Large Attendance at Class Reunions

EIGHT classes held successful reunions on June 16 and 17. At some of them the attendance was large. The weather was almost as bad as it could be, but that did not seem to damp anybody's enjoyment of the occasion. It rained all day Friday, so industriously that the baseball game was canceled. But on Saturday the sun shone from a bright blue sky.

A noticeable thing about this reunion was the absence of the two youngest reunion classes and the Continuous Reunion Club, which had held their meetings on Spring Day. There were only two classes here in costume. The 1901 men wore neat uniforms of khaki; the men of 1906 were in red and white.

The Forty-Five Year Reunion

The class of 1871, the oldest reunion class this year, held its 45th reunion. There are nineteen members living, of a class of forty-one, and of these seven were present. The class had dinner with Secretary and Mrs. R. G. H. Speed at the University Club on Saturday evening. Those present were: Judge and Mrs. James O'Neill of Wisconsin, Mr. and Mrs. Miller A. Smith of Havana, Cuba; Judge G. A. Benton of Rochester, his daughter, Miss Ethel Benton, and son, G. A. Benton, jr., '19; Judge P. C. J. DeAngelis of Utica, E. L. Parker of Buffalo, Frederic Schoff of Philadelphia, Miss Bessie Speed '06, and Miss Emma Speed '11, of Ithaca.

At the alumni luncheon Judge Benton responded for the class in an eloquent ten-minute speech. He was president of the class in undergraduate days and R. G. H. Speed was secretary. Both have been continued in office ever since.

Judge A. H. Sewell of Walton, L. H. Barnum of Binghamton, Dr. E. D. Leffingwell of Oswego and Colonel K. W. Ingham of Texas expected to be present but were unavoidably prevented. Letters of regret were received from the Rev. S. F. Huntley, South Dakota; W. S. MacGregor, Brooklyn; Royal Taft of Scranton, and John E. More of Grand Rapids, Mich.

Miller A. Smith, of Havana, had not been in Ithaca since graduation.

The class called on former President White and spent a very pleasant half hour with him at his home. President Schurman called a few moments at the class dinner to shake hands and express his gratification over the forty-fifth reunion.

The reunion throughout was an enjoyable affair and the class is already looking forward to the University semi-centennial in October, 1918, and to its own fiftieth reunion in 1921.

'76 Men Who Came Back

James T. Brown of New York arrived in Ithaca early in the week. He said he guessed there wasn't going to be a very large reunion of '76 but he was going to see that the class was represented. Before the end of the week he was joined by four classmates—J. K. Cady, W. L. Cuddeback, G. W. Graham, and George L. Lovell.

The Reunion of '81

Eighteen members of the Class of 1881 met for their thirty-five year reunion this year. This constitutes exactly 12½ per cent of the 144 living matriculates of the class. Those present were W. C. Brown, H. H. Buckley, G. L. Burr, E. W. Catchpole, Mrs. John S. West (Alice Goddard), Isabel Howland, F. L. Kilborne, Guy Moulton, Mrs. Olga Neymann, W. S. Ostrander, Mrs. S. J. Brun (Hanna Otis), M. C. Palmer, Ira A. Place, J. B. Stearns, O. L. Taylor, G. C. Watson, H. H. Wing, and Alfreda B. Withington.

The class met informally at luncheon at Prudence Risley Hall on Friday noon and afterward took an automobile ride about the Campus, visiting the new dormitories, Schoellkopf Field, and the buildings of the College of Agriculture. The evening of Friday was spent socially in the large common room of the Huntington Club, which was the headquarters of the class. The reunion banquet was held in the Green Room of the Ithaca Hotel on Saturday evening, when Oscar Taylor trained his school children to a unique performance in honor of President Schurman, which seemed to be fully appreciated. Judge Ostrander was toastmaster and addresses were made by President Schurman, Dr.

Withington, Ira A. Place, and Professor Burr. Dr. H. D. Schenck '82 and Franklin Matthews '83 were guests of the class. Although the attendance was not large, it was one of the most cordial reunions that the class has had. Much enthusiasm was shown for a greater reunion at the semi-centennial in 1918.

The Thirty Year Reunion

Eighty-Six had a rousing four-day reunion. Among the members of the class present were Austin, Charles H. Baker, Beardsley, Calder, Coville, Doud, A. E. Dunham, F. H. Dunham, Eltinge, French, Gadsby, Grant, Harris; Harrison, Hill, Hull, Hoffeld, Dusenberre, McCann, Merritt, Nettleton, Norton, M. B. Gray, Perkins, Sackett, Schaaf, Story, Tenney, Riley, Towl, and Vischer. Including wives and children the party comprised forty-nine persons. Hill came from the Pacific Coast. Calder and Eltinge came for the first time since graduation. Seven sons and daughters, Cornellians, were present during the week-end. A cable extending heartiest wishes from the Cornell association of France in the name of Weil and Charpiot was very welcome. It was decided to make every effort to have, as many members as possible back for the semi-centennial in October 1918.

The '91 Reunion

The Class of '91 had its twenty-five year reunion as scheduled during Friday and Saturday. The general reunion committee consisted of C. A. Snider, chairman; Louis Rouillion, I. B. Easton, and J. A. Knighton, all of New York City. The headquarters were in Cascadilla Hall, the whole building being reserved for those who signified in advance their intention to return. This advance list, together with their friends, numbered nearly one hundred and seventy.

Friday morning the incoming trains were met and the members were conducted to Cascadilla Hall, where, on account of the rain, they were inclined to remain during the morning hours, which resulted in their renewing their acquaintances as they would not have done if they had scattered early. The party went by boat to Glenwood, where luncheon was served at one o'clock, and at this occasion one hundred and thirty-five were present. Friday night an informal dinner was served at Sage College, after which Organist Quarles gave the members of the class a delightful recital on the great organ in Bailey Hall.

Saturday morning was taken up by the Alumni Association meetings, after which the class assembled at the Armory for the University luncheon, at which occasion Walter P. Cooke of Buffalo spoke for the class. Saturday evening the class, with their wives and friends, gathered at the Ithaca Hotel for the formal dinner. On this occasion were present something like one hundred and fifty. One of the enjoyable features was the brief talks given by President Schurman, who was the guest of honor at dinner, and Ex-President White, who came in after the dinner was over.

At this meeting the class representative on the Cornellian Council, R. F. Almirall, was re-elected, and the appointment of a memorial committee with power to determine on a fitting class memorial was authorized by the class. After this occasion, the class adjourned to Bailey Hall for the annual rally.

The president of the class, J. W. Beardsley, who had come all the way from Porto Rico for this occasion, was ill in the Ithaca hospital during these days. Many prominent members of the class from New York, Chicago and elsewhere were present, one coming from Berkeley, Cal., to attend.

The Twenty Year Reunion

Seventy-five members of the Class of 1896 returned for the twenty-year reunion. Twenty men of the class brought their wives with them and one woman brought her husband. A class luncheon was held at Sage College Friday noon, and a boat ride, dinner and dance took place at Glenwood Friday evening. At that time a business meeting was held. W. W. Ricker of New York was elected class representative on the Cornellian Council, and H. P. Curtiss of Boston was elected chairman of the committee for the next reunion. On Saturday the class attended the Alumni Luncheon in a body; Saturday night the men had a beefsteak dinner at the Senate and the women had a dinner at Risley Hall.

It was the largest reunion '96 had ever had and the first at which a determined effort had been made to have the men bring back their wives. The wives were as enthusiastic as the men and all declared that they would come back to the next reunion and bring others with them. The New York contingent determined to hold at least one dinner a year, and some of those from surrounding towns said they would like to attend that dinner.

At the reunion were G. F. Archer, W. S. Austin, Ruth Ayers, J. A. Bailey, W. A. Baldwin, F. A. Bassette, F. E. Bausch, M. F. Benton, E. C. Blair, I. G. Botsford, F. R. Bump, O. D. Burden, E. A. Champlin, Miss L. B. Coleman, M. S. Cooley, F. D. Conner, J. J. Crain, H. P. Curtiss, Mrs. B. S. Cushman (Miss J. R. Manley), F. J. Davis, L. L. Davis, Harry L. Duncan, C. W. Gail, C. R. Gaston, J. L. Given, E. P. Haines, P. B. Herrick, Glenn Herrick, Glenn D. Holmes, Thomas Howe, Joseph C. Hilton, Allen Kendall, C. R. Kingsley, Mrs. W. W. Kuntz (Miss M. R. Coppens), Miss M. A. Lathrop, L. E. Lytle, J. H. Mitchell, L. D. Miller, B. S. Monroe, F. E. Moyer, C. W. Mudge, Mrs. C. S. Northup (Miss C. L. Myers), Mrs. Walter C. Nichols (Miss H. M. Colegrove), H. G. Ogden, Miss Mary E. Osborn, John M. Parker, H. O. Pond, A. L. Rice, C. G. Rider, W. W. Ricker, Maude Reamer, N. S. Reeder, A. E. Reinke, Mark Roe, M. C. Rorty, Lucy H. Savage, Gordon Saussy, A. T. Scharps, F. S. Senior, Stanley Shepherd, I. W. Smith, L. W. Simpson, G. H. Stickney, E. Strasburger, A. C. Sticht, Mark B. Thurlow, George S. Tompkins, H. W. Tomlinson, Z. W. Wheland, H. C. Troy, R. M. Wolson, Eva Wilson, J. S. Truman, W. C. Truman, and J. H. Walters.

The 1901 Reunion

The Class of 1901 had its quarters in Founders Hall, and had a large attendance. Members registered at alumni headquarters were E. R. Alexander, F. W. Bailey, W. H. Baker, A. H. Beebe, E. S. Bennett, O. W. Bodler, V. D. Borst, N. C. Briszé, Miss K. R. Buckley, F. E. Cardullo, W. H. Carrier, R. F. Chatillon, W. J. Childs, B. B. Conable, H. J. Couch, G. D. Crofts, C. W. Cross, W. S. The men of the class were lodged in Baker Tower.

THE ALUMNI RALLY

The Rally was held this year in Bailey Hall instead of a down-town theater. This is the event which the Class of 1899 inaugurated and is conducted by the fifteen year class. An innovation by 1901 was the introduction of inter-collegiate talent. On the program were H. S. Johnson, Princeton '78, of Cleveland; F. Herman Gade, Harvard '92, Norwegian consul-general at Chicago, and F. S. Hutchins, Williams '01, of New York. President Schurman gave a talk, Ned Alexander showed lantern slides of the first Spring Day, and motion pictures of recent events were thrown on the screen.

Dean Galloway Resigns

Head of College of Agriculture to Return to Washington

Dr. Beverly T. Galloway, Dean of the New York State College of Agriculture at Cornell University, has resigned, and his resignation has been accepted by the Board of Trustees of the University. Dr. Galloway will leave the University some time this summer and will return to the Department of Agriculture at Washington. His successor has not yet been appointed.

Dr. Galloway tendered his resignation several weeks ago. The matter had been the subject of investigation by the Agricultural College Council and the Board of Trustees, and both bodies assured Dr. Galloway of their confidence and support and urged him to withdraw his resignation, but he declined to do so. The question had not been determined in the board's session of June 20. An adjourned meeting was held for its further consideration on June 21, and a special committee was appointed which reported at a meeting of the full board on June 26. At that time the following resolution was adopted:

"Whereas, Dr. B. T. Galloway, Dean of the New York State College of Agriculture at Cornell University, has presented his resignation to the Board of Trustees, and the Board, unwilling to accept it, appointed a Committee to confer with Dean Galloway on the subject, and

"Whereas, Dean Galloway informs the Trustees that on account of his health and other circumstances his resolution to lay down the office is unalterable, and

"Whereas, the decision of the Dean leaves the Trustees without any alternative but to meet his wishes by accepting his resignation,

"Therefore resolved, that the Board of Trustees accept, and they hereby accept, the resignation of Dean B. T. Galloway, the same to take effect at such date before the beginning of the next academic year as may be mutually agreed upon by the President and Dean Galloway.

"Further Resolved, that the Trustees express to Dean Galloway the very deep regret with which they consent to his withdrawal from the Deanship of the State College of Agriculture and assure him of the high appreciation in which they hold the services he has rendered to it during his incumbency of the Deanship. His conception of the place and function of the College in modern education, his ideas of its organization and methods of administration, and his sense of the duties it owes to the farmers and to the agricultural interests of the State are so wise and sound that the recital of them deepens the Trustees' regret that the Dean is not to remain at the head of the College and carry out his plans and purposes. The Trustees believe it a great misfortune that New York State is not for a longer period to profit by the services of a man, distinguished at once as a great administrator and scientist, to whom, according to the Secretary of Agriculture of the United States, more than to any other person belongs the credit of organizing and developing the Agricultural Department of the Federal Government. But, on his return to that Department which is so largely the product of his own genius for organization and co-operation, the Trustees feel that the loss of New York State will be the gain of the Nation. Finally, they desire to assure Dr. Galloway that, as here, so there, he remains the object of their confidence, admiration, and affectionate regard.

"That these resolutions be spread on the minutes of this Board and that an engrossed copy be sent to Dean Galloway."

Dr. Galloway came to the College of Agriculture two years ago. He resigned the office of Assistant Secretary of the United States Department of Agriculture to accept the deanship of the college.

TRUSTEES PRESENT

The following members were present at the June meeting of the Board of Trustees: The President of the University, the Commissioner of Education (Dr. Finley), the Commissioner of Agriculture (Mr. Wilson), the President of the State Agricultural Society (Mr. Sessions), the Librarian of the Cornell Library (the Rev. Dr. Tyler), Mr. Charles Ezra Cornell, Trustees Boldt, Hiscock, Mason, Edwards, Miller, Newman, VanCleaf, R. H. Treman, Westervelt, Moody, T. B. Wilson, C. E. Treman, R. B. Williams, Matthews, Pound, J. Du Pratt White, Shepard, Sackett, Place, Tansey, Dix, Andrew D. White, Patten, Pratt, and Horace White, and Professors Kimball, Willcox, and Comstock.

MUST BE A FORMER PROFESSOR

The nomination of Mr. Hughes by the Republican convention makes it inevitable that the next president will be a former university professor.—School and Society.

The Adviser of Women

To Rank as a Professor and Be a Member of the University Faculty

By action of the Board of Trustees taken at the June meeting, the Adviser of Women is to be a member of the University Faculty and is to rank as a professor. The board adopted a resolution to this effect:

"That the Adviser of Women shall be ex officio a member of the University Faculty; that she shall be equal in qualifications and rank to a full professor, and that she shall have the general charge of the interests of women students, and advise them in regard to all matters, subject to the statutes and the rules and regulations of the Trustees and of the general and special Faculties."

The Trustees have enacted virtually all that was advocated by the women graduates who asked for the creation of the office of dean of women. Opposition to the use of the word dean for such an office was based on the fact that at Cornell the word has been used to designate the head of a college. In virtually everything but name the office of Adviser of Women will be equivalent to the office of dean of women as it is known in most coeducational institutions. The Adviser will be selected for qualifications equal to those of professor, will rank as a professor, and will be a member of the University Faculty. It will be her privilege and duty to advise women students in all matters educational and other.

THE DINING HALL FUND

Additional gifts toward a fund for the building of a dining hall were announced by Mr. Boldt when the Trustees met. The fund now amounts to more than $100,000. It has been made up of two gifts of $25,000 each, one of $20,000, three of $10,000 each, one of $5,000, and one of $100. The gifts have all been made anonymously. The President was requested to transmit to the generous donors, through Mr. Boldt, the sincere thanks of the Trustees.

JEAN HEBRARD DECORATED

News has been received in Ithaca of the promotion of Jean Hébrard, former professor of design in the College of Architecture, to the rank of first lieutenant in the French army. He has received the military medal (médaille militaire), which is conferred for gallantry in action, and has been "transferred to a calmer sector." This suggests that Mr. Hébrard has been taking part in some hot fighting.

The 48th Commencement

More Than One Thousand Degrees Conferred This Year—The President's Address

Cornell University conferred eight hundred and ninety-two degrees at the forty-eighth annual commencement held on June 21. Of these 826 were first degrees, as follows: Bachelors of Arts, 224; Bachelors of Chemistry, 29; Bachelors of Laws, 45; Bachelors of Science, 240; Doctors of Veterinary Medicine, 27; Bachelors of Architecture, 24; Civil Engineers, 61; Mechanical Engineers, 176. Sixty-six persons received advanced degrees, twenty of them being doctors of philosophy and eighteen masters of arts. There were sixty-one degrees conferred last September and eighty-eight in February. The total number for the year therefore is 1,041.

For the first time in several years the Commencement exercises were held indoors. The open-air theater on the slope below McGraw Hall had been prepared, but the day was rainy and so the ceremony took place in Bailey Hall. The academic procession was held despite the rain.

The President's Address

In his Commencement Address President Schurman dealt with "Preparedness, National and Individual." In the course of his remarks he spoke as follows of Americanism.

"The war has disclosed an unsuspected defect in our citizenship. President Wilson has told us that some American citizens both native-born and foreign-born—though happily a very small number—have been more concerned about the interests of certain European countries than about the interests of the United States, and have endeavored to force upon our Government policies unsuitable or injurious to our own Republic for the sole reason that these policies were advantageous to foreign countries. To carry out this nefarious object the President declares that these disloyal Americans have not hesitated to bring all kinds of pressure upon the people's representatives with a view to intimidating them, threatening them even with reprisals at the polls and other forms of vengeance still more ruinous and terrible.

"I have no language strong enough to express my indignation and contempt for those who thus desecrate and betray American citizenship. To be an American is to have one and only one country. To be an American is to bear a single, undivided, and absolutely perfect allegiance. The man who can even think of foreign interests when vital American interests are at stake may call himself an American citizen but he is already in his heart a traitor. Whoever would use our Republic for the convenience or advantage of any other country is in fact the enemy of America, and a claim to citizenship is only a proof of double damnation.

"It is a new and startling and tragic thing to learn from our Chief Magistrate that there are any Americans at all who could be faithless to America. The supreme duty of the hour is to load them with opprobrium. Let them feel the scorn, and indignation, and contempt of all good citizens. Let them know that we regard them as disloyal and traitorous. Those of them who were native-born bear the added guilt of unnatural crime, and those of them who were foreign-born add perjury to treason, for in the act of naturalization they took an oath to renounce all foreign allegiance and particularly that to the country or ruler to which they were formerly subject.

"What shall we call these traitors who disguise themselves as American citizens? Certainly not foreign-born, for the millions and millions of our fellow-citizens of foreign birth are as loyal to the Republic as any Americans between the two Oceans; and, furthermore, the traitors are recruited, as the President has declared, alike from those of native and of foreign birth. Yet the current designation of Hyphenates applies only to our foreign-born citizens and it applies to all of them. Could anything be more irrational, more unjust, more intolerable? How monstrous a usage of terms which would brand as hyphenates, for example, that foremost German-American, the late Carl Schurz, or that foremost Anglo-American, the late James J. Hill, the empire-builder of the Northwest?

"Our newspaper writers have concentrated attention on the wrong point. We don't, when loyalty is the issue, care where a citizen was born, but we do care—and care a great deal—what kind of American he is. For certain purposes no doubt it is necessary to record that some citizens are native-born and others foreign-born. The first class are natural citizens and the second naturalized citizens. Within each class there may be perverts. And the proper name for them is unnatural citizens—citizens who, like unnatural children, violate faith, loyalty, affection, and the very ordinances of nature herself. And those unnatural citizens, who prostitute Americanism to the interests of foreign nations,—let all of us, whether natural or naturalized citizens, hold up to everlasting scorn, indignation and contempt."

CLASS DAY EXERCISES

The Class Day exercises of 1916 were held in Bailey Hall. Hamilton Vose, jr., presided and introduced the speakers. Prayer was offered by the Rev. Dr. William Elliot Griffis. The class oration was delivered by L. H. Jayne '16, the class poem by Miss Katherine Lyon, the class essay by Miss Evangeline Thatcher, the class history by Arthur F. McCann, the class prophecy by Maurice W. Howe, and the president's address by Murray N. Shelton. Paul F. Sanborne presented the class pipe to Herman G. Place, representative of the class of 1917.

Elected Alumni Trustees

Edwards and Mason Are Both Returned to the Board

James Harvey Edwards '88, of New York, and Herbert D. Mason '00, of Tulsa, Oklahoma, were re-elected by the Alumni to the Board of Trustees for the term of five years ending in 1921. The result was announced at the annual meeting of the Associate Alumni on June 17. The several candidates received votes as follows: J. H. Edwards, 4,186; H. D. Mason, 3,366; Clyde Potts, 1,786; Kate Gleason, 1,782. There were eleven scattering votes.

SEMI-CENTENNIAL PROGRAM

The committee on the semi-centennial submitted to the Trustees at the board's recent meeting a tentative program of the exercises to be held on Sunday, Monday, and Tuesday, October 6, 7, and 8, 1918. The program for Sunday is: morning, official religious exercises; afternoon, official choral or other musical exercises; evening, illumination and informal music. For Monday: morning, arrival of visitors; afternoon, formal reception of delegates and commemorative oration, immediately followed by President's reception; evening, pageantry, illuminations, and everything of a spectacular nature. For Tuesday: morning, military parade, academic procession, and dedication of statue; afternoon, football game; evening, grand closing social event.

NEW INSTRUCTORS in civil engineering are Carl A. McClain, M.C.E., '16, and Theodore L. Smith, C.E., '16. McClain is a graduate of the University of Oregon.

Cornellian Wins Great Prize

Fellowship in Architecture at Rome
Awarded to R. M. Kennedy '15

The fellowship in architecture in the American Academy in Rome, one of the highest honors that can be won by an American student, has just been awarded to Raymond M. Kennedy, of New Brighton, Pa. Kennedy graduated from the College of Architecture of Cornell University in 1915, and during the last year he has been a graduate student in the college, the holder of the Joseph Plaut Fellowship. The prize which he has just won entitles him to $1,000 a year for three years. The period is to be spent by him partly in study at the American Academy in Rome and partly in travel.

From Alumni, $30,000 in 1916

Total Gifts to the Alumni Fund in the Last Year Exceed $40,000

A resolution recommending that the Board of Trustees appropriate $30,000 to University needs from the Alumni Fund on June 30, the end of this fiscal year, was unanimously adopted at the annual meeting of the Cornellian Council on June 17. This sum is fifty per cent greater than any previous annual receipt from the Alumni Fund. The actual cash gifts to the Fund during the last year amount to considerably more than $40,000. A part of this sum has already been formally turned over to the University and is included in the $20,000 which was appropriated by the Board of Trustees a year ago.

One-half of the $30,000 received for the fiscal year now ending has been appropriated by the Trustees of the University toward the cost of construction of Founders Hall, and the other half will be available for appropriation by the Trustees to whatever they consider the most urgent needs of the University.

The officers of the Council for the coming year, elected at the annual meeting, are: President, Franklin Matthews '83; vice-president, E. Vail Stebbins '93; secretary, Harold Flack '12; executive committee: the president, the vice-president, Edward L. Stevens '99, Harland B. Tibbetts '04, and R. T. Coulson '09.

It was unanimously decided to maintain the office of the Council permanently in Ithaca.

George C. Boldt was elected an honorary member of the Council in recognition of the great service he has rendered to the University. Charles W. Wason '76 and John Frankenheimer '73, whose terms of office as members at large had expired, were also elected to honorary membership. J. K. Fraser '97 and E. N. Sanderson '87 were elected members at large. Daniel Upton was elected by the Council to represent the class of 1890.

The report of the executive committee and a more detailed report of the annual meeting will appear in the next issue of the NEWS.

Federation of Women's Clubs

Mrs. C. M. Thorp Elected President at the Annual Meeting

The annual meeting of the Federation of Cornell Women's clubs was held in Risley Hall on June 16. Delegates were present from the clubs of Boston, Buffalo, Chicago, Cleveland, Ithaca, the Mohawk, New York, Philadelphia, and Washington.

On the question of the advisership of women the Federation adopted the following resolution: "Resolved, that the work of the Adviser of Women fails of full recognition through the lack of academic recognition. That the position of adviser be definitely established and that she be a member of the University Faculty is urged."

Mrs. J. H. Comstock reported that the income from the Dearstyne Fund, amounting to $127, had been divided among four girls who could not have stayed in the University without this help. As chairman she had sent a number of books to the Yancey School library.

Reports were received from the advisory committee and its three subcommittees on curriculum, health, and dormitories. Very little had been done on the curriculum. Dr. Edith Matzke, the medical adviser of women students, had received more than six thousand calls for advice during the year.

Mrs. W. H. Carrier reported on the housing problem. She told of the competition conducted by the College of Architecture for dormitory plans after Miss Kate Gleason had offered a prize of $100. It was hoped that one dormitory to cost from a hundred to a hundred and fifty thousand dollars might be erected without great delay, the cost per student housed to be from one thousand to fifteen hundred dollars.

The following ticket reported by the nominating committee was unanimously elected: President, Mrs. Charles Monroe Thorp (Jessie Boulton), of Pittsburgh; second vice-president, Miss Emma Gertrude Kunze, of Philadelphia; third vice-president, Mrs. W. R. Buchanan (Carrie A. Laurence), of Washington.

F. H. Wingert's New Work

Former T. P. A. of the Lehigh Valley
Now Associated with the "News"

Frank H. Wingert, for many years Traveling Passenger Agent of the Lehigh Valley Railroad (and hence widely known as "Frank Lehigh"), has resigned and has become associated in business with John L. Senior '01. Mr. Wingert has been with the Lehigh Valley for twenty-seven years, and he has made his home in Ithaca for the last seventeen years. In that time he has made friends of a very large number of Cornell men. Although he will leave Ithaca this summer and make his home in Jackson, Michigan, he will retain an active association with Cornell men, because he will be connected with the circulation department of the CORNELL ALUMNI NEWS through his association with Mr. Senior, who is the president of the Cornell Alumni News Publishing Company. Mr. Wingert will bring to his relations with the subscribers of this paper the same courtesy and cheerfulness with which for many years he has arranged for their transportation to and from Ithaca. His headquarters will be at the office of the Peninsular Portland Cement Company, in Jackson, Michigan.

LIEUTENANT C. F. THOMPSON, U.S.A., professor of military science and tactics at Cornell, left Ithaca last week for duty in the military training camp at Plattsburg. Under the recent army reorganization act Mr. Thompson will soon become a captain.

THE SUMMER SESSION of the University will begin on July 5.

ITHACA, NEW YORK, JUNE 29, 1916

A PLAN HAS BEEN ADOPTED by which the Associate Alumni of Cornell University will share in the editorial and business conduct of the CORNELL ALUMNI NEWS, to the end that the NEWS may have an opportunity to give effective publicity to the work and aid in attaining the object of the general alumni association, which, as stated in its constitution, is "to promote in every proper way the interests of the University and to foster among the graduates a sentiment of regard for each other and attachment to their Alma Mater." A standing committee of the Board of Directors of the Associate Alumni, the committee on publicity, will act as an advisory committee in assisting the work of the editor and the business manager of the NEWS. The plan, furthermore, contemplates the control of the publication by the Associate Alumni. When the NEWS was established, in 1899, Cornell alumni had an ineffectual organization. The body known as the Associate Alumni had been in existence since 1872, but it was inactive. Neither the Association of Class Secretaries nor the Cornellian Council had yet been established. The Alumni Field had not yet been projected. The NEWS was founded and capitalized by a few alumni whose purpose was, by means of a regular publication, to perform a service to Cornellians which the Associate Alumni had not ventured to undertake. In 1903 the enterprise was in danger of collapse, the company was reorganized, and John L. Senior '01, then graduate manager of the athletic association, was invited to take a share in the ownership and assume the management. He has borne ever since then the responsibility for the maintenance of the publication and during years when it was not self-supporting he paid its debts. Since its reorganization in 1912, the Associate Alumni has undertaken work for the good of the University in which it has discovered the need of an effective agency of publicity. Recognizing that need, Mr. Senior offered the association the opportunity to acquire and direct the NEWS. At his suggestion a meeting was held in Ithaca on June 15 to which about twenty alumni interested in the Associate Alumni and the ALUMNI NEWS were invited by William M. Irish '90, president of the Associate Alumni. At that meeting the plan was adopted for the creation of the advisory committee above mentioned, which is to consist of R. W. Sailor '07, secretary of the Associate Alumni; W. W. Macon '98, of Brooklyn; Nicholas H. Noyes '06, of Indianapolis, and John P. Dods '08, of Chicago. This committee is to meet with the members of the NEWS staff not less than four times a year. It is to serve for two years, and during that period of time it is to develop a method by which the NEWS shall be able to render the greatest possible service to the Associate Alumni.

A COMMITTEE of the Faculty has been appointed, as the NEWS announced recently, to consider how, with alumni help, recognition may be secured for unusual excellence in scholarship on the part of students of the University. The chairman of the committee is Professor Henry A. Sill. Professor Sill has asked the NEWS to say that he would be glad to receive from any Cornellian suggestions for the committee's guidance. How may excellence in scholarship be recognized and stimulated? The question came up in the last Forum of the Associate Alumni, and the association's board of directors offered the Faculty the assistance of its organization in carrying out any plan which the Faculty might recommend.

STRIKING PROGRESS has been made in the last year in the building up of the Alumni Fund. Last year $20,000 was turned over to the University, but that sum was not all made up till several weeks after the close of the fiscal year. In other words, the collections of the present fiscal year were drawn upon to fill up the 1915 appropriation. Notwithstanding that, the Fund is turning over to the University $30,000 for the 1916 contribution of the Alumni. In the meantime the fiscal year has been made to end on June 30 instead of July 31, and the gain has been accomplished in eleven months. As a matter of fact, in those eleven months more than $40,000 has been collected and is now in the University treasury. Allowing for the draft to the 1915 account there is still a goodly sum toward the 1917 contribution, which is likely to be a good, round $40,000 at least.

THE NEXT NUMBER of the NEWS will be published about the middle of July. It will contain the proceedings of the annual meeting of the Associate Alumni, with the reports of the two Alumni Trustees whose terms of office expired this year. It will be followed by the August number, which, with an index, will complete Volume XVIII. A copy of the index, with a title page for binding with the volume, will be sent free to any reader of the paper who asks for it.

PROMOTIONS IN THE FACULTY

The following promotions to the grade of professor have been made by the Trustees: Sidney G. George, C.E., from assistant professor of applied mechanics; Frank O. Ellenwood, A.B., from assistant professor of power engineering; Calvin D. Albert, M.E., from assistant professor of machine design; Albert E. Wells, from assistant professor of machine construction; Lewis Knudson, Ph.D., from assistant professor of botany; Ralph W. Curtis, M.S.A., from assistant professor of landscape art; E. Gorton Davis, B.S., from assistant professor of landscape art.

A CORRECTION

In a paragraph about the department of physical training, June 8, the NEWS said that Miss Canfield was a professor. Her title is instructor.

R. W. Sailor with the "News"
Appointed Business Manager—Also Elected Secretary of the Associate
Alumni

Robert Warren Sailor '07, of Chicago, has taken the office of Business Manager of the CORNELL ALUMNI NEWS. He will make his home in Ithaca after the 1st of September.

The addition of Mr. Sailor to the staff of the NEWS gives the publication, for the first time in its history, a graduate devoting his time to the business management. For several years past the editor has attended to the circulation and the advertising with undergraduate assistance. The NEWS has attained a circulation which warrants it in enlarging its staff for the purpose of building up its circulation to a much larger figure and of increasing its service to Cornell alumni in every possible way. The addition of a business manager will give the editor more time to devote to his own proper duties.

Mr. Sailor has just been elected Secretary of the Associate Alumni of Cornell University. It is his notion that his connection with the NEWS will aid him very much in performing the Secretary's work, and it is felt that his familiarity with the affairs of the Associate Alumni will at the same time enable him to increase the serviceability of the NEWS to the alumni association and through that to alumni generally.

To his work on the NEWS Mr. Sailor brings an interest in Cornell alumni affairs which he has already demonstrated in various ways. During the last six years he has been the secretary of the Cornell University Association of Chicago. He founded and has edited the Bulletin of that association, which was the first local Cornell alumni organization to print a periodical for the information of its members. His efficiency and hard work as secretary have had a large part in making the Chicago association one of the largest and most active of Cornell associations. He has been chosen many times to represent it at meetings and forums of the Associate Alumni. For the last two years he has been a member of the Board of Directors of the Associate Alumni. His wife, who was Miss Horton of the class of 1909, is the secretary of the Cornell Women's Club of Chicago.

Mr. Sailor entered Cornell in 1903 and graduated with the degree of A.B. in 1907. In his senior year he was elected to both Phi Beta Kappa and Sigma Xi. His undergraduate activities included membership in the football and track teams, the Masque, the Sunday Night Club, and the Vigilance Committee. He is a member of the Beta Theta Pi fraternity and Sphinx Head. Since his graduation he has been a member of the sales staff of the Heywood Brothers & Wakefield Company of Chicago, manufacturers of furniture.

NORTHERN CALIFORNIA

The Cornell University Club of Northern California held its annual Crew Dinner at the Hof Brau Restaurant, San Francisco, Saturday evening, June 17. In spite of the damp weather and rough water which interfered with the crew races in the East, a thoroughly good time was enjoyed by all who attended the meeting and the Cornell men of this part of the state were well represented.

SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA

The Cornell Alumni Association of Southern California holds a dinner every Friday at the Café Bristow, Los Angeles.

EDGAR S. MORRIS, A.B., '14, has been appointed secretary of the College of Arts and Sciences. Since his graduation he has been teaching in the high school at Erie, Pa. He succeeds Ernest T. Paine, A.M., who has been appointed instructor in the department of philosophy.

DR. W. GILMAN THOMPSON is acting dean of the Medical College from May 22 until Dean Polk's return to the college in the autumn.

FREDERIC E. FISKE, A.B., '14, has been appointed instructor in English.

Keep your copies of the CORNELL ALUMNI NEWS in the
BIG BEN BINDER

This is the simplest binder made. It has the appearance of a regular bound book. It opens flat to any page. It is so simple in construction and operation that the filing or extraction of magazines requires but a few seconds.

No punching of holes is necessary—just a slight slit between the pages with a pen knife and the insertion of a metal clip. Patent clasps make it easy to put in the new issue each week.

The cover is of Art Velum, with the name stamped in gold on the back and front. Each binder will hold one volume (forty numbers) of the CORNELL ALUMNI NEWS.

By making a special arrangement with the manufacturers we are able to supply these binders to our subscribers for $1.00 each, charges prepaid.

Metal slips inserted through pen-knife slit in back of magazine. The tongue slides over a binding rod.

Syracuse Captures Two of the Three Races on the Hudson

It was an easy victory which the Syracuse senior crew won in the Intercollegiate Regatta on the Hudson June 17. That eight led all the way down the river and finished two lengths ahead of Cornell. Columbia was about five lengths behind Cornell and Pennsylvania was three or four lengths behind Columbia. In the junior varsity two mile race Syracuse won by about the same margin, two lengths, but not so easily, for Cornell led through the first mile and a half. Again Columbia was third and Pennsylvania fourth. The freshman race, postponed over Sunday, was won by Cornell, and Syracuse and Pennsylvania fought it out for second place two or three lengths behind, with Columbia fourth.

The regatta was marred by bad weather. Wind and tide kicked up such a sea on the river that the race schedule was all upset. The first event, that of the junior varsity eights, was started about on time, but the water below the bridge was so rough that the shells shipped a great deal of water, and the stewards delayed the big race till dusk. Then it was necessary to put the freshman race over till Monday.

The Cornell varsity eight included six men who had rowed in the crew that Harvard defeated in a two mile race earlier in the season, and was stroked by the same man, Collyer. On the Hudson it gave a very good account of itself. It was defeated by an eight of much greater experience. Compared with Columbia and Pennsylvania, the Collyer crew seemed to be quite up to the average of Cornell eights. So far as Syracuse was concerned, the race was a procession. The Ten Eyck eight took the lead before the half-mile mark was reached, and was never overtaken. The Cornell crew was the only one that challenged the leaders, and every spurt was fought off by Syracuse. At the 2½-mile mark, and again at 3½ miles, when there was open water between the two leaders, Cornell spurted till the boats were lapped, but each time Syracuse drew away again. In the last half-mile the Syracuse crew showed its great reserve of strength by gaining a lead of more than two lengths.

In the junior varsity race Cornell led for a mile and a half, with Syracuse a length behind, and Columbia and Pennsylvania trailing; then Syracuse took the lead, and in the last few hundred yards put a length of open water between their boat and Cornell's.

Pennsylvania's poor showing this year may be attributed to the change in their coaching system and a consequent radical alteration in their style of rowing. Furthermore, Coach Wright, only a few days before the regatta, decided to send his junior crew into the four mile race and to make a two mile crew of his first varsity. In view of this late change, the Penn crews could hardly have been expected to make fast time. The Columbia varsity was the lightest of the four, averaging 162 pounds.

Cornell's freshman crew won their race handily. The race was rowed upstream about noon on Monday, against wind and tide. Syracuse was first away, but Pennsylvania and then Cornell jumped into the lead. From the bridge to the finish Cornell led easily by two lengths. Syracuse barely beat Pennsylvania for second place.

Coaching Plans Unsettled Reported in Ithaca that Mr. Courtney Will Give Up Active Work

Columns have been printed in the newspapers on the retirement of Mr. Courtney at the end of this season, and almost as many columns have been printed denying that he is to retire. It has been impossible in Ithaca to obtain definite information one way or the other. Mr. Courtney's present contract will expire next October. It has been reported that he will not renew it and will give up active coaching, retaining only an advisory connection with Cornell rowing. These reports became more emphatic during the winter, when Mr. Courtney continued to suffer from the effects of his injury received a year ago. Since he went to the Hudson with the crews this month Mr. Courtney has been quoted as saying that this was his last year of active coaching, and he has been quoted as denying that he made any such statement. Before the summer is over plans may be made for next year's coaching, but no such plans have been made yet. On his return from the Hudson Mr. Courtney went to the Ithaca city hospital for a rest.

Baseball

Clary Elected Captain

Francis Joseph Clary, of Seneca Falls, a member of the class of 1917 in the College of Law, has been elected captain of the baseball team for next season. He has been the regular catcher on the team for two years, and he was the backstop of the freshman team. Clary succeeds Arthur W. Mellen, jr., '17, in the captaincy. Mellen was elected at the end of his sophomore year, and has still another year to play. Clary is a member of the Alpha Tau Omega fraternity and the Quill and Dagger society.

Cornell 3, Pennsylvania 2

The nine won the third and deciding game of the series with Pennsylvania, at Philadelphia on June 17, by the score of 3 to 2. Cornell's three runs were all obtained in the first inning. After Budd had struck out, Captain Mellen singled to right and stole second. Clary walked and both runners advanced when Spielman threw wild in an attempt to catch Mellen napping. O'Connell's drive to left scored both runners. Eckley sent a grounder to Spielman; with a double play in sight Berry failed to touch second, although he got his man at first. Sutterby's single brought O'Connell home with the third run. The score:

At the June meeting of the Board of Trustees Messrs. George C. Boldt, Andrew Carnegie, and Frank H. Hiscock '75 were elected to the board to succeed themselves. Henry R. Ickelheimer '88 was re-elected a member of the finance committee. James H. Edwards '88 and George C. Boldt were re-elected members of the committee on buildings and grounds, and Frank H. Hiscock was re-elected a member of the committee on general administration.

J. Walter Earle '73

John Walter Earle, who was a student at Cornell in 1869-70, died at his home in New York City on June 22 in his sixty-second year. On account of ill health Mr. Earle retired last October from the presidency of the Remington Typewriter Company. Mr. Earle was a native of Ulysses, Tompkins County, N. Y., and studied at the Ithaca Academy. In 1877 he assisted in the organization of the Remington Typewriter Company, and he served the company successively as manager, European director, vice-president, and president. He lived in London from 1899 till 1902 and was one of the founders of the American Society in London. He married Miss Rita Carr Mack, daughter of William A. Mack of Ithaca, in 1879. She survives him, with three sons, one of whom is Harold A. Earle '06. The funeral was held in Ithaca and the burial was in Lake View Cemetery.

Francis Beardslee '73

Francis Beardslee, who was a student here in 1869-71, died June 4 at Long Beach, Cal., where he had lived for the last ten years. He was formerly a resident of Victor, Col. He leaves a widow, a brother, and two sisters.

Henry G. Carpenter '91

Henry Gay Carpenter, of Ithaca, died at his home on the morning of June 21. He committed suicide by shooting. For a long time he had been in poor health. Mr. Carpenter was born at Lebanon Springs, N. Y., and was forty-five years old. He entered Cornell in 1887, taking the course in civil engineering, but left college at the end of his junior year. For several years he was employed as an engineer at Niagara Falls. In 1895 he returned to Ithaca and for fifteen years he was a member of the firm of Taylor & Carpenter, proprietors of the Corner Bookstores. During that time he made a wide acquaintance among Cornellians. He retired from the firm to seek occupation which would give him more outdoor work, and became a member of the firm of Robinson & Carpenter, dealers in coal and lumber. He continued to carry on a publishing business which he had developed in connection with the book trade. Mr. Carpenter was generous in giving time, energy and money to philanthropic and civic enterprises. He was the president of the George Junior Republic association and a former president of the Ithaca Business Men's Association. At the time of his death he was a director of the Ithaca Board of Commerce. He was a member of the Phi Kappa Psi fraternity. His wife survives him.

B. L. Burrows '92

Bion Luceine Burrows, Ph.B., '92, died June 24 at his home in Brooklyn. He was forty-five years old. After his graduation he took up newspaper work in New York, and in 1899 and 1900 he was night city editor of the Press. In 1897 he had been secretary to Mayor Strong. He was appointed secretary of the Rapid Transit Board in 1900 and he held that office for many years. Lately he had been employed by the Treasury Department. Burrows was a member of the Kappa Sigma fraternity. When he was in the University he played on the varsity baseball team for four years. His wife and five children survive him.

Agnes McNamara Munson '04

Mrs. F. Granville Munson (Agnes Keenan McNamara), LL.B., '04, died June 18 at Binghamton, N. Y. She was thirty-three years old. After graduating from the Binghamton High School as the valedictorian of her class in 1899, she entered Cornell, and received the degree of Bachelor of Laws in 1904. She was admitted to the bar at the age of twenty-one. After a year in a law office at Binghamton she was on the staff of the state board of statutory consolidation at Albany, and from there she went to Washington, where she was associate editor of the new index of the federal statutes which the government was about to publish. In 1908 she became one of the two chief editors. She was married in 1911 to F. Granville Munson, a graduate of the University of Pennsylvania and the Harvard Law School, who had been one of her associates on the federal work. They formed a law partnership under the firm name of Munson & Munson, with offices at 2 Rector Street, New York, which partnership continued until her death. She had been admitted to the bar of the Supreme Court of the United States on Mr. Munson's motion in May, 1909. During her residence in New York she was the expert indexer of the New York statutory index, and she was employed also in preparing a supplementary volume of the federal index. She wrote frequently for law magazines. Mrs. Munson was interested in church and settlement work, being particularly successful with Italians. She had classes of Italian children in Elizabeth Street and Cherry Street,

New York, and taught a large class of Italian boys in St. Joseph's Church on Staten Island.

J. F. Comstock '06

Jay Floyd Comstock, M.E., '06, died on May 1st after a short illness of pneumonia. After his graduation from Sibley College, Comstock was employed in the methods department of the Western Electric Company. Within a short time he was devoting all his time to perfecting the technique of japanning and metal finishing the products of the company. In 1914 the removal of the plant to Hawthorn, Ill., and his refusal to make that his permanent home caused him to leave the employment of the company. He accepted an invitation from the Norton Grinding Company, to establish an apprentice school for them. The curriculum and methods of teaching were adapted to the peculiar needs of the company. He was in charge of the school for a year and a half, and in April of this year he removed to New York to enter the company's office there. He had hardly entered on his duties when he was stricken with mortal illness. His wife survives him, with a daughter four years old and a son two years old. Comstock had shown great talent as an organizer and efficiency engineer, he was a man of high character, and a promising career was cut short by his death.

THE DEATH OF CAPTAIN MASON

Captain Frank H. Mason died in Paris on June 21 at the age of 78. He spent nearly all of his adult life in the American consular service, rising to the grade of consul-general. Captain Mason's life is interesting to Cornellians in several ways. He was consul-general in Berlin when ex-President White was ambassador there. During his last visit to this country, he and his wife spent several days on the Campus as the guests of Mr. White. He leaves many interesting letters, notes and journals which will be examined, edited and published by his literary executors, his son Dean Mason '88, now consul at Algiers, and his old friend Theodore Stanton '74.

OBITUARY NOTES

Conrad Smithman Ittner, matr. 1870, a retired building contractor, died March 26, 1916, at St. Louis, Mo.

Milton Edwin Baxter, 1903-4, 1905-6, Med., died February 22, 1916, at Jersey City.

William Fitzhugh Endress, M.E., 1910, died September 7, 1915, on board the steamship Alliance while bound from the Canal Zone to the United States.

ALUMNI NOTES

'75, B.S.; '76, M.S.—At a meeting of the Texas chapter of the Society of the Sigma Xi, held June 5, Dr. Frederic W. Simonds, professor of geology in the University of Texas, was elected president for the year 1916-17. Dr. Simonds was one of the first five graduate students elected to membership in the Cornell chapter.

'78, M.E.—Robert H. Treman, of Ithaca, has been elected deputy governor of the Federal Reserve Bank of New York. He has been one of the board of nine directors of the bank since the federal reserve system was inaugurated. The office of deputy governor was created by the board when it became necessary for Benjamin Strong, the governor of the bank, to take an indeterminate leave of absence on account of ill health, and Mr. Treman was elected by his fellow directors to the new office. He will be the executive head of the bank during the governor's absence. His duties as a director have required his presence in New York City once or twice a fortnight, but hereafter he will spend most of his time there. The Federal Reserve Bank of New York is in the Equitable Building, 120 Broadway. There are twelve such banks in the federal reserve system in the entire country. The New York bank is capitalized at twenty million dollars and now has deposits of about two hundred and fifty millions. Mr. Treman is the president of the Tompkins County National Bank of Ithaca, a member of the Board of Trustees of Cornell University, and a former president of the New York State Bankers' Association.

'88, Ph.B.—A newspaper dispatch from Berlin on June 26 said that John R. Mott, general secretary of the International Committee of Young Men's Christian Associations, arrived there that day to inspect the work which the association is conducting among prisoners of war in Germany, as in other belligerent countries. On the program for the day was a luncheon given Mr. Mott by the American Ambassador, Mr. Gerard, at which he was to meet Dr. von Bethmann Hollweg, the Imperial Chancellor, and several officers of the Foreign Office and the Ministry of War.

'93, LL.B.; '94, LL.M.—James P. Harrold has been appointed master in chancery of the circuit court in Chicago. He has his offices at Suite 304, No. 108 South La Salle Street, Chicago.

'94, LL.M.—David F. Matchett was recently elected a judge of the circuit court in Chicago.

'95—Frank Carney's son, Harry Beahan Carney, received the degree of Bachelor of Arts with the class of 1916 at Cornell University. During the last year he has been an assistant in physiography. Frank Carney is professor of geology in Denison University, Granville, Ohio. He wonders whether he is not the first '95 man to have a son graduate from Cornell. So far as the editor of the NEWS knows, he is.

'96, Ph.B.—Richard P. Kelly is supervisor of physical training in the public schools of Tacoma, Wash. He was field director at the annual celebration of Stadium Day, held a month ago in the public school stadium. Fourteen thousand children took part in exercises and drills and there were twenty thousand spectators.

'99, B.S.—William J. Sweeney is a member of the law firm of Walker, Ingram & Sweeney, Central Trust Building, Rock Island, Ill.

'99, M.E.—F. H. Moyer has been chief engineer of the Cambria Steel Company, Johnstown, Pa., since March 1st. In the first three years after he left Ithaca he was connected with the consulting engineering department of the Wellman-Seaver-Morgan Company, Cleveland, and then became identified with the Pittsburgh office of the Carnegie Steel Company; he afterward went to that company's Clairton works as chief engineer. From there he went to Gary, Ind., as chief engineer in charge of the building of the steel works there, but left Gary about five years ago in poor health. After that he was for a number of years with the Firestone Tire & Rubber Company.

'03, A.B.; '09, Ph.D.—Louise Fargo Brown has been appointed to a chair in the department of history and to the office of dean of women at the University of Nevada. Dr. Brown has been an instructor in history at Wellesley College. Four years ago she won the Herbert Adams Prize, given every two years by the American Historical Association. Two years ago the Alice Freeman Palmer memorial fellowship, a traveling fellowship for research, was awarded to her, but she has been unable on account of the war to prosecute her plans for study abroad. The income of the Graduate Scholarship in History at Cornell for the year 1914-15 was given to her as an encouragement to her research.

'05, B.S.A.—Hayes C. Taylor was married to Miss Catharine Tanguy Sharpless, at Media, Pa., on June 3. Taylor is a breeder of registered Guernsey cattle and a raiser of seed potatoes at Embreeville, Chester County, Pa.

'05, M.E.—Lieutenant C. L. Williams, C.A.C., is with a siege gun company at Corregidor, Philippine Islands. Corregidor, the Gibraltar of Manila Harbor and the Philippines, is manned by sixteen companies of the Coast Artillery.

'06, A.B.; '10, A.M.—F. L. Whitney, adjunct professor of geology and paleontology in the University of Texas, is now making a survey of Hays and Comal Counties, Texas, under the auspices of the Bureau of Economic Geology.

'07, C.E.—Henry W. Maynard's home address is changed to 2153 Adelbert Road, Cleveland, Ohio. He is with the Brown Hoisting Machinery Company.

'07, '10—Alma Rosa Thorne (A.B., '07; Ph.D., '14) and Dr. Mark Embury Penney (A.B., '10) were married on June 14. The wedding ceremony took place at the home of the bride's mother in Ithaca. After she received her doctor's degree in 1914, Mrs. Penney was assistant in the departments of education and philosophy; in 1915-16 she was instructor in pedagogy in Smith College. Dr. Penney has received degrees from the University of London and Boston University. He is associate professor of philosophy and director of the psychological laboratory at Syracuse University.

'08, A.B.—J. Edgar Davidson is the vice-president of the Ramapo Iron Works, at Hillburn, N. Y.

'09, M.D.—Carl E. McCombs is employed as physician in public health work by the New York bureau of municipal research. His office is at 261 Broadway, New York.

'10, A.B.—Mary Diana Stone, daughter of Professor John Lemuel Stone '74 and Mrs. Stone, was married to Dr. Otis Hackett Johnson, of New York, on June 17. The wedding ceremony took place at the home of the bride's parents on Cornell Heights and was performed by the Rev. George Randolph Baker '95, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Ithaca. Dr. and Mrs. Johnson will make their home at Euclid Hall, 2345 Broadway, New York.

'10, C.E.—I. Ellis Behrman is with the American Telephone & Telegraph Company at 1323 Munsey Building, Baltimore, Md.

'11, M.E.—Manuel F. Galdo is a partner and technical director in the firm Manuel Galdo, Fabricante de Maquinaria, constructing sugar machinery and complete sugar houses. The firm has a mill now under construction at Quirican, Havana, to be called "Central Occidente." Galdo's address is Cardenas, Cuba.

'11, C.E.—F. Morton White is with the Corrugated Bar Company and has been transferred from their Buffalo office to their Atlanta office, where he is district engineer. His address is 1017 Grant Building, Atlanta, Ga.

'11, A.B.; '12, M.E.—Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Yoakum, jr., (Wilhelmine Wissmann, '11, A.B.; '15, M.A., University of California) announce the birth of a daughter, Fanita Ewing Yoakum, on June 3, 1916. Mr. and Mrs. Yoakum are now living at 140 East, Avenue 59, Los Angeles, Cal.
