta Delta Chi Award is James M. Edgar '58 of Chatham, N.J. The award is presented annually to an outstanding Senior who is not a member of the fraternity. It was established by the late Alfred P. Howes '07, who specified that the honor be given to a man whose undergraduate record indicates "those qualities of leadership and initiative likely to make him an outstanding citizen." Edgar, a member of Alpha Delta Phi, is in Chemical Engineering, has won election to Tau Beta Pi, Aleph Samach, and Sphinx Head, and this year served as president of his fraternity.

Women's Athletic Association staged a meet with Alfred women. Cornell lost the rifle, volleyball, and archery contests, but Margaret Imobersteg '61 of Dearborn, Mich. and Donna M. Masterson '61 of Norwich won in tennis.

THE FACULTY

Documentary material on Andrew Dickson White, first President of Cornell, was included in an exhibit celebrating the 100th anniversary of the history department at University of Michigan. White became professor of history and English literature there in October, 1857.

Trustee Walker L. Cisler '22, president of Detroit Edison Co., has been elected a director of National Steel Corp.

The Quill of Sigma Delta Chi for May has an article on Trustee John S. Knight '18 and his weekly "Editor's Notebook" that he has written for the Knight Newspapers for more than twenty-one years. The author is Radford Mobley, Knight's assistant. The "Editor's Notebook" has attracted wide attention for its candid comment on national and world affairs. It is read by more than 2,000,000 people in the United States and by many in foreign countries. It appears in the Akron Beacon Journal, Miami Herald, Detroit Free Press, Chicago Daily News, and Charlotte Observer, and in other newspapers. Knight was twice president of the American Society of Newspaper Editors. He is first vice-president of the Associated Press, a past-president of the Inter-American Press Association, and in 1946 was national honorary president of Sigma Delta Chi. He is also a trustee of University of Miami, Fla. He will deliver the commencement address at Kent (Ohio) State University, June 7.

Alumni Trustee Allan H. Treman '21 has been elected chairman of the Finger Lakes State Park Commission. His father, the late Trustee Robert H. Treman '78, was chairman from the time the Commission was established in 1924 until his death in 1937. Robert H. Treman and Mrs. Treman gave the original portions of Buttermilk Falls, Enfield, and Taughannock Falls State Parks to the State. Professor Carl Crandall '12, Administrative Engineering, was re-elected secretary of the Commission.

Mrs. Roger H. Williams, wife of the late Trustee Roger H. Williams '95, died February 25 in Charlottesville, Va. One of her four sons is Coleman S. Williams '26.

Dean S. C. Hollister, Engineering, joined three other members of the Hoover Commission, April 28, in urging early Senate approval of legislation to modernize Federal budgeting procedures. The Commissioners made public a joint telegram to fifty Senators who sponsored the legislation.

Professor T. Norman Hurd, PhD '36, Agricultural Economics, is a member of a recently appointed special legislative committee on revision and simplification of the New York State Constitution. Nelson A. Rockefeller is chairman of the committee. Professor Hurd is a member of the State Board of Regents and was formerly State Budget Director.

Professor Charles K. Thomas '21, Speech & Drama, has left the University to become professor of speech and director of the English Language Institute for Foreign Students at University of Florida in Gainesville.

He received the AB at Cornell in 1922, MA in 1924, and PhD in 1930. He was instructor in Speech at the University from 1922-26, then spent a year at University of Pittsburgh. Returning, he became assistant professor in 1930, associate professor in 1940, and professor in 1947. He is the author of An Introduction to the Phonetics of American English and Handbook of Speech Improvement; has made an extensive collection of recordings of regional pronunciation. He is assistant editor of the Quarterly Journal of Speech and has served on editorial advisory boards of American Speech and Thorndike-Century, Funk & Wagnalls, and Thorndike-Barnhart dictionaries. He is a former president of the Savage Club. Arthur L. Thomas '52 and Andrew W. Thomas '61 are his sons.

E. William Noland, PhD '44, former assistant professor of Sociology & Anthropology now at University of North Carolina in Chapel Hill, is co-author with Richard P. Calhoun and Arthur M. Whitehill, Jr. of Cases on Human Relations in Management, recently published by McGraw-Hill Book Co.

Four Faculty members contribute to a volume of the Dictionary of American Biography, to be published this month by Charles Scribner's Sons. Professor Guy E. Grantham, PhD '20, Physics, Emeritus, writes on the late Edward L. Nichols '75, professor of Physics at Cornell from 1887-1919 and well known for his research on light. Professor Paul W. Gates, American History, has articles on the late President Livingston Farrand, who was also a psychologist, anthropologist, and public health administrator; and on the late Professor George F. Warren '03, Agricultural Economics. Professor Arthur M. Mizener, English, writes on F. Scott Fitzgerald and Professor John R. Johnson, Chemistry, on Wallace H. Carothers, inventor of nylon.

McGraw-Hill Book Co. has published a sixth edition of Design of Concrete Structures, written by Leonard C. Urquhart '09, formerly professor of Structural Engineering, now with Porter, Urquhart, McCreary & O'Brien, Newark, N.J., consulting engineers; the late Professor Charles E. O'Rourke '17, Structural Engineering; and Professor George Winter, PhD '40, Structural Engineering. The book has 546 pages and is priced at $8. Forty-seven institutions in the United States and a number of others in countries around the world make use of the textbook. Professor Winter was recently made a member of the executive committee of the Column Research Council.

Dean of Women Dorothy V. N. Brooks attended the semi-annual meeting of the Defense Advisory Committee on Women in the Services in Washington, D.C., April 21-22. She was appointed in 1955 to serve on DACOWITS for three years.

Brigadier General John Magruder, USA (ret.), son-in-law of the late President Jacob Gould Schurman, died April 29 in Washington, D.C. He is survived by Mrs. Magruder, the former Helen Schurman, a son, Malcolm Magruder '50, and a daughter, Barbara Magruder.

Dean Francis E. Mineka, Arts & Sciences, will receive the honorary LLD of Hamilton College at commencement, June 8. He graduated from Hamilton in 1929.

Two first prizes were won by Professor Clara Straight, Housing & Design, at a recent weavers' conference in Long Beach, Cal. The awards were for the best design and the most interesting experimental weaving.

Professor Mario Einaudi has been appointed Goldwin Smith Professor of Government. The chair has been vacant since the retirement of Professor Robert E. Cushman, last June.

Instead of sending the pig to market, researchers in the Graduate School of Nutrition are treating it to a square meal to try to find a cure for one of man's most troublesome conditions, heart disease. The team of nutritionists that includes Dean Richard H. Barnes, Professor Ruth N. Lutz '42, Mrs. Eva Kwong, Mrs. Grace Fiala, and Miloslav Rechcigl, Jr. '54 is using swine in hope of finding a control for the level of cholesterol in the blood thought to be involved in the development of coronary heart disease. Three species, man, rats, and swine, are fed the same diet of natural food products to determine their comparative blood cholesterol and blood clotting reactions to fats. Pigs are found to be more nearly like man than rats, so they will be used more extensively in investigating blood-fat problems.

Frances Perkins, former US Secretary of Labor, was appointed visiting lecturer in Industrial & Labor Relations for two months, beginning April 15. She spent six weeks here last fall and several weeks during the spring term of 1957. She and Professor N. Arnold Tolles of the School were invited to attend a conference called by Governor Harriman to discuss a Statewide program to alleviate unemployment.

Trustee Murray Dies

UNIVERSITY TRUSTEE Thomas A. Murray, president of the New York State Federation of Labor, died May 2 in Albany, where he was attending a conference on unemployment. He was appointed by the State Legislature in 1943 to a temporary board of trustees to plan for the School of Industrial & Labor Relations and the University Board of Trustees elected him as one of three new members "from the field of New York State labor" when the School opened in 1945. He was re-elected by the Board every year since and has attended most of the meetings. Murray had been president of the State Federation of Labor for the last fifteen years. He attended Cooper Institute in New York City, became a bricklayer, and was president of the Building & Construction Trades Council of Greater New York from 1936-43. He was a member of the State War Council, Regional War Manpower Commission, State Insurance Board, State Liquor Authority, and New York City Advisory Committee on Labor Problems.

News of the Alumni

Addresses which appear in these pages are in New York State unless otherwise designated. Class columns headed by Class numerals and the names and addresses of the correspondents who write them are principally those of Classes which have purchased group subscriptions to the NEWS for all members. Personal items, newspaper clippings, or other notes about Cornellians of all Classes are welcomed for publication.

'84 BS (S-L), '87 MS—Mrs. Anna Gilmore de Forest, widow of Henry P. de Forest, died January 2, 1958, in Central Valley.

'88 BL—Winchester Fitch lives in Lakeville, Conn., where his address is Box 125. At the age of more than ninety, he hopes to attend Reunions this year.

'94—Dr. Robert J. Terry, since 1941 a professor emeritus of Washington University school of medicine, St. Louis, Mo., lives at The University Club, 607 North Grand Boulevard, St. Louis 3. He has sent to the Cornell University Library reprints of his "Memories of a Long Life in St. Louis, Part IV, Medical and Anatomical Training," reprinted from the Missouri Historical Society Bulletin for January, 1957, and "Skeleton," reprinted from the Encyclopaedia Britannica, 1957. The former includes the two years he spent at Cornell.

Class of '98—The following were present at a '98 luncheon at the Cornell Club in New York, May 5: Wilton Bentley, Dean Clark, Jerry Maquire, Andy McElroy, William M. Smith, Wesley Steele, Andy Tuck, David Willeston, and Mrs. Kagimierz Zaremba (Mary Lane). Plans were made for the Sixty-year Reunion in June.

'98 LLB—Representative Daniel A. Reed (R-NY) received the American Tariff League's annual scroll of honor last fall.

'99 LLB—Otis H. Gardner lives at 418 West Water Street, Elmira. He first practiced law in Elmira with the late Herbert M. Lovell '87. He was city clerk from 1910 until 1914, when he was elected recorder (Criminal Court magistrate) of Elmira. As the candidate of all political parties, he was re-elected from time to time and retired after thirty-four years on the bench. Since then, he has continued to practice law in Elmira.

'00—John R. Bensley, retired vice-president of Mercury Manufacturing Co., lives at 7214 South Shore Drive, Chicago 49, Ill.

'07 ME—Percy L. Arnold of 15 Clifford Street, Portland, Me., has been enjoying retirement for the last five years. He has been spending summers in Portland and winters in Mt. Dora, Fla.

'08 ME—Herbert L. Trube, whose business is corporation life insurance and pension plans, says he is "too busy to retire!" His address is 300 Park Avenue, New York City 22.

'09 CE—Arthur W. Harrington was recently awarded the service emblem of the US Department of the Interior for more than forty-three years of Federal employment. He has been district engineer in the Geological Survey's Water Resources Division office in Albany since 1922. His address is Box 948, 526 Federal Building, Albany 1.

William Palen Rose (above), who writes under the name of Will Rose, has just completed his seventh six months at Ormond Beach, Fla., where he is almost next door neighbor to the ebullient Ray Heath, by whom he had his picture taken, April 21, in front of Ray's 1911 auto license. Bill and "Mrs. Bill," the former Louise Lamberson of Ithaca, continue to maintain their home in Cambridge Springs, Pa., where both of them were up to their necks in business and civic work for forty years. Bill took a job with Lord & Thomas Advertising Agency in Chicago, July 5, following graduation, where he was joined later by Ned Sheridan. Then he went on to New York City, Erie, Pa., and Washington, D.C. newspapers before grabbing off a small hand-set sheet at Cambridge Springs, where he could be top boss and which grew into a group of newspapers in Pennsylvania known as The Will Rose Newspapers. Meanwhile, Bill wrote about small-town sociology in numerous fraternities, made Who's Who in 1925, and since was licked as GOP candidate for Congress in 1924 & 36, served as president of the school board for thirty years, and has emerged as president of the trustees of Edinboro State Teachers College, although he is the only Republican member appointed to the board by Democrat Governor Leader. In retirement, Bill continues to write "Small Town Comment on Big Town Stuff" for the group of newspapers, and other material for magazines and book publishers.

Samuel B. Dicker, Law, resigned as Rochester's mayor because of ill health May 31, 1955, ending a twenty-year career in city government. He was elected east district councilman in 1935, became vice-mayor in 1938, and mayor in 1939. Recently Sam has been confined to the Biggs Hospital, on the Ithaca-Geneva highway about three miles from the center of Ithaca. He appreciates letters and cards from friends in Rochester and visits from friends who have dropped in to see him when traveling past the hospital on Route 96. He hopes to leave the hospital soon and to enjoy some automobile rides with his brother, William A. Dicker '30, and sister-in-law around Cayuga Lake and countryside.

Albert T. Johnson, CE, writes: "Just finished my fifth year of retirement and enjoying it. No fishing. Two four-month trips to Europe, one three-month tour of the East Coast, and just returned from a 5000-mile trip through the Canadian Rockies."

'12 Men—Records are made to be broken, and no one will be ahead of '12 in congratulating '13 if the Forty-fifth this year establishes new high figures. '11 set them two years ago, then '12 topped those old folks. Here's a welcome to our juniors!

Our special interest this June will be in the "off-year" celebration, when the hardy perennials will be back. They realize that in some ways the gatherings between quinquennials offer special and unique attractions. The Campus will miss Joe Grossman's fire truck (watch for it in 1962!), but the very fact of smaller numbers carries the appeal of more chances for casual visiting. The list isn't complete yet, but we are laying twelve to one that most of the Classmates here named will be in Ithaca come Thursday evening, June 12: Kuhn, Jic Clarke, Tschirky, Jack Clark, Krebs, Magoun, Carson, Lane, Cuccia, Bond, Stoddard, Parnes, Baehr, Kaminsky, Swartwood, Cummings, Crouse, Austin, Seager, Ripley, Colman, Rudolph, Flanigan, Newman, Cook, Leinroth, and Specht.

Thanks to the new dormitory units (four years old), nowadays the University is well equipped to house old grads in the off-years as well as on the five-year schedule. And that goes, too, for men with their wives. Drop me a line at Willard Straight Hall if you can make it this year. Better yet; telephone or telegraph.

The Continuous Reunion Club is one of Cornell's important traditions. Its roots go back half a century and more, to the days when Clarence (Kid) Kugler '03 and kindred souls planted the seed. Early last month the crowd met for dinner in special honor of R. W. (Cy) Weed '09, now the Club's chief potentate. '12 men outnumbered the other Classes represented, with Si Crounse, Walt Kuhn, Jack (Crab) Magoun, Walt Rudolph, and Lee Tschirky. Jack Stoddard (in absentia because he was at Ithaca shepherding prospective Freshmen to Cornell Day) was elected secretary. So often does election to office seem to be the reward for absence. Certainly it's never safe to complain about the deplorable conditions around any clubhouse unless the griping member yearns to become chairman of the house committee.

CLASS REUNIONS IN ITHACA, JUNE 13 & 14

'98, '03, '08, '13, '18, '23, '28, '33, '38, '43, '48, '53, '55

Fritz Krebs stopped by the other day. He was in Ithaca for the Chi Phi initiation. What a record Fritz can point to! Without one break, he's been at every Chi Phi initiation since his own, back in 1908. Another unbeaten mark is Jack Magoun's: He hasn't missed a Pennsylvania game on Franklin Field since his Freshman year. Showing the way to Classmates was the greatest record-holder of them all, William T. (Billy) Morris '73. Billy came over from Penn Yan to inspect this new Cornell, in June, 1869. He stayed on for the Commencement exercises, and then enrolled as a Freshman. He died in 1928, with an unbroken string of every Commencement from 1869 to 1928.

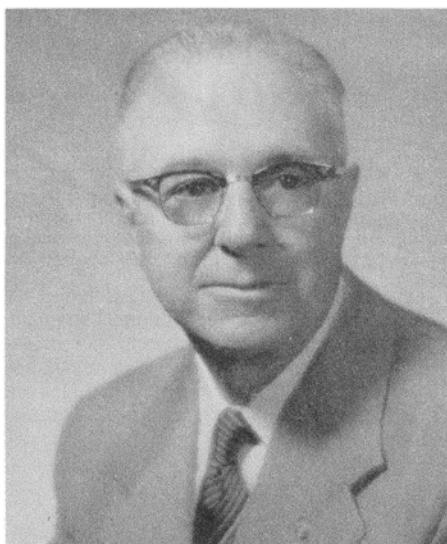

And speaking of records, it's heartening to note that '12 men and women have five grandchildren in this year's Freshman Class. That may not be any record, but it does seem like a lot of grandchildren in one Class. The progenitors are Jake Fassett, Ray Sturges, John McCurdy, Roy Strempel, and James Sourwine. Sharing at least equal honors with Roy is Cynthia Seelye, his Classmate-wife. In the case of all but Sourwine the parents of those Freshmen are also Cornell alumni.—Foster Coffin

Well, here goes the last '13 column before our Forty-five-year Reunion get together. As of May 1, Freddie Norton listed 158 who are definitely going and 23 more who are in the "hope to, plan to, probable" class. If you are not in that bunch, you had better pack your bag and take off for Ithaca. June 13 & 14 are the dates. Otherwise, you'll miss seeing those 175-200 '13ers who will be there. And those '13ers will miss seeing you. A mutual loss, both ways.

Am relieved to learn George Rockwell and Ses Sessler will be with us. They have been circulating in other parts of the world and I was beginning to fear they might not get home in time. But they both just landed back in the good old USA. George from a two-month stay in Italy and Spain, and Ses from a five-month jaunt visiting Japan, Formosa, Hong Kong, Vietnam, Thailand, Cambodia, Indonesia, Malaya, Ceylon, "and all points East," and Italy. So we can relax now. It will be a regular Reunion. They'll both be there.

One person who unfortunately cannot come is Pop (Herman G.) Curtis of Bass River, Mass. Pop is seriously ill in the Veteran's Hospital. I know it would cheer him up if he could receive some get-well cards from those of you who knew him.

This last column before the Reunion should really be illustrated, so here is a picture (above) of Sam (Samuel B.) Scudder, 324 Lucas Avenue, Kingston. Sam retired as president of Safford & Scudder, Inc., registered jewelers of the American Gem Society, January 1, 1957. Then since July, 1957, he has been very busy as district governor of Rotary International. His term expires June 30. Sam feels this past Rotary year has been a most rewarding experience, as he has had the opportunity to make many enduring friendships with people from 108 different countries. He is coming back to our 45th to renew friendships here, too.

One more thing about Sam. You will recall his piano playing ability back in those undergraduate days. He kept that up after graduation, managing a music store and for a time became pianist for an orchestra in Florida. He was also accompanist for the Mendelssohn Club, a male glee club, in Kingston. But, in addition to jewelry and music, I've just discovered he has another talent (?). He submitted a poem in the "column," "Southard", "South Bend, Ind." rhyming contest instituted by Tris Antell last February. So he's a poet. Please understand I'm using that word in its broadest and most liberal sense. I have also received a number of other so-called "poems", again using that same free interpretation. I might say many are not actually poems, but rather blank verse; in fact some of the blankety blankest blank verse I've ever read.

Tally (George) Tall, 330 Bickley Road, Glenside, Pa., is another who retired last September after forty-two years with Leeds & Northrup Co. His avowed purpose for retiring was to give more time to his nine grandchildren. He'll be back too, in spite of those responsibilities.

So long for now. See you in a few days.

'14 Emerson Hinchliff 400 Oak Avenue Ithaca, N.Y.

This column has accumulated some readers from other Classes, largely because they don't want to miss an occasional titillating tidbit of belles-lettres from one or another of my talented parishioners. Frank Sullivan is one of my best crutches; I wish I could be as funny as that particular crutch! He wrote about the Liberty Hyde Bailey first-day cover and stamp as follows:

Seeing his portrait on the envelope brought back memories of him on the Campus, including a Sunday night visit to his home one time, when he read RLS to us. You and I have a complete set of memories. I astonished a young Cornell student recently by telling him that I, along with my generation at Cornell, was accustomed to seeing Dr. White plain, on the Campus every day or so, with that odd black hat he wore, and we would tip our hats to him and he would tip the odd black hat to us. When I told the kid that I had actually seen Dr. White, his eyes popped as though I had told him I was personally acquainted with George Washington or Charlemagne, and I could see that he regarded me as an incredible antediluvian. Which I presumably am, and content so. In these occasional discussions that start with "Oh, to be twenty again, and know what I know" my contribution always is, "Oh, to be sixty-five and a half," which I am, or was, March 22. I only wish I knew more than I do. Some kind of law of diminishing returns has set in with me and, every year that goes by, the awful thought occurs to me that I know less today than I knew, or thought I knew, when I was in Ralph Catterall's history class (or Henry Sill's will do) and knew everything.

Dick Ainsworth sent us a Saint Patrick's Day card in a fancy green envelope from Erin, N.Y., which the map tells me lies southwest of Ithaca, a bit this side of Elmira. Dick later wrote my wife from his home in Gilbertsville a little news about himself and Florence. Irving Florsheim's mother died last November in Chicago; she was the widow of the founder of Florsheim Shoe Co. Myron Krueger retired in 1956 as professor of forestry at U of California. He lives now at 971 Litchfield Ave., Sebastopol, Cal.; visited his brothers in Schenectady last summer. Hadley Stephenson is back in Ithaca (for the time being, at least) after a lengthy trip South with his wife. His brother's house in Nokomis, Fla., which I saw in December, burned down a few weeks later. A sweet note from Stub Shaner's widow, the former Julia Moody '16, told of the pleasure your letters of condolence had given her. Her own health broke under the strain of his last illness, but she hopes to be in Ithaca by her '61 Reunion, at least. Norm Stone must be quite a Cornell outpost out in Mosinee, Wis. Whenever his friends want to know anything about Cornell, they ask him and then he asks me; the latest was how the University handled the Morrill Act land.

Farther west lives Paul P. Ashworth. Pete retired last November as executive vice-president and director of Telluride Power Co., after fifty-one years in the electric power business. He wrote that it had been a most interesting half-century, in which he saw the industry in its swaddling clothes and now in its present stature. The newspaper report of his retirement took a full column to recount his doings and achievements, so you can judge from that as to how much he did professionally and civically. His influence extended clear to Ithaca; I talked about him only a few days ago with Chancellor Johnson of the Telluride Association. Pete will continue to do a little consulting work at 130 S. Fifth East Street, Salt Lake City 2, Utah.

'15 Daniel K. Wallingford 521 Cathcart Street Orlando, Fla.

Adolph Moses, 11 West 69th Street, New York City 23: "I have been spending considerable time and effort trying to find someone who is short of an engineer. My wife and I have resorted to dancing lessons to dispel some of the gloom." Taking or giving, Ad?

Joseph G. Malone, 14719 Clifton Boulevard, Lakewood 7, Ohio: Am still engaged in tool engineering practice which today aims to increase production and lower costs. A bit slow at present; nothing serious." Joe sends regards to all '15ers.

M. Raymond Riley, 201 Madison Avenue, Spring Lake, N.J.: "Still very much engrossed in the banking business of New Jersey, with my headquarters in Newark with National State Bank. Last November, I took up permanent residence at Spring Lake, where we have summered for the last twelve years. Because of this move, many of my friends got the idea I was getting ready to retire, but that is farthest from my thoughts at the moment. While I must admit that time does not stand still and the years are beginning to add up, I still have a lot of energy left, and until that starts to wane I think I shall stay on the job. Spring Lake has become quite a hangout for Cornell men, particularly the Class of '15. Bob Mochrie, Herb Adair, and Jack Schmaltz are usually very much in evidence during the summer season. Allen Torres is a year-round resident. As for my family, my two boys, who because of war service did not have the privilege of going to Cornell, live in New Jersey. Ray, a graduate of Upsala College, is a banker in Elizabeth; and Gilbert, a graduate of Lehigh, is in the mortgage and insurance field in Newark. They each have two daughters, of which the venerable grandparents are most proud."

Porter V. Hanf, 3669 Castle Reagh Place, Riverside, Cal., retired in November after thirty-seven years as civil engineer with California Electric Power Co. He plans to do some travelling. (Remember Ithaca in 1960!)

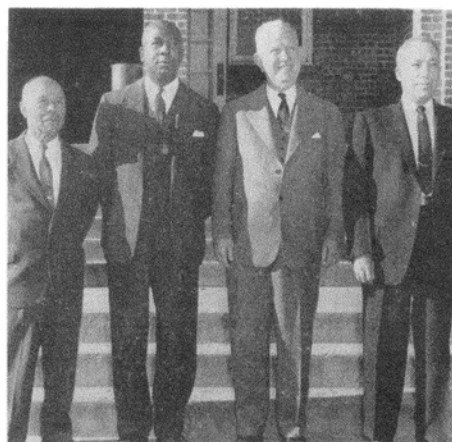

P. N. Daniels, 56 Maple Avenue, Trenton 8, N.J.: Charlie Capen '17 and I, plus the wives, set out for Sarasota March 5. Our consulting practice will be mail order for a month or so except that we have a couple of jobs in Florida, too, as well as in New Jersey. Handy, yes?"

J. Scott B. Pratt, Box 764, Kaneohe, T.H.: "Retired nine years ago. Busy with many hobbies, orchids, garden, travel. My son J. Scott B. Pratt III, age 37, has just been promoted to executive vice-president of Hawaiian Trust Co., the oldest trust company in Hawaii. Brother J. Dickson Pratt will retire from Hawaiian Pineapple Co. (Dole) in December. He will be president of Honolulu Chamber of Commerce for 1959."

Mr. Bertram H. Hendrickson, 505 Bloomfield Street, Athens, Ga., has been a member of the "65 Club" for half a year and reports that he is hale and hearty. He is project administrator for Coosa Watershed Research Project in Northwest Georgia.

Arthur P. (Chip) Chippey; Dr. Kessler; and Dr. B. C. Turner, Harvard '27, president of the College. Requesting a thumb-nail sketch from Chip as to his doings since Cornell, we received the following interesting letter:

William Wilberforce had at bottom only one ground, "that dark men are men." The problem of values arises only when men try to fit together their need to be social animals with their need to be free men. There is no problem, and there are no values, until men want to do both. Now it appears like an apothegm when my matriculation in the University came on the eve of interracial turmoil (1911) within its hallowed walls. My adult life has been an uphill strife since attempting to amalgamate the aforementioned needs. However, it is very gratifying at present to see the fruition of many and varied hopes and ambitions. My labors have been in the classroom extending over an area from Kentucky to Delaware to North Carolina, and now in South Carolina. Providence has guided me into the administration of college athletics and lay work in the Episcopal Church. I was one of two Negroes in attendance at the "Sanitary Code" meeting of the National Collegiate Athletic Association held in Chicago, served as an officer for a number of years in the Colored (now Central) Intercollegiate Athletic Association, and since 1933 still hold the office of secretary in the American Tennis Association. In a quiet and unobtrusive manner, I have been instrumental in molding opinions that have contributed to the present surge of interracial athletic competition. In North Carolina, I served in many capacities in the Diocese of the Episcopal Church that a layman could serve. Helped to initiate the first interracial college student meetings in Raleigh, N.C. during the late twenties. At present, in addition to my duties as associate professor of biology at South Carolina State College, I am a licensed lay reader and vestryman of Saint Paul's Episcopal Church here in Orangeburg; my wife is secretary of the student Christian center at South Carolina State College; an only daughter is a medical technologist at Meharry Medical College, Nashville, Tenn.; oldest son, a dentist; and the youngest son, a foreman in the Mercury Station Wagon plant, Wayne, Mich. There are four grandchildren, two girls and two boys.

Word from Alan Frick advises that he has fully recovered from a quartette of broken ribs and the usual abrasions, contusions, etc. suffered in an auto accident of some months ago. Another victim of the horse-power and chromium lads of Detroit is Sanford D. (Sandy) Sanford, who was injured on Easter Sunday, suffering a punctured lung and some broken ribs and other injuries. Happily, Mrs. Sanford escaped unscathed, the car being the usual total wreck. Sandy is now back home recuperating, with our best wishes that it be speedy. Joining the cadre of the retired brothers is Perc Rayford, after forty-one years in the pedagogical salt mines of Washington, D.C., having finished his career there as superior director of science schools of that strange community. Having occupied his old home for more than thirty years, he reports an ache when he had to move due to the advance of the road building program which demolished his home in the process.

'17 Men—Had a card from Ben Potar out on the Pacific Coast in Beverly Hills. He went West by way of Texas after postponing the trip so that he could m.c. our Class dinner in New York, April 14. You deserve a great time, Ben; and we hope you have one. It was typically unselfish of you to delay this grand vacation to be with us.

In our last report we mentioned that Class President John L. Collyer had presented a plaque to Don Mallory on behalf of the Class for services rendered to Class and Alma Mater. Don takes this opportunity to thank the fellows who were not present at the '17 dinner where he expressed his appreciation. On account of a conflict in dates Ernie Acker could not attend our get-together, so John Collyer phoned Ernie the following morning and presented his plaque over the wires! Ernie has written: "It has been a great privilege to be a member of the Class of '17 and nothing could be more heart-warming than receiving recognition from my fellow members for whom I have such a high regard and deep affection. I am happy to have had the opportunity to be of service to Cornell and assure you that I will continue to do everything in my power to advance her interests. At some appropriate time I would appreciate you expressing to our Classmates my heartfelt thanks for the recognition they have given me." You more than deserve any such recognition by your Classmates, Ernie, and Cornell and '17 are fortunate to have you. We sure hope you are elected to the University Board of Trustees! Remember fellows, (and girls) Ernie is a candidate for Alumni Trustee this year!

Just heard the good news that Ted Townsend and Laura A. Stafford have announced they will be married this summer. Ted resides in Waterville, is a columnist and farm writer for the Utica Daily Press, and is justice of the peace of the Town of Sangerfield, which means he covers a lot of territory. Congratulations and best wishes, Ted!

After our Class dinner, we had the pleasure of attending the Graduate School of Business & Public Administration's two-day symposium on "Search." It was great to get back to the Campus and almost the first fellow we met was Harold Humphrey who had also attended our '17 dinner earlier in the week in New York. We had a grand time together. Remember, Reunions this year are the week end of June 13, 14, & 15. It's a good time for a brief vacation in a beautiful spot, and you can visit with Classmates and non-Classmate alumni who have returned for their Reunions.—Herb Johnston

Columns written on the eve of a Forty-year Reunion cannot lean too heavily on facts. We can only start, as the scientists do, with a series of assumptions and go on from there. The first assumption is that not all those who have given their tentative decision to join the Class in Ithaca will be there. But it's a safe bet that we'll have about twice as many back this year as we ever did before. As a matter of fact, those who've had to send in a last minute cancellation are being outnumbered by those on whom the regional committeemen have been putting new pressures to join in the festivities.

As you know by now from a variety of sources, the plans are complete, and it's to be hoped that you have mailed in your final acceptance along with your check to cover costs. Dutch Hoffman says he has the costume situation well under control and you don't need to worry about sizes; he has them all. Harry Handwerker will have the tent all set up; Will Place has assured us the band he has hired will outdo all others; and with Joe Barr's good help, Will has made sure we'll have those two busses handy on the Campus at all times. No use of putting Forty-year Reunioners to any unnecessary footwork when a bus gets you there faster! And, as you already know, Herb Lustberg has settled details for both the Friday and Saturday night dinners; Chuck Stalter has been practising up on baton waving so as to get the parade under way in good order; and Whit Bowen assures us the photographer will do as good a job with us as is possible, though no retouching to restore the bloom of youth is promised.

Of course, ALUMNI NEWS deadlines being what they are, plus the fact your correspondent is presently in Europe, this column had to be written weeks and weeks ago, so that there may be some last-minute news which he has failed to include. Be sure, however, that you'll be taken care of even if you are a late starter in the race to Ithaca. There will be room for you, and for you and your wife together in a special dormitory if you decide to bring her. This being our 40th, it is the first to which wives are invited and will be made most welcome.

As an added attraction also, word has just come from Jose F. Cuervo of Santiago, Cuba, that he plans both to be there and to bring along a few bottles of real Mathusalem rum (what memories the very name brings back!) so that "the boys may know what a real Cuban rum tastes like."

As advertised, our annual Class dinner was held at the Cornell Club, April 24, and about thirty Classmates enjoyed not only a splendid dinner and good conversation with old friends, but were entertained with a fine program arranged by Ed Carples, with the excellent cooperation of Bell Telephone Labs. It started with a colorful demonstration, with movies and a live exhibit, of the NIKE Guided Missile project, including a fine narrative of the historical significance of missiles by Mr. Morris of the Telephone Company. Next, excellent movies were shown of the development of the Distant Early Warning System (DEW Line) installed in the Arctic regions by the United States, in which the manufacturing arm of the Telephone Company, Western Electric Co., was also a major participant. Since many of our Classmates shared responsibility for this program, including among others Ed Carples, Jimmy Janes, and Sumner Wright this story was of particular interest. In this connection, it is sad to report that Sumner Wright, who was too ill to attend the dinner, died just a few days later. Ed Carples reports that Doc Wright's exertions in commuting to Alaska during the DEW Line installation may have contributed to his final illness.

Among those present at the dinner were Ned Banghart, Mal Beakes, Lloyd Bemis, Chet Bissell, Colonel Brown, Carples, Clyde Christie, Parm Clapp, Bill Corwith, Earl Evans, George Hiscock, Johnny Hollis, Janes, Walt Measday, Scotty MacDougall, Will Pearce, Les Ringe, Jack Sheppard, Ben Solovay, Larry Waterbury, John Smith (honorary member), and Charlie Lerner. We always enjoy having our friends in neighboring Classes join us and this year Kelly Sachs '20 was a welcome addition and ably upheld the honor of his Class.

Regrets were received from Aaron Kaufman, who was sailing for Europe, and Dick Brown, who had to attend an important meeting. Arthur Dean was in Geneva, Switzerland, heading a US delegation to a United Nations conference. Victor Emanuel was in Colorado attending a Board of Visitors meeting of the Air Force Academy, and Paul Nugent was in Sarasota, Fla.

Before dinner, the Class Executive Committee discussed plans for our Forty-year Reunion in June, 1959. As previously reported, Ed Carples has accepted the Reunion Committee chairmanship and working with him as vice-chairmen will be Clyde Christie and Chilton Wright, Chairman Carples, showing his customary organizing skill, has developed a suggested group of subcommittees to be responsible for the major phases of Reunion activities. These will be listed in a later column.

Just about this time each year, we get that old familiar feeling that something's going to happen in the Finger Lakes area that we ought to be in on. You know how it is; you vote for Alumni Trustees, the local Cornell Club sends a batch of sub-Frosh down to see the Campus, you think about the fun Spring Day used to be, you see a picture of the world's greatest crew, you get a note from your old roommate, and all of a sudden a wave of nostalgia covers you like a blanket, and you've just got to get down to Ithaca! That's what makes Reunions a success, and for those who can't remember what year it is, there's always the CRC (Continuous Reunion Club) to which a goodly number of '20 guys are addicted, like Prexy Walt Archibald, Ho Ballou, Hank Benisch, Wally Duncan, the three hisses, Stanton, Solomon, and Sachs; not to mention Gentleman Farmer Kilbourn, who with any amount of encouragement will throw another whing-ding at his Owasco Lake estate. To join the CRC all you've got to do is be there.

Hats off to Herb Grigson, head of the physical education department at Roxborough High in Philadelphia who has built up a sturdy reputation for himself over thirty-five years of devotion to athletic work with young people. Herb, the best pole vaulter '20 ever had, was on the Governor's Education Committee, and has addressed many conventions and meetings on the program for physical fitness which he has developed at Roxborough. Herb is trying for increased national interest and would like to hear from any Cornellians who are in phys ed. Box 172, Downing, Pa.

Howard P. Pabst, another sky scraper, is a supervising engineer on the Union Carbide Building, being erected at Park Ave. & 48th St. by George A. Fuller Co. It's a little far for him to wave to Tommy Reese on the new Chase Manhattan Bank, downtown, but not too far for "Pap" to commute week ends to his farm at West Sand Lake near Albany where he raises big, thick steaks on the hoof. Formerly on the Cornell Countryman, "Pap" is a rarity as an editorial ag-engineer. George H. McCarthy, 17 Joelson Ct., Albany, has retired from the NY Telephone Co. after thirty-seven years, mostly in the field of outside plant engineering.

At last the Cornell Club of Niagara Falls has been revived, resuscitated, and reactivated. Guess who was elected Head Phoenix? None other than Beau Brummel Esquire himself, Sam Wolkind! Great, already it's a success! Other '20 boosters at the initial raising ceremonies were Ed Howard, Tom Moffitt, and Wos Hooker, ex'20, '21. Doug Hopkins, Jack Israel in Buffalo and Graydon Curtis in Rochester have been giving Sam some help in the Annual Alumni Giving program. (By the way, have you sent yours in?)

There's just fifteen days left to get your name on the '20 Honor Roll, and it'll be mighty nice to see it there! A check in any amount, or just a crisp bill sent to Cornell Annual Giving will do the trick.

It matters not how much you've got,
Or if you've very little;
To give's the thing, once every Spring,
And you'll feel fine and fittle.

—From sad to verse!

Our Class president, Harry O'Brien, is a four time grandfather, thanks to a married daughter. An unmarried son, William J. O'Brien '57, received the AB at Cornell and is now completing his second year in the Law School after which he owes Uncle Sam a three-year stint, having already been commissioned in the Air Force. Harry, full of vim and vigor after a fifty-five-day cruise around South America, is trying to catch up with his legal chores as general counsel for Cities Service Co. and its subsidiaries.

Tony Gaccione writes that he could not get his promised column date-lined Rome off in time to meet the deadline, which accounts for the lack of '21 news in the last issue. Tony also reports that he ran into Julius Hendel in Florence. Julius is traveling in Europe as a consultant to the Administrator of the Foreign Agriculture Service of the Department of Agriculture to study the potential use of feed concentrates as well as poultry and meats in Europe. Until last year when he retired, Julius was vice-president of Cargill, Inc. He remains on the board of directors.

Pat Thornton is reported to be leaving for the Brussels Fair with a group of automobile men.

Thad L. Collum appears destined to become the patriarch of an all Cornell family. His older son, Edward B. Collum '49, is married to Cynthia Harvey '53. They have two sons who Grandfather Collum will help groom for Cornell. Thad's younger son, Thad P. Collum '52, is still a bachelor and in business with his father. In addition to running the Collum Acoustical Co., Thad is vice-president of the board of trustees of Syracuse General Hospital, a member of the directing boards of the Chamber of Commerce, the Rheumatic Fever Foundation, the Citizen's Foundation, Syracuse Governmental Research Bureau, and the Syracuse YMCA. He is a trustee of the Onondaga County Savings Bank and a member of the State Board of Regents. He is a past-president of the Syracuse Community Chest and Council, the Onondaga Golf & Country Club, the Century Club, and the University Club. Having been born in Texas and by spending six weeks in Florida each January and February to store up energy, Thad is able to serve his community with honor and distinction, while at the same time carrying on a very successful business enterprise.

Frank Bolan is retired and now lives in Bellaire, Fla. He would be delighted to see any of you who migrate to Florida in the winter.

So far this year we have 310 Class dues payers, but only 146 contributors to the Alumni Fund. You who have not yet responded to Scew Smith's reminder that it is time to make your annual gift to Cornell have less than fifteen days left to do so and help the Class meet its donor goal.

I managed to dig through the snow this winter and get away for three weeks in Puerto Rico, Barbadoes, and Tobago. Now the last snow bank has melted away and the mud on our dirt road has dried up, so I expect to get out on the highway again and spend the week end of May 24 in Ithaca. I will give you a report in the next issue.

'22 Men—Phillip L. (Pat) Klyne is associate general agent of State Mutual Life Assurance Co. and his address is 34 Oregon Ave., Bronxville 8. Now that his two daughters have grown up, one teaching in Rochester and the other active in dramatics, Pat finds time to go places he, and many others of us, always wanted to see. Last summer it was Yellowstone, Glacier National, Banff Springs, Lake Louise, and Jasper National Park. The Class, as a whole, has many open invitations for all travellers to drop in while on tours, but the directory shows practically none living in the vast area covered by Mr. P. L. Klyne.

Who else in the Class went to Ithaca for Parent's Week End besides Mr. and Mrs. Class Editor and Guy Gundaker? According to the number of '22 parents, it was possible to have about thirty there, but with the diversity of activities and the large number on hand, all thirty could have been there without crossing paths. Parent's Week End is getting to be a big deal and you'd better plan to take one in while still a parent because plans for a Grandparent's Week End are not even in the embryo stage. There is some difference, today, from the standard roast beef dinner at the Clinton House on the few Sundays our parents came to visit.

Reading the News, I can't help noting the doings of other Classes and particularly '23 where a familiar name crops up now and then. In the last issue, the name of Walt Rollo was mentioned as one they would like to see back to the '23 Reunion in June. That should not be too difficult because Walt is back in Elmira as personnel manager for American La France Co. after a twenty-five-year stay in Los Angeles as their West Coast manager. I happen to know this because, last fall, my wife and I spent a pleasant week end with the Rollos, (Walt and Polly) at their new home at 321 Forest Hills Drive, Elmira. It was a sort of reunion after a long twenty-five years of "no see." The big fireballing righthander and one of Gil Dobie's linemen, in the days when football games weren't lost, reared both of his children, Virginia and Bruce, out in California and has been a grandfather for some time. Apologies to the '23 correspondent for staggering a little over into his column.

June 14, there will be a '22 party at Jack Maloney's farm, located on Route 34 just above N. Lansing and only ten miles out. There the famous southpaw has again graciously offered his spacious and luxurious facilities as a gathering place for all '22ers, their families, and friends to partake of a barbecued dinner, refreshments, and a good time. Our Class will be notified more formally via the regular newsletter but, for the benefit of those of the fringe Classes who will not be reuniting, the invitation is extended. George Hanselman, Assistant Director of Mechanical Engineering, is the chairman, so write to him if you think you can make it. Last year there were about forty in attendance.—Joe Motycka

'23 Dr. George J. Young Chamberlain, Me.

Shortly after reading this, a good many of you will be throwing a few necessities into a suitcase and heading for Ithaca and Reunion. While the suitcase is open, be sure to pack a white shirt, because Reunion costume will be a red and white "Foreign Legion" cap with numeral and a red and white tie, so that white shirt will be a necessity. Although I have suggested that an official photographer be on hand, if any of you take along a camera, I would appreciate having some glossy prints of casual poses of Classmates.

Malcolm E. Smith, 400 Great Falls Street, Falls Church, Va., has hopes of leaving his various and sundry projects long enough so that he and wife Helene can jointly attend her 35th reunion at University of Rochester, June 6-8, and our 35th the following week end. He ends a nice letter by saying, "With five days in between to visit relatives and friends, it should be enough to finish off both of us."

J. Gruver Hillidge, 114 West Fourth Street, Front Royal, Va., is president and general manager of The Locust Pin Co., a small corporation manufacturing wooden insulator pins and brackets which support the glass or porcelain insulators seen on telephone and telegraph poles. Unfortunately, Gruver's present plans do not include attending Reunion.

Edward H. Cross, 858 Lakeshore Drive, Mount Dora, Fla., furnishes landscape service to Greening Nursery in Detroit, Mich. and to several nurseries in Florida. He writes that there is wonderful bass fishing in the lake. A daughter is a sophomore at Florida State University.

Laurence Shelffrick, 230 East 51st Street, New York City, is in the pencil business at 101 Park Avenue, representing Dur-o-Lite Pencil Co. Robert L. Emery, Jr. lives at 314 Camp Street, New Orleans, La. Laurence Cornwall, Tower Road, Hingham, Mass., is in the shipbuilding division of Bethlehem Steel Co. in Quincy, Mass. His wife, two daughters, and son-in-law are all Cornelians. Basil G. Burmistrov, 190 West Glenwood Avenue, Philadelphia, Pa., is president of Vibration Specialty Co.

Robert Brannon, 2680 West Park Blvd., Shaker Heights, Ohio, is looking forward to seeing everybody at Reunion, and Horace C. Bird of Medina expects to be in Ithaca for our 35th, in spite of the fact that he used to say, "I should think those old duffers would know enough to stay at home." I'm glad you don't think that way now, Horace.

Albert O. Washburn, 500 Robert Street, St. Paul, Minn., has been manufacturing and marketing hand lotion for the last twenty years. He is still able to hobble around, and occasionally toots a saxophone, playing a lullabye for four grandchildren.

Don't forget the dates, my friends, June 13 & 14th, your 35th Reunion!

'23 Women—Violet Holloway Niedick (Mrs. J. Albert), 450 East Goepp Street, Bethlehem, Pa., has one daughter, Lorraine, who is married to Harry Gardner, a Fulbright Scholar from Australia, and now living in Melbourne. Vi hopes to visit her next summer. Gertrude Mathewson Nolin (Mrs. Albert R.), 32 Academy Street, Skaneateles, has two sons, both married, one grandson and one granddaughter. She is on the school board and vice-president of the Auburn Memorial Hospital Auxiliary. Evelyn Folk-es Orton (Mrs. Lawrence M.), West 261st Street & Palisade Ave., New York City 71, has three children and three grandchildren; works part-time at a Home for the Aged.

Mary Kinne Place (Mrs. Harry), RD 1, Rummerville, Pa., is restoring an old home farm (a big project for a widow). Since her husband's death in 1951, Alice Newberry Post (Mrs. Earl), 6 Oakland Court, Warwick, has been teaching and working for the Master's degree in library science. Her son is stationed with the Army in Alaska. Carmen Rogers, 807 High Road, Tallahassee, Fla., is a professor of English at Florida State University. Amalia Shoemaker Schmieder (Mrs. Paul), 2715 Church Road, Glenside, Pa., had a grand auto trip to the West Coast last summer and flew to Hawaii for ten days.—Lucille Wyman Bigelow

'24 Silas W. Pickering II 30 E. 42d Street New York 17, N.Y.

A note received April 28 from John Brothers informs us that Robert L. Hays has become a member of McDonald & Co., 1250 Union Commerce Bldg., Cleveland, Ohio.

William Chadbourn Worth writes on his 1956 questionnaire a fascinating story from Luputa, Belgian Congo. Bill got his Agriculture degree, then proceeded almost at once to marry. He has three children, Bill, Jr., Mary Ann, and Martha Ruth. Bill, Jr. graduated from University of Richmond, Va., and spent two years in World War II.

Mary Ann went to Queens College, Charlotte, N.C.

Bill is doing missionary work in the Congo. He has had a real busy career; two years in World War I in aviation training. Bill writes: "I like fishing and we have enormous fresh water fish out here. I have caught three fish which are records and are recorded in the Congo Museum in Bruxelles. Numerous interesting and exciting experiences have come my way. A hippopotamus attacked my boat and two of its teeth came up through the bottom. I managed to get the boat to shore before it filled with water. Another time I fell into a well-concealed elephant pit trap where I lay unconscious for some time. I was able to climb out, however, when I came to. Another time I was charged by a mother leopard while stealing her cubs."

At the March 28 annual dinner of the Class of '24, many group pictures were taken, some of which I hope can appear in the News. The first is on this page and includes, from left: Seated, Roland Schultheis, Laurence (Larry) Block, Bill Jackson, Walter Ludlum, Sam Bernart, Walt Rebmann; standing, Al Silverman, Ed Searles, Ray Taylor, Luke Tribus, Bob Lintz, Don Post.

I am trying to collect news and information about our Classmates. You may recollect that a Class directory was issued in 1955. This had about 964 names who were living and whose addresses were known at that time. I understand that only 337 men have paid their Class dues this year. If you have not, I suggest there is no better time than now. Make your check for $5 to Fred C. Wood, Treasurer, and mail it to John W. Brothers, 1221 Third Street, NE, Canton, Ohio.

More news in the next issue.

Harold Zaug, CE, lives in Pompano Beach, Fla., PO Box 441. He didn't say whether he was raising citrus fruit, selling real estate, or just fishing and taking the sun.

John W. Carncross, BS, G, lives at 613 South Second Avenue, Highland Park, N.J. He is an agricultural economist at Rutgers University, having been in the department of agricultural economics since he graduated. We extend congratulations to him on his marriage last June to the former Mrs. Margaret Keys Geiger, during which process he acquired a stepdaughter, Sally.

George H. May, AB, 807 W. 32d Street, Wilmington, Del., has completed thirty years with E. I. duPont de Nemours & Co., and reports he has a son, Richard, currently in the Law School.

E. Benson Dennis, Jr., CE, 4104 Brookside Road, Ottawa Hills, Toledo 6, Ohio, is with Owens-Illinois in Toledo. He became vice-president and general sales manager of Kimball Glass Co. in 1949, and has been director of sales for the last two years. He boasts two sons, one now at work and the other a freshman in high school.

Rear Admiral Joseph F. Jelley, USN (Ret.), C, has retired to Colorado Springs, Colo., PO Box 1874, and is hard at work again, practicing civil engineering in that community.

Two recent issues of the New York Herald Tribune have contained articles that bring fame to the Class of '26. Page one of the second section, April 28, had a feature article, "Couple Makes Room for Art," by Harriet Morrison, and I quote:

Collecting works of art can change one's whole way of life. One of the first things changed by the David M. Solingers was the decorating scheme. Mr. Solinger has been interested in art for many years. And about ten years ago he and Mrs. Solinger became serious collectors. When her husband brought home a Leger painting, Mrs. Solinger took a good look at her pretty English eighteenth century living room. All wrong for the new paintings. She called in designer J. Frederic Lohman, A.I.D. and worked out a neutral color scheme. Biggest change was in the foyer. This turned into a gallery. Now there is always room for one more painting in the Solinger apartment. Art collecting has become a major interest that changed not only the decorating scheme but also the family's social life. The Solingers spend Saturdays in galleries, Sundays in museums, and often get together with other art collectors. Mr. Solinger is president of Friends of the Whitney Museum, an organization devoted to furthering the welfare and progress of contemporary American art. Three paintings from his collection will be in the exhibition of works from private collections opening at the Whitney Wednesday. The exhibition will continue through June 15.

The story was attractively illustrated with pictures of Dave and his wife, as well as their living room and foyer. Dave and Mrs. Solinger live at 33 East 70th Street, New York 21.

On the sports page of the May 4 issue under the heading, "US Equestrian Team Flies to Europe May 17—New Member is 19," I read with interest the following:

The United States Equestrian Team is in a flurry of last-minute preparations for its European tour. The team and twelve horses will fly from Idlewild to Dusseldorf, Germany, May 17. Coach Bert De Nemethy says that arranging transportation for four men, twelve horses and all the necessary baggage, tack and equipment resembles putting the circus on the road. Bill Steinkraus, Hugh Wiley, and Frank Chapot, members of last year's team, and George Morris, a newcomer, will ride for the United States this summer. George, who hails from New Canaan, is only nineteen but is a seasoned horseman. He was national champion in both the Medal and Maclay events in 1952, one of the few riders to attain this double victory. For the past three years he has been a highly successful competitor in open jumping events winning at the past two Nationals with his thoroughbred mare, War Bride, a granddaughter of Man o' War.

It is a pleasure to point out that George Morris is none other than the son of our own Classmate Harry H. Morris, and that the US Equestrian Team is the team that will be competing in the Olympic Games in 1960. The Morris live at 32 Seminary Street, New Canaan, Conn. Heartiest congratulations to the Solinger and Morris families!

'26, '27 AB—Mrs. Gertrude Adams Turner of 520 Raymond Street, Westfield, N.J., is director of Turnabout Play School. Her son, Henry B. Turner IV, a senior at Duke University, will graduate June 2 with a commission in the Naval Reserve and plans to wed Sarah J. Thomas of Westfield June 9.

'26 BS—Mrs. Isabel Schnapper Zucker is garden editor of the Detroit Times. She is married to Myron Zucker '26 and lives at 708 Long Lake Road, Bloomfield Hills, Mich.

'27, '28 AB—Benjamin W. Brown is assistant secretary of Irving Trust Co., 1 Wall Street, New York City; lives at 257 Upper Mountain Avenue, Upper Montclair, N.J.

'27 AB—Dr. Frank Leone of 345 Main Street, Danbury, Conn., has been made a member of the International Society of Internal Medicine.

'27 BLArch—Michael Rapuano of Newtown, Pa. and the firm of Clarke & Rapuano, consulting engineers & landscape architects in New York City, recently became the fifth president of the American Academy in Rome. Founded in 1894, the Academy is devoted to furthering the arts and humanities in the United States, principally through the granting of fellowships to American artists and scholars.

'27, '28 LLB—H. Sol Tunick practices law in downtown New York and lives at 25 West Sixty-eighth Street, New York City 23. His son, Jonathan, is a senior, majoring in music, at Bard College.

D. Verner Smythe (above) is a partner in Pollard, Johnston, Smythe & Robertson, patent attorneys, with offices at 155 East 44th Street, New York City. Doc is very active in yachting circles, being commodore of the Comet Class Yacht Racing Association, vice-commodore of the Black Rock Yacht Club, Bridgeport, Conn., chairman of the committee on junior yacht racing of the North American Yacht Racing Union, and since 1950 head judge of the Inland Lakes Yacht Association annual regatta. He has written several articles for Yachting magazine, and was the subject of an interview in its March, 1958 issue. He also wrote an article, "Come about to Windward," for the 1955 Book of Knowledge Annual. Doc is president of Pomperaug Council, Boy Scouts, in Southport, Conn., where he resides with his wife and two children. His son is a student at Cornwall Academy, Great Barrington, Mass., while his daughter attends Thomas School, Norwalk, Conn.

John W. Gatling informs us that he and his wife (Eleanor Hulings) '26 have just completed restoring and renovating a 250-year old "Saltbox" house on Scotland Road, Madison, Conn., where they have lived since last summer and have become enthusiastic residents. John is with Cummings Insulation Co., 198 State St., Meriden, Conn.

Thomas C. Wilson is division chief geologist for Gulf Oil Corp., 624 Lafayette St., Denver 18, Colo. The principal activity of this organization from Denver headquarters is exploration for and production of petroleum in the Rocky Mountain States. Tom is married and has a son and two daughters. His wife, Louita Dodson Wilson, Grad '49, decided to write a book on the problems of moving, after having moved from Venezuela to Italy to Ithaca to Tulsa, Okla., to Casper, Wyo., and finally to Denver. Her book, Making the Most of Every Move, will be published this month by G. P. Putnam under her pen name of Garner Dodson.

'28 AB—Mrs. May Elish Markewich, marriage counselor and family consultant in private practice in New York City, appeared on the television program "Problems of Everyday Living," February 25, to discuss loneliness in marriage. She has received State certification as psychologist, in accordance with the recent law permitting only those licensed by the State to use that title. She is the wife of Supreme Court Justice Arthur Markewich '26 and mother of Reese [Maurice E.] Markewich '58, progressive jazz musician and bandleader.

'29 BS—Reynold A. Aymar, formerly with Saks Fifth Avenue, is now corporate personnel director for Intercontinental Hotels. He lives at 12 Derby Road, Port Washington.

'29; '54 AB—Zac Freedman of 233 East Thirty-second Street, New York City 16, was to leave May 26 to visit his son, Ensign Charles T. Freeman '54, now attached to the USS Saratoga, 6th Fleet, Mediterranean Sea. Mrs. Freedman and Charles's twin sister, Carol, were to join him on the trip. Freedman is a publicist with Paramount Pictures in New York.

'30—Henry J. D'Aragon has been general sales manager of Graver Tank & Manufacturing Co., Inc., since the fall of 1956. His headquarters are in East Chicago, Ind., but he spends much of his time in the firm's sales offices throughout the country.

Sometimes one has a little time to spare, although we must admit that these occasions are rare, to sit down and think of many things. Today is one of those days. It is Derby Day and in a short while we will be watching, via TV, the running of that classic. Here on Long Island it is a miserable day, cold and rainy. We hope it is better in Kentucky. At noon today we watched the launching of a new sailing vessel, the "Black Fox." A beauty in many ways, built by a friend, it will take part in the coming Bermuda Race. Now we are preparing our NEWS column, reviewing the data we have and noting, with much chagrin, the number of the Class who do not participate in the plan, but still will not let us know. In our spare time today, we ponder on the workings of human nature; why people keep on going; why those who participate are always those who have in the past; why we cannot draw additional Classmates out of shells or out of hiding; and why we cannot achieve an inspirational 100% participation, or at least a desire to participate. We pose these questions for your consideration some rainy week end when gardening or golf, sailing, or other sports are put aside and you, too, have a little time to spare.

Our general purpose is to give to all news of our Classmates. Here it is.

George C. Moore, BS '31, PhD '35, has completed twenty-three years as an agronomist with the USDA Soil Conservation Service with the State of New York as his territory. His address is RD 1, Geneva, where he lives on and operates his home farm and three other farms, raising beef cattle and cash crops. George has two children, a daughter Lois and a son Richard, who is headed for Cornell.

Gordon B. Hoffman, CE, is now an assistant vice-president of West Penn Power Co., Greensburg, Pa. His home is on RD 2, Jeannette, Pa. Gordon has been with West Penn for some time, first in Pittsburgh and then in Greensburg.

E. Gest Hodge is a realtor and developer in Cincinnati, Ohio. Now married twenty-one years, to Joyce Wright of Louisville, Ky., he feels that son Gest, Jr. is good football material for Cornell '63. Daughter Sally is in Miami University, Oxford, Ohio, and second son Bill has a way to go as he is in first grade. The Hodge family live at 6048 Montgomery Road, Cincinnati 13, Ohio.

George J. Talianoff is still practicing law at 420 Lincoln Road, Miami Beach, Fla. He lives at 4560 Meridian Avenue, Miami Beach, with his wife Lucille and daughters Susan and Marsha.

Malcolm L. Cropley, CE, 9747 Dayton Avenue, Seattle 3, Wash., is with Puget Sound Power & Light Co. He has two daughters; the eldest, Jean, is in University of Washington and the youngest, Cathy, may be there now.

Carl E. Van Deman had a 20,000-bushel apple crop on his Elk Rock Orchard on top of the Blue Ridge Mountains near Waynesboro and overlooking the Parkway at Milepost 2. He requests that Cornellians stop in to see them at Elk Rock Orchard, Afton, Va.

'32 William H. Gerstenberger
2751 E. Jefferson Ave.
Detroit 7, Mich.

We recently received a biographical sketch from one of our highly-educated Classmates, William H. Evans, 827 Greenwich St., Reading, Pa. He writes: "Married June 22, 1940, to Josephine Gabrielle, West Lawn, Pa., graduate of Moore Institute Arts & Sciences, Philadelphia. No children. I finished education Ursinus College, Collegeville, Pa., BS, Chemistry; post-graduate University of Chicago; special courses in metallurgy and physical sciences, Pennsylvania State and U of P; government contracts, Temple University. Deputy Chief, Cold Finished Bars Branch, WPB, during World War II at Steel Division, Washington, D.C. With Henry A. Hofmann, president of Hofmann Industries and National Alfalfa since October, 1950. Previously was in Metallurgical Department, Alan Wood Steel Co., Conshohocken, Pa. It has been too many years since I've been back at Cornell . . . but I get a 'bang' out of the many articles and pictures of progress. Must try to get up to Ithaca before we ship it all to the moon."

'33 BS—During the last six months, Morton Adams has been elected president of the New York State Canners & Freezers Association and of the College of Agriculture Alumni Association and a member of the Pennsylvania Society (headquarters Waldorf-Astoria, New York City). He is executive vice-president of Alton Canning Co., Inc. and an officer in other food growing and processing companies; lives on RD 1, Sodus.

'33 AB—Paul P. Levin was appointed last year real estate director of American Broadcasting-Paramount Theatres, New York City. He lives at 14 Grandview Avenue, White Plains.

'35—Philip H. Isles married Ellen Canrobert of Beverly Hills, Cal., January 4, in Gstaad, Switzerland. He is a partner in the investment banking firm of Lehman Brothers, 1 William Street, New York City 4.

'35, '37 BArch, '40 March; '35 BS—Elmer J. Manson and Mrs. Manson (Marie Shriver) '35 and their two children, Joyce, sixteen, and Fred, fourteen, left the middle of March for a European trip, which was to include skiing in Switzerland and the Brussels World's Fair. They expected to return on the Queen Mary, May 15. Their address is 2005 Cumberland Road, Lansing, Mich.

'35 BSinAE—Robert E. Pfeif of 37 Nelson Street, North Grafton, Mass., recently served as president of Grafton Savings Bank and has now been elected a trustee and rotating member of the board of investment for three years after a merger with Worcester Five Cent Savings Bank. He is manager of specialty & equipment sales in the component & immediate distribution sales department of the Worcester, Mass. office of General Electric Co.

'36 Robert A. Hamburger
6 Locust Drive
Great Neck, N.Y.

Howard T. Heintz, 125 Parkland Avenue, Glendale 22, Mo., is general merchandise coordinator for Westroads Store, a branch of Stix, Baer & Fuller, St. Louis. He has five sons, and his oldest, a sophomore, has his sights set on Cornell a couple of years from now.

Lieutenant Colonel Howard T. Critchlow, Jr. is a student at the Command & Staff School of the Air University. This assignment comes after five years at the Pentagon with Hq. US Air Force. Howard will graduate from his current training, which is reserved for the cream of our Air Force, in June, and we trust that he will advise us of his new assignment at that time. His address is 219 West Woodland Drive, Montgomery 5, Ala.

We also have another military communique from Colonel Franklin E. Schroeck, Quarters 212 Maxwell Air Force Base, Ala., where he is assistant commandant of Hq. Air Force ROTC. His duties have had him visiting detachments at various universities in Utah, California, Arizona, and New Mexico, with time out for a quick trip to Tiajuana, where he accidentally met Jack Blount and both of them attended the Jai-Alai games.

Dr. George B. Davis, 256 N. Maple Ave., Kingston, Pa., writes that his son Fred has been accepted at Cornell and will enter the Freshman Class next September.

Herman P. Kessler, 272 Tampa Ave., Albany, writes that Stephen Kessler, a potential for the Class of '78, celebrated his first birthday in February.

Reinald Werrenrath is now executive vice-president of Colmes, Werrenrath Productions, Inc., a company which produces commercial, industrial, and educational films and TV programs. His home address is 2108 Park Lane, Highland Park, Ill.

Dr. Ezra V. Bridge has entered private practice of internal medicine at Port Huron, Mich. He went to Port Huron from Cannon Falls, Minn., where he spent nearly seven years as medical director and superintendent of Mineral Springs Sanatorium, during which time he was an instructor of medicine in the Mayo Foundation for Medical Education & Research. Ezra has also been a trustee of the Upper Midwest Hospital Association, a director of the Minnesota Tuberculosis & Health Association, and has been active in an impressive list of medical societies. He and his wife and three children live at 416 Edison Boulevard, Port Huron.

The Floros brothers, Nicholas and John, suffered a fire in their Normandie Restaurant in Ithaca during March. More than 100 patrons were forced to evacuate. The damage has since been repaired and the restaurant is back in operation.

'37 Alan R. Willson
State Mutual Life Ins. Co.
Worcester, Mass.

1028 Cornell Avenue in Drexel Hill, Pa. is the new address of Paul M. Fisher. Paul is right proud of his street, but says "bought a new house last fall, which seemed to touch off the business recession!"

E. Oliver Natunen writes he is still handling all commercial and executive aircraft catering at Newark Airport and has recently been elected vice-president of the New Jersey Restaurant Association.

Walter P. Tapman, 163 West 72d Street, New York City 23, not long ago became president of Rocklyn Construction Corp. Walt and his company build schools in southern and eastern New York State.

We had a not from Robert H. Wright the other day. Bob lives at 95 Puritan Road, Fairfield, Conn., and says he is very busy in community activities, Boy Scouts, Masonic affairs, and trying to help build a new Methodist Church.

Ellis L. Jacobson, operating as J. B. Auto Co. in Amsterdam, sent in what he admitted is a sneaky commercial plug. He says you auto buy now, or if you don't buy, he will arrange auto rentals for you on your next trip to Europe.

'37 Women—Isn't the new directory of '37 women neat? So handy and useful. Fits in pocket or purse, ready whenever you want to visit, write to, or phone a Classmate. How about everyone sending Flo Cohen Strauss a card of appreciation for her six months of hard work in making our directory the very last word in accuracy as of March, 1958, before I break the news to her that it is already out-of-date!

It was bound to happen, of course. In the same mail with my copy of the directory came two address changes from the Alumni Office. While Flo and I quietly cut our throats, the rest of you get out your pens and mark these changes in your directory: Mrs. Carl T. Arlt (Phyllis Betts), 1200 S. Court House Road, Arlington 4, Va., and Mrs. Florence Shrager (Florence Stull), 505 N. 20th Ave., Hollywood, Fla. Don't forget to mark the correction in both alphabetical and geographical index.

Incidentally, Ellen Leader Porter gets her mail faster if you send it Care Department of Chemistry, Union College, Schenectady 8, though she lives at the Scotia address listed. And Meredith Westlake Smith lives on RFD 4, Canandaigua.

Flo Strauss was a PTA delegate to a conference on education in Ithaca last month and reported visits with Ruth McCurdy Shaw, Mary Wood, Jan Coolidge Child (Jan is working in the Visual Aids Department in Roberts Hall), Evelyn Carter Whiting, and Professor Perry and (Claire Kelly) Gilbert, PhD '40, and their delightful family. Flo said the Gilberts' son David was running a terrific campaign for president of Student Council and his publicity posters were "out of this world." Perry told her about his shark studies; the whole family will go back to Maine again this summer while he does more research. Flo also reported conversations with Polly Schmidt '25, Stella Gould '35, and Phyllis English '36, and that Charlie and (Doris Smallbridge) Dykes '36 have bought a home in Connecticut but will be in Ithaca this summer. "It's May 1," Flo's report concluded, "Can you picture the Campus in May with the trees just leafing out, the flowering shrubs in blossom, and the wild flowers on the banks of the gorges?" (Ah, yes, May Day in Ithaca! As undergraduates, a gang of us always went down to Stewart Park to pick violets. After we'd taken enormous bunches of the lovely things to Mrs. Abendschein and Mrs. Daniel and Miss Fitch and Clare McCann's mother and strewn them about the dorms and sorority houses, we'd pack great piles of them in wet cotton in suit boxes and rush them airmail special to our mothers. My own mother and grandmother still agree they've never seen such huge, lovely violets as the ones I used to send from Ithaca on May Day. I wonder if the Sophomores still have tiny corsages of spring flowers at the door of each Senior on May Day morning as was the custom in our day, or is that another "tradition" which has been abandoned as "too corny"? I hope not.)—Carol Cline

New York 16, New York

We expect to mention roughly a baker's dozen of names in this-year column, and the least we demand in return is that each of those mentioned come back for our Tremendous Twentieth Reunion, June 13-15. Fair enough? Okay. (The publicity is cheap at half the price!)

Hack Blaisdell has for some time been manager of the Oakwood Club in Cleveland, having for the previous four years managed Yale's famous Mory's in New Haven. Another Hotel School buddy, Gert Schmidt, is vice-president and general manager of Florida Ford Tractor Co., 2575 W. 5th St., Jacksonville, Fla. (Unfortunately, we've lost one trade deal already: Gert and his wife Christine will be at the tail-end of a European jaunt, come Reunion time.)

Forrest Durham writes: "I am chairman of the geology department at Hofstra College. I am certainly looking forward to our 20th (well, there's one in the bag, anyway) inasmuch as I missed the 15th, being in the wilds of Alaska working for the Government." Dave Russell is assistant cashier of the National Bank of Geneva (NY), is vice-president of the Ontario County Bankers Association, has served three years as key banker of Ontario County and five years as a member of the New York State Bankers Association Committee on Agriculture. Dave has two sons, Frederick 10 and James 6.

The industrial advertising agency of O. S. Tyson & Co., New York City, recently elected as its new president Irwin Tyson (above), whose father, Oscar Tyson '11, founded the company. Al Edelman is now assistant vice-president of DWG Cigar Corp., Detroit, Mich. Al lives at 4220 Fullerton, Detroit, and has four youngsters, Terese 11, Kathy 9, Morris 7, and Robert 3.

Don Conklin is a copywriter with Chas. W. Hoyt in New York City. He, his wife, and five children live at 1405 Weaver St., Scarsdale. Ed Lyon is executive secretary of the Club Managers Association of America, at 1028 Connecticut Ave., in Washington, D.C. Jim Papez reports on his latest trip to Cornell: "Enjoyed seeing how nice our new EE building looks. I try to see the Campus at least once a year and always enjoy the trip very much."

A note from Carmelo Cancellieri: "Am in the practice of medicine, specializing in allergy. Have three children: Robert 14, Russell 9, and Patricia 6. Am active on Board of Education, Lions Club, Academy of Allergy, and American Foundation for Allergic Diseases." Carmelo's address: 260 Little Plains Rd., Southampton. Walt McCrone sends word that he married last summer Lucy Beman, a chemist like himself, who is now a research associate in the new business Walt started last year. As he says, it's "a cheap (?) way to get good personnel in this day of scientific labor shortage."

Frank Bowen was lately heard from with this rundown: "I am now back in Pennsylvania after spending 3½ years in Canada. Still with Sun Oil Co., now as chief engineer of Marcus Hook refinery. Live at 17 Winding Lane, Media, Pa., with wife and three children. Hope to see you all at the 20th." (Inadvertently got another one!)

Dee Henry elected president of the Palm Beach Real Estate Board . . . Bud Lamond in as manager of Norfolk Yacht & Country Club, Norfolk, Va. . . Jerry Temple and his family on the last lap of a seven-month tour of Europe, South America, Mexico, and Cuba . . . Bill Brown now divisional manager for Prudential Life Insurance in Los Gatos, Cal. . . Bruce Rogers the recent father of a daughter, Sarah Alice.

Well, we should have at least sixteen of the seventeen mentioned above back for Reunion, if a '38er is true to his (or my) word. Anyway, talk it up, lads. Meantime, you'll be hearing more about it anon!

'38 PhD—Leonard J. Goss has been appointed director of the Cleveland, Ohio zoo. He was assistant director of the Bronx Zoo for many years.

'39 Aertsen P. Keasbey, Jr.
141 West 19th Street
New York 11, N.Y.

Class of '39 men participated in Cornell Day, May 3, by bringing their quota of young men to Ithaca to look the place over. Gene Gerberg came from Baltimore, Bob Gilckeson from Philadelphia, Gene Batchelar from Pittsburgh, and the writer from New York. A good time was had by all in the rain with vows all around to come to Reunion next year.

Jim Hooper died suddenly of a brain hemorrhage recently. He was living in Vero Beach, Fla. with his wife.

Your correspondent expected to be in Ithaca over the week end of May 23 and at Reunions for the meeting of the Association of Class Secretaries. Maybe I'll see some of you.

Your correspondent will be at the Sherman Hotel in Chicago, June 12 & 13. I hope to hear from any Chicago '39ers.

'39 MA—Mrs. Marjorie Atkins Elliott took an extension course in juvenile short story writing at University of Wisconsin last spring and since then has had three stories published in Jack & Jill. Wife of F. Irvine Elliott, PhD '44, she lives at 4601 Wallace Avenue, Madison, Wis.

'40 Arthur E. Durfee
RD 2
Ithaca, N.Y.

The United Fund campaign in Summit, N.J. has a good chairman in the person of Peter T. Wood. The Woods have two boys, 16 and 14, and live at 12 Colt Rd. Pete reports that he frequently sees Dick Bentley who lives near him and that on a recent trip to Chicago he saw Bloss Vail. Bloss is engaged in "new bank work in Chicago and looks extremely well," according to Pete.

Thanks to Dean Wallace, we can publish the names of those unsung heroes who are working so hard on the Class of '40 participation in the Alumni Fund. Here they are: Region I Metr. N.Y., Daniels C. Brasted, 2 Conrad Road, New Canaan, Conn.; II N.Y. Upstate, Edward A. Wardwell, Chestnut Ridge Road, Glens Falls; III New Jersey, John T. Collins, 360 Springfield Ave., Summit, N.J.; IV New England, William H. Habicht, 15 Marshall St., Windsor, Conn.; V Penn., Elwyn Seelye, 115 Locust Grove, Rosemont, Pa.; VI Middle Atlantic, Robert C. Ray, River Road Farm, Franklin, Va.; VII Southern, Morton A. Serrel, c/o Grinnell Co., 1431 W. Morehead St., Charlotte 8, N.C.; VIII Ohio, Edward M. Prince, 2447 Hempstead Road, Toledo 6, Ohio; IX Michigan & Indiana, Robert G. Irish, 607 Fort Wayne Bank Bldg., Fort Wayne, Ind.; X Illinois, Frederick G. Jaicks, 3210 Watling St., East Chicago, Ind.; XI Middle West, Joseph Griesedieck, 5050 Oakland Ave., St. Louis 10, Mo.; XII Rocky Mt. & Southwest, Fred M. Carlson, 3881 Dunhaven Road, Dallas, Texas; XIII Pacific Coast, William E. Fisher, Jr., 15113 Sunset Blvd., Pacific Palisades, Cal.

They deserve your applause, but they are more interested in having you catch their enthusiasm and pass it on to other men of

'40. As Dean said when he sent along the above names: "The record of our Class in recent drives, and not excluding the current one, is poor. We ran below the Classes around us." This column will end right here to leave you time to make out a check before dashing off to your next engagement!

'41 Robert L. Bartholomew
51 N. Quaker Lane
West Hartford 7, Conn.

Porter W. Gifford, Jr. (above), 9107 Devonshire Road, Dallas 9, Tex., has been elected president of Gifford-Hill & Co., Inc. of the same city, dealers in sand, gravel, and ready mix concrete. Following details on the three children, Pete mentioned that he occasionally sees John A. Matthews, 3501 Edgewood, Abilene, Tex. The last time Pete and Johnny met, their high school teams played for a semi-final state football championship. Pete added that his team went on to win the Lone Star State crown.

William F. Peters, 138 Arthur Street, Garden City, has resigned from Anemestat Corp. of America to become manager of the New York branch office of American Air Filter Co., Inc. "After the last ten years spent in traveling, I am retiring my suitcase and will concentrate on being a happy commuter."

Dr. Howard S. Dunbar, who practices medicine at 430 East 63d Street, New York City 21, adds this light note to his support of our group subscription plan to the ALUMNI NEWS: "Be it understood that I do not acknowledge any further liability above and beyond this $25 and that I absolutely refuse to dig the foundations of any new building in lieu of any money that I am supposed to pay." Correspondent's note: In case you intended to sign up and forgot, it is not too late. Drop a line to Robert L. Bartholomew at above address.

With extreme sadness we report the death of L. La Verne Horton, 713 Wellington Road, Ridgewood, N.J., of a heart attack, April 28. He was a partner in the New York City investment firm of Goldman, Sachs & Co., having joined the organization in 1947. Verne received a degree at Harvard Graduate School of Business Administration in 1943. He was a member of the '41 Class

Council and attended our 5th, 10th, and 15th Reunions. During undergraduate days, Verne's activities included Delta Kappa Epsilon president, Sphinx Head president, Aleph Samach, Freshman baseball squad, and manager of Varsity baseball. In 1943, he married Rosemary Noble '42, Verne was the brother of Robert V. Horton '26 and the uncle of Barbara Horton '60. His wife and three sons survive him.

Robert G. Fowler, 20 High Pine, Glen Cove, tells of a new addition to his family born December 21, Jill Courtney. This makes three girls and a boy for the Fowlers.

So ends our first column that goes to all 1074 members of the Class of '41. To you who signed up as underwriters for our group subscription to the News, please accept our heartiest thanks for making this Class project possible. Here's hoping that this column may bring all Classmates in closer touch with one another. Remember, until final legislation, you are only three cents away!

'43 Women—With our Fifteen-year Reunion a few weeks away, I hope you gals have baby sitters hired, or your oldest daughters primed to take over in your absence. Yes, I do mean you, for I know that you wouldn't want to miss this opportunity to get together with the girls you knew so well in Ithaca, and to see how the face of the University that we knew then has changed in fifteen years. The new buildings and other changes never cease to amaze me when we go to Ithaca, which we do several times a year.

First of all, why don't you all be sure to bring your husbands? They have accommodations for couples in the new men's dorms, University Halls, as you no doubt saw in the Class letter on Reunion. I, for one, hope to bring my husband, if he isn't in Michigan.

Next, who's coming? From our Reunion chairman, Mrs. Russell Bradley (Sarah Lockwood), here is a list of some who hope to be in Ithaca during the week end of June 13, 14 & 15: Mrs. Charles Albert (Mary Linsley), Mrs. George Amos (Eleanor Gillmor), Mrs. Bradley, Mrs. John Church (Caroline Norfleet), Mrs. Avery DeGolyer (Marydith Van Cise), Mrs. John Elfvin (Peggy Pierce), Mrs. Howard Evans (Mary Alice Dietrich), Mrs. Warren Hardy (Margaret Fredenburg), Mrs. Roy Hawley (Ellen Simpson), Mrs. Carl Huber (Patricia Rider), Mrs. Thomas Johnson (Barbara Larrabee), Mrs. John Keane (Nina Fenson), Mrs. John Klitgord (June Gilbert), Mrs. Joseph Klockner (Doris Fenton), Mrs. Bernard Lipman (Muriel Blum), Mrs. Charles Ostrander (Gracia Byrnes), Mrs. Richard Pendleton (Ann Boone), Mrs. Robert Smith (Mary Morgan), Mrs. Ira Stevens (Aline Snyder), Mrs. Walter Thalman (Margaret Morse), Mrs. John Turnbull (Constance Luhr), Mrs. Joseph Weinberger (Edith Newman), Mrs. William Woods (Shirley Shapiro). Since this list was compiled, I know there must be many additions, and if you have not sent in your reservation yet, why don't you do it today?

Giving our good Reunion chairman a hand with arrangements in Ithaca are dorm hostess, Mary Albert of Bridgeport, Conn., Mary Alice Evans, Gracia Ostrander, Ann Pendleton, Mary M. Smith, Constance Turnbull, Mrs. John Munschauer (Grace Wood) is also helping with preparations, but will be in Europe at Reunion time. Have a wonderful trip, Grace! The list of girls who have paid their dues of $2.50 should be much longer! I do hope that more of you have sent yours and if you have not, please send same to Mrs. William Rockwell (Mary Taylor), 21 Greenmount Blvd., Dayton 9, Ohio.

Mrs. Kennedy Randall (Katharine Rogers) is very anxious to have our Class make a good showing in the 1957-58 Alumni Annual Giving. Our objective is $1163 from 108 donors, and we do not want to let Kay down! She has indeed been doing a bang-up job as our Alumni Fund representative. By way of a social note, the Rogers family was increased to four last year when they adopted a second son, John Frederick, July 30. Young John will be a year old June 20. See you all at Reunion!—J.G.K.

'43—Article and picture, "Farm Family Fun and Learning," about Robert Basom of Corfu and his family appeared in American Agriculturist for February 15.

'43 BS—Bernard W. Potter of Truxton, who works a 1040-acre farm with his father, Dr. Wilburn H. Potter '18, and his brother, Willard H. Potter '53, has been chosen New York State's outstanding young farmer of 1957 by the State Junior Chamber of Commerce. Mrs. Potter is the former Margaret Smith '43.

'43, '47 BS—Edmund M. Weatherby is president this year of the Kiwanis Club of Ithaca. He is married to Norma Anderson '42, lives on RD 3, Ithaca.

'44, '43 AB—Ervin S. Acel, father of Mrs. Peter Hillyear (Grace Acel) of 111 North Broadway, Irvington, died February 24, 1958. He was a member of the 1928 US Olympic Fencing Team and president of a New York City advertising firm.

'44, '47 BS—Richard L. Hagy is president of Marine Catering Service, Inc., 4501 Freret Street, New Orleans, La. An article by him, "Why Catering Service," appeared in Offshore Drilling Annual and Directory for November 25.

'44, '46 AB—Blanche Noyes of Hemphill, Noyes & Co., 15 Broad Street, New York City 5, has been elected to the board of governors of the Association of Stock Exchange Firms.

'44 BS—Mrs. Jay R. Kapenga (Margory Underwood) and her husband, missionaries for the Reformed Church of America, are on furlough in the United States this year and will be at Pendle Hill, Wallingford, Pa., until they sail in August to a new post in Bahrein, Persian Gulf. They have three children: Peter Jay, nine; Margaret Alice, eight; and Barbara Ann, three.

'46 Men—John P. Craven (above) 7017 Arandale Rd., Bethesda, Md., who is contract research administrator on the staff of the David Taylor Model Basin, Potomac River Naval Command, Department of the Navy, was nominated for special recognition during the 1958 Engineers & Architects Day observance. John is considered one of the foremost hydrodynamicists in this country, having worked with underwater mines, the first nuclear submarine, and the Navy's Polaris missile program. He has a MSCE from Cal Tech and a PhD from George Washington University. As a sideline, he is now completing work for a law degree. We certainly admire your career and ambition, John. —Dave Day

'47 Men—John J. Remillet (above) has been named a vice-president and director of marketing for D. P. Brother & Co., national advertising agency with offices in Detroit, New York City, and Los Angeles. In line with the agency's expanding client services program, the newly-created marketing post will serve to coordinate all phases of research, market development, sales training, and group communication. Since he joined the agency in 1956, John has served as an account supervisor of automotive accessory accounts. He has held supervisory and account executive positions at Benton & Bowles and Grant Advertising, Inc. and also executive posts with several Detroit marketing and automotive companies. John took graduate courses at the School of Industrial & Labor Relations. He lives in Grosse Pointe Farms, Mich. and is an active member of Sigma Delta Chi, professional journalistic fraternity.

From Henry Lustig we get this information: "Engaged in practice of optometry here in Boston. Busy supporting wife, son, and home. Active in Masons, Eagles, etc. Kept on the run with speaking to PTA, service organizations, and the like. Specializing in correcting cross-eyed children."

A change of address for Bob Schryver to 148 Allenwood Dr., Clarksville, Tenn.

School Reunion in Ithaca, May 9 & 10? Our old pal, Bill Evers, and his wife. We had time for a quick drink at Ware's apartment, the drink courtesy of Tift Joyner, VMI '29. Excellent bourbon. Once again, Bill promised to send along a list of Classmates nominated for the Class council. Maybe the Class can look forward to a mailing before too long. It's about time!

—Barlow Ware

'48 Men—This month, June 13 & 14, you can move time back ten years by joining the rest of your Class at its Ten-year Reunion in Ithaca. A committee of twelve Classmates is doing everything in its power to assure you of one of the finest week ends you have ever spent.

Thanks to Bob Colbert and his Cornell Heights Residential Club, our picnic and banquet will be just a few steps away from the Campus. The Residential Club has been turned over to us by Bob and all rooms are now filled by returning '48ers and wives. Those of you not bringing your wives will be assigned a dorm room when you arrive. If you are bringing your wife and don't have a room, you'd better start moving. Most fraternity houses have doubles available. As a last resort, she can bunk in a women's dorm, and you can stay with your Class.

The food situation consists of two Class meals and one big luncheon at Barton, Saturday. The Class will have a joint picnic with the women of '48 and wives, Friday, at 6 p.m. Better be in Ithaca by 4 p.m. The Class banquet, Saturday, will be strictly stag (except for entertainment). Both the picnic and banquet will be at the Residential Club. Sunday morning breakfast gives you a choice of School, honoraries, or Classmates.

There is a German Band coming from Buffalo. If you have never heard of Jack Armstrong while on the Hill, believe me you'll be talking about him for the next ten years. He'll be at the piano in the tent, chained.

The uniforms are ordered and we have one for your size. In fact, it will fit everyone from Ed Peterson down. To date, 129 Classmates will be there. If you haven't sent your card, do it now. If you've lost it, drop one to Dave Cutting, 10 The Byway, Ithaca.—D.C.

'49 Men—Writing of the wonderful life in the South (America, i.e.) is Oswaldo A. (Tito) Santos. He has been operating his own ranch for the last two years, and he writes from PO Box 21, Bahia, Ecuador, S.A.: "Have gone in for coffee and will have about 100 acres planted and shortly in production. Still keeping some cattle and shortly will bring two new Cebu bulls from Florida to improve the herd some more. My wife Gladis and two daughters live out at the ranch also, less than a half a degree south of the Equator on the coast of this beautiful country of ours. My daughters are Karen Camille, born February 16, 1957, and Maria Gabriela, born February 14, 1958. Such is life in the tropics." Much farther north, but still in the South, Rodrigo de Llano writes that he is managing partner of Texas Harvest Hat Co., with a mailing address of PO Box 619, Laredo, Tex.

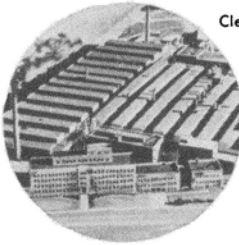

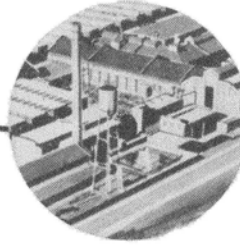

H. Dean Wakefield has been appointed technical assistant to the assistant to the manager of manufacturing at the Owego Plant of IBM. (This week's award for longest job title!) He and his wife and three children live on Front Street in Owego. The employee magazine of the DuPont Corp., Better Living, featured as its March-April cover a color picture of Winfield L. McKenica. The picture is described as follows: "In a laboratory washed by the eerie fiery glow of an infrared lamp, DuPont Research Engineer Winfield L. McKenica 'draws' a new and experimental chemical fiber." It goes on to say that the fiber under development is so new that it is known only by a code name. One of these days we may be wearing a suit made of a new miracle fiber, "McKencicalon!" For the present, whatever suit you're wearing now, dig down in the pockets and pull out a check for the Cornell Fund. Let's put '49 over the top!

—Jack Rupert

'49 Women—Biggest news now is the Alumni Annual Giving drive. Our Class goal is $1127, and we need everybody's help! Chairman Marty Coler Risch asks that we hurry and send our donations to the Annual Giving office, in Ithaca. Identify your Class, please! Several Class members are working with Marty. Helen Osborne Jenkins covers the New Jersey area; Dede Barkan Kurtz, Long Island and Brooklyn; Marty Merri-field, New York City and Westchester; Barbara Kurtz Crouch, Illinois; Claire Essig Sauer, Michigan and Indiana; Dot Rynalski Manser, the Southern Tier New York area; Elaine Hinsey Reynolds, the Middle West area. The Reynolds' new address is 5615 W. 78th Terrace, Prairie Village 15, Kans. Their twins, Bob and Janet, are now three years old.

National is a "big" company in the sense that it is strong, firmly entrenched as America's leading independent ferrous founder.

But National is a "small" company, too. Each of its six large, modern plants is a semi-autonomous operating unit where good men never get "lost in the shuffle." Furthermore, with inter-plant cooperation in sales and production, you are known throughout the company.

For young engineers and business executives on their way up, National is the name to remember. Either as a career opportunity, or as a source for America's finest castings.

NATIONAL MALLEABLE AND STEEL CASTINGS COMPANY

and raising two active boys. The Norrises' address is 7833 Winston Road, Chestnut Hill 18, Pa. Marjorie Mayer Roberts, 616 Warren St., Albany, wrote that she and her family (husband Jack and sons Jeff, 4½ years, and Scott, 3½ months) were planning a Florida vacation, as soon as the New York State Legislature adjourned. Jack, as counsel for the Empire State Chamber of Commerce, has to be present at many sessions both as observer and as testifier. Marge keeps busy with League of Women Voters and Council of Jewish Women activities.

Lois Bergen Abbott says that "life in Washington continues to be most stimulating and gratifying. We are exploring Unitarianism, worrying about the political impasse in the 'Old Dominion,' working in a training for childbirth organization, and keeping up, second hand, with a bit of life and times in higher education these days." The Abbotts live at 1323 Kaiser Pl., Falls Church, Va. Beverly Shor sends her address, 2222 Holland Ave., New York City. She received the LLB at NYU in June, 1947. Dede Barkan Kurtz (Mrs. Milton), 64-41 Saunders St., Forest Hills, reports as an addition to the family Roger Lewis Kurtz.

Dorothy Atwater Sarvay (Mrs. James H.) was married to James Sarvay in December, 1956. Jim is with Sarvay Shoe Co., Cortland, and their address is 60 Prospect Terrace, Cortland. Jean E. Sherwin, 186 Riverside Dr., New York City 24, is accessories editor for Seventeen magazine. Dr. Doty Savage Knight (Mrs. Wallace) is practicing pediatrics in Rochester. Her husband, Dr. Wallace Knight '47, is continuing his training at Genesee Hospital in Rochester. The Knights live at 2621 Dewey Ave., Rochester 16. Send news to Mrs. Lyman A. Manser, Jr., 47½ Kneeland Ave., Binghamton.—D.R.M.

'50 Men—As this issue goes to press, you will be interested in knowing that your officers are meeting in Ithaca Saturday, May 10, to discuss general Class business. Quite a few of our officers will be traveling a considerable distance to attend the meeting. I think it is heartening to know that as we approach our Ten-year Reunion the Class organization is pretty well intact and that under the leadership of Robert Nagler, plans are being made for the future.

We are intrigued with a recent story in the Ithaca Journal about Scott D. Hamilton, Jr., who last summer survived a climb up 24,270-foot Mt. Haramosh. Scott's adventure, which was described in detail, makes mighty interesting reading. Besides this very noteworthy adventure, we learned that Scott has had a unique experience since graduation in other ways as well. He studied architecture with Frank Lloyd Wright following his military service. For the last two years he has studied under a Fulbright grant at Oxford and there his dreams about mountain climbing came to fruition. At Oxford, he organized a debate in his college, rowed on the college crew, and was graduated near the top of his class. While he was resting, he trained on a marathon runner's schedule in preparation for his intended climb. He also found time to write a book soon to be published based on his experiences while on a hitch-hiking tour of the Continent covering 14,000 miles.

IBM continues to have news of our Classmates. Willet B. Kiplinger, 4 Beech Road, Valhalla, was transferred to the data processing division from Portland, Ore. to New York City. He and his wife, Carol, have three sons.

Laurence T. Deabler has been named manager of engineering education and is in charge of all laboratory training programs, professional orientation, and the Syracuse University graduate program.

We have some new arrivals to announce and they are as follows: John P. and Helen Slade Allaire, 113 Hamilton Road, North Syracuse, had a daughter born last September. Theodore and Betty Savonia Mordoff, 1563 Meadowbrook Road, North Merrick, also had a daughter in September, while David J. Inkeles and his wife Eve had still another daughter in December. They live at 20 Clent Road, Great Neck. A son was born to Mr. & Mrs. Robert Klastorin, 1601 Ocean Parkway, Brooklyn, last April.

'51 Men—Your last chance to participate in the 1958 Alumni Annual Giving campaign has just about arrived. Certainly you have read through the excellent material from the University and are aware of how much your participation and contribution is needed. One thing stands out to us, however. It is this: Cornell, as we first knew it in 1947, had, in a large measure, been provided by funds given by alumni over the years. We used their generosity. Now we consider it an obligation to assist in our small way in providing for those at Cornell today and for those to come in the future. We hope you will join with us today by mailing your check to Alumni Annual Giving, Day Hall, Ithaca.

'51 men number of duespayers: 202, 90 per cent of goal.

Say, how about a bit of help for column writers, too. We are bone dry in the news department for this issue. Give us the word.

—Bill Mc Neal

'52 Men: Philip A. Fleming

Alexandria, Va.

In the May 1 Class column for '51 Men, Bill McNeal sought to intensify the desire of his Classmates to give to the Alumni Annual Giving (i.e. Fund) by pointing out to them that they are trailing the '52 men. For the record, let me state that the '51 men's fund-raising position with regard to the '52 men is not unlike the relative position of Silky Sullivan to Tim Tam in that Kentucky "annual givers" race. Both classes are in the same race, however, which is what counts.

A newsy note from Stephen Tauber, c/o Division of Applied Chemistry, National Research Council, Ottawa, Ontario, Canada, indicates that Steve now holds a post-doctoral fellowship at the Council's Division of Applied Chemistry after having completed the PhD at Harvard with a thesis in physical organic chemistry. Steve reports that last January in Cambridge he was visited by Captain Alfred Kogon, MD, 7316th USAF Dispensary, APO 118, New York City, who apparently finds time to leave Rabat for an occasional skiing trip.

Thomas A. Martin, 1616 Walnut Street, Philadelphia, Pa., has left Merrill, Lynch, Pierce, Fenner & Smith's New York office to become an assistant secretary of the Advisors Fund Management Corp., in Phila-

New all-transistor recorder works anywhere without plug-in!

Yes, it's true. The name is Dictet. The maker is Dictaphone.

New Dictet is no bigger than a medium-length novel. Yet its intrepid little mercury batteries allow it to record anything from a whisper to a voice ten feet away.

To work it, simply pick up the mike and talk. Microphone acts as a speaker for instant playback.

Dictet is ideal for travel notes, random ideas, field reports, and . . . well, you name it.

delphia. Michael T. Leigh reports that his first child, a son, Christopher Sinclair, was born April 4 at the American Hospital in Paris, France.

Dr. Sidney Perlman, Cincinnati General Hospital, Cincinnati, Ohio, is a resident in internal medicine, and his wife will join him as an intern at Cincinnati General in June. Adele, a NYU graduate, will graduate from NYU medical college.

Jim Gash, 257 Summer Street, Buffalo 22, reports that he is on the NBC Television staff, and that he recently took a junket to Colorado Springs and San Diego to be brought up to date by the Air Force on our continental defenses. Jim implies that his itinerary included Tijuana, Mexico, but he doesn't mention the status of the defense forces in that area.

'52 Women: Mrs. C. D. Graham, Jr.

Schenectady 9, N. Y.

Putting first things first, Class dues of $2 are still respectfully requested from all so-far-forgetful Classmates, to help finance the forthcoming newsletter and boost the slim treasury. Contributions will be thankfully received by treasurer Barb Galvin Rittenhouse, as follows: until June 20, at 4 Highland St., West Concord, Mass., and after June 20, at 66 Leigh St., Clinton, N.J. Happy reason for the switch: Barb's husband Bill Rittenhouse '52 will pick up a law degree from Harvard Law and hang out his shingle down Jersey way. Barbara simultaneously completes five years teaching third grade.

The blizzard of February 16 was the unheralded setting for the marriage of Lois Bisgeir and Stanley Kaish '53 at the Park Manor in Brooklyn. Stalwart Cornellians who "mushed" through to serve as wedding attendants were matron of honor Barbara Mermelstein Haskel and ushers Harold Haskel '52, Larry Goldman '53, and Roy Baker '53. The next day, after a three-hour delay, the Kaishes flew off to a two-week honeymoon in sunny Cuba. Now that the snow and honeymoon are over, Lois is back at her job as personnel assistant with S&S Corrugated Paper Machinery Co. in Brooklyn, and Stan is with Benton & Bowles advertising agency in New York.

Another true Cornell wedding took place in Ithaca, March 22, when Anne G. (Nancy) Baldwin and Arthur E. Tenney were married in Anabel Taylor Chapel. Nancy's dad is Dean of Men Frank C. Baldwin '22 and Art is the son of Edward A. Tenney, PhD '32. The Tenneys live in Chicago, Ill., where Nancy is a social group worker on the staff of Howell House and Art is a math teacher in Chicago Heights.

The babies, bless 'em, continue to flock in. The Will White IIIs (Phyllis DuFlocq) happily announce the arrival of their third son, Alan Roderick, April 10. Phyll's really outnumbered now! Will IV is 5 and Scott is 2. The Whites live on RD 3, Redding Road, Georgetown, Conn. Way down South, Jan Marie joined parents Joan Schaaf Hoffman and Dr. Paul Hoffman '53 at 1764 S. Lumpkin, Athens, Ga., March 3. Another new little gal occupies Dr. Toni Wallace Novick's nursery, at 164 Church St., New Rochelle. Toni writes that daughter Laura Nicole was born March 20, and together with her brother Andrew, 21 months, is proving a real handful. Nevertheless, Toni plans to open an office for the practice of medicine this month in New Rochelle. Her special interest is in problems of fertility and sterility.

After missing a column for the greater glory of internship (first one missed since February, 1957!), your correspondent is back with more notes from '53 Men who have faithfully paid their Reunion-year dues.

8033 N. Gray Log Lane, Milwaukee 17, Wis., is in the news again as Reimar F. Frank reports his departure from there on the Liberté for LeHavre, France, April 12. Reimar is making a grand junket of European architecture.

Alan Perlmutter and Elaine Amdur Perlmutter '56 and baby Janet make 418 Starin Ave., Buffalo, their new address. H. B. "Bud" Hayden, Jr. is still in hometown Minneapolis at 4617 Meadow Road, Zone 10, 300 Northfield Place, Baltimore 10, Md. is home for John B. Dier.

"From the snowy mountains to the desert at Edwards AFB, Cal., will be quite a change," writes fighter-interceptor-flight-test-officer C. Richard Jones. Dick's new position in the West will be in weapons system testing. Leaving Vermont, Dick remarks that Pete Sparhawk '54 has started an ice boat company to which anyone can send right to Burlington should he find himself in need of such a vessel.

C. Richard Jahn sends his Class dues from 99 Whittier St., Cambridge, Mass. With the guided missiles division of Republic Aviation, design engineer Carl O. Preis can be addressed at 2249 Charing Cross Rd., Baldwin.

Andrew H. Campbell, 40 Bauer Terrace, Elizabeth, N.J., proudly announces that he has "finally graduated from old C.U." "I am in my second year of teaching science and biology at Mexico Academy & Central School," sends Glenn A. Crosway, 229 Academy St., Boonville.

Still with Batten, Barton, Durstine & Osborn, Howard David, 83-43, 118 St., Kew Gardens, continues active in the Cornell Alumni Association of New York. That '47-'54 get-together at Olin Hall, May 6, for the Henley Regatta films, sounded good, Howie; would like to have been back at my old dorm for that one.

Dick Williamson's $5 comes to the Class treasury from 3863 Tamworth Rd., Fort Worth, Tex.; Louis A. Pradt's, from 603 Gray Place, Wausau, Wis.

Married April 5 were John O. Brophy and Joan M. Sillman of Northport. Joan is a dental hygienist in the Lindenhurst school system.

William G. Huehn, 108 S. Main St., Mansfield, Pa., manages the Mansfield bulk petroleum plant of GLF.

"Lindy 'The Q' Hull '52 was in the Boston area," tells William J. Whelan, 270 Pleasant St., Marblehead, Mass., "before leaving for Caracas, Venezuela, where he will be going into a distributing business." Bidding Lindy, a Bostonian, good-bye along with Bill were Vic Pugo '52 and Vinnie Giarusso.

231 E. Prospect Ave., Mount Vernon, houses Joseph Hinsey. From Route 2, Ontario, Ore., Alex M. Sumida writes: "I was recently separated from the Navy. Now I'm back on my Uncle's gladiola bulb farm as I was before being drafted."

'53 Women: Mrs. A. B. Boehm, Jr.
2101 Hillgrove Pkwy.
Midland, Mich.

Diane De Voc was married April 19 in South River, N.J. to Richard F. Armstrong. Joan Donovan was a bridesmaid.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert F. (Elizabeth Overbaugh) Dean, 364 Floral Avenue, Johnson City, announce the birth of a son, Paul, April 2. Elizabeth is secondary schools chairman of the Cornell Women's Club of Broome County.

Helena T. Penalís, 914 West Park Avenue, Tallahassee, Fla., is an instructor in the school of home economics at Florida State University. Helena received the MS at Ohio State University in August, 1956, after which she taught at University of Colorado for a year. Helena spent last summer touring Europe.

In TV Guide for the week of May 3-9 there appears an article about Nina Wilcox. Nina graduated from Cornell, planning to be a psychiatric social worker. She spent a few months resting before continuing her studies. To keep busy she worked as production assistant for a television station. Nina says, "Ironically, that job . . . gave me my first touch of theatrical ambition. Before I left, I had the bug. I never went back for that social work degree." "Nina studied with Herbert Berghof and Uta Hagen, and played the straw hat circuit for several summers. Then last spring she and a few dozen other girls auditioned for the Anna Morrison role in "Harbourmaster," now called "Adventure at Scott Island," . . . That night she received a telephone call. 'You have the job,' said a voice at the other end. 'Start packing.' So Nina left for Cape Ann, Mass., and her first TV role." Nina was married last Labor Day to Marc Merson, a CBS casting director.

Here we are back in Boston and back on the job after a rather rigorous tour of scholastic duty in the Big City. Sorry I missed so many issues. The homework was heavy and the time was light, but yours truly will be more faithful in the future.

While in New York, we had occasion to run across many of the old guard and renew several lapsed acquaintances. Living next door to us in Brooklyn Heights was Foster Cunningham and his wife Marie. Fos is with Hanover Bank and their address is 175 Columbia Hts., Brooklyn. Further down the street resides Tom Armstrong, still a bachelor and living at 8 Montague Terrace. From 9 to 5, he can be found at Stone & Webster Corp., where he is assistant personnel manager. Also in the area are the Ed Drewsons, living on Grace Court Alley.

A group of us went to Princeton the other week for the Carnegie Cup Regatta, where we met, among others, Reunion chairman Pete Eiseman and Jeff Field with wife Jody. Pete is a working architect living in the Village with a couple of Yalies. He is planning to stage a big Five-year Reunion kickoff

It's Class Reunion Time...

And we're looking forward to greeting returning Alumni once again.

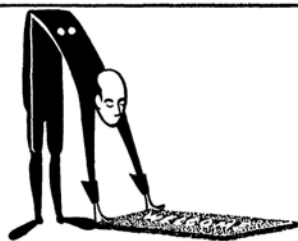

You will find our Booth located in Barton Hall, as in the past, with a representative stock of the Cornell items we carry.

party in the City sometime in the fall, so get ready for further notice. Jeff is in the management training program with Allied Chemical and living uptown. Jim Buchan was another of the old gang along the finish line for the races. Jim recently returned to the States after an extensive world tour as reported in an earlier column and is stationed in New York with the Army. He is presently living in Peter Cooper Village, but plans to go West to law school when he gets released in the fall.

We ran into Bob Tannenbaum and Cliff deRoode at an Alumni Association gathering at the Medical College during our travels. Bill Webber and Walt Lewis are in the Med College ranks, but were busy getting ready for finals and couldn't be present.

Received a fine newsy letter a while back from Al Griff, a chemical engineer with Bakelite Co., Bound Brook, N.J. Al lives at 10 Morris Avenue, Metuchen, N.J. During his travels, he has come across many Cornellians, and here is a partial report. Jerry Jarvis was recently engaged and will receive the MD any day. Marty Cole is with the New York law firm of F.E.M. Ballon. Len Rothfield is working on the PhD in chemical engineering at Wisconsin. Dick Pell is the father of two young children and lives in Milton, Mass. Bill Kaplan just returned to the States after a two-year Army tour in Japan. I will try to continue Al's list next time.

Have a prospective Cornellian whom I almost forgot: my former roommate, Sydney (Cohen) and her husband, Herb Glick '51 are the parents of a daughter, Susan Harriet, born February 26. They live at 434 S. Oakland Avenue, Pasadena, Cal., where Herb is attending Cal Tech.

From Los Angeles comes a letter from Les Papenfus Reed. Her husband, Thomas C. Reed '55, is stationed at the Air Force Ballistic Missile Division, Inglewood, Cal. Les writes that they have another eight months with the Air Force before returning to New York. She has no complaints about California living, except that it's too lazy. She and Tom live at 5311 West Slauson Avenue, Los Angeles 56, Cal.

From Les's letter it sounds as if there's quite a group of Cornellians out in L.A. She says that three days after their last move, they had a party that almost had them evicted before the curtains were up and the rugs down. They have a monthly party with a group that includes Ann (Schwartz) and Kraig Brigden '52 who live at 16124 Sunset Blvd., Pacific Palisades, Cal., (Kraig is with Ramo-Wooldridge after a tour of duty in the Marines and Ann worked for the Los Angeles Council of Girl Scouts but is now a full time housewife; Robert D. Olt '53 is with Linde Air, a division of Union Carbide, and lives at 340 South Normandie Avenue, Los Angeles; John Pew '51 of 12219 Gorham, Los Angeles 49, who is punching a time clock along with Art Messiter '51 at Hughes Aircraft; and William D. McKee '53, who is interning at Stanford University Hospital in San Francisco.

Other Cornellians in the area who've frequented the Reeds' gatherings are Eric Nordlander '56, who's at Cal Tech; Marlene Hazle '56, who's with Systems Development Division in Santa Monica and lives at 10974½ Ashton Avenue, Los Angeles 24; Dick Shriver '55, who was in Los Angeles on official Air Force business from Wright Paterson Field, Dayton, Ohio; and Donald L. Berg '54, out in California on a training program for Bryon-Jackson, although he normally works in Chicago and lives at 800 North East Street, Oak Park, Ill.

'55 Women: Mrs. Harry C. Olsen ROICC Area III APO 284, New York, N.Y.

Have a few notes to break the silent treatment I've been given lately. Anya Kurotchkin Lincoln '54 sends the following news about our Classmates. Lydia Rippstein is with IBM and lives at 93-36 205th St., Hollis 23. Nancy Paine was married last September to John Grant. The Grant home is at 30 Prospect Ave., Plattsburg. Mr. and Mrs. Richard Margolis (Diane Rothbard) reside at 126 Willow St., Brooklyn 1, where Richard is a journalist and Diane's time is well consumed by their two sons. Mr. & Mrs. Paul Staneslow, MA '55, (Olga Bruun) are off to India after two years at the U of Penn. Paul is with the linguistics department of Gujarat University. Those of you who would like your own saari chemise may get in touch with the Staneslows, c/o University School of Gujarati Language & Literature, Gujarat University, Ahmedabad 9, India.

Alice Zufall Fellenzer relates that they now have a daughter, Joy Anne, born February 27. The Fellenzers live at 159 South St., Middletown, where hubby is an electrical engineer with the local utility company. A letter from Mrs. James Ritchey '54 (Hazel Bowdren) (can we still call you Impy?) announces the birth of their latest, Pamela Jean, February 17. The Ritcheys also have a son, Curtis James, now a toddler of 16 mos. Jim got the Master's in ag economics from Purdue last September and is now marketing agent for the Extension Service in the Rochester area. Their home is at 231 Lyell Ave., Spencerport. Impy adds, for the benefit of all who have taken to the late skiing craze, that they saw Laura Weese Kennedy recently and that Laura is devoting her time to recovering from a broken leg and has presumably set her skis aside for the season.

A letter from Mrs. John Brown (Joanne Burford) gives us some news of a few Ithacans. With John as Assistant Dean of Men they are kept rather busy and now have a son, Andrew, to add to the activity of the household, at 901 Triphammer Rd. Also adding to the family are the William Kerrs '52 (Marggy Doorty) who just had a son, William Blakely Kerr III. Mrs. Frederick Rose (Arlene Aimone) is busy teaching in a local kindergarten while Bud is a student once more. Happy Reunion, all!

'56 Men: Stephen Kittenplan 24 Ogden Rd. Scarsdale, N.Y.

Word has it that '56 is breaking all sorts of "giving" records this year toward Alumni Annual Giving. Listed below are names and news of some of our Class's actual or potential contributors:

Peter Dirlam, 56 Woodland St., Southbridge, Mass., has sent your reporter this verbatim item: "I am now the sales manager for J. I. Morris Co. selling optical supplies and electronic components. July 31, I am leaving for a two-week Volkswagen tour of Iceland, tracking down sites mentioned in the Sagas and photographing arctic flora." A book about this trip will, he hopes, be an eventuality.

Don Golos, Hq. Sta., Informational Service Officer, Marine Air Station, Miami, Fla., is sports writer for his base paper. Don and some of the other boys in the area have been moving into Lory Johnson's (Hotel '56) Elbo Room for rest and "recreation."

For those of us who do not subscribe to the ex-"Johnson Rag," the Cornell Daily Sun, an interesting series of columns has appeared lately written by Bill Greenwalt. Bill, 65 Highridge Rd., Hartsdale, who was president of CURW while on the Hill has, from his position as a naval officer stationed in England, written his views on that country from the point of its needs and feelings in the 1950's. It makes for very intelligent reading.

Private First Class Fred Hertz, 1100 N. 25th St. Joseph, Mo., misses the East terribly. Fred, despite no actual schooling in this field, served as a veterinarian at Ft. Leonard Wood, Mo., before his current assignment at Ft. Leavenworth. Fred is a cattle buyer when not employed by Uncle Sam.

Lieutenant Norman Turkish, Box 103, Ethan Allen AFB, Winoski, Vt., "oversees the giving and control of money" as finance officer. The job could not be in better hands. Alan Embree who was recently married and Bob Green who wasn't are assigned to an armored unit in Germany (c/o Lt. Alan Embree, 2nd How. Bn. 78 Arty, APO 176, New York City). Doug Parker, 85 Highland Ave., Ossining, is finishing at Law School this year and expects to work in the fall for Mudge, Stern, Baldwin & Todd in New York City.

John Ewers, now serving six months in the Army, has announced his engagement to Paula Schmidt and plans to be married July 12. In case you ever wondered what the ILR boys end up doing, John is now time study analyst for Todd Co. Division of The Burroughs Corp. in Rochester. His first duty is on the length of time it takes to read the company name. John can be reached at 67 Lochnavar Pkwy, Pittsford.

Jim French, 407-F Main St., Crossett, Ark., is working forest products for The Crossett Co., in Crossett. The political boss in this town is a guy named Jones, so I've heard. Pete Liebert and Sandy Warshauer are studying at University med school in Glasgow, Scotland. Ed Pollack, 90 Royal Ave., Buffalo, is a process evaluation engineer for Olin Mathieson Chemical Corp. Ed Stewart, 13 Roosevelt Pl., Brooklyn, is finishing at Columbia business school and plans to go on to the PhD in economics. Hope to see your name in the column next issue; a letter to me will do it.

'57 Women: Diane Heasley 425 Royal Hawaiian Avenue Honolulu, Hawaii

A great deal of news has been piling up on the writer of this column, so this bright sunny afternoon I am attempting to bring you up to date on news of the Class.

Carol Gerke writes that she lives at 340 E. 74th Street, New York 21, while working for Good Housekeeping. Also in the area is Dorothy Kleinman, a mathematician programmer with Service Bureau Corp. She lives at 105-39 65 Road, Forest Hill 75. Joan Gerring is a dietetic intern at US Public Service Hospital, Stapleton, S.I. Connie Engelke, 1300 York Avenue, New York City, attends Cornell Medical College. Susan Breslow substitutes in Brooklyn while awaiting permanent certification, and lives at 1455 E. 24th Street, Brooklyn. Louise Wechsler is a student at NYU and her address is 34 Berrian Road, New Rochelle.

A number of Classmates are in the southwest part of the country. Willa Greenbaum Laderman is substituting in Phoenix, Ariz. as a home ec. teacher; lives at 2445 E. Campbell Avenue. Shirley Wagoner, 3106 Walling Drive, Austin, Tex., writes of her recent engagement to Wilhelm P. Johnson, Jr. She is doing graduate work at University of Texas. Arlette Stevens Dyott was married last July 20 and now teaches a combination fourth and fifth grade in a post school at Dugway, Utah, Proving Ground. Just write c/o Box 375. Am wondering if Jo Eastburn Cyprus and Bob are still at Fort Bliss? Cathy Catazarite writes that she is an extension assistant with the California Agricultural Extension Service and lives at 147 E. 11th Street, Apt. 1, San Bernardino, Cal.

Elaine Astolfi Williams is now in Redcar, Yorkshire, England, at 33 Conway Road. She and husband Louis Williams '56 have a daughter, Dawn Ann, born in January. Louis is employed by Kellogg International Corp. Carole Asen and Herbert J. Snitzer were married March 16 in Philadelphia.

In Ithaca, Elizabeth Hollister and Donald C. Smith '60 were married February 23 in Anabel Taylor Hall. The Rev. Richard B. Stott officiated. Sue DeRosay and Joe Henninger '56 announced their engagement February 14 and will be married June 28 in Ithaca with Cornellians in attendance. Ann Phillips and Andy Drechsel also are engaged. Ann and Sue are living together at 94 Hoover Road in Rochester and make frequent trips to Cornell on week ends. Another Ithacan, Myrna Lacy Rooney, teaches at St. John's Priory here in Honolulu. She and Tom '56 will be stationed at Fort Shafter until fall when they will be stationed back on the mainland.

'57 Men: David S. Nye 12 Kimball Road Poughkeepsie, N.Y.

Two more issues this season, and for a change I have a surplus of material. So pardon me please if I try to say a very little about a lot of people, or is that what I have been doing all along? Phil McIndoo is a communications officer trainee at Scott Air Force Base, Ill. Michael Makar has left GLF in Sonsville and now lives in Crawfordsville, Ind. and works for Swift & Co. there.

Gene Erickson is a candidate for the MBA this June at the school of business administration at University of Michigan. Paul Cohen is studying for a Master's degree at State College for Teachers in Albany. Dave Kielson has completed his six months with Uncle Sam and now works for the accounting firm, Brovitz & Levy. Plans call for a June marriage to Gail Wolff '59.

Greg Jones is a Marine, second lieutenant style, and shares an apartment with Pete Buchanan and John Howard. All evidently are stationed at the Quantico, Va. base. Barry Malin is among our representatives to the Freshman Class at the Cornell Medical College, and Milo Mandel is in the Cornell Law School, Class of '59. Milo will be married to Queens College Senior Isabel Sue Bierman, June 15.

Fred Sherman and Irwin Schlossberg are attending the NYU college of dentistry; Myron Teitelbaum is in his first year at Flower Medical School; and Ed Rogers has been promoted to executive vice-president of Wayne Sportswear Co., Suffern.

Two prospective Cornellians arrived recently: Cynthia Lynn, born to Bob and Marilyn Erb April 21; and Timothy Sean, son of Tom and Shirley Itin, born April 29.

Dom Pasquale is "still just plugging along" at New York Medical College. His home address is 33 South Field Avenue, Dobbs Ferry. Jack Dempsey works with John Pennington '24 for State Mutual of America & Plan Designers, Inc. He lives at 3117 Eggert Rd., Tonawanda, and is active in the Cornell Club, University Club, and secondary schools work. Incidentally, I made a quick trip back to Ithaca May 3, to find a wet spring, big plans for Willard Straight organization, hundreds of sub-Frosh swarming over everything, and a sense of expectation over the approaching (May 16, 17, 18) "Color Crazy" Spring Week End.

'58 BS—Norman Weber is assistant personnel manager with Diamond Gardner Corp., Ogdensburg. He and Mrs. Weber (Elinor Hermanson) '57 live at 623 State Street, Ogdensburg.
