Is your wife a Gemini?

GEMINI—the sign of the zodiac that denotes a nature with two sides! Versatile, entertaining, lovable—but changeable, often contradictory. What man can't see a bit of Gemini in every woman—most of all his own wife?

Well, there are two sides to most women: the dreamer, ready to hitch her wagon to any star—and the practical one, with two feet firmly on the ground. One side will take chances with you on almost anything—the other helps you keep your head, make a success, build your future on a secure foundation. This is the side that appreciates the importance of protecting your common welfare . . . it's the side to value, with you, the importance of providing Prudential life insurance against your unexpected future needs.

Even though you may feel your life insurance program is already adequate, you would be wise to discuss it with your local Prudential representative. He can tell you whether your plan includes the best policies to cover your particular needs—whether your payments are being made with the greatest saving—whether your policies include all the benefits of advantage to you. Call or write to him, and make an appointment to go over these points with him soon.

WHAT PARENTS SAY ABOUT CAMP OTTER

(From unsolicited letters)

"I wish you to know how much Ernest has enjoyed Camp Otter for past two summers. He now feels at home in the woods. This is especially gratifying to me because as a boy two of my best summers were spent at Camp Otter."

"He thoroughly enjoyed the summer and I feel that it did him a lot of good."—Cornell '26

"He has had a grand summer. I can tell from his letters that he enjoyed it tremendously and you certainly are to be congratulated in your handling of the boys."—Cornell '22

"We have enthusiastic letters from Porter. You'll be glad to know his reactions that its the 'nuts' up here and the food is swell and he likes his counselor 'Don' too."

"I want you to know that we were well pleased with Martin's experience at Camp Otter last summer and that our younger son David will be a prospect within a year or two."

"Ted has been singing the praises of Camp Otter and relating the wonderful experiences he had ever since his return home."

"Just a line to assure you that Bruce's summer at Otter is repaying us a hundred per cent. He arrived home with more real boy cockiness and self assurance than we would think possible to instill in one boy in a short summer."

"When his mother and I saw him again on his return at the Buffalo Terminal, we had to look twice to realize he was the same boy we left with you on July 2d."—Cornell '08

"I want you to know how pleased we are with the results of Thomas' eight weeks at Camp Otter, and how he has toughened up in such good shape."—Cornell '26

"Nelson certainly had a grand summer with you and I want to thank you. He seemed to gain confidence in himself and we can see so many benefits he received, both mental and physical."

"I do not know how many years my boys have been attending your Camp Otter but I realize that it is a very long time. The camp has served a very useful purpose of carrying my boys through a period in their lives when I felt that camp life was important and facilities are just what boys need at that age."

"We were so pleased with the way Johnny looked and acted. People all over the neighborhood have remarked how well he looks, and to us there is a marked improvement in many of his characteristics."

"The kids arrived in good shape and are still full of camp. There is no doubt about their having had a good time."—Cornell '18

"The boys are very enthusiastic about their Camp life. They seem so well pleased with their counsellors, and I think you were fortunate under present circumstances in obtaining such good timber."

"I would like to take this opportunity of both reminiscing about Camp Otter and complimenting you on the present day management."—Cornell '24

"We get happy letters from our boys. Bob writes 'There is awfully good food up here and plenty of it too'."—Cornell '11

"As you know I went there for nine years and feel that it was a very important part of my education. I think both boys expect to beat the old man's record and their mother and I think it would be a very good thing for them if they do so."

More Alumni Give to Fund Class Representatives Report

CLASS committees for the University's Alumni Fund come into the home stretch and head for the finish line of June 30 with a lead of nearly 50 per cent over last year in number of alumni who are giving to the Fund. In the ten months ending with April, 5363 persons had contributed $135,770.26. Last year through April 30, the record was 3656 contributors of $107,293.12.

Most Classes Ahead

Report mailed to all Class representatives shows that already fifty-four of the fifty-seven men's Classes since 1890 have more donors than last year at this time, and the comparative record of the women's Classes is equally encouraging. Increased number of contributors from the Classes of the '20's and '30's shows that with men returning from military service, the younger Classes are making a strong bid for leadership to share among their members the support of the University which has been held by their elders.

Leaders Challenged

Although the Class of '14 under chairmanship of Edward M. Carman still holds its last year's lead, with 213 contributors, '21 directed by Clyde Mayer and '27 under John S. Fair, Jr. are tied with 168 donors each to edge '17 out of second place, and '16 with Weyland Pfeiffer as chairman is next with 158. First place in amount given thus far is held by the Class of '22 led by Benjamin T. Burton, with more than $10,000; '13 under Jessel S. Whyte is second at $9,760; and '08 chairmaned by Herbert E. Mitler is in third place with $9,425.

Among women, the Classes of '27 led by Mrs. Stanley C. Allen (Sylvia Wells) and '41 under Mrs. Robert L. Wiggans (Dorothy Talbert) lead with 35 contributors thus far, followed by the Classes of '23 under Mrs. Robert E. Treman (Carolyn Slater) and '33 under Mrs. Morton A. Hutchins (Carleen Maley), tied with 33 donors, and '36 under chairmanship of Mrs. Herbert T. Brunn (Marion Blenderman) close behind with 31 contributors. Largest amount from women thus far is given by '23, approaching $700, with '27 second at $283 and third place held by '12 under Mrs. Harry B. Van Deventer (Mariana McCauley), with $266.

FUND CLASS REPRESENTATIVES PLAN FOR WIDER PARTICIPATION

At dinner at the Cornell Club of New York April 15, forty Class representatives and committee chairmen discussed their year-end solicitations to get every possible member of every Class to give to the Alumni Fund. President Matthew Carey '15 of the Alumni Fund Council predicted that with the present record and intensive work of committees in the final two months, this year's Fund goal of 12,000 contributors should be reached or exceeded when the books are closed, June 30. Last year's record of 9,202 contributors he compared with more than 15,000 who gave to Yale, 14,730 to Harvard, and 13,346 to Dartmouth.

Rejoinder

TO THE EDITOR:

I had to smile on reading the letter by Miss Leary '45 published in the April 15 ALUMNI NEWS. She is earnest, to say the least. Her letter strikes one as being a first-class example of militant youth defending its immature pet theories. I presume that after a few more years experience in the world, even if these years are spent in furthering a sheltered academic career, she will smile as I do now at her amazing letter. Time, especially when spent amid the hard knocks of our industrial and business world, is a great teacher and if productive of enough success to preclude bitterness, should tend to produce sound and mature judgment.

Truly, my own experience leads me to believe that "legacies" should amount to at least something in the Cornell picture. The emphasis which Miss Leary and others of her persuasion place upon scholastic excellence, I believe she calls it "high academic standards," is to me hardly justified. Of the several successful entrepreneurs with whom I have been familiar, none were exceptional students but surely they all have justified their right to an education.

However, if our alumni get excited enough over this discussion, they may work up sufficient interest in Cornell to increase their Alumni Fund contributions. This I am for; so keep them arguing. —NEILL HOUSTON '13

"Legacy" Degrees

TO THE EDITOR:

In the matter of "legacies," I'd like to put in my oar. One of Cornell's policies that has given me great satisfaction has always been that of not giving honorary degrees. Granting them to "legacies" on special conditions would amount to violation of that long-standing policy, wouldn't it?

Would any alumnus worth his salt as such, prefer to have the value of all Cornell degrees brought into question for the sake of "legacies" who lack ability to earn them. Might as well add 10, 20, 50 or even 99 per cent to the marks made by "legacies" on examinations.

Merely to favor these (I hope and believe) few not-too-bright would-be Cornellians of the future, would good alumni want persons looking at a Cornell degree hereafter to wonder whether it was up to par or just a legacy?—EDGAR WILLIAMS '14

P.S. If a compromise is necessary as in matters before UN delegates, how about stamping these particular (or not-too-particular) degrees, "LEGACY"?

University Delegate

OFFICIAL delegate of Cornell University at the inauguration of John P. Wernette as president of the University of New Mexico at Albuquerque, May 10, was Robert D. Richtmyer '31. Son of the late Floyd K. Richtmyer '04, Dean of the Graduate School, Richtmyer is a member of the physics department at Stanford University; has been at Santa Fe, N. Mex., on the staff of the Manhattan District project.

Alumni To Speak

THREE Cornellians are among the eminent scientists, engineers, and scholars who will participate in the George Westinghouse Centennial Forum sponsored by the Westinghouse Educational Foundation in Pittsburgh, Pa., May 16-18. With the general theme, "Science and Life in the World," the Forum is designed "to correlate present knowledge and to consider subjects for future research."

Presiding at the dinner following a symposium on "The Future of Atomic Energy" will be Professor Isidor I. Rabi '19, who is chairman of the physics department at Columbia University and a member of the Forum advisory committee. Nobel Prize winner in 1944 for his work on magnetic properties of atomic nuclei, he was consultant on the Manhattan District project and a leader in developing the government radar laboratory at Cambridge, Mass.

Professor George W. Beadle, PhD '30, of Stanford University will speak on "High-frequency Radiation and the Gene" in a symposium on "Biological Science." In the Graduate School, he took major studies in Genetics, Cytology, and Plant Physiology; won a National Research Council Fellowship to study at California Institute of Technology; and in 1945 was national Sigma Xi lecturer.

Demonstration of the Buhl Planetarium in Pittsburgh will be conducted by its director, Arthur L. Draper '27. Until 1940, he was a member of the staff of the Hayden Planetarium in New York City.

Intelligence

By Emerson Hunchcliff '14

A recent column in the University of Chicago Magazine comments on the complete withdrawal of Chicago from the Big Ten Conference. The writer al-
Goes Chicago from the Big Ten Serious Conference. The writer almost glories in the fact. He pats his university on the back because one can enter Chicago's Liberal Arts College at the end of two years of high school; calls the work students do "exacting," and then speaks of the student's attitude toward extra-curricular activities in general.

"What has happened," he says, "is that they [the students] simply are not interested in the old kind of student life; they are creating a new kind. Activities are no longer a serious career; it is only a small minority which thinks holding office or being elected to an honor society is the ultimate in aspirations. Black-friars is as dead as the Dodo, but dramatic activities are flourishing; so for instance, is such an organization as the Student Forum, with a hundred or more students speaking in debates in places as far apart as Denver and West Point. If all this strikes any of the alumni as lacking glamor, the current undergraduates are likely to reply that the world does not strike them as presenting a glamorous prospect."

Can't you just see those precocious 'teen agers in all their accumulated wisdom, even younger than the average college undergraduates, scurrying about the Middle West telling high schools and women's clubs all about the atom bomb, the causes of war, how the OPA is gallantly "holding the line," what's wrong with education, etc., ad infinitum! O.K., but to me, brought up in Northern Illinois in the days of Chicago's Eckersall of the dropkick and Steffens of the elusive hips, it all seems singularly one-sided and incomplete.

It reminds me of French university students: all talk and no action. I lived for quite a while in Paris a dozen years ago on the Place du Pantheon and used to take my petit dejeuner in a little bakery-tearoom just across the street from the Law School of the University of Paris. At that hour there was always a group of four to eight law students killing time over a cup of coffee. They chattered incessantly. It was a ceaseless flow of words, words, beautifully hung together, tres spirituelle, but not a real thought in a carload.

I confess to having written once an editorial in the Sun about the lost art of conversation in America, holding France up as the shining example for us to follow. I take it all back! At the college level, give me an American boy who get his school work done and then gets out and exercises his body in physical training or sports and also carries on, even in a modest way, one of the multifarious student activities. The Frenchman is a talker; the American, a doer. When the French student drops his books, he goes to a café and talks; the American gets into a baseball or football game, or works on a competition for the student paper or for a managership. Of course, the ideal is the doer who is also articulate, and I think you get this happy combination more frequently here than over there.

Talking about Cornell students the other day at the Faculty table in Willard Straight cafeteria, I was amused to hear an '08 member of our docent Diplomas body argue, though mostly in jest, that graduates of the B.M.O.H. (Big Man On the Hill) type should have their diplomas stamped "Willard Straight," since that hall is the home and fountainhead of so many student activities. Amplify that idea with "Schoellkopf" on the sheepskins of the athletes and the scheme has manifest possibilities.

After all, the real bookworm in Arts can earn a diploma "with honors in Spanish," for instance, or "with honors in general studies" in exceptional cases. Why shouldn't the president of the Student Council, then, sport the letters "W.S.-Campus Politics" after his name on his diploma, or the captain of the football team have "Schoellkopf-Football" after his? Nos. 2 and 3 might well find it easier to get a job than No. 1, at that.

I don't pause for a reply; I duck!

Quonset hut, 180 feet long and 41 feet wide, is being erected on Sage Green directly in front of Alumni House and east of the Navy Gun Shed, to house the University Offices of Veterans Education and the US Veterans Administration offices, now divided between 13 East Avenue and Sage College.

Cosmopolitan Club officers for 1946 are Henry Behn-Eschenburg '48 of Mexico City, president; Madeleine A. Lasko '47 of Brooklyn, vice-president; Freda G. Dworkin '46 of Ithaca, secretary; and Motilal Jain, Grad, of Ambala, India, treasurer.

Now, in My Time!

By

Romeyn Berry

ALUMNI resent change. But change is the one thing the administration of a University which throbs with life and energy can neither prevent nor dodge.

I shouldn't be too much concerned, if I were you, with the mere physical expansion of your Alma Mater which is now accepted as an inescapable certainty. Nine thousand students in the fall, they say! But let not your hearts be troubled. The new structures which are now rearing themselves in phrenetic haste are mostly of the type which can be put together with a light hammer and a mouthful of shingle nails. Such can always be removed at will, and with nothing more than a week's notice and a can-opener.

Some changes are already with us. This was brought home to us forcibly the other morning at Schoellkopf Hall, a spot once familiar to your correspondent. Up there, the practice of manly sports was once no more than a diversion confined to the late afternoon. In my time, the morning quiet at Schoellkopf was broken only by the click of the typewriter, the whirr of the lawn-mower, the flick of the wet mop, and the angry voices of visiting alumni asking about football prospects and what, if anything, was being done about it.

This serenity has become no more than a memory. At Schoellkopf the mornings are now devoted to compulsory physical education. Coaches and assistant coaches by the score, experts in the fields of fencing, basketball, high hurdling, ice hockey, and bayonet combat are now engaged in body-building Youth through the media of touch football, setting-up exercises, and soccer. Youth arrives every hour on the hour in multiple blocks of fifty to be body-built. These manifestations are part of the academic schedule, ranking in dignity with the Classics, the Humanities, and the Pure Sciences.

Dressed and checked for attendance, each block is led off to its particular spot on Alumni Field to be body-built thoroughly and painfully by the coach assigned to it. The callow civilians without combat experience are taken to the more remote sections, one observes, where their screams of agony and protest will not offend polite ears. Character-moulding, once regarded as an important by-product of intercollegiate athletics in seasons unblest by large tackles and fast backs, now seems to have given way entirely to body-building. It's one of the lessons of the war, no doubt!

And the possibilities of body-building for the masses are being abundantly demonstrated on Alumni Field these warm mornings. College students with their clothes off emphasize extremes. Your Cornell undergraduate in the spring of 1946 is either an undeveloped adolescent, innocent of grace or muscular coordination—a mere civilian—or else he's a hard, lean, mature specimen, with a hand like a bunch of bananas, who weighs in around 218, bedside.

War produced the latter type, and wars are evil things. But you can scarcely blame the discouraged football coach for finding compensations in human conflict when he sees the results of compulsory physical education in his spring squad.

In no way is change more marked than in the increasing weight of college students. In my time, any undergraduate who tipped the scales at 200 pounds and more could be assumed to be a fat boy; according to the Class Book statistics of half a century ago, 186 was the top weight for a Senior of the lean, athletic type. The blood-sweating behemoths who composed the homicidal football teams of the nineties averaged around 175!

But this no longer holds true, as anyone knows who has attended any of these recent morning classes on Alumni Field. There are scores up there now who could be classified, in the manner of potatoes, as "U.S. No. 1's," grading ten to a ton.

You should not, however, jump to conclusions and write for football seats now, on the basis of false hopes. The pleasing phenomenon of the body-built veteran is reported from the playing fields of all institutions of higher learning!

Somewhere in these manifestations, however, may be concealed the answer to the problem of how a proud, sensitive University may possess both a good football team and its own self-respect.

Slants on Sports

By Bill Natera '27

DESPITE some interference from cold, rain, snow, and hail, all six Cornell spring sports squads went into action by the end of the first week in May. Noteworthy were two victories by the baseball team, a smashing triumph by the Varsity crew over Harvard, Princeton, and MIT, and a win by the golf team in its opening test.

Take Two at Baseball

THE baseball squad's first action was a practice game with Cortland State Teachers on Hoy Field, April 24. Coach Mose P. Quinn tried out twenty players, but Cortland won, 9-6.

Rained out April 27 at Rochester, Cornell rescheduled the game with the University of Rochester there April 30, and won it, 10-2, behind the six-hit pitching of William J. Langan, USNR, of Seaford. Four days later on Hoy Field, Langan gave one hit in seven innings as Cornell defeated Columbia, 5-0, in its first Eastern Intercollegiate League game. The second game of the scheduled doubleheader was called off because of cold winds, rain, and hail.

Against Rochester, Langan spaced the six hits and was never in trouble, except in the fifth inning, when Rochester scored its two runs, largely through Cornell misplays. Langan had able support from Frank McArthur '48 of Dearborn, Mich., center fielder, who hit three singles and a triple, drove in three runs, and scored four times himself.

Francis D. Nolan '49 of Lynn, Mass., the catcher, also hit a triple. Nolan and McArthur played on the summer baseball team two seasons ago, when they were Naval Reserve trainees.

The home opener against Columbia drew a small crowd to Hoy Field because of the cold and threatening weather. Rain started falling in the second inning, but those spectators who remained saw Langan pitch a masterful game. He set down the first eleven men in order. Then Allison, the Columbia shortstop, singled sharply to left. Langan promptly trapped him off first base with a lightning-like throw, and Allison was run down on the base path.

Meanwhile, in the third inning, Cornell opened up on Bulik and rapped out three hits. Columbia's infield folded at the same time, and the visitors mixed in three errors to hand Cornell five runs and the ball game. Two of the runs were driven in by Roy A. Porter '48 of Elba, second baseman.

Coach Quinn started the same lineup in both games. The other players were: First base, James P. Troutner '48 of Buffalo; third base, John Skawski, USNR, of Wilkes-Barre, Pa.; shortstop, Robert L. Gleason '49 of Newark, N. J.; left field, William C. Arrison '48 of Merchantville, N. J.; right field, Carl W. E. Almquist '45 of Alden.

Just before the Columbia game, the players elected Skawski and Edward S. Steitz '43 of Beacon, another infielder, as co-captains. Skawski was a regular last year and Steitz played in 1943 before he went into the Army.

Varsity Crew Wins

ON the Charles River at Boston, May 4, conditions were right when the Varsity crews of four colleges were started over the mile and three-quarters course in the climax race of the first formal regatta there since 1942.

Cornell's Varsity, stroked by 162-pound Richard L. Randolph '48 of New York City, rowed in a Harvard shell, but pulled its own oars. The four crews got away evenly, but Princeton quickly pulled into the lead in the first quarter-mile, with Harvard second and Cornell third. Princeton held its advantage for three-quarters of a mile, when Cornell, rowing powerfully and smoothly at a low stroke, took the lead and won by nearly two lengths. Harvard nosed out Princeton for second place, with MIT fourth and last.

Cornell's time was 9:15. Harvard finished in 9:22½, Princeton in 9:23.

The Cornell boating: Bow, George A. Fearn Jr., USNR, of Haddonfield, N. J.; 2, John L. Phelps '45 of Burdett; 3, William F. Hale, USNR, of Merrick; 4, Henry A. Parker '44 of Nineveh; 5, Wilbur O. Gundlach '45 of Plainfield, N. J.; 6, Curtis B. Morehouse '45 of Washington, D. C.; 7, Captain Charles P. E. von Wrangell '47 of Buffalo; stroke, Randolph; coxswain, Lloyd L. Conable, USNR, Orchard Park.

Junior varsity race over the same distance wound up with four crews finishing within a boat length. Princeton was first in 10:01, ten feet ahead of Harvard. MIT was third by another ten feet, with Cornell fourth and last, fifteen feet astern.

Cornell entered only the two crews.

Track Team Behind

TRACK team opened the regular campaign, as in many years past, by competing in the Penn Relay Games at Philadelphia, April 26 and 27, then returned to that city a week later to lose to Pennsylvania, 51-84, in a dual meet.

Best individual performance at the Relays was the fifth-place tie of John L. Haughwout '44 of Hinsdale, Ill., in the pole vault. Haughwout cleared twelve feet. Cornell mile and four-mile relay teams set the early pace in their races, but could not hang on to the lead.

In the dual meet with Pennsylvania, Cornell won six of the fifteen first places, with Daniel M. Kelly, USNR, of Atlantic City, N. J., turning in a double. Kelly won the 440-yard run in 0:50.6 and the 880 in 1:59.6.

Alfred L. Koup '46 of Meshoppen, Pa., won the two-mile run in 10:06.2. Haughwout had to go only 11 feet 6 inches to win the pole vault. Robert W. Bartholomay '45 of Winnetka, Ill., won the hammer throw at 120 feet 8 inches, and William S. Owen, Jr. '48 of Bluefield, W. Va., the broad jump at 21 feet 9 5/8 inches.

Take Golf Opener

GOLF team opened its season at Lewisburg, Pa., May 4, defeating Bucknell, 7½ to 1½. Cornell won five of the six singles matches and two of the best-ball tests, halving the third.

William D. P. Carey, Jr. '47 of Hutchinson, Kan., and John L. Sheary '49 of Troy combined in the first foursome to win 3 points, as did Elwyn H. Frend '50 of Buenos Aires, Argentina, and Irving W. Holcomb '45 of Westport, Conn. Arthur H. Bishop, Jr. '46 of Syracuse won his singles match in the second foursome, but

Lose at Lacrosse

LACROSSE team's game with Syracuse at Syracuse April 27 was called off because of layers of snow and mud on the field. It may be played later.

On Alumni Field May 4, the team took a 24-5 lacing from the US Naval Academy. Alfredo P. Larin '50 of Mexico City, D. F., first attack, and Raleigh Brent '49 of Baltimore, Md., in home, each scored 2 goals for Cornell.

Elect Tennis Captain

TENNIS team lost to the University of Rochester, 1-8, at Rochester, opening the season April 30, then had a match at Annapolis with the US Naval Academy called off by rain. Only winner at Rochester was David F. Potter '47 of East Rochester, the No. 6 singles player.

Before the season started, the players elected Hollis D. Young '46 of Brookville, No. 1 in singles, as captain. Young played in 1943 before he entered the Army.

Bridge Champions

WINNER of the intercollegiate bridge championship in New York City, April 28 and 29, was the Cornell team of Alfred F. Scheider '47 of New York City and Bernard P. Lampert '48 of Brooklyn. They led a field of regional finalists from sixteen other colleges with a score of 191, defeating last year's champions from Kansas State College, who scored 186½. An elimination tournament was carried on by mail among forty-seven colleges, sponsored by the Association of College Unions.

Foster M. Coffin '12, Director of Willard Straight Hall, was elected chairman of the executive committee for the annual bridge tournaments.

Women Sail Well

CORNELL dinghy with a crew from the Corinthian Yacht Club outsailed Bowdoin, Brown, Drexel Institute, University of New Hampshire, Princeton, and Williams to win in its division of the Intercollegiate Yacht Racing Association regatta at MIT, April 21. Skipper of the Cornell boat was Jo Anne Norton '48 of Marblehead, Mass., and Martha J. McKelvey '49 of Ames, Ia., was her crew.

Miss Norton sailed with Donald M. Lins '48 of Elizaville as crew in the American Trophy Regatta at Annapolis, Md., May 5, and finished second behind the Naval Academy in a field of seven colleges.

This is the first year that women students have been admitted to membership in the Corinthian Yacht Club, which owns and sails its own dinghies on Cayuga Lake.

For the Record

ELEVEN Punahou School trackmen from Honolulu, T. H., stopped off for practice at Cornell before they went to the Penn Relays. Their Ithaca visit was arranged by G. Douglas Crozier '24, a former quarter-miler; Ronald G. Watt '23, former hurdler; and Charles E. Cassidy '24, football and lacrosse player. Crozier and Watt prepared for Cornell at Punahou.

Gather Jersey Girls

CORNELL Women's Club of Northern New Jersey entertained forty-five prospective Freshman women from nearby schools at tea at the Racquets Club in Short Hills, May 4. Members of the Club secondary school committee, under chairmanship of Mrs. Martin A. Goerges (Frankie Culpepper) '30, talked with them according to College preferences. The president, Mrs. Louis A. Winkelman (Helen Kinney) '22, introduced Pauline J. Schmid '25, Assistant Alumni Secretary, who showed pictures and talked about the University.

Violinist Ends Series

CLOSING this year's University concert series, Patricia Travers, seventeen-year-old violinist, filled Bailey Hall, April 27. She demonstrated mastery of her instrument especially in the Bach "Sonata in C Major," for violin alone, and with her accompanist, Hendrik Endt, in "Concerto No. 1 in F Sharp Major" by Wieniawski. After these and a group of three movements by Scarlatti-Heifetz and the "Rondeau Brilliant" by Schubert, the audience was particularly pleased with her closing group of three shorter numbers, "Satirical Dance" from "The Bolt" by Shostakovitch-Forst, "Three Fantastic Dances" by Shostakovitch-Glickman, and "Le Streghe" by Paganini-Kreisler; and with the encores, "Air on G String" by Bach, "Jamaican Rhumba" by Benjamin, and "Perpetual Motion" by Novacek.

Subject to the usual restrictions of space and good taste, we shall print letters from subscribers on any side of any subject of interest to Cornellians. The ALUMNI NEWS often may not agree with the sentiments expressed, and disclaims any responsibility beyond that of fostering interest in the University.

Different Now?

TO THE EDITOR:

While drifting through today's New York Times, one may note in passing that Cornell won the intercollegiate bridge championship. But, further along in the paper, the name of Cornell is conspicuously absent from the account of the Penn Relay Games.

Those facts seem strange to a memory which goes back to the days of Percy Taylor and Hobe Young and Lee Talbot and Ed Cook and Henry Ford and Tell Berna and John Paul Jones; a group which alone could win an intercollegiate track and field meet of those days.

Well, Cornell men are different now, it seems. Can I be wrong? Can it possibly be better this way?

Time Was . . .

Twenty-five Years Ago

May, 1921—Quadrangle of the College of Agriculture has been greatly improved by removing most of the unsightly poles, wires, and cables that have long marred "the top of the Hill." The Ag College lawns, started on barren sand, are now beautifully uncluttered.

"Much undesirable publicity has been given to Cornell in all metropolitan papers recently by the request of two students for membership in the Communist Party of America and their attempt to establish a student local in Ithaca. Apparently these parlor Bolsheviks were alone in their efforts; they have since left the University. The alumni can safely trust to the basic integrity of undergraduates and the activity of the Department of Justice to prevent Cornell from becoming a hotbed for exotics of this sort."

Emmet J. Murphy '22 of St. Paul, Minn., and Olive E. Northup '22 of Ithaca elected president and vice-president of the Arts College Association for next year.

Fifteen Years Ago

May, 1931—University Faculty, by a vote of eighty-one to thirty-eight, adopts a resolution requesting the Trustees to make military drill elective, beginning the next academic year.

Comments the ALUMNI NEWS editorially: "Compulsory military drill was an anomaly in a world of free electives and was the last fetter that withheld absolute freedom. . . . Cornell's war record was a testimonial to the value of military training. Possibly we shall never have to be prepared for war again. Diplomacy may convert rivals into friends. If, however, there were another war after sixty years of optional drill, would Cornell be able to jump into a war with the first detachment to carry the flag, give sixty times its quota of soldiers, and have three per cent of the commissioned officers of the Country's army? If the Country's welfare is not jeopardized, if the University is not impoverished, if undergraduate life does not lose much that is colorful and interesting, then the problem should be solved purely academically and drill should follow penmanship, the alphabet, and all the other irksome things that one ought to learn in one's youth in order to be a self-sustaining citizen in the civilization, such as it is, in which we have to live."

University Described

JOURNAL for March of Phi Kappa Phi, national honorary academic society, is a "Cornell University Number" with the University described in articles and pictures. Vice-president George H. ## White '87 Leaves Fund

BEQUEST of the late Horace White '87 to the University will establish the Horace White Fund amounting to $737,691, with three-quarters of trust funds aggregating $200,000 more to accrue to the Fund at the deaths of their beneficiaries. The donor's will provides that the income of the Horace White Fund is to be used by the Trustees "to pay, in whole or in part, or to increase the salaries of the officers and members of the Faculty . . . who have rendered distinguished services or who may be of great value to the University," with provision that the Trustees may apply $1,000 a year from the income to the "care, maintenance, and improvement" of White's fraternity, Kappa Alpha.

Horace White was the nephew of President Andrew D. White. He became a member of the University Board of Trustees in 1909, when he took office as Lieutenant Governor of New York State. The next year, he became Governor when Governor Charles E. Hughes was appointed to the US Supreme Court. Governor Alfred E. Smith appointed him to the Board again in 1916 and he was reappointed and was a member of the Board when he died, November 27, 1943. He and his brothers, Andrew S. White '88 and Ernest I. White '93 added to the White Veterinary Prize Endowment which their father, Horace K. White, established in 1872 for the first prizes to Veterinary students.

As an undergraduate, White was president of the Athletic Council and manager of baseball; won the Woodford Prize in Oratory and competed with his brother, Andrew White, for the first '86 Memorial Prize in Declamation. He received the Bachelor of Letters degree in 1887, and after receiving the LLB at Columbia in 1889, entered the practice of law in Syracuse and served for six terms in the State Senate.

John L. Senior '01 Dies

JOHAN L. SENIOR '01 died in New York City, April 30. As the first Graduate Manager of Athletics at the University, he laid the foundation for the present management of intercollegiate sports and made them self-supporting for the first time. During the same period, he purchased and for many years financed the ALUMNI NEWS and thus kept it alive to serve the interests of Cornell alumni, and as graduate manager of the Musical Clubs and Masque put those student organizations on a sound financial footing. He was elected Alumni Trustee of the University for two terms, 1918-28.

Born in Montgomery, March 31, 1879, Senior entered Arts in 1897 from University Preparatory School in Ithaca, transferred to Law, and received the LLB in 1901. Member of Psi Upsilon, Aleph Samach, and Sphinx Head, he was manager of the Musical Clubs for two years, business manager of the '01 Class Book, and business manager of the Era with Willard Straight '01 as editor. With a small group of Classmates, he undertook in the spring of 1901 to raise a fund to meet a deficit of some $6,000 in athletic finances, and this group organized and ran the first Spring Day. The success of this undertaking led to Senior's appointment as the first Graduate Manager of Athletics, and he coordinated the separate sports and instituted the system of financial management which is still followed in the Department of Physical Education and Athletics. He remained in Ithaca as Graduate Manager until 1907.

CORNELL ALUMNI NEWS, started in April, 1899, by undergraduates was by 1903 in financial difficulty and had only 900 subscribers. John Senior paid its obligations of some $8,000, organized the Cornell Alumni News Publishing Co. with himself as the principal owner, and took over the business management of the paper which he retained until 1916, paying deficits which aggregated through the years about $48,000. He brought to Ithaca for active editorial direction of the NEWS such men as George D. Crofts '01, Woodford Patterson '95, and R. W. Sailor '07. After the Russian-Japanese War in which Willard Straight was a correspondent, Senior offered Straight the editorship of the ALUMNI NEWS at salary of $1200 a year. After considerable deliberation, Straight cabled his regrets from Singapore, saying he had just accepted a job in China with J. P. Morgan & Co. and thought he "owed it to Morgan to try it out for a year or two." It was the fortune that Straight accumulated working for the Morgan interests in the Orient that made possible the gift of Willard Straight Hall to the University.

Leaving Ithaca in 1907, Senior spent a year with Houghton, Mifflin & Co. before he entered the practice of law. He was a partner with Ezra C. Blair '97 in New York City and in 1912 he became a partner of Herbert D. Mason '00 in Tulsa, Okla. Three years later, he entered the cement manufacturing business in Jackson, Mich., becoming president of Penninsular Portland Cement Co. This interest he greatly expanded, organizing the Cowham Engineering Co. in Chicago, Ill., and at his death he was chairman of Consolidated Cement Corp., Chicago, and president of cement firms in Tennessee, Florida, and Texas. He lived in Lenox, Mass.

For many years he had been interested in the life of John Paul Jones and built up the finest collection of Jones memorabilia known. He raised funds to acquire many rare items for the US Naval Academy museum; in 1940, presented to the Academy the original commission as a captain issued to John Paul Jones by the Continental Congress in 1776, which had been lost for more than a century until he unearthed it; and in 1943 Senior's material assistance made possible the definitive book on John Paul Jones by Lincoln Lorenz, published by the US Naval Institute.

Senior's brothers were the late Frank S. Senior '96 and Augustus W. Senior '97.

Scholarships Benefit

CORNELL Women's Club of Ithaca has contributed more than $1,000 to the Federation Scholarship Fund as the proceeds of sale of the household effects of the late Grace H. Griswold '18. Miss Griswold, who had been a member of the Entomology staff since 1922 and who died in Ithaca last January 23, bequeathed her personal effects to the Club.

REPLACED BY TREMAN '09

RESIGNATION of Judge Frank H. Hiscock '75 as a Trustee of the University was accepted by the Board at its meeting May 4, with appreciation expressed "for his long and valuable service to the University." His resignation was made effective April 16, 1946, which was Judge Hiscock's ninetieth birthday.

To fill his unexpired term to June 30, 1946, the Board elected Robert E. Treman '09, whose term as Alumni Trustee would also have expired next June 30. Treman has been an Alumni Trustee since 1931.

Seventy-five years ago, in 1871, Hiscock entered the University from Syracuse, and he received the AB in 1875. Member of Kappa Alpha, he was an editor of the Cornellian and member of the Sprague Boat Club. He was elected Alumni Trustee in 1889 for a five-year term, was co-opted by the Board in 1901, and has been a Trustee continuously for forty-five years. He was elected chairman in 1917 and resigned that office in 1939, when he was elected the first chairman-emeritus. He practiced law in Syracuse until his retirement in 1935; was for twenty years judge of the New York State Court of Appeals and chief judge, 1916-26; then was appointed official referee of the Court. His sons are George B. Hiscock '13 and Luther H. Hiscock '16, and Frank H. Hiscock II '42 is a grandson.

"Universities, I suspect, have much in common with, let us say, the works of the late William Shakespeare. Unworthy critics, whose investigations are conducted with a sly and cunning purpose, can always find cause in them for secret titterings, for sanctimonious finger pointings, for excited whisperings, for prunish and prismatic offense. Normal persons find beauty, freshness, youth, humor, and other desirable things, including a boundless reservoir of wisdom on which the world can draw forever. That goes for Cornell."

Although the citation is for the period from September 1 to November 5, 1945, it states that throughout his tour of duty in the China Theatre Captain Sampson "has been diligent beyond the call of duty, checking instruments and supervising repairs at all hours of the day and night. Many times he has demonstrated unusual initiative, maintaining for some weeks the only continuous Eureka Radar Beacon in China and training men to run a ground station that has been highly valuable to the squadron. . . . By example and by strength of character Captain Sampson has maintained a high quality of effort among men in his section. No small part of the squadron safety record is due to his efforts."
