GIRLS TO COME MAY 15 Nine Clubs Entertain

Eighty to ninety girls from secondary schools throughout New York State are expected in Ithaca for the fourth annual Cornell Day for Women on May 15. They have been selected both by undergraduate women and by members of the Cornell Women's Clubs.

Guests will be entertained in the women's dormitories. On Saturday morning they will be taken on a tour of the Campus by undergraduate women, and those who wish will have an opportunity to interview representatives from the Faculties of the various Colleges. In the afternoon a tea for the guests will be held in Willard Straight, and in the evening an informal party is being planned in the Balch Hall recreation room.

The Women's Cornell Day Committee is headed by Mrs. Claude M. Bigelow (Lucile Wyman) '23, 91 Homer Ave., Cortland. Its Ithaca members are Mrs. R. C. Osborn (Agda Swenson) '20, Olive Northup Snyder '22, Dean E. Louise Fitch, Ruth E. Davis '17, Mrs. John B. Grace (Anna Fielden) '10, and Marion F. Bean '37, chairman of the undergraduate committee.

During and since the spring recess ten Cornell Women's Clubs have entertained preparatory and high school girls who might be interested in entering the University. A committee of the Federation of Cornell Women's Clubs, headed by Mrs. Edwin Knauss (Dorothy Pond) '18, arranged for undergraduate women active in Campus affairs to address these meetings and the speakers were chosen by Miss Bean.

On April 4 the Cornell Women's Club of Washington, D. C. gave a tea at the home of Gladys Fielding '34. Marian Myers '38 was the speaker. The New York Club held its tea at the Barbizon Hotel April 11. Mrs. Thomas Loudon (Elizabeth Valentine) '02 was chairman, and Edith Gardner '36 of Richmond Hill spoke for the undergraduates.

Simultaneous meetings were held April 10 by the Cornell Women's Clubs of Philadelphia, Rochester, Buffalo, Batavia, Western Connecticut, and Schenectady. The Buffalo meeting took place at the home of Mrs. George Crofts (Frances Johnson) '05, and Mary Tillinghast '36 spoke. At the Rochester home of Dorothy J. Sullivan '35 color films of Campus activities were shown and Elizabeth Nichols '37 and Doris E. Smallridge '37 spoke. Sixteen school girls were guests in Philadelphia at the home of Mrs. A. A. Woodruff (Gertrude Marvin) '13. Undergraduates present were Jeanne White and Florence Pile, '38; Jane Watt

'39; and Phyllis Andre and Gabrielle Sichel, '40. Agnes Tierney '95 spoke of Cornell as she knew it in the time of Andrew D. White.

The Batavia women held their meeting at the Y. W. C. A. building. Girls were present from LeRoy, Albion, Corfu, Bergen, Elba, and Batavia. Margaret Buckland '38 spoke. The Schenectady party was addressed by Barbara Clark '39; and the one given by the Western Connecticut women in Bridgeport, by Mary Bent '37.

A tea was given April 16 by the Cornell Women's Club of Cortland. Mary Dickson '38 and Mrs. Osborn were both present and spoke to the girls of Cornell affairs.

INDIANA CLUB ELECTS

At a meeting of the Cornell Club of Indiana held on March 10 at the Columbia Club in Indianapolis, Otto N. Frenzel, Jr. '19 was elected president of the Club, succeeding Herbert I. Johnstone '26 who moved to Mobile, Ala. recently. John F. Modrall '34 was re-elected secretary and R. Ralston Jones '15 was elected treasurer.

CORNELL CLUB LIBRARIAN

DR. HENRY P. DEFOREST '84 reads the ALUMNI NEWS in the library of the Cornell Club of New York. Librarian of the Club since it moved into its present quarters in 1923, Dr. deForest has built up the Club library from forty-eight books to more than 4,000 volumes. Most of these were gifts from alumni solicited by the librarian through the years. He also designed the bookplate of the Club. An ardent Cornellian, Dr. deForest is also secretary of the Class of '84 and of the Early Eighties group of classes. Photo by Mark Muller '39.

HOLD PEACE MEETING Council Arranges Program

This year's peace meeting in Bailey Hall, April 22, was sponsored and arranged by the recently formed Campus Peace Council, which brings together representatives of student organizations to further the cause. University classes were suspended for an hour, and the auditorium was half filled.

Dr. R. F. Jenny, former Army chaplain now pastor of the Park Central Presbyterian Church in Syracuse and self-styled "pacifierant," pleaded for a "crusade of peace" that should make the world "fit for men and women to live in," and labelled his hearers as being "too respectable" and "lacking in dyed-in-the-wool conviction." Professor Henry W. Edgerton '10, Law, speaking on "Students and War," prophesied another war, saying: "The old-fashioned ideas of national interests and prestige make disarmament impossible." Pointing out that "a country" is made up of individual persons and is not of itself a living thing, he advised students to "look over the next war carefully and disregard persuasive propaganda."

John M. Batten '37, president of the Student Council, presided, and Patricia S. Prescott '38 of Sandy Creek, Austin H. Kiplinger '39 of Arlington, Va., and Frederick J. Rarig '37 of Minneapolis, Minn. advocated the cause of peace and urged individual support by writing to legislators in the interests of anti-war bills.

The Campus Peace Council, the formation of which we announced recently, is composed of representatives of some twenty-eight undergraduate organizations. These include the Student Council, Interfraternity Council, Independent Association, men's and women's cabinets of CURW and five denominational student groups, the Cornell Daily Sun and Areopagus, Officers Club of the ROTC, the Poets' Club, the International Relations Club, American Student Union, Young Communists' League, Young Peoples' Socialist League, Telluride Association, and three sororities (Alpha Epsilon Phi, Alpha Xi Delta, Sigma Delta Tau) and two fraternities (Sigma Chi and Theta Delta Chi). Its executive committee is composed of Rose E. Smith '38 of Jackson Heights, chairman, Kiplinger, Rarig, Frederick H. Bullen '38 of Pueblo, Col., John S. Niederhauser '38 of Menlo Park, Cal., and Fannie Price '37 of Rochester. To further its program, the Campus Peace Council plans a series of round table discussions and of public debates by students and panel discussions conducted by members of the Faculty.

TRAIN TIMES CHANGE

With the change to daylight saving time in New York and other cities, Lehigh Valley Railroad has advanced the leaving time of its night train to Ithaca to 11:10 p.m., standard time, from New York City and 11 p.m. from Philadelphia, arriving at Ithaca at 6:19 a.m., with occupancy of sleeping cars until 8. The Black Diamond leaves New York City the same time as before, 11:10 a.m., which is 12:10 daylight saving time, and arrives at Ithaca at 6:40 p.m.

From Ithaca, the night train now leaves at 10:15 p.m. instead of 11, arriving in New York City at 6:30 a.m. and at Philadelphia at 6:40 a.m. The Black Diamond, eastbound, leaves Ithaca at 1:07 p.m.

Ithaca, as in the last several years, remains on Eastern standard time.

PHILADELPHIA ELECTS

Cornell Club of Philadelphia, at its annual meeting April 21, elected Otto V. Kruse '09, president; Charles L. MacBeth '28, vice-president; Robert B. Patch '22, secretary; and Stanley O. Law '17, treasurer. Directors elected are James B. Harper '20, Emmett J. Murphy '22, Walter W. Buckley '25, Charles B. Howland '26, John S. Fair, Jr. '27, M. Yetter Schoch '29, Robert P. Liversidge '31, and Harrison S. Wilson '36.

TRIBUTE TO SZE '01

Nearly 150 Cornellians gathered April 24 at the Carlton Hotel in Washington, D. C. for the reception and dinner given by the Cornell Club of Washington in honor of Dr. Sao-Ke Alfred Sze '01, retiring Chinese Ambassador to the United States, and Madame Sze.

Principal speaker was former President Jacob Gould Schurman, who after more than thirty years at Cornell became Ambassador to Germany. He paid high tribute to Dr. Sze as a Cornellian, as a diplomat, and as a friend. Greetings were brought from the University Board of Trustees by Bancroft Gherardi '93, chairman of the committee on general administration; from the Faculty by Professor William I. Myers '14, on leave as Governor of the Farm Credit Administration; from the Cornell Alumni Corporation by its president, C. Reeve Vanneman '03; from the Cornell Club of Baltimore by Ezra B. Whitman '01, University Trustee, and Henry R. Gundlach '11; from the Cornell Club of Delaware by Sonnin Krebs '00; and August H. Moran '17 spoke for the Washington Club. Alfredo B. Cotas '12, Minister from Paraguay, outlined Dr. Sze's diplomatic career, and Dr. Sze responded briefly.

Professor Charles L. Durham '99, long time personal friend of Sze's, was the toastmaster. Decorations were red tulips and white carnations, with a Cornell banner and the flag of China. Music was given by Ruth W. Fulton, daughter of Creed W. Fulton '09, and her fiancé, Glen Carow.

Professor Durham says that Dr. Sze expects to sail for China soon, the exact time depending upon when his successor can arrive in Washington.

HEADS ALUMNI COUNCIL

R. W. SAILOR '07, editor of the ALUMNI NEWS, last week was elected president of the American Alumni Council at its annual convention at the United States Military Academy at West Point. Council membership is held by 200 alumni secretaries, 85 alumni fund secretaries, and 120 alumni magazines of American colleges and universities. Sailor's term as president will include the silver anniversary convention of the Council, to be held next spring at Columbus, Ohio. He continues also as editor of the Council, which position he has held since its creation in 1922. He was president of the magazine division in 1921-22 and its treasurer the year before.

Cornell memberships in the American Alumni Council are held by Foster M. Coffin '12, Alumni Representative, Archie M. Palmer '18, executive secretary of the Cornellian Council, and Sailor for the ALUMNI NEWS. Coffin is a former vice-president for alumni secretaries and district director. Palmer was vice-president of the alumni funds division and a trustee, and the late Harold Flack '12 was vice-president for alumni funds at his death.

Sailor has been editor of the ALUMNI NEWS since January 1, 1918. For eight years previously secretary of the Cornell Club of Chicago, he came to Ithaca in September, 1916, to become secretary of the Associate Alumni of Cornell University and manager of the ALUMNI NEWS. January 1, 1927, he organized the Cornell Alumni News Publishing Corporation, consolidating the Cayuga Press and the ALUMNI NEWS under one ownership; was first president, and is now secretary of the Corporation, in charge of sales, and spends much of his time traveling in the interests of college and book printing for the Cayuga Press.

Entering the University in 1902, Sailor received the AB degree in '07. He was a member of the track and football teams, of Phi Beta Kappa and Sigma Xi. He spent the term after graduation at the University of Würzburg, in Bavaria. He is president of the Cornell Corporation of Beta Theta Pi, former president of the Sphinx Head Corporation, Town and Gown Club, and Ithaca Rotary, and a member of the Cornell Clubs of New York and Philadelphia. Mrs. Sailor is the former Queenie Horton '09.

REUNION IN MANHATTAN

The Class of '12 announces a Reunion in Manhattan for all Classes, as a "fore-runner to the reunion in June," at the Cornell Club of New York, May 12. Festivities will begin at 6:30, with supper, and John T. McGovern '00 will preside over the entertainment. Many classes are listed for the committee, with names for some, but Walter R. Kuhn '12 and Robert L. Bliss '30 seem to be the guiding geniuses.

SPRING CONCERT PLEASES

Student singers and instrumentalists were thoroughly enjoyed by a Bailey Hall audience April 22 for the annual spring concert of the Men's and Women's Glee Clubs and Instrumental Clubs. Likewise the audience appreciated the rich contralto voice of Marie Powers '24, recently arrived from a concert season abroad to be guest artist. She sang in German four Brahms compositions (including the "Lullaby" as an encore) and one by Piccinni. Again when with Thomas Tracy '31 she appeared to sing selections from "Carmen," both soloists were roundly applauded.

The evening's program opened with "Song for Cornell," the words by Dana Burnett '11. The program was fresh and varied, well selected, and most competently given, whether by the combined Clubs, directed alternately by Eric Dudley and George L. Coleman '95, by the Men's Glee Club alone, with Dudley directing, or by the Women's Glee Club, led by Mrs. Dudley. Likewise the student soloists performed expertly, and were well received. Especially pleasing was a number, "Portraits," in which, on the spotlighted stage, Gerrit Conger '37 sang "Little Old Lady" to M. Elizabeth Brown '39, dressed in lavender and old lace, in a huge gilt frame; to be replaced by Helena Palmer '37 in the frame, dressed in a modern gown, with Robert Bodholt '38 as the soloist.

The Women's Glee Club numbers 113, the Men's Glee Club, 61, and the two Instrumental Clubs, 19 and 23, respectively.

At a Sunday afternoon recital in Willard Straight Hall Miss Powers was again enthusiastically received by an audience which almost overflowed the Memorial Room. Here she sang in French, Italian, Spanish, German, and English; was encored again and again, and impressed her listeners with her own real enjoyment of singing for its own sake. Her accompanist at both performances was Mrs. Othon G. Guerlac, whose husband before his death was professor of Romance Languages.

TRAFFIC IN DETROIT

Cornellians of Detroit had opportunity to ask questions and have them answered by Judge Thomas F. Maher, of the traffic court, at the regular Thursday luncheon of the Cornell Club of Michigan April 22.

STUDENTS IN BUFFALO

Cornell Club of Buffalo entertained the Juniors and other students in Civil Engineering, in town for their annual two-day inspection trip, at a smoker at the University Club April 21, jointly with the Buffalo section of the ASCE. Speaker was Edward F. Entwisle '06, an official of the Bethlehem Steel Corporation, whose plant the students were to visit the next day. On Wednesday they inspected the new $6,000,000 water works and sanitary project being constructed by the Sanitary Commission of Buffalo. Professors Earle N. Burrows '07 and William E. Stanley accompanied the students. Committee of the Cornell Club for their entertainment was composed of William T. Huber '08, Paul E. Fitzpatrick '20, Frederick S. Manthai '27, and John R. McKaig '30.

DECIDE MOOT CASE

A distinguished bench, headed by Judge Leonard C. Crouch '89, formerly of the Court of Appeals, heard the final moot case of first-year Law students April 17, and rendered its decision at the eleventh annual Law School dinner that evening. Opposing student counsel for the case were selected in a series of elimination trials that have occupied most of the year. Winning counsel for the defendant-respondent (the case involved a stolen painting) were Ralph N. Kleps of Batavia and Harvey R. Wellman of Perry, both Seniors in Arts. Their opponents at the bar were Mrs. Barbara Crosby Marcussen '31 of Falconer and Peter Ward of Buffalo.

Alumni at the dinner, most of whom had sat as judges in the preliminary trials, included Charles H. Blood '88, Supreme Court Justice Riley H. Heath '12, L. N. Simons '12, Henry J. Shirey '25, Louis K. Thaler '25, and Truman K. Powers '30, of Ithaca; and Judge Harley N. Crosby '96 of the Appellate Division, Mrs. Marcussen's father, Mary H. Donlon '20 of New York City, and William H. Coon '22, Cortland County judge.

About ATHLETICS

TENNIS WINS AND LOSES

The Varsity tennis team won its first outdoor match of the season Saturday against Syracuse, 6-3, on the reconstructed Cascadilla courts where the women's playground used to be. Captain Bernard E. Diamond '37 of Brooklyn, William J. Simpson '37 of Larchmont, Herbert Sobel '38 of New York City, and Irving A. Fertitta '39 of Woodmere won their singles matches in two sets each, as did the doubles teams of Simpson and John G. Peavy '38 of Dobbs Ferry, and Edward J. Devine, Jr. '39 of Detroit, Mich. and Fertitta. On April 22, driven into the Drill Hall by rain, they lost to Miami, 1-8, Simpson being the only winner.

The Freshman team on Saturday beat the Colgate Freshmen at Hamilton, 5-4.

GOOD RECORD IN RELAYS

J. Hamilton Hucker '38 of Buffalo, national 200-meter low hurdle champion, won the 400-meter low hurdle race at the Pennsylvania Relay Carnival in Philadelphia Friday afternoon in 55.3 seconds; and on Saturday, within ten minutes, led off in the finals of the 480-yard shuttle hurdle relay, which Cornell won, and ran his quarter in the mile relay. Besides this championship in the shuttle hurdles, Cornell took second place in the four-mile relay, third in the mile, and seventh in the two-mile. Elliott H. Hooper '38 of Long Valley, N. J. bettered his last year's carnival mark by 20 feet when he threw the javelin 190 feet 3 inches, to take fifth place behind Sanborn of Army, who threw it 213 feet 11 inches to win.

Following Hucker on the winning shuttle hurdle team were Charles Y. Neff '37 of Buffalo, Eric D. Schwarz '39 of Saylesville, R. I., and William W. Rossiter '37 of Bronxville. Their time was 1:02.7, and they finished five yards ahead of North Carolina and Penn State. The four-mile team which finished second was 250 yards behind that of Indiana, which set a new world, American, collegiate, and Carnival record of 17:16.1. The previous world record of 17:17.2 was set by the 1936 American Olympics team composed of Hornbostle, Venzke, San Romani, and Cunningham. Members of the Cornell team were Gustavus A. Bentley '39 of Jamestown, William V. Bassett '37 of West Newton, Mass., Howard W. Welch '38 of Trumansburg, and Captain John A. Meaden '37 of LaGrange, Ill.

The Varsity followed Manhattan and Indiana to the tape in the mile, and in the two-mile relay came in behind Manhattan, New York University, Yale, Pennsylvania, Columbia, and Duke. The half-mile relay team took second place in the fourth heat, in 1:29.3, but did not compete in the final, which was won by Indiana in 1:27.2.

Cornell, with thirty-nine men at the meet, had one of the largest, if not the largest, entry lists, but did not compete in any of the medley relay races. Coach Moakley expressed himself Monday as "very pleased" with the Cornell showing, and said that his men had gained valuable experience for the outdoor season which opens with the heptagonal meet in Boston, Mass. May 8.

MCGINN CUP WINNER

The McGinn cup for novice cross country runners was won by James S. Hall '39 of Groton, who won three of four races. Edward J. Milanese '40 of Brooklyn won the first race and was only one point behind the winner for the series, which was run in faster than average time. The cup, the gift of Donald J. McGinn '26, now a teacher of English at Rutgers, is awarded annually by Coach Moakley.

CAPTAINS, MANAGERS, C'S

Official termination of the seasons of five winter sports is marked by the recent award of the Varsity "C" to forty-one members of these teams and of Freshman numerals to forty-seven. At the same time the intercollegiate advisory council, through its local standing committee, confirmed the election of captains of seven Varsity teams for next year, duly advanced their Junior assistant managers to managerships; and announced the results of competitions which placed new Sophomore assistant managers to become managers as Seniors.

Of basketball Thomas A. Rich '38 of Hobart and Carlton P. Wilson '38 of Milwaukee, Wis. were confirmed as co-captains, with Thomas H. Paterson of South Euclid, Ohio, as manager; and Robert T. Foote of Milwaukee, Wis., and Alfred F. Dugan of Riverhead as assistant managers of Varsity and Freshman teams, respectively. Wrestling captain is Frederick F. Reimers '39 of Hammond, La.; Frederic B. Lowrie of Grosse Isle, Mich., manager; and John S. Smith of Canisteo and Charles W. Hagen, Jr. of East Orange, N. J. Varsity and Freshman assistant managers. Boxing captain, John G. Tausig '38 of Harrisburg, Pa.; manager, Frederick M. Huntington of Sea Cliff; and Harold T. Edwards of Freeport is assistant manager. Ernest A. Dahmen, Jr. '38 of Ithaca is captain of hockey; with Howard G. Briggs of Montclair, N. J., manager, and William H. McLean of Little Rock, Ark. assistant manager. Swimming team will be led by Robert D. Cloyes '38 of Cleveland Heights, Ohio, with William L. Stroud of Kingston, Pa. as manager and Charles M. Scholz, Jr. of Elmira, Varsity, and Joseph G. King of Chattanooga, Tenn.,

Freshman, assistant managers. George E. Detmold '38 of Long Island City heads the fencing team; Douglas R. Rogers, Jr. of Westfield, N. J. is manager; and William E. Dominick of Pittsfield, Mass., assistant. Of the ski team the captain is Joslyn A. Smith '38 of Westmount, Quebec; manager, Harold M. Sawyer of Jackson Heights; and assistant manager, James I. Austin of Hamlin.

"C" awards were as follows:

BASKETBALL

George W. Crowther '37, Louis E. Dauner '38, Rudolf A. Doering '37, Walter H. Foertsch '39, Edwin Leonard '38, Harold Liebman '39, Robert J. McDonald '38, Thomas A. Rich '38, Stanley D. Simon '37, Carlton P. Wilson '38.

FENCING

Daniel F. Macbeth '37, James W. Parker '37, Harold E. Parker '38, Roy H. Steyer '38, Robert A. Shaw '38, George E. Detmold '38, Russell L. Hopping '39, John F. Stephens '37, John M. McLellan '39.

WRESTLING

Morton Ward '39, Charles B. Mosher '38, Paul F. Hartzsch, Jr. '37, Gerald E. Oaks '39, Kenneth T. Smith '37, Frederick F. Reimers '39, Harry L. Smith '38, Jack J. Siegel '38, John R. Manning '37.

BOXING

Max P. Goodfried '37, Moses L. Goldbas '39, John G. Tausig '38, George E. Schaaf '38, Ira W. Wilson '38, Leonard F. Peyser '37, Samuel S. Stahl '38, Frederic V. Siemer '39.

SWIMMING

Robert D. Cloyes '38, William G. Luke, Jr. '39, Norman H. Rasch '37, William M. Weil '37, Richard G. Zens '38.

GOLFERS BEAT WILLIAMS

The golf team Saturday defeated Williams, 6-3, in Williamstown, Mass. Cornell winners were Captain Charles S. Willcox '38 of Birmingham, Ala., William B. Smith '38 of Jeannette, Pa., Frederick A. Reimers '39 of Omaha, Neb., and Frank L. McAleavey '38 of Milwaukee, Wisc.

BASEBALL STARTS POORLY

The baseball team played two of its three scheduled games last week, defeating Colgate, 10-9, April 20 in a ten-inning comedy of errors; being rained out of its game with Rochester April 23; and losing a League game to Harvard Saturday, 3-9.

Shivering spectators at Hoy Field saw the Varsity open its home season against Colgate in a game featured by a multiplicity of errors on both sides. Lozier pitched throughout, but Colgate used three pitchers, and still, in the seventh inning with Colgate leading, 8-2, wild pitching, wide throws, dropped flies, passed balls, batters hit, and failure to hit behind the runners, enabled Cornell to tie the score, and in the tenth, with one man out, to win the long game.

Saturday's game with Harvard saw left-handed Michael N. Stehnach '39 of Dolgeville pitching an excellent game and knocking the seventh home run over the fence in the history of Hoy Field to tie the score in the sixth at 3-all. Harvard scored the winning run in the seventh without getting a hit, through poor fielding, and in the ninth, got five hits and as many runs. In the eighth inning, with only one out, Bernard M. Rigney '39 of New York City, catcher, put a two-bagger against the fence in right field, but Thomas A. Rich '38, who was sent in to run, was caught off the bag to spoil that chance to even the score again.

PUBLICATIONS ELECT

Four student publications announced the personnel of their staffs for next year as the University closed for the spring recess. These perennial elections bring to a close competitions that have usually extended over three years, the highest positions going to those Juniors on the board who have shown the greatest aptitude in their respective departments.

The Cornell Daily Sun elected J. Frederic Hillegas of Ithaca both its editor-in-chief and managing editor. Editorial director is Bernard Gartli of New York City; women's editor, Germaine F. Miller of Huntington; and Martin F. Beck of Far Rockaway and Robert R. Chuckrow '39 of New York City will share responsibility for "The Berry Patch," as CDXXVIII and CDXXIX, respectively. The business board is headed by Fabian W. Kunzelmann of Milwaukee, Wis., with Helene C. Irish of Ithaca as women's business manager.

Circulation manager is Robert B. Goodwillie of Toledo, Ohio, and the two advertising managers are John S. Stewart of Ithaca and Allen D. Shapiro of Newburgh.

The Cornell Widow now also elects two complete and parallel boards of editors and managers; one of men and one of women. Next year's Senior editor-in-chief is Philip W. Callanan of Auburn; with William W. Orr of Lewiston, business manager; George S. Stothoff of New York City, advertising manager; Robert I. Westheimer of Cincinnati, Ohio, circulation manager; and Olof H. Dahlstrand of Wauwatosa, Wis., art editor. The only Sophomore who holds a head position is Barbara E. Babcock of Ithaca, women's editor. Business manager of the women's board is Carol J. Hallock of Riverhead; advertising manager, Marian Myers of Washington, D.C.; and circulation manager, Lucile Howard of New York City.

Editor-in-chief of the Cornell Law Quarterly for next year is Sol M. Linowitz of Trenton, N.J.; business manager, Richard C. Mitchell of Oswego; managing editor, George R. Brownell '36 of Westfield, N.J.; book review editor, Kenneth B. Lane '35 of Buffalo, all to be Seniors in Law next year.

George J. Kaye '38 of New York City is editor-in-chief of The Cornell Engineer for next year, with Florian F. Ceperley '38 of Oneonta as business manager.

FARM ANNIVERSARY

It's just a year since we first saw Stoneposts; six months since we started to live there. We expected to change the place around a good deal, but we haven't. What has changed is us.

We used to drive around the country, look at places that attracted us and pretend what we'd do with them if we had them. We'd add a wing here and put an outside chimney there. We'd plant that bank solid with daffodils and iris, and that kitchen porch would be framed in wisteria and roses.

It is a source of solid comfort to realize that there are hundreds of people around this country who will never find out what liberties we've taken with their homes at one time or another, and to what extent we've mentally cast them out into the cold world to shift for themselves while we tore out their wagon house to get a better view or ripped the front parlor all to pieces.

It's hard to realize now that we are the same people who did that only a year ago. We don't drive around much now. There isn't time for that any more. But every once in a while we have to go to Trumansburg to pick up some freight from Mr. Jim Brown, or over to Mecklenburg to see a man about a sheep. When we go on trips like that we are just as observing and just as alert as we ever were; only now it isn't houses that we look at. It's barns and stock and fences and machinery.

A nice big pile of well rotted manure on somebody else's place will make us more envious and covetous and discontented than another man's glistening, new automobile ever did. And when Mrs. State and Tioga falls silent and starts looking off long distances at nothing much, you can be pretty sure that somewhere within the next two miles she'll say: "Hey! Do you think that if we saved up, and had a good year, and went without practically everything we wanted, we could afford next fall to get a manure spreader like the one we passed back there at Christian Hill?"—R. B. '04 in "State and Tioga," Ithaca Journal.

CHICAGO TAKES TO WATER

Cornell Club of Chicago learned about water at two recent luncheons. Ralph E. Noble '19, bacteriologist of the city water department, told them April 15 how the board of health tests water to assure its safety for drinking and at beaches and pools; and at last week's Thursday luncheon Arthur E. Gorman, chief engineer of the city's water purification division, spoke on "Filtration of Chicago's Water Supply."

The Club announces that it will revive its "June Night" party June 12, with John M. Breckenridge '26 chairman of the committee.

NEW BRUNSWICK MEETS

The Raritan Valley Cornell Club held its annual get-together April 20, at the Hotel Klein, New Brunswick, N. J. Twenty-three Cornellians assembled for an informal steak and beer dinner. Following the dinner Sydney B. Carpenter '07, president of the Club, presented five reels of moving pictures taken during his trip to Patagonia, Ecuador, Mexico, New Brunswick, Canada, and other points North and South. There was no speaking program; "consequently the evening was enjoyed by all."

George Howell '22 was chairman of the dinner committee.

NORTH CALIFORNIA OFFICERS

Annual election of the Cornell Women's Club of Northern California was held at a luncheon April 9 at the College Women's Club in Berkeley. Mrs. Edwin W. Kramer (Olive Edwards) '05 was elected president to succeed Mrs. Wilson D. Clark (Frances Bell) '10, who presided. Mrs. F. G. Short (Louise Baker) '19 is vice-president; Mrs. D. Scott Fox (Grace Fordyce) '15, recording secretary and treasurer; and Mrs. Nairne F. Ward (Janet Nundy) '26, corresponding secretary, succeeding Mrs. Brandon Watson (Hilda Longyear) '26.

Miss R. Louise Fitch, Dean of Women, was guest of honor, and talked of activities on the Campus.

MODEL LEAGUE MEETS 265 Delegates Here

The League of Nations came to Ithaca last week in the persons of 265 student delegates from thirty-six colleges and universities, for the eleventh annual Model League of Nations Assembly, Middle Atlantic Division. They arrived Thursday and finished their deliberations Saturday afternoon. Plenary sessions were held in the moot court room of Myron Taylor Hall and those of the various commissions and committees in other University buildings, with a banquet and dance in Willard Straight Friday evening.

President Farrand welcomed the Assembly at the first plenary session Friday morning, saying that such a meeting was especially important "at a time when all thinking persons are appalled by the difficulties and confusion the world is facing." A. Bonham Campbell '36, president of the League Council, who is now a Sophomore in Electrical Engineering, said in opening the sessions that "the political events of the last few years have shown conclusively that an overhauling of the peace machinery must be made before effective application of the League covenant is possible," and that "the covenant itself is not at fault, but political measures must be linked with economic."

Elected president of the Assembly was Mary Clabaugh of Vassar, representing USSR; and James G. McDonald, former High Commissioner of the League of Nations and now associate editor of the New York Times, acted as critic. Harvey R. Wellman '37 of Perry, recently elected Rhodes Scholar, was generally responsible for arrangements as secretary-general of the Assembly.

During the two days the model Assembly earnestly debated the problems of the world in plenary sessions and through its various commissions and committees, communications being carried on mostly through the offices of white-coated women students acting as pages.

Cornell's delegation numbered eighteen; they represented Albania, Italy, and China. Teh-chang Koo '40 presented his country's case in Chinese, with Chien-fang Henry Sun '39 as interpreter. The speaker called attention especially to the situation in Eastern Asia, where "illicit smuggling of goods is being carried on, fostered by Japan," and said that "if the situation is not eliminated, China will not be responsible for the resulting crisis as she tries to preserve her existence." Critic McDonald, commenting on that session, remarked that the Chinese representative had spoken "very much in the style" of his illustrious father, Wellington Koo, former Chinese Ambassador to the United States, whom he had heard in the same capacity at Geneva.

Speaker at the banquet of the Assembly Friday evening was Dr. Hans Simons, former general secretary for the League of Nations Union and now teaching at the New School for Social Research. His subject, "Europe of Today and Tomorrow," the speaker defined security as a "balanced method of social adaptation and political change," referred to the League of Nations as now "in a state of suspense," but said that its problem of the future will be "security, its very essence remaining Wilson's fourteen points." He spoke of Great Britain's policy of rearmament as "a great factor in keeping the peace today," and, skeptical of the "insulating power" of the Atlantic Ocean, he envisioned the United States as an "honorary member" of a United States of Europe and a Pan-American Union. Professor Herbert W. Briggs, Government, was toastmaster at the banquet.

THE FIGHT FOR PEACE

Amid peace deliberations of various sorts, the undergraduates who express opinions on the subject all seem to agree on the fundamentals and to disagree on the method. This condition is not peculiar to the Campus, however; and many a war has been started on less provocation.

Everyone admits the desirability of peace; the disagreeable features of warfare; the unwarranted expense of war and its economic aftermath.

One of the commoner panaceas seems to be the sit-down strike. The Cornell Daily Sun deplores the fact that this is not being advocated more publicly. The Campus seems divided between those who would not enter a war and those who are sure they will get to liking war if the propagandists remain unchecked. The implication is that a good old-fashioned internecine scrap between the War-Right-or-Wrong Party and the sit-down pacifists would be a good number. All agree that we must have peace, if we have to fight for it.

Probably there is not too much difference between these widely divergent views. The difficult task is to express a point of view at variance with all the country's history without sounding like a wild man.

There is little doubt of the salutary nature of the current efforts, however unhappily stated, to ward off another war. If they lead to international understanding, if the more belligerent nations begin to grasp the ideas, then it matters little that a few undergraduates, striving to think, decide that they will enter no war, however just; and that a few more will fight whenever Uncle Sam drops his hat.

As long as the country remains, or resembles, a democracy, the probabilities are that both groups will deplore the necessity of war and will do their duty fighting side by side if it comes. Undergraduates have always been like that!

MRS. SNYDER TRAVELS

Olive Northup Snyder '22, Assistant Alumni Representative, last week traveled along the Hudson to visit alumnae and to speak at schools in Albany and Poughkeepsie in the interests of Cornell. About twenty-five members of the Cornell Women's Club of Albany met for dinner at the Candlelight Inn the evening of April 22, and heard Mrs. Snyder tell of the recent Conference on Fields of Work for Women, of Cornell Day for Women, news of the Campus generally and of women's activities in particular. The next morning she visited three Albany high schools for girls, speaking to students interested in Cornell.

In Poughkeepsie that evening, twenty members of the Mid-Hudson Cornell Women's Club greeted Mrs. Snyder at a supper party at the home of Mrs. Paul Northrup (Vivian Michael) '22, after she had paid an afternoon visit to the Poughkeepsie High School, showing Campus movies and speaking on the University.

TWO SPEAK AT HARDING

Two Cornellians are among the speakers in a series of talks to be given at Harding College, Searcy, Ark., by "outstanding industrialists, financiers, and economists." Dr. Edwin W. Kemmerer, PhD '01, formerly at Cornell and now professor and director of the Bureau of International Finance at Princeton, opened the series. Speaking on "Inflation and Higher Education in the United States," he said: "More business in education and more educated men in business will lead to closer understanding of our financial and economic problems." John W. O'Leary '99, former president of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States and now president of the Machinery and Allied Products Institute, will be a later speaker.

The series was conceived by Dr. John N. Armstrong, president emeritus of Harding College, to bring together his college teachers and business men. He is convinced, according to the press, that one of the reasons "big business" has been under fire from so many quarters during the last five years is that the youth of America comes out of college with a grudge against successful business, fostered, he believes, by many college teachers.

THE CHAMBER OF COMMERCE, the Automobile Club, the Community Chest, and Ithaca Enterprises, Inc., civic organizations with interlocking personnels, have all moved from palatial quarters in the top floor of the Savings Bank Building to an attractively remodeled frame structure at 211 East Seneca Street that used to be Treman, King & Co.'s tin shop. The new place is simple, homelike, on the street level, and much more accessible to strangers.

ON THE CAMPUS AND DOWN THE HILL

By Romeyn Berry '04

JOHN M. BATTEN, president of the Student Council, head of Willard Straight Hall, and left fielder on the Varsity nine, is now (in the first-named capacity) undertaking the herculean task of improving student morals. It isn't that Batten has any personal urge to save the world; it's just part of the regular order of business. A little bird told the Student Council that if they didn't do something about it the Faculty would—and you know what that means. Batten recently addressed a dinner of representative women students at which he was the only man present and where he is said not to have minced words about the girls "signing out" ostensibly to attend a meeting of their favorite peace society, only to show up a few minutes later at the Lido or the Dutch. Batten also has a piece in the April Areopagus in which he deprecates "recent poorly conducted victrola dances and mixed beer parties"—meaning that the party was mixed and not necessarily the beer. The impression created by all this in the minds of the Faculty is that the conduct of the revival is in good hands; while the individual professor is persuaded by Batten's implications that he personally went to college much too early and would have had more fun if he'd waited another thirty years.

SAGE CHAPEL PREACHER May 2 will be the Right Rev. Charles Fiske, of Baltimore, Md.

IN THIS SAME April Areopagus, Merwin Rosenman '39 intimates that all is not on the up-and-up in the selection of managers for the athletic teams: that by trades and what-nots certain fraternal organizations monopolize these things. Figures prove, he says, that in the last eleven years five houses have grabbed off the major sports managerships as follows, leaving only occasional crumbs to nineteen other fraternities: Delta Upsilon, 8; Phi Kappa Psi, 6; Chi Psi, 5; Sigma Alpha Epsilon and Kappa Alpha, 4 each. Rosenman probably does not realize that the publication of his charges in the ALUMNI NEWS is going to make alumni members of the five indicted houses very proud indeed, and that the brothers of the pure houses are going to get some disagreeable letters from their alumni and perhaps some cancellations of contributions.

IT'S A MISTAKE to recollect Ithaca as a rainy place. But it really is cloudy. The Weather Bureau now reports our average yearly rainfall as 32.99 inches. The precipitation in Westchester and Putnam Counties runs from 45 to 55 inches, and up at Hoffmeister in the Adirondacks it averages 57.67. But because of the Great Lakes and what not, Ithaca has less sun-

IN CONTRAVENTION of the undergraduate agreement on the subject, there was some sporadic rioting and kidnapping last week, before the Sophomore Smoker and the Freshman Banquet. The Student Council and the Cornell Sun got pretty bored, because that sort of thing is now regarded as out of date. Also, for the first time in years, if ever, President Farrand dropped the academic calm and talked turkey. He said in substance that any student caught trying to revive that old fashioned foolishness would be fired for good, without bothering the Faculty or having any of these silly trials or hearings. One got the impression that President Farrand would attend to it personally and with pleasure.

shine than most places. Next to the Pacific Northwest it's the cloudiest section of the United States. Cayuga Lake has little or nothing to do with the weather around here, the man says.

FRESHMEN were unsuccessful in capturing a Sophomore flag after a twenty-minute rush which had been arranged on Alumni Field Saturday afternoon as an outlet for the spirits of youth. At the Freshman banquet that evening, more than 400 members of the Class of '40 were addressed by Coach Snively and Jay Berwanger, former all-American football player.

JOHN KILPATRICK, old Yale end, broad jumper, and shot putter, now managing director of Madison Square Garden, was the principal speaker at Saturday night's Sophomore Smoker at Willard Straight. Harold D. North '07 of Cleveland, Ohio, was master of ceremonies, and Tell Berna '12 and Coach Harrison Sanford also spoke.

ULYSSES Fish and Game Club of Trumansburg has petitioned the State Park Commission to permit sucker spearing in Taughannock Creek below the falls. That portion of the creek lies in the Taughannock Park reservation and also in the Town of Ulysses. There is no danger, the petition points out, that suckers will ever become extinct, because it is an accepted fact that one is born every minute.

A CAMPUS REPORTER of the Cornell Sun secured a beat by recording that between the hours of 4 and 5 on Tuesday 63 students picked up and read magazines offered for sale at the Cornell Co-op. Number of purchasers resulting from these examinations—0. The magazine most favored was the new one called "Look."

GEORGE PECK, the football team's best ball carrier in a broken field and noteworthy exponent of the straight arm, was operated on for a loose knee cartilage during the Easter vacation. The operation is expected to prove successful and to increase the speed of Mr. Peck.

LEONARD K. ELMHIRST '21, husband of the former Mrs. Willard Straight, donor of Willard Straight Hall, spent a day in Ithaca last week conferring on agricultural matters. He had much to do with planning the original scheme of Willard Straight Hall, and was interested in seeing how things were working out. He went all over the place and seemed to like it.

ON APRIL 15 there was a free concert in Bailey Hall. You had to have a ticket to get in, but you could get the ticket for nothing by asking the Music Department. The concert was by the Coolidge String Quartet, and was made available to the University by the Elizabeth Sprague Coolidge Foundation in the Library of Congress at Washington. The Coolidge Foundation was created and endowed for the promotion of chamber music.

LECTURES for the week include the three concluding Messenger Lectures, on "Protozoa and Human Welfare," by Dr. Robert Hegner, April 26, 28, and 30; and "Controlled Atmospheres in Heat-treating Steel" by Dr. H. W. Gillett, chief metallurgist, Battelle Memorial Institute, and the Louis Agassiz Fuerbes memorial lecture, by Professor Arthur A. Allen '08, at the Cosmopolitan Club, April 30.

CHAMPIONS of the University Employees' Bowling League are the team of Willard Straight Hall. Notwithstanding the inexperienced performance of the Director which we reported recently, Willard Straight won in its division, and last week beat Agriculture and College Stores in the roll-off. The winning team was composed of Edgar A. Whiting '29, assistant director, Milton R. Shaw '34, dining rooms manager, and Charles E. Dykes '36, desk manager.

ALUMNI of Ohio State University stationed at Cornell or residing in town have formed an Ithaca Ohio State Club. At the initial meeting, resolutions were adopted favoring more intimate athletic relations between Ohio State and Cornell. When people say "athletic relations" they really mean football games. Last week in New York Mr. L. W. St. John, athletic director at Ohio State University, intimated to your correspondent that this new Ithaca club might get some swift action on their resolution.

NECROLOGY

HARRINGTON PUTMAN, April 7, 1937, in Brooklyn. He was non-resident lecturer on Admiralty Law in the Law School from 1914 to 1928. Putnam was an examiner on the New York State Civil Service Commission from 1884 to 1889, after which he served in the same capacity on the Brooklyn Civil Service Commission. From 1909 to 1921 he was a Justice of the New York State Supreme Court.

'77 BCE—WALTER JUSTIN SHERMAN, April 15, 1937, at his home, 2243 Scottwood Avenue, Toledo, Ohio. President of the Cornell Club of Toledo, he had retired in 1927 after fifty years of active engineering practice, thirty with his own firm. As chief engineer of various railroads he built many miles of track in the West and Southwest, including 300 miles in 300 days for the Gulf, Colorado & Santa Fe. The town of Justin, Tex. is named for him. In 1892-3 he was chief engineer on the construction of the Galveston harbor works, and had built many bridges, water works, and similar construction. Lately his interests had included historical and geneological research, and he was State historian of the Sons of the American Revolution and editor of the Bulletin of the Toledo Historical Society. Navy; secretary, Sprague Boat Club; editor, Cornellian; Delta Kappa Epsilon.

'84 BS(N)—MRS. CHRALES D. MARX (Harriett Elizabeth Grotecloss), April 6, 1937, at her home, 357 Kingsley Avenue, Palo Alto, Cal. She was the wife of Professor Charles D. Marx '78, head of the department of civil engineering at Stanford University from its founding in 1891 until his retirement recently. Brother, John H. Grotecloss '84.

'92 ME—CARL BENNETT AUEL, April 4, 1937, at his home in Irwin, Pa. He had been associated with Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company interests since graduation and was widely known for his activities in industrial relations and safety. He had earlier been manager of production departments and spent four years with the British Westinghouse Company. He was a past president of the National Safety Council and held executive posts with the American Society of Mechanical Engineers and several Pennsylvania organizations. Delta Upsilon; CUCA.

'06 DVM—REX A. WHITING, March 27, 1937, at his home, 1053 Myrtle Avenue, San Diego, Calif. From 1906 to 1910 he was a meat inspector for the Federal Bureau of Animal Husbandry. For the next eighteen years he taught animal pathology at the agricultural experiment station, Purdue University, Lafayette, Ind. In 1928 he became director of veterinary research for the San Diego Zoological Society and the San Diego Poultry Association, and since 1932 had served as veterinarian for the San Diego health department.

'10 CE—THOMAS DRANSFIELD, JR., April 10, 1937, at his home in Roslindale, Mass. Long active in the Cornell Club of New England, he was treasurer at the time of his death. Since 1927 he had been a sales engineer with the Bethlehem Steel Company. In the World War he was a government construction engineer at Hog Island. Mrs. Dransfield (Mary F. Caldwell) '10 and two children, Thomas, 3d '34 and Elizabeth '37, survive. Psi Upsilon.

'11 LLB—GEORGE EVERETT HUNT, April 1, 1937, in New York City, where he lived at 16 Park Avenue. He specialized in insurance cases for twenty-five years, being a member of the law firm of Evans, Hunt and Rees until a year ago. Hunt was also professor of medical jurisprudence at the New York Homeopathic Medical College in 1920 and 1921. Delta Chi.

'16 AB—JOHN CADMAN TRACY, April 14, 1937, in Hudson. He attended Albany Law School, and had served as county judge since 1925, and for eleven years previous was district attorney of Columbia County. He was a past president of the New York State Conference of Children's Court Judges, and in 1928 was Republican candidate for Supreme Court Justice in the Third Judicial District. Father, Aurelius M. Tracy '80.

'17 BChem—REXFORD WILBER JEWETT, April 7, 1937, in Fredonia. He had worked for the National Aniline Chemical Co. in Marcus Hooks, Pa.; the duPont Company in Gibbstown, N.J.; E. B. Badger and Sons Co. in Tulsa, Okla. and Los Angeles, Cal.; the Gulf Refining Company in Philadelphia, Pa.; and Bendix Products Corporation in South Bend, Ind. For two years he was a tackle on the varsity football team and was shotputter on the track team. Alpha Chi Rho; Alpha Chi Sigma; Sigma Xi. Brother, Eugene L. Jewett '22.

'22 —JAMES VALENTINE BEUGLER, March 25, 1937, at Norwich. He entered Architecture in 1918 and left in 1921. In 1922 he was employed by the Hudson Electric Corporation in Poughkeepsie, after which he joined the Founders Company of New York, and spent two years in Chile as their representative. Since 1931 he had been with the New York State Gas and Electric Company in Elmira.

'22 BS—THEODORE MALLORY WARNER, March 6, 1937, at his home 2335 Canterbury Road, Cleveland, Ohio. After graduation he went into farming, but soon joined the Standard Oil Company of Ohio, with whom he was associated at the time of his death. Father, George B. Warner '93.

Concerning THE FACULTY

PRESIDENT FARRAND has been appointed chairman of a new national health committee of the Boys' Clubs of America. He is quoted, concerning the work of the committee: "This health program, undertaken by the Boys' Clubs of America, offers opportunities for better supervision of local effort in this line and may be expected to assist in the rehabilitation of thousands of boys who might otherwise be physically handicapped for life." J. Brackin Kirkland '18 is an executive in the New York City offices of Boys' Clubs of America, Inc., at 381 Fourth Avenue.

THE ENGAGEMENT of Emerson Day, son of Dr. Edmund E. Day, President-elect of the University, and Mrs. Day, and Miss Ruth Fairfield was announced recently. Miss Fairfield is a member of the faculty of the Edgemont School, Scarsdale; and Day, a graduate of Dartmouth College, is a third-year medical student at Harvard University.

CARL G. SNAVELY, head coach of football, was a guest speaker at the "block S" dinner at Syracuse University, April 10, for the presentation of varsity letters. Other speakers included Kerr, of Colgate; Little, of Columbia; and Higgins, of Penn State. Snavely and his staff were also guests of honor at a recent dinner and smoker given by the Veteran Volunteer Fireman's Association of Ithaca.

CHARLES I. SAYLES '26, Hotel Administration, and Mrs. Sayles (Dorothy I. Fessenden) '25 have a daughter, born April 1.

PROFESSOR ETHEL B. WARING, Home Economics, spoke at Farm and Home Week of the University of Maine, Orono, March 24.

ROBERT C. OGLE, Poultry Extension, attended a meeting of the American Record of Performance Council, of which he is president, in New York City March 25. He addressed the American Dry Milk Institute in Chicago, Ill., April 7.

PROFESSOR BENTON S. MONROE '96, English, will act as dean of the Graduate School in the place of Dr. Floyd K. Richtmyer '04, Physics, who left April 18 for San Francisco on his way to the Phoenix Islands as a member of the National Geographic Society—United States Navy expedition to study the eclipse of the sun, June 8.

BOTH PARENTS of Rodney K. Ketcham '29, instructor in Romance Languages, were killed in an automobile accident near Binghamton April 18.

DR. MARY M. CRAWFORD '04, Alumni Trustee, will be Cornell's official delegate at the centenary celebration of Mount Holyoke College, May 7 and 8.

DEAN DEXTER S. KIMBALL, Stanford University '96, formerly of the College of Engineering, and Mrs. Kimball will be guests of honor at a dinner of the first ten Stanford classes to be held during the University Day week-end, May 7-8.

PROFESSOR JAMES G. NEEDHAM, PhD '98, Entomology and Limnology, Emeritus, is on a lecture tour through the West and South, now in Texas. Since January he has been lecturing at Stanford University. He was guest of honor at the April meeting of the Cornell Club of Tucson, Ariz., and gave two lectures at the University of Arizona.

PROFESSOR LLOYD P. SMITH, PhD '30, Physics, attend the 1937 Massachusetts Institute of Technology electronics conference at Cambridge, Mass., April 1 and 2.

PROFESSOR HANS A. BETHE, Physics, delivered four lectures at the University of Illinois, Urbana, Ill., on April 6, 7, and 8; the first on "Atoms and Nuclei," and the others on "Bohr's Model of Nuclear Transmutation."

JAMES W. PARKER '08, Alumni Trustee, chief engineer of the Detroit Edison Company, and a manager of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers, spoke at the first meeting of the newly authorized Ithaca Section of that society, April 23. There has been a student branch of the ASME at Cornell since 1908, but a section for their elders here is just now organized.

CAMP OTTER

JULY 6 TO AUGUST 27, 1937

FOR BOYS EIGHT TO SEVENTEEN YEARS

CAMP OTTER in the Muskoka Region at Dorset, Ontario is a rugged camp in a wilderness of lakes, streams, and woods, uncontaminated by nearby summer resorts. Boys like it. Parents trust it.

Unostentatious Safeguards

In the twenty-six years of its wholesome existence Camp Otter has never had a serious accident or an epidemic of any kind.

The camp tradition is against foolhardiness. Counselors are selected for their character and responsibility. An unyielding discipline is maintained in and around the water. Dr. E. C. Showacre of the Cornell Medical Office will be camp physician this year for his seventh season.

Food, water, sanitation are subjected to rigid, daily inspection.

But these safeguards are not obtruded and no boy is ever more than dimly aware of the protections that are cast about him.

Camp Otter is Fun

Camp Otter, on its own lake at the edge of the wilderness, has unspoiled fishing, wild life, water sports, substantial cabins, canoe trips under the supervision of Canadian guides, horseback riding (without extra charge), and a full program of athletic sports and camp activities.

Yardstick of Progress

A boy's body is measured and weighed when he comes to Camp Otter; again when he leaves. There is no yardstick, however, with which to gauge the progress that a summer at Camp Otter brings in courtesy, self-reliance, skills, poise, and unselfishness. But parents see these things. Relatively small enrollment, and the individual and personal attention of counsellors and director to each boy, have their effect.

A Cornell Institution

Camp Otter has become a Cornell and Ithaca institution. Years ago boys went to camp, passed on to the University, played on the teams, and returned to Otter as counsellors. These same boys later sent their own sons to Camp Otter to continue the tradition. There haven't been any Cornell Camp Otter grandsons yet, but it won't be long.

Water Sports Important at Camp Otter

The Camp Otter Brand

It doesn't handicap a boy to go to Cornell with the Camp Otter training and the Camp Otter brand upon him. Ithaca is full of people with Camp Otter connections—Farrands, Durhams, Tremans, Staggs, Bancrofts, Brauners, Morses, Crandalls, Baldridges, Smiths, etc. The Campus knows about a Camp Otter boy before he comes.

Post Season Camp

Fathers who visit Camp Otter sometimes become envious of their sons. There is a post season camp for such fathers.

Charges

Charges at Camp Otter are geared to modest incomes. The fee for the entire season of eight weeks is $175.

CORNELL NIGHT

on a new series of coast-to-coast radio broadcasts known as . . .

"VARSITY SHOW"

JOHN HELD, JR., MASTER OF CEREMONIES

BROADCAST DIRECT FROM THE CAMPUS

FRIDAY, MAY 14th, 10:30 P. M. (E. D. S. T.) NBC RED NETWORK

With the approval of President Farrand, and the cooperation of all interested University authorities, Pontiac will present on Friday, May 14th, the seventeenth of a series of radio broadcasts that radio experts call one of the outstanding programs on the air. The broadcast will be made direct from the campus at Ithaca and will be transmitted over the entire NBC Red Network at 10:30 p. m., Eastern Daylight Saving Time.

You will hear the great Cornell Band, the Glee Club, and the cream of student vocal and instrumental talent in a program which, for pace, variety and brilliance of production, will be second to none now being broadcast. If you tune in, we are certain you will not only be highly entertained by the quality of the program itself, but that you will also thrill once more to the music, songs and atmosphere of your student days.

In the course of this sparkling and original series, talent from nearly all the other famous universities will be heard.

Pontiac is happy to sponsor the "Varsity Show" for two reasons: First, because it gives us an opportunity to be of some service to the university graduates of America whose acceptance of Pontiac Sixes and Eights has been such an important factor in Pontiac's success; and second, because we believe that the radio audience of America will be agreeably surprised at the talent available on the campuses of America.
