H. W. PETERS '14 RESIGNS Provost Goes To War Industry

Announcement was made last week that H. W. Peters '14 has resigned as Provost of the University to become an executive of the Budd Manufacturing Co. of Philadelphia, Pa. The company is manufacturing shells, airplanes, and other war equipment and is engaged in steel fabrication.

Peters came to the University as Provost in December, 1938, to become the executive officer of a new Trustee committee on University development for the endowed Colleges, and has supervised a program of obtaining endowments, bequests, grants from foundations, and other financial support for the University.

University Gained Support

Since establishment of his office, the Herbert Fisk Johnson Professorship of Industrial Chemistry has been endowed by Herbert F. Johnson, Jr. '22, and John Wendell Anderson '89 endowed the professorship which has been named for him. Olin Hall of Chemical Engineering was erected with a gift of $600,000 from Franklin D. Olin '85, and a fund which has now accumulated to about $50,000 has been started for the proposed Materials and Metallurgy Laboratory of the College of Engineering. A program of gift annuities started in November, 1941, now totals about $200,000, and gifts on which the University pays the earned income to the donors during their lives have reached $50,000. Numerous research grants have come to the University and cordial relations have been established with many individuals, corporations, and foundations. Through a new alumni committee on bequests, trusts, and special gifts organized last June with Thomas B. Gilchrist '06 as chairman, information has been supplied to testators concerning bequests and legacies.

Peters has also taken active part, with financial officers of other institutions, in combatting legislation that has threatened seriously to reduce gifts not only to colleges but also to orphanages, churches, hospitals, and other privately endowed foundations.

President Edmund E. Day said last week, "With the resignation of Provost Peters, the University loses one of its ablest and most important administrative officers. The work in which he has been engaged was never systematically organized at Cornell until he came to the University four and a half years ago. Basically, this work has consisted of the sound promotion of all available means for increasing the University's financial resources. It has entailed also the continuing appraisal of governmental policies likely to affect adversely the financial prospects of all institutions largely dependent upon private philanthropy. In both of these fields, Provost Peters has made highly important contributions. Of necessity, his work has been done with a minimum of publicity, but it has been done with such intelligence and skill as to bring it clear and wide recognition."

Peters expects to remain at the University about a month. He is chairman of the Tompkins County Chapter, American Red Cross, and a member of the Ithaca War Council.

Was Business Executive

Secretary of his Class, he received the AB in 1914; was Secretary of the University as a Senior and until 1916, when he went to Detroit, Mich., as assistant to the president of Packard Motor Car Co. On leave of absence in 1917-19, he was a first lieutenant in the Air Service in France and received a GHQ citation for "exceptional meritorious service." Subsequently, he was general manager of Packard branches in Detroit and Chicago, Ill., and then vice-president of the company in charge of sales. From 1934 until he retired in 1936 to become an investment counsellor in Detroit, he was with General Motors Corp. as assistant general sales manager of Cadillac Motor Car Co. Alumni treasurer of the Cornell chapter of Phi Delta Theta and a member of Sphinx Head, Peters is the son of Heber C. Peters '92 and brother of Arthur C. Peters '15.

GRADUATES INCREASE Give More Mid-Year Degrees

Accelerated schedule of the University and general "speed-up" of students in preparation for war service resulted in the conferring of 313 degrees last January 28, as compared with 142 at mid-year in 1942. Official list shows that 241 first degrees were conferred, 16 students received the LLB, 21 won the Master's degree, and 35 were awarded the PhD. These with 5 BArch degrees awarded as of December 16, 1942, and 75 given the MD at the Medical College in New York March 25, make a total of 393 degrees conferred by the University since the close of the Summer Session last fall.

Graduates "With Distinction"

Of first degrees, 94 received the AB; 54 the BS of whom 25 were in Agriculture, 18 in Home Economics, and 11 in Hotel Administration; 37 the DVM; 15 the BArch including those of December; and Engineering degrees went to 46, of whom 2 received the CE, 11 BCE, 11 BME, and 22 the BS in Administrative Engineering, 3 in Civil Engineering and 19 in Mechanical Engineering. The AB "With Distinction" went to Gerald J. Aronson of Brooklyn, Robert S. Gordon of Bridgeport, Conn., William E. Leuchtenburg of Arlington, Va., and Jack J. Schwartz of Newark, N. J. Ralph H. Bergmann of Brooklyn was graduated "With Distinction in Government;" Phyllis F. About ATHLETICS

LACROSSE STARTS SEASON

The lacrosse team opened the spring sports season at West Point last Wednesday, April 21, losing, 10-1, to the US Military Academy in a game played in the field house.

Three days later, on Alumni Field, Cornell defeated Syracuse, 10-8, in its outdoor debut.

Captain Robert A. Moore '44 of Brooklyn scored Cornell's single goal in the Academy game.

Against Syracuse, the scoring was led with 3 goals by D. W. Hoagland, a Navy V-5 cadet stationed at Cornell who is eligible for the team. Had he remained at New Haven as an undergraduate, Hoagland would have captained the Yale lacrosse team this season. He plays the in home position. Other scorers against Syracuse were Seth J. Campbell '44 of Baltimore, Md., 2; John E. Eppler '43 of Baltimore, 3; and James E. Keats '43 of Plandome, 2.

Cornell lineup for the season's opening was: Goal, Edward H. Carman III '44 of Baltimore; point, Frank E. Barnes '44 of Mineola; cover point, Louis C. Schimoler '45 of Floral Park; first defense, Keats; second defense, William H. Chambers '43 of White Plains; center, William J. Pape '43 of Brooklyn; second attack,

John H. Hessey '44 of Baltimore; first attack, Captain Moore; out home, Campbell; in home, George W. Abbott '45 of Worcester, Mass.

BASEBALL OPENERS EVEN

After only three days of practice outdoors and postponement of a double-header scheduled with Columbia in New York City April 20, the baseball team made its 1943 debut on Hoy Field last Saturday.

It was warm and sunny and the diamond was dry as Cornell won the first game from Pennsylvania, 3-1, and lost the second, 1-5.

Donald R. Clay '45 of Milton, Mass., who started his pitching on Cornell's summer team last year, held Pennsylvania to four scattered hits the first game. The visitors' lone run was fashioned from a base on balls, stolen base, wild pitch, and a single to right.

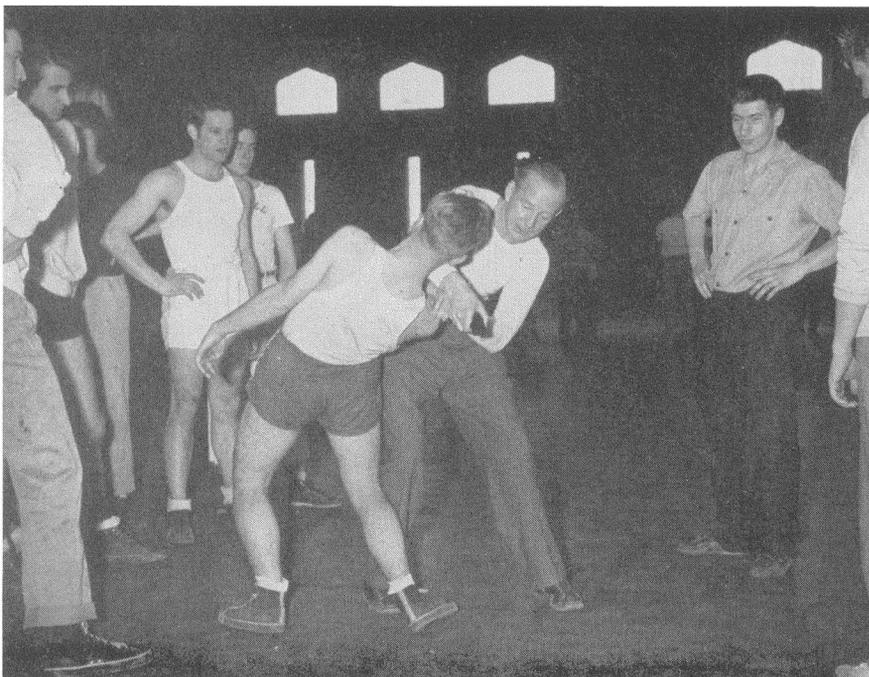

Cornell came from behind to score twice in the fourth inning. Carl W. E. Almquist '45 of Alden opened with a single, but was forced at second by Charles P. Weiss '44 of Putnam, Conn. Weiss stole second and scored on a double to right field by Jerome A. Batt '43 of Buffalo. Batt scored on a single by Norman J. Dawson '46 of Oak Park, Ill. Cornell made its third run in the sixth inning. Almquist doubled, moved to third on Weiss's infield out, and scored after Batt's long fly to center.

Allen J. Albright '44 of Ontario started the second game for Cornell and pitched to three batters, walking the first and third and giving the second a single. With the bases full, Edwin L. Bell '44 of Albion took over, and two of the runners scored on a long fly and an infield out.

Pennsylvania scored again in the second inning on a single, a stolen base, a sacrifice, and a passed ball, then came through with two more runs in the fifth, when, with Barszcz on first after a base on balls, Miller cracked a home run over the right field fence. Bell walked the next two batters and gave way to Peurne W. Billings '44 of Oneida Castle.

Cornell could get only three hits off Kuczynski, two of them in the fifth inning. Bell started with a single and was forced at second by Wilfred R. Loeser '46 of Rego Park. Charles R. Robinson '44 of Madison, N. J., walked, and the runners advanced on a wild pitch. Almquist singled, scoring Loeser, but Weiss hit into a double play to end the rally.

Both games were well played, despite light hitting. Only one error was recorded in the fourteen innings. Almquist was the outstanding batter with four hits in five times at bat in the two games. Kuczynski was credited with nine assists in the second game. Both games were of seven innings. The box scores:

UNDERGRADUATES LEARN "JUDO" FROM AN EXPERT

Trainer Frank Kavanagh of the Department of Physical Education and Athletics teaches the fine art of personal mayhem in a Barton Hall class which is part of the University's required physical fitness program for men students. He spent a week at the US Military Academy "brushing up" on the latest tactics gained from Army experience in the jungles of Guadalcanal.

PLACE IN PENN RELAYS

Best showing of the track team in the Pennsylvania Relay Games at Philadelphia last Friday and Saturday was the second place scored by the 880-yard relay team of Charles W. Pressler '44 of Lakewood, Ohio, Ward F. Moore '43 of Kenmore, William R. Bromstedt '45 of Highland Park, Ill., and Captain Charles E. Shaw '43 of Scarsdale. This quartet won its heat in 1:30, beating Manhattan, Lehigh, and Columbia, and lost to the US Military Academy by three yards in the final. The Academy runners were timed in 1:28.2. NYU was third and the US Naval Academy, fourth.

Cornell placed seventh in both the mile and two-mile relays. On the mile team were Robert A. W. Pullman '43 of Boston, Mass., Robert N. Adair '45 of Maysville, Ky., Moore, and Bromstedt. On the two-mile team were John X. Kennedy '43 of New York City, John F. Kandl '44 of New York City, William G. Dillon '43 of Binghamton, and Julian D. Cole '45 of Brooklyn.

The 440-yard relay team of Pressler, David B. Shaw '44 of Scarsdale, Bromstedt, and Captain Shaw just missed qualifying for the final after winning a heat in 0:43.4. The four fastest teams qualified; Cornell's time was fifth lowest.

In the individual events, Clark R. Sanford '44 of Potsdam made the best showing with second place in the hammer throw. He tossed the hammer 137 feet 3 inches. Strabo V. Claggett '43 of Pelham Manor was third with 126 feet 3 inches. The winner was Major Cruickshank of Camp Pickett, Va., with 169 feet 11¾ inches. (Service men competed on even terms with the college athletes in the Relays this year.)

In the invitation 100-yard dash, Captain Shaw finished third behind Kelsey of Princeton's ROTC and Ewell of Camp Lee, Va., formerly of Penn State. Ruben of NYU was fourth. The time was 0:09.8.

Kennedy placed fifth in the special 400-meter hurdles, and Kandl finished seventh in the two-mile run.

Others who competed were Richard M. Junge '43 of Ridgewood, N. J., in the pole vault; Robert W. Larson '44 of Dover, N. J., and John A. Mitchell '46 of Ridley Park, Pa., in the high jump; Robert A. Ornitz '45 of Pittsburgh, Pa., and Larson in the javelin throw; Audenried Whittemore, Jr. '45 of Bronxville and Larson in the discus throw; and Andrew D. Miller '44 of Wyomissing, Pa., in the shot put.

UNIVERSITY GOLF COURSE east of Ithaca opened April 24 for its third season. Doris Van Natta of Ithaca, six times women's champion of the Ithaca Country Club, is instructing undergraduate women this spring in advanced golf as part of the Physical Education program.

A FRESHMAN SCORES IN VARSITY GAME WITH PENNSYLVANIA

Wilfred R. Loeser '46 of Rego Park, shortstop, scores Cornell's only run in second game of Pennsylvania double-header on Hoy Field. He came in in the fifth inning on a single by Carl W. E. Almquist '45 of Alden, right fielder who made four hits in five times at bat.

Leviton '44

NOW IN MY TIME!

By Romeyn Berry

Forced to live in Cascadilla—there was no other place—the Olympians made the most of it. Their common hardships welded them into a cult that endured. Twenty years afterwards, those professors who had pioneered in Cascadilla Place regarded themselves as the original settlers. They claimed, and were accorded, precedence over later arrivals. Writing later of those early days in Cascadilla Place, Professor Caldwell said, "A professor who had not lived there at all was, in later times, hardly considered by his colleagues as having fully earned his right to be a professor in the University."

But Cornell's little springtime didn't last long; four years, perhaps. After that, the original Cascadilla group having performed its biological functions, it broke up and moved on. By 1872, President White had evidently become convinced that his new University was feasible. He moved his bag down from Syracuse and started living in his new house on the Campus. Goldwin Smith moved to Toronto. Other elders among the non-resident professors either died or went on about their business elsewhere. Having worked the vessel into blue water, the pilots went over the side, leaving the ship's company to take her on from there. These (the crew) also built little houses for themselves along the Campus roads and moved out of Cascadilla Place.

Not all moved out. Dr. Wilder lived there every minute of his teaching life and until well after his retirement. No other Ithaca roof ever sheltered Dr. Wilder. With the years, he became the tutelary deity of the place and it was said—not facetiously at all, and sometimes with deep bitterness of feeling—that no other professor could get rooms in Cascadilla until his proposed occupancy had been passed on and approved by Dr. Wilder.

Hiram Corson lived there until he moved across the road to Cascadilla Manse. It was during this period, you doubtless recall, that a good part of Cascadilla's tin roof blew off one night in a noteworthy gale. "Wake up, Hiram," Mrs. Corson shouted, in the overwhelming din and clatter, "the Day of Judgment has come." And he is supposed to have replied, "What? In the night? It couldn't!"

Morse Stephens lived there, too, and inaugurated a second Golden Age which, to the little group of students that were permitted to share in it, seemed to make Cascadilla Place glisten no less brightly than it did in the time of Louis Aggasiz and James Russell Lowell, Goldwin Smith, George William Curtis, and Bayard Taylor. One had to do good work in Morse Stephens's courses to be invited, when an upperclassman, to the choice gatherings that were held each week in his bachelor apartments. More than one scholastic drone, who otherwise teetered along the edge of disaster through four years to a dubious degree, now girded up his loins and "plastered" Morse Stephens's courses for 90's and 95's, just to make the Kipling Club! One recalls in this group—but not among the drones—Willard Straight, Henry Schoellkopf, and His Excellency, Sao-Ke Alfred Sze.

In my time, the younger bachelor professors were pretty apt to live in Cascadilla Place until the time came for them to be married and to finance a house, either on the Campus or out on the newborn Heights. A dozen such maintained a private dining club of their own up there for years in the turn of the century, and after one of the rare occasions when a student was taken to it for a peep behind the Veil of the Temple, he had something choice to reveal to the envious brothers when he got back home.

All this up to 1913, when the attempt was made to change Cascadilla Place over into just another undergraduate dormitory by the mere addition of trick plumbing and a new heating plant; when the attempt was made to launch the old ship anew as Cascadilla Hall. A bad mistake, that one, and a fruitless effort! We have always refused to recognize any modification in the original nomenclature. Why are universities always outraging and estranging their older (and richer) alumni by trying to change the nice names that have absorbed and give off the fragrance of old days?

But no administration can change Cascadilla Place much! The Army won't be able to, either. The essence of Cornell has sunk too deep into its stones! Thirty years afterward, when Goldwin Smith came back to dedicate the shrine to humanistic studies that now bears his name (and hung around for three weeks afterwards), he recalled, "Cascadilla held us all at first. The old pile claims our veneration as the cradle of the University. Life in it was not very luxurious; but it was very social. My thoughts often revert to my rooms in Cascadilla and to the platform from which I used to gaze on sunsets more gorgeous than those of my native land, and sometimes looked down upon an eagle soaring over the Lake."

There is much in the more ancient foundations that the graduate of a younger institution admires; a little that he envies. At the University of Virginia, one yearns to possess the curling brick fence with which Thomas Jefferson scalloped the edges of his breath-taking Quadrangle. It's the horsey smell of Hessian chargers and the Continental Congress in Nassau Hall that excites covetousness in the visitor at Princeton. It's the "Backs" and King's College Life-size oil paintings of Allan C. Balch '89 and Mrs. Balch (Janet Jacks), Grad '86-'88, have been hung by the artist, Arthur Cahill, in one of the reception rooms of the beautiful women's dormitories they built and furnished for the University. Mr. and Mrs. Balch celebrated their fiftieth wedding anniversary April 29, 1941, and were given a reception on the terrace of the Athenaeum which they gave to California Institute of Technology, Pasadena, of which Balch is president of the board of trustees. They have lived since 1896 in Los Angeles, where he is engaged in finance, investment, and public utilities.

chapel at Cambridge; the stairway and kitchen at Christ Church; the arrow slots in the walls of New College at Oxford. Yale men point with honest pride to this and that while all the time their visitors are green with envy over nothing so much as the implications of the three spinster-like churches on the Green that for two centuries have presented nothing but their angular, disapproving bustles to all the goings-on at Yale College.

Cornell does better, I think, when it avoids comparison with such as these and stresses the contrasts in which lie its strength; the contrasts that first offended, and then greatly modified, the accepted aims of higher education in America. And you have those contrasts exemplified in Cascadilla Place! What other foundation was born, and had its dynamic, independent character established, in a place that looks down upon the soaring eagles?

(This is the third and final installment of a series on Cascadilla Place, the first two of which Berry wrote for "Now, In My Time!" April 15 and April 22.—Ed.)

JERSEY OFFICERS GO

Cornell Club of Monmouth County, N. J., this year has lost both its secretary, Ralph J. Parker '23, and treasurer, Brainard C. Norton '17, to military service. Their duties have been assumed by C. CLUBS ENTERTAIN GIRLS

Cornell Women's Club of Washington, D. C., had thirty-five persons at a tea for secondary school students and undergraduates, March 28, in Pierce Hall. Thelma L. Brummett, Counsellor of Students, spoke on going to college and Cornell, and Mary E. Rolfs '43 of Arlington, Va., and Nancy R. Torlinski '44 of Chevy Chase, Md., described Campus life and showed colored slides of the University. Mrs. Carl B. Johnston (Helene Irish) '38, president of the Club, was in charge of the meeting.

Twelve members of the Buffalo Cornell Women's Club entertained thirty high school students, fifteen of their mothers and a father, and twelve undergraduate women at tea April 3 at the home of Mrs. Charles F. Blair (Grace McGonegal) '99. Motion pictures of the Campus were shown, a bulletin board displayed undergraduate publications and events, and information booths on courses and activities were in charge of Eloise B. Crosby '41, Ruth T. Nakamoto '42, and Virginia R. Allen '42. Mrs. Gardner H. Dales (Ruth Lindquist) '37, president of the Club, presided. Committee of arrangements was headed by Mrs. Herman Dutch (Kathryn Gibson) '35, with Evelyn Muntz '23, Linda Banar '29, and Miss Allen.

LETTERS

Subject to the usual restrictions of space and good taste, we shall print letters from subscribers on any side of any subject of interest to Cornellians. The ALUMNI NEWS often may not agree with the sentiments expressed, and disclaims any responsibility beyond that of fostering interest in the University.

PROVES PURPOSE EARLY

TO THE EDITOR:

The CORNELL ALUMNI NEWS (to an alumna of five weeks) has already proved its purpose. It's the one way of keeping in touch with the college life that we never want to forget.

Please give us as much news as possible about the Class of '43, especially of those of us who left this last February.

—JEANNE PALMER '43

FROM NEW GUINEA

TO THE ALUMNI FUND:

Several days ago, I was very surprised to find the Alumni Fund letter of last fall in my mail box; it had taken three months to come 10,000 miles to the jungles of New Guinea. Not that this is such a remarkable success, as mail usually gets here in three weeks or so, unless detained some place along the line as it was in this case. The remarkable thing about it was that just the post mark "Ithaca, N. Y." and the Cornell seal immediately drove the cares and worries of combat flying, coupled with bad grub, monstrous mosquitos, and all the hardships, from my mind. In their place came pleasant memories of Frosh year, winter snows, houseparties and fraternity life at the Chi Psi Lodge. It's a far cry from there to here, but travel only serves to convince me how much more Cornell means to me now and how matchless a life I led there.

Managed to get the runner to get this Money Order yesterday; sorry it can't be more, but with a baby coming to my wife in May, austerity can't be overdone. Hope it finds a small bit of use in furthering Cornell's aims.

Hope this little message finds you in as good health and spirits as it leaves me. Will see you all at Reunion times after the final and inevitable Victory.

—Lt. WILLIAM H. WEBSTER '42, AC

CORNELL MUSIC

TO THE EDITOR:

I am much pleased to learn from your paper of the great musical advantages at Cornell. And you have a fine concert pianist. In my day, there was almost no music.—RICHARD WARE '84

FORMER CONCERTS

A letter to the Ithaca Journal from ROBERT T. BANKS '23 comments on a statement which appeared in the Journal (but not in the ALUMNI NEWS) that the April 3 concert of the Cornell Chorus in

New York Town Hall was "the first time in the history of Cornell University that one of its musical organizations will appear in a major concert in New York City." Banks writes:

"The Cornell Glee and Instrumental Clubs have given two previous concerts in Town Hall, at one of which I sang on January 3, 1925, while a graduate student. Furthermore, the Clubs, under the direction of Eric Dudley and George Coleman, have given concerts in most of the 'major' concert halls east of the Rocky Mountains during the last twenty years.

"I know they have appeared twice at the classic Orchestra Hall in Chicago; twice at Constitution Hall in Washington, and four or five times at the famous Concert Hall of the Carnegie Institute in Pittsburgh, Pa., during these years under the direction of Messrs. Dudley and Coleman. On December 31, 1923, the Cornell Musical Clubs, as they were then called, gave a concert in the great convention hall in Wichita, Kan., the Wichita Forum. We were one of the regularly scheduled appearances in the municipal concert series, and we sang to an audience of 5,000 persons."

ITHACA CLUBS HEAR DAY

President Edmund E. Day spoke on the prospects for world organization after the war at a meeting of seventy-five Ithaca Cornellians in Willard Straight Memorial Room, April 12. Predicting that problems of the peace must be solved step by step under the leadership of the United States, Great Britain, Russia, and China, he pointed out that both victor and vanquished nations will have a stronger sense of national attachment after the war, and that internal economic adjustments may "get in the way" of international federation. He said that the views of men and women returning from military service will have important effect, that the cost of a stable, significant world federation will be high in many ways, and whether the people will be prepared to pay this high price remains to be seen.

Members of the men's Cornell Club of Ithaca were guests of the Women's Cornell Club, whose president, Mrs. Alpheus M. Goodman (Clara Browning) '12, presided. The Cornell Chorus, directed by Professor John M. Kuypers, Music, sang the English folk songs which they had given at their Town Hall concert in New York City, April 3. Norman G. Stagg '26, president of the men's Cornell Club, spoke briefly. Chairman of arrangements was Mrs. Robert L. Webster (Alice Schade) '31.

ITHACA ENTERPRISES has re-elected as directors Harry G. Stutz '07, Henry A. Carey '12, and City Judge Harold E. Simpson '19.

REPRESENTS CORNELL

Professor Arthur C. Howland '93, History, Emeritus, of the University of Pennsylvania has been delegated by President Day to represent Cornell University at a Centennial Convocation, May 3, commemorating the founding of Villanova College, Villanova, Pa. Professor Howland was a charter member of Pi Chapter of Delta Phi at the University. He edited the three-volume work of the late Henry C. Lea on the history of witchcraft, and collaborated with the late Professor George L. Burr '81, History. He and Mrs. Howland (Emily Berry) '95 live at 9 Guernsey Road, Swarthmore, Pa.

LONG ISLAND GOES TO TOWN

Because of gasoline rationing, the Cornell Club of Nassau County held its annual dinner in New York City, at the Hotel Martinique March 25. Speakers were Head Coach Carl G. Snively, who told of athletics prospects at the University, and Alfred Marchev, vice-president and general manager of Republic Aviation Corp., who was with Thomas-Morse in Ithaca thirty years ago. He told of his company's "Thunderbolt" fighter plane. His and Mrs. Marchev's (Martha Bovier) '12 son is George B. Marchev '43.

The Club re-elected all officers: W. Peck Taylor '25, president; Herman F.

Rudiger '34, vice-president; Thomas F. Tomlines '17, secretary; William J. Garypie '25, bursar. Governors elected for three years are Allan H. Rogers '24, James H. Zimmer '25, David S. Hill, Jr. '26, and Lyman D. Hall '27.

Number of $25 War Savings Bonds given to the University for Bonded Reunions by alumni had reached sixty-eight last Monday, and more were coming to the Alumni Fund office in every mail.

Fifteen-year Reunion Host Class of '28 has converted its famous Bandwagon of five years ago to the '28 BONDwagon (above) to promote this year's Bonded Reunions. A letter to the Class from its co-secretaries, Lyman R. Fisher and James D. Pond, carries a large red Bondwagon and urges every member to buy at least one $25 Series F War Bond for Cornell in lieu of coming to Reunion in Ithaca this year.

Recounting that "Cornell, like many other colleges, needs the help of its alumni in riding through the storm," the '28 secretaries continue: "So—no beer at Baker! No 4 a.m. songfest on the Libe Slope! No jam-packed rally at Bailey! Our Fifteenth Reunion, as Host Class, is off for the duration. Cornell dorms are full of Navy ensigns and more trainees from the Navy and Army will soon flood the place, even taking over some of the fraternity houses. . . . A Bond won't cost as much as a trip to Ithaca, and you'll wake up the next morning without a hangover, having done your bit for our country and Alma Mater."

Leutenant Stephen J. deBaun '38, pinch-hitting for the Five-year Class secretary, Ensign William C. Kruse, USNR, now at Martinique in the West Indies, coins for his Class letter the slogan, "Reunion by Proxy—Buy Bonds!"

Secretaries of many Classes are urging their members to support Bonded Reunions by sending Series F War Bonds to the Alumni Fund with the money that they would otherwise spend to attend Class Reunions in Ithaca. Among others who have sent Class letters are Simon H. Gage '77, Clayton Ryder '79, Clarence A. Snider '91, Clark S. Northup '93, Esther E. Parker '05, Antonio Lazo '07, Eleanor V. H. Reed '08, Mrs. R. W. Sailor (Queenie Horton) '09, Robert E. Treman '09, George H. Rockwell '13, H. W. Peters '14, Mrs. Robert C. Osborn (Agda Swenson) '20, Hosea C. Ballou '20, Max F. Schmitt '24, Robert B.

Brown '27, Charles E. Dykes '36, and James L. Kraker, Jr. '42.

Series F $25 War Savings Bonds may be obtained for $18.50 at all banks and postoffices. They should be made out to Cornell University, a Corporation, Ithaca N. Y. and mailed to the Alumni Fund, 3 East Avenue, Ithaca, for credit to Class quotas. Uninvested University funds are exchanged for bonds to be held to maturity by the University, thus releasing cash to meet current expenses. Price of such bonds is an allowable income tax deduction.

ON THE CAMPUS AND DOWN THE HILL

EASTER SUNRISE service on the north shore of Beebe Lake attracted some 300 students and others of the community. A brass quartet heralded the sunrise, and the service was conducted by the Rev. Frederick W. Brink, Presbyterian University pastor. Because of the gasoline shortage, the usual service on Taughanock Point was cancelled after eleven years, but young people of some Ithaca churches held services at Stewart Park at the end of the Lake.

LENTEN RECITAL of "A German Requiem" by Brahms was given in Bailey Hall April 20 by the Sage Chapel Choir and University Orchestra, directed by Professor John M. Kuypers, Music. Professor Richard T. Gore, Music, was at the organ, and solo parts were taken by Truman K. Powers '30, tenor, and Rachel G. Weaver '45, soprano.

NAVY and Marine Corps qualifying examinations to determine whether certain student members of their Reserves will continue in college on active duty or be ordered elsewhere were given April 20 to thirty-one Freshmen and Sophomores in the Marine Corps Reserve and fifty-four of the Naval Reserve (V-1) who will have completed four or more terms in college by July 1. The all-day examination was administered by Professor Thomas L. Bayne, Jr., PhD '26, Rural Education, for the Navy Department.

STUDENT OFFICERS, staff, and enlisted personnel of the Naval Training School figured largely among the 500 students and others of the University community who gave their blood during a three-day visit of the American Red Cross mobile blood donor unit from Rochester last week.

WILLARD STRAIGHT HALL board of managers elected William W. Ward '44 of Haddon Heights, N. J., to be president of the Hall next year. Greta E. Wilcox '44 of Bergen is secretary of the board. Newly appointed members of the board of managers (there was no election of men this year) are Gilbert I. Smith '44 of San Marina, Cal., Richard B. Hillman '44 of Upper Darby, Pa., and William D. Knauss '45 of Poughkeepsie.

SERVICE PERSONNEL getting special training at the University was increased last week when twenty more Naval Aviation cadets brought the number to ninety, and a fourth class of fifty civilian employees of the Signal Corps Reserve began the twelve-week ESMWT course in electrical communications. The Naval Aviation cadets came from three months at the Naval Flight Preparatory School

FACULTY COMMITTEE on student activities published notice in the Sun April 22 that its ruling of last fall against fraternity houseparties would be waived from 6 p.m. Friday, April 30, to 6 p.m. Sunday, May 2. A statement by Donald H. Moyer, Counsellor of Students and chairman of the committee, said, in part: "The Committee has come to realize that complete enforcement would call for restrictions on the social program of the fraternities beyond any intentions of curtailment it originally had, and for the sake of enforcing its rule, it does not wish at this time to insist on drastic measures of control which would in effect mean no parties at all over Spring Day. If the rule was not to be enforced, there would be the invitation to fraternities to violate it, and to the WSGA would fall the problem of what to do for those of its membership who would be invited to parties that week end." Meeting the night before, the executive committee of WSGA was reported to have protested the original ban by the Faculty committee, and voted to allow undergraduate women to attend one organized houseparty each term, or not more than three in any University year. A Sun editorial April 22 decried the committee's reversal "now when an adequate compromise was in sight," expressed the hope that "Faculty committees have learned that to deal with Cornell students is not a matter of passing a law or two, no matter how just the law," and concluded that "Spring Day will be much more fun being 'suddenly legal'."

at Colgate University, for eight weeks of ground school and flight training directed by Foster M. Coffin '12, coordinator of the CAA War Training Service. Signal Corps training under Professor Howard G. Smith '30, Electrical Engineering, follows five months of basic study at a Signal Corps school in New York City, and qualifies the men for active assignment in operating radio location equipment.

CORNELL DAILY SUN has announced the election of Aaron H. Esman '45 of Pittsburgh, Pa., as assistant managing editor and Hugh A. Gerstman '44 of Buffalo as sports editor.

ARMY PLANE circling low over the Campus last week attracted considerable attention, and when it dropped a parachute the observer in the AWS station on Roberts Hall excitedly telephoned a "Red Flash" report to headquarters. The parachute landed in a company of marching Naval Reserve officers, and was found to have brought a message addressed to a woman student in the University. P.S.—The message was delivered.

SUN EDITORIAL last week pointed out that "The co-eds' opportunity for training in leadership has never been greater than it is at this moment. The men who have guided Cornell's vital extra-curricular activities and student government organizations are now in or on their way to service in the armed forces. Their places should naturally be taken by the women who have long been the underlings in these Campus divisions." Three days later, the Sun announced the election of Jane P. Barsky '44 of Mt. Vernon as assistant editorial director, taking the place of Robert D. Greenberg '44 who is in the Army.

CORNELL COUNTRYMAN editor for next year is Elizabeth A. Kandiko '44 of Ancram. Egon Neuberger '45 of New York City is business manager and Jean M. Carnell '46 of Ithaca is circulation manager.

MESSENGER LECTURES this week by Professor Carl Becker, University Historian, in his series on "The founding of Cornell University" deal with "Circumstances and the Man: Ezra Cornell" and "Circumstances and the Man: Andrew D. White." Dr. William C. Geer '02 of the B. F. Goodrich Co. lectures April 29 before the American Institute of Chemical Engineers on "Natural Vs. Synthetic Rubber: A Problem for Engineers."

SAGE CHAPEL PREACHER May 2 is the Rev. G. Bromley Oxnam, Bishop of the Methodist Church, Boston, Mass.

He had spent most of his business life with the Lehigh, as a travelling passenger agent and in New York City before he came here. '19, '20 AB—HENRY F. PRINGLE, head of the writers' division of the Office of War Information and former Pulitzer prize winner, was dismissed from his post, it was announced April 10, because of a difference of opinion over policy on publications of the OWI. Gardner Cowles, deputy director of the OWI, who demanded Pringle's resignation, said that the dispute arose over the quantity of publications issued by the OWI, but this was denied by Pringle who said that the disagreement was not over the quantity and extent of the publications but over their quality and nature. The entire twelve-man staff of the writers' division resigned with Pringle.

WHAT PARENTS SAY ABOUT CAMP OTTER

"I wish you to know how much Ernest has enjoyed Camp Otter for past two summers. He now feels at home in woods. This is especially gratifying to me because as a boy two of my best summers were spent at Camp Otter."

"He thoroughly enjoyed the summer and I feel that it did him a lot of good."—Cornell '26

"He has had a grand summer. I can tell from his letters that he enjoyed it tremendously and you certainly are to be congratulated in your handling of the boys.—Cornell '22

"We have enthusiastic letters from Porter. You'll be glad to know his reactions that its the 'nuts' up here and the food is swell and he likes his counselor 'Don' too."

"All the Fall I have intended to write and tell you how much Ford R. enjoyed his summer a camp, also how much we think it did for him."

"We certainly appreciate your interest in Barty and feel that the summer did him a lot of good."—Cornell '20

"Ted has been singing the praises of Camp Otter and relating the wonderful experiences he had ever since his return home."

"Just a line to assure you that Bruce's summer at Otter is repaying us a hundred per cent. He arrived home with more real boy cockiness and self assurance than we would think possible to instill in one boy in a short summer."

"I believe it has done him a world of good and certainly hope conditions are such that he will be able to go back next year."—Cornell '18

"I want you to know how pleased we are with the results of Thomas' eight weeks at Camp Otter, and how he has toughened up in such good shape."—Cornell '26

"I feel very much that Jimmy got considerable good out of camp and I think he thoroughly enjoyed himself."—Cornell '25

"I do not know how many years my boys have been attending your Camp Otter but I realize that it is a very long time. The camp has served a very useful purpose of carrying my boys through a period in their lives when I felt that camp life was important and facilities are just what boys need at that age."

"The boys had a grand summer and are in fine shape now."

"The kids arrived in good shape and are still full of camp. There is no doubt about their having had a good time."—Cornell '18

"All three boys thoroughly enjoyed their summer at Camp Otter and I am sure it did each one much good."

"Herbie continues to talk about Camp Otter and certainly hopes that he can go back."

"I would like to take this opportunity of both reminiscing about Camp Otter and complimenting you on the present day management."—Cornell '24

"His letters have shown such a marked improvement that I'm sure his summer has done him a lot of good."

"We get happy letters from our boys. Bob writes 'There is awful good food up here and plenty of it too'."—Cornell '11

"As you know I went there for nine years and feel that it was a very important part of my education. I think both boys expect to beat the old man's record and their mother and I think it would be a very good thing for them if they do so."

Memo to Expectant Fathers

YOU HAVE before you one of the greatest experiences a man can know. It is a joyful experience—and a sobering one. It brings a lifetime of satisfaction, affection, love . . . and a continuing responsibility.

For who can measure the span of your dreams for that little life? The happy childhood, the eager adolescence, the fruitful college years . . . you want them all for your child, as every father does.

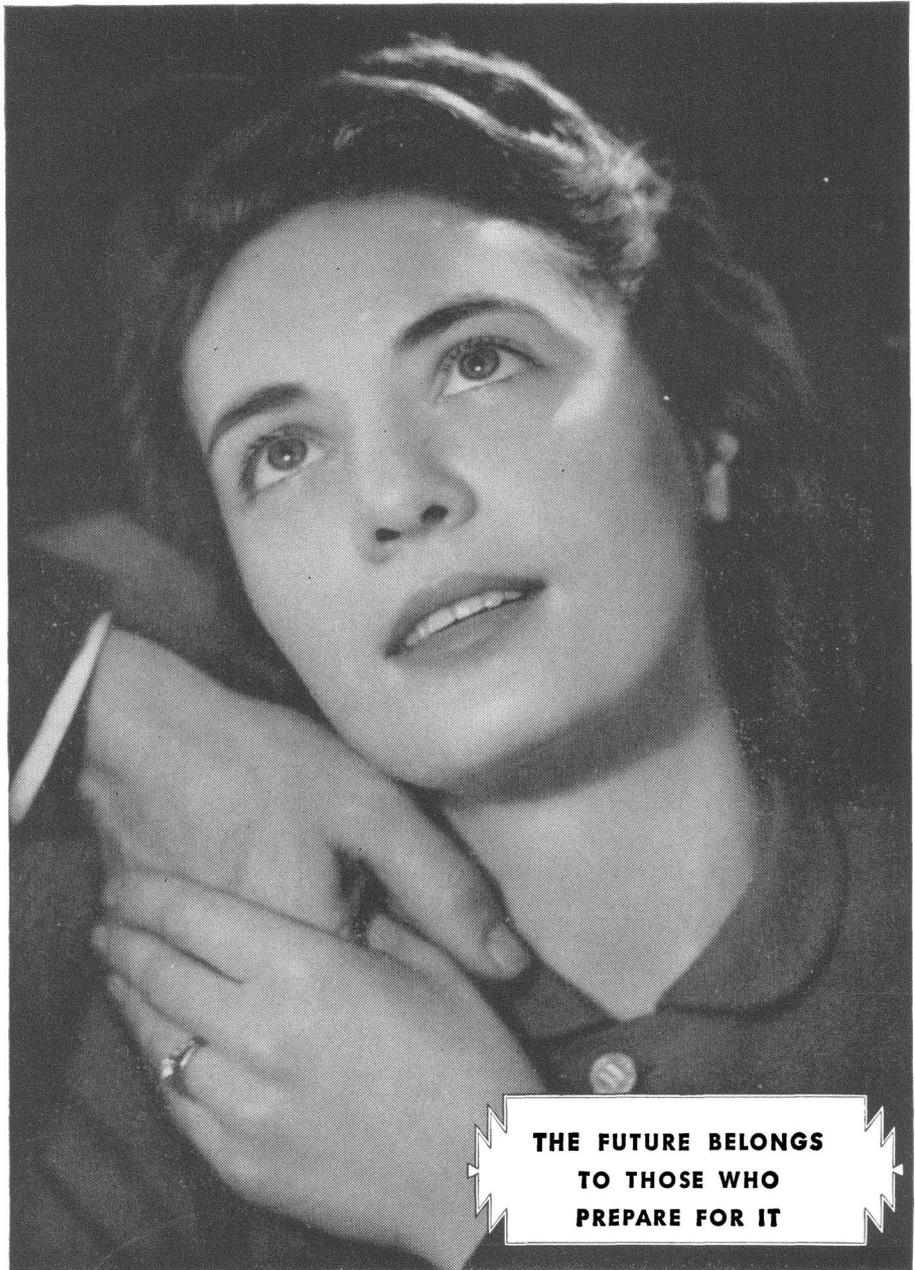

Then isn't it worth remembering—right now, today—that "The future belongs to those who prepare for it"?

There is a friend near by who is genuinely interested in helping you plan for your future and your family's future . . . wisely, conservatively, and soundly. He is your Prudential representative . . .

What About Your Family's Future?

Today, as ever since the year 1875, The Prudential's business is with tomorrow—your tomorrow, and your family's.
