CORONET

"INFINITE RICHES IN A LITTLE ROOM"

• For all its 196 pages
CORONET easily fits into a man's coat pocket
or a woman's handbag.
Actual size 5½ x 7¼.
CORONET resembles an illustrated pocket-size edition of a fine book more than it resembles any magazine.

a general magazine

The book-size* magazine of popular culture is a "believe-it-or-not" of money's worth, for the many-sided CORONET is truly four magazines in one! It's a magnificently illustrated journal of the fine arts; it's a breathtakingly beautiful "picture magazine" of unforgettable photographs; it's a full-strength satire and humor magazine; and a distinguished general magazine. As the partial table of contents at left shows, each issue is an entertaining education in "things you never knew till now"—a liberal culture course in capsule form—a little college in your coat pocket!

VISITORS TO SEE ACADEMIC PANORAMA

New Feature of Class Reunions This Year

Alumni who return for reunions this week end will find arranged for them in many University buildings an "Academic Panorama," in which the various Colleges and departments will demonstrate and exhibit some of their work and its sources. Exhibits are arranged to give alumni some idea of the varied activities being carried on at the University. They are not all-inclusive, but represent some of the timely developments. Representatives will be on hand Friday afternoon, from 2 to 5:30, to explain them; and in most Colleges other researches and source material, although not arranged for demonstration, will be available for observation and explanation to persons interested.

A guide to the Academic Panorama is published with the customary reunion information for distribution at the Drill Hall. From this the following is summarized for the information of readers who are not here to see it.

University Library

The Library displays some of its prized collections, including illuminated and other old manuscripts in the President White Library; rare volumes including some of the earliest printed, in the main reading room; unusual items of the Wordsworth collection; and a display of Petrarch portraits from the Willard Fiske collection, in the main lobby.

Architecture

In the main drafting room of White Hall, the final problems of the Senior Class are displayed. In addition, selections from the current work of all students are shown, in architecture, landscape architecture, painting, and sculpture. Ludlow D. Brown '30 is in charge, with other members of the staff present to explain the work of the College.

Engineering

In Franklin Hall, Sibley College, and Lincoln Hall the three Schools of the College of Engineering exhibit apparatus used in teaching and research. In addition, special projects are demonstrated: in Franklin Hall the newly-patented demand meter by its inventor, Director Paul M. Lincoln, and experiments with electric arc rectifiers by Professor William C. Ballard, Jr. '10; in Lincoln Hall basement, tests of welded connections under repeated loads are shown, while Civil Engineering research in photo-elasticity is displayed in Rockefeller Hall, and above the Hydraulic Laboratory at Beebe Lake the scale model of the Chenango River constructed for flood control is explained by Professor Ernest W. Schoder, PhD '03.

Chemistry

Twenty or more research projects in inorganic, organic, analytical, and physical chemistry, chemical engineering, and chemical microscopy are explained by those engaged in them in the various laboratories of the Baker Laboratory of Chemistry.

Physics

Members of the Physics Department staff demonstrate in Rockefeller Hall some of the recent developments, including the cyclotron, cloud chambers, and neutron counter, used in the study of the atom; the new Van de Graff electrostatic generator of 600,000 volts, artificial radioactivity, color effects in radiation, and the evaporated metal process of coating mirrors invented by Robley C. Williams '31.

Home Economics

Martha Van Rensselaer Hall, the new building of the College of Home Economics, is shown to visitors by competent guides. They see the household management laboratories, those for student experience in catering and making clothing, and the child nutrition unit, with equipment for the study of infant metabolism.

Hotel Administration

The Department holds open house in its quarters on the first floor of Martha Van Rensselaer Hall, with an exhibit of material relating to institutional management and continuous stereoptican pictures of its activities. Operation of some of the modern hotel machinery is demonstrated in the Hotel Engineering laboratory on the ground floor of Roberts Hall.

Floriculture

Greenhouses near the Plant Science Building are open to visitors and tours are arranged of the patio garden, the Minns garden on Tower Road, the rock garden south of Willard Straight, and the Department's peony and iris test gardens. In the Plant Science Building Professor Edward A. White demonstrates the test tube method of propagating orchids and shows some of the rare species he recently collected in Costa Rica.

Poultry

On the first floor of the Poultry Building, Professor Alexis L. Romanoff '25 shows color motion pictures of the development of the chicken embryo.

Ornithology

In Fernow Hall the Department exhibits birds in their natural habitats, and Professor Arthur A. Allen '08 and Dr. Paul Kellogg '29 show sound pictures of rare species and their songs. The Louis Agassiz Fuertes Memorial Room, with his collections and paintings, is open to visitors.

Animal Nutrition

Professors Leonard A. Maynard, PhD '15 and Clive M. McCay demonstrate their experiments with rats, showing the effects of diet on longevity, in the Animal Nutrition Laboratory adjoining the Dairy Building, and various other investigations are in progress.

Veterinary

On the first floor of James Law Hall the Veterinary College has a special display featuring a normal live sheep with various devices to record respiration, blood pressure, digestion, and circulation; and stereoptican pictures of the varied activities of the College are displayed.

Physiology and Biochemistry

In Stimson Hall the famous brain collection started by Professor Burt G. Wilder is on display; Professor Simon H. Gage '77 demonstrates his pioneer work with the ultra-violet microscope; Professor James B. Sumner and Stacy F. Howell, PhD '34, show the process by which they first isolated crystalline enzymes.

At the Physiology field station on Hanshaw Road the work of Professor Howard S. Liddell, PhD '23, and his associates, in conditioned reflexes and producing nervous breakdowns experimentally in pigs and sheep is in progress and to be seen by visitors.

Law

The new home of the Law School, Myron Taylor Hall, is open for inspection, so that visitors may see the moot court room, class rooms, and students' lounges; the many examples of sculpture by Lee Laurie depicting the development of law in all ages and countries; and the library, with its special display of some of the School's treasured books.

Many Other Points of Interest

Friday evening, from 9 to 11, weather permitting, Professor Samuel L. Boothroyd will welcome visitors to the Fuertes Observatory north of Beebe Lake, and will explain the heavens as seen through the telescopes there.

Throughout reunions all University buildings will be open to visitors from 7 a.m. to 5 p.m. daily, and many alumni will take advantage of the opportunity to look up old friends on the Faculty and renew acquaintance with the Campus.

Between scheduled reunion events, of which the main features are printed over, many alumni will also walk through the gorges along paths which perhaps they knew but which, with many others, have been made more accessible through the program of beautification which the University has carried on. The Campus is at the disposal of visiting alumni, to enjoy and learn as they will.

FRANK SHEEHAN RETIRED

After working forty years in its service Frank Sheehan, veteran trainer of many generations of Cornell athletes, has been retired by the University, as of July 1, on half pay.

Frank, who is fifty-nine years old and in excellent health, is still somewhat dazed by this action, but expects to work his problem out in his own way and to get another job somewhere in the fall. He points out that having worked forty years—first for the Athletic Association and later for the University itself—about all he knows is Cornell and Cornell men, a specialty difficult to sell to some other college when you aren't young any more. He has, moreover, a son, John, who has just completed creditably the Freshman year in Mechanical Engineering and whom he wants to see go on and graduate.

Frank Sheehan's official contacts with Cornell athletics began in 1888, when as a small boy he was made mascot of the baseball team. In the fall of 1897 he became general handy man to Dr. Edward Hitchcock at the Gymnasium, but was taken over in the following spring by the late Robert H. Treman '78, then graduate treasurer of the Athletic Association. At Percy Field, where he was sent, he became custodian of grounds and rubber, at a salary of $6 a week, in return for which he mowed the grass, took care of the horse, rolled the track, cleaned the club house, did the laundry, and rubbed the athletes. Under George Connors, then coach of the Cornell track team and later track coach at Phillips Exeter and Yale, Frank learned the trainer's art, and so fully as to have been selected trainer of the American Olympic team of 1920 and to have won ecomiums for his skill and dogged faithfulness from such experienced coaches as Glen Warner '94, Percy Houghton, Foster Sanford, Dr. Al. Sharpe, Speedy Rush, Gilmour Dobie, Henry Schoellkopf '02, and Hugh Jennings '04.

In the course of his many years of experience and association Frank Sheehan has acquired a practical knowledge of anatomy and therapeutics that is regarded with deep respect by Ithaca physicians, while his inventive genius and professional skill are recognized far beyond the confines of Cornell. The Sheehan baker for the heat treatment of athletic injuries is standard equipment at most Eastern colleges, while both the Sheehan aluminum and elastic knee braces are catalogued by many dealers.

But it is Frank's sly humor and homely philosophy that will be best remembered by the thousands of Cornell athletes to whom he has ministered in the four decades of his loyal service. Many a discouraged boy has been moved to keep on trying and eventually win by some bit of Sheehan philosophy tactfully injected at the rubbing table. It is this humor and philosophy upon which Frank must now fall back on his own account as his little Cornell world comes tumbling down around his ears.

ENGINEERS HERE JUNE 25

Prominent engineers and experimenters from industry and many colleges and universities are expected to visit the Campus June 25 and 26 for the national meeting of the applied mechanics and hydraulics divisions of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers. Sessions will be held in Willard Straight Hall, with technical papers on a variety of subjects and a convention dinner the last evening. Visitors will be housed in Balch Halls, and a picnic supper at Taughannock will be a feature of the first evening. Professor Frederick G. Switzer '13, Hydraulic Engineering, is chairman of the local committee, with Dean Herman Diederichs '97 as honorary chairman.

PHYSICS SYMPOSIUM JULY 1

First official appearance of Dr. Edmund E. Day as President of Cornell University would appear to be his address of welcome to the annual symposium of the Department of Physics at 9 a.m. July 1, the day he takes office.

This year's Physics symposium will deal with "The Structure of Metallic Phases," phenomena relating to the interdependence of the atoms of the solid and the electrons in a metal. During the three days, July 1-3, technical papers will be given by Professor James G. Kirkwood, Chemistry (Dr. Hans A. Bethe, Physics, collaborating), by Dr. Francis Bitter of MIT, visiting lecturer in Physics for the Summer Session, and by other authorities from MIT, Yale, Columbia, Carnegie Institute of Technology, and the Bell Telephone and General Electric laboratories.

PRESIDENT'S FORTNIGHT

Busy with Farewells

The last two weeks have kept President Farrand busy with performing for the last time his various official functions and saying good-by to members of the Faculty and students.

Presiding June 9 at his last meeting of the University Faculty, the President was presented with a memorial volume containing resolutions engrossed on parchment, illuminated, and with the signatures of nearly five hundred members of the Faculty. Bound in red morocco, the volume has tooled in gold on its cover:

THE FACULTY OF
CORNELL UNIVERSITY TO
LIVINGSTON FARRAND
1937

Presentation was made by Dean Robert M. Ogden '00, Arts and Sciences, chairman of the committee. The text of the resolution follows:

President LIVINGSTON FARRAND:

As members of the University Faculty we take this occasion to express our appreciation of the happy relationship which has existed between President and Faculty during your term of office. It is not our intention to comment upon the manifold achievements of your Presidency or to attempt in any way to estimate your great service to Cornell University. We do wish to dwell upon that warm fellow feeling which has characterized your daily associations with members of the Faculty and to express our sense of profound regret as we realize that the time has come when you may justly claim a well earned leisure and retire to the comfort, happiness, and honor which we know will be yours.

Few there are among us who have not upon some occasion sought your advice or practical assistance. We have always left your office with gratitude for the helpfulness and sympathy which you have invariably manifested and for the unfailing interest and zeal with which you have sought a solution of the problems we have so often and so unavoidably thrust upon you. As the presiding officer of this Faculty you have brought to us a wise and inspiring leadership. Coming to the headship of the University in the full maturity of your mind and with rich experience in education and in public affairs you have not thought it necessary to seek innovation. You have on the other hand missed no opportunity to reaffirm those fundamental principles of education which as members of the Faculty we treasure most highly. During your Presidency there has been in this University no question involving freedom of speech, no question as to the authority of the Faculty in strictly educational matters, no question as to academic security. The years of your Presidency have been free from factional strife. We have enjoyed the academic peace which must prevail in an educational institution if it is to be worthy of the name.

While making due acknowledgment of these fortunate circumstances we do not lose sight of the larger aspects of your leadership. We who are here in constant residence, year after year, can appreciate the way in which you have blended the various interests of the University into one harmonious whole. You have won the confidence of the Alumni and strengthened their faith in the future of the University. We are aware also of your successful leadership in the Board of Trustees and of the cordial cooperation and friendliness which you have at all times fostered between Trustees and Faculty. We recognize your personal influence with the student body and the good feeling that has been engendered on the Campus. You have, by these successes, and by the promptness and ease with which you grasped and accepted the Cornell tradition, created a situation favorable for work of the Faculty. This we believe to be the true test of administrative success and we are glad to record our appreciation and gratitude.

We take leave of you in your official capacity with sincere regret and we assure you of our enduring affection and interest as you enter upon the leisure you have so abundantly earned. The Faculty will cherish the memory of Cornell University's fourth President.

The President briefly and with feeling expressed his gratification, saying: "I would rather have this sort of tribute than anything else that could come to me."

"I think I have only had two principles that I have tried to keep always in my mind in discharging my duties. The first was to be always fair, so far as I could see the light. The second was to be always straightforward, and I infer from the very beautiful words in which that resolution is couched that this Faculty gives me credit for having reasonably succeeded along those lines. I cannot tell you what a privilege it is to lay down an office like this with the feeling that one carries not merely the respect of his colleagues but also the affection of those colleagues; and I want you to know that reciprocate that affection with all my heart.

"I am deeply grateful to you, every one of you, for the unfailing support that you have given to me; and while it is a very great wrench for me to separate myself from the academic responsibilities of Cornell, nothing will be allowed, if I can help it, ever to sever the friendships that I have made here."

Last Friday about eight hundred members of Faculty families bid Dr. and Mrs. Farrand God-speed at a pleasant reception and tea which the Farrands gave in Memorial Room of Willard Straight Hall.

Wednesday afternoon of the week before, President and Mrs. Farrand, escorted from the President's House to upper Alumni Field by a military guard of honor and accompanied by Colonel John J. Fulmer, Commandant, reviewed the more than 2,000 student members of the ROTC. Flags waved proudly, bugles sounded, and the band played "Auld Lang Syne" as unit after unit of the Corps passed in review before the President's party and the Army staff, standing stiffly at attention.

This year's award of the Barton Cup, given in memory of Colonel Frank A. Barton '91, former Commandant, to the cadet showing greatest advancement during the year, was made by Mrs. Barton to Cadet Colonel Alfred G. Fry '38 of Berkeley, Cal. Decorated as honor graduates, for the highest military scholarship and proficiency, were Cadet Colonel Stewart Waring, Jr. of Richmond, Va., Lieutenant-Colonel William J. Daetsch, Jr. of Buffalo, Major Walter E. Hooper Jr. of Ithaca, and Captains Judson D. Wilcox of Ithaca, Charles E. Boschen of Brooklyn, and John G. Nutt of New York City. Medals provided by the Sons of the American Revolution for the three best second-year advanced students in American military history were presented to Daetsch and to Cadet Lieutenants Samuel Groner '37 of Buffalo and Herbert N. Abrahams '37 of New Rochelle.

'13 MAN LOSES KEY

Loss of a key by some '13 man was revealed recently in a letter from Florida to the University Registrar. The writer had found a key with a tag indicating that the loser was a Cornell man and bearing on it the words, "15-Year Reunion, 580, June 15, 16, 17, 1928." The records show that the Class of '13 at its fifteen-year reunion, issued as a souvenir to members of the Class key tags thus inscribed. Unfortunately, the Class reports that no record was kept of the number of the tag issued to each individual. If the loser wishes to regain this souvenir, which evidently he had kept for nine years, he should communicate with George H. Rockwell, secretary of the Class, Cambridge Rubber Company, Cambridge, Mass.

About ATHLETICS

INDIANS RAINED OUT

Heavy rain most of the day caused cancellation of the baseball game between the Varsity and the Cleveland Indians, scheduled for Hoy Field June 14. Many members of the team had stayed in Ithaca after examinations for the chance to play the big-leaguers.

CREWS AT POUGHKEEPSIE

Three Cornell crews and Coaches Harrison Sanford and Norman Sonju en-trained from Ithaca at 5:20 Monday evening for Poughkeepsie and the inter-collegiate regatta June 22. They took the two new shells, Saratoga '75 and Poughkeepsie, and the John Ostrom. Earlier in the month the Varsity had drawn lane 7, farthest offshore, in which Washington won last year; the Junior-Varsity, which will race only against Washington and Navy, the middle lane; and the Freshmen, lane 4 in a field of six.

CAPTAINS, MANAGERS

J. Hamilton Hucker '38 of Buffalo, sprinter and hurdler, has been selected by the track team as its captain for next year, succeeding John A. Meaden '37 of LaGrange, Ill. The golf team re-elected Charles S. Willcox '38, son of James D. Willcox '07, of Birmingham, Ala. The tennis team chose Herbert Sobel '38 of New York City and J. Garrett Peavey '38 of Dobbs Ferry as co-successors to Bernard E. Diamond '37 of Brooklyn; and Carson M. Cornbrooks '38 of Collingswood, N. J., has been named captain of lacrosse.

Sophomores named by the athletic council June 1 to be assistant managers of three spring sports next year are Lyndon H. Stevens of Delhi, son of Edward L. Stevens '99, track; Ned F. Wagner of Watsonstown, Pa., baseball; and Frederick A. Macnutt, Jr. of Port Washington, lacrosse.

SPORTS EXTRA!

New Trainer

Next year Frank J. Kavanaugh, former trainer of St. Lawrence University, will take over the responsibility of training and conditioning the candidates for all athletic teams at Cornell. Heretofore this responsibility has rested primarily with the coaches who, with rubbers, doctors, and trainers to assist them, met it with varying degrees of success. Mr. Kavanaugh will now take over this work for all teams. He will introduce the most modern methods of caring for athletic injuries and will also concern himself with diet, morale, psychology, etc.

Frank J. Kavanaugh, the new man, has been an athletic trainer for fourteen years: two years at Union and for the past twelve at St. Lawrence. Last year he was one of the trainers of the American Olympic team at Berlin. There he had charge of the boxers and also handled, under Coach Lawson Robertson, a group of runners which included Glenn Cunningham.

Intramural Season

In the season just closed 931 of 1022 scheduled intramural contests were run off under the dynamic (though frequently harassed) leadership of Mr. Nicholas Bawlf. This may be regarded as a respectable measure of accomplishment, in view of the fact that between April 1 and June 5 there were 35 days in which an appreciable amount of rain fell.

Forty-six of the 57 houses scored one or more points toward the '97 Interfraternity Championship Cup, which was ultimately won by Sigma Chi with 29 points. Sigma Chi was first in basketball and second in track, swimming, and volley ball. The second and third places were still in some doubt when this paper went to press. If SAE won the golf match, then it finished second to Sigma Chi in the cup race. If SAE was eliminated in golf, then Telluride was second and OTS third. Perhaps we shall never know!

Rowing Troubles

An intramural rowing season which saw 39 eights strive manfully through three weeks of preliminary training and three weeks of racing, became terribly complicated at the end by reason of the name selected (and retained against all pleas), by the independent crew which proved the ultimate winner. The name chosen for this crew by themselves, and insisted upon, was the Battling Bastards. Naturally, there could be no organized cheering and in his official report to the President of the University, Director Bawlf primly refers to the winners as the Battling Bees. Nevertheless, the victors in intramural rowing for the season of 1937 were in fact the Battling Bastards, as here accurately and courageously reported. The Battlers swept through the season undefeated and mowed down Sigma Nu in the final race.

Infinite Variety

A two day inter-College track meet was won by Arts, with Engineering second and Agriculture third. The interfraternity volley ball championship, played off in the Old Armory at night, was won handily by Kappa Delta Rho, which took 24 matches and suffered no defeats. Beta Sigma Rho won the lawn tennis championship from 32 other fraternities. Theta Delta Chi was the runner up. Omega Tau Sigma prevailed in bowling. Only 13 teams played regular baseball in which the Independent Bears proved the intramural winners, but were later defeated in the inter-College round by Hotel; as against 73 teams in soft ball. Telluride won the interfraternity soft ball championship, while the Baptists cleaned up in the Interdenominational League. The Jews and the Lutherans were bracketed in second place, with the Catholics and Presbyterians tied for fourth.

That's all, except golf, which had to drag over until after examinations. A casual game, disconcerting to the orderly Mr. Bawlf!

GOLF IN PITTSBURGH

Eugene C. Batchelar '02, president of the Cornell Club of Western Pennsylvania, announces that the annual Cornell-Pennsylvania golf tournament will be held the afternoon of June 29, at the Stanton Heights Country Club, Pittsburgh, Pa. A silver cup will be awarded the winner. Dinner will be served at the Club at 6:30, to which both players and non-players are invited.

CHICAGO CLUB BUSY

William Littlewood '20, vice-president and chief engineer of American Airlines, told the Cornell Club of Chicago at its regular Thursday luncheon June 3 some of the interesting aspects of maintaining and operating commercial airline service. At this luncheon also, the polo team of New Mexico Military Institute which played in Ithaca Spring Day were guests of the Club. They played the Oak Brook Polo Club of Chicago June 4 and 6.

At the June 10 luncheon the Club entertained the boys whom it had sent to Ithaca for Cornell Day. John P. Carmichael, sports editor of the Chicago Daily News, was the speaker.

ALUMNI FUND GROWS ASPACE

With a total of $125,930.46 announced to June 14 for the 1937 Alumni Fund, Archie M. Palmer '18, secretary of the Cornellian Council, estimates that this year's Fund by June 30 will surpass last year's final figure of $110,234.07 by more than $25,000. Contributions are being received, Palmer says, at the rate of approximately $1,000 a day, many from alumni who had already paid their regular subscriptions but are responding to the suggestion of additional gifts in honor of President Farrand.

Every Class but two of the earliest, whose members are now few, is represented among the contributors. Forty-one Classes have so far given $1,000 or more each; and thirty-two have more than 100 subscribers each. Newcomers to the first ten in amount contributed this report are the Classes of '12 and '09; and the latter joins also the ten highest in number of contributors. In amount, '10 still leads, with $11,772, followed in order by '91, '20, '16, '12, '11, '98, '06, '05, and '09. The Class of '36 is still highest in number of contributors, with 215, and is followed by '16, '35, '13, '12, '18, '22, '17 and '26 tied, and '34 and '09 tied.

LAW SCHOOL HOLDS COMMENCEMENT

Alumni Committees Help Place Graduates

Forty Seniors in Law received the LLB degree at the hands of President Farrand during the fiftieth Commencement of the Law School, held in Myron Taylor Hall June 3. Chief Marshall of the Class and winner of the Carey Exhibition Prize for the best performance in the comprehensive examination was Daniel G. Yorkey '35, retiring editor of the Law Quarterly and the son of Charles J. Yorkey '06, of Central Square. Presenting the award, Dean Robert S. Stevens said: "He was an A student throughout, a record equalled only once in eighteen years."

J. DuPratt White '90, vice-chairman of the University Board of Trustees, gave the Commencement address. He recalled briefly the growth of the Law School from its beginning on an upper floor of Morrill Hall during his Sophomore year at the University to its present position, "in the front rank of the law schools of the country, . . . established in this stately building, the gift of one of its distinguished alumni." He recounted its Deans, from Judge Douglas Boardman to Stevens, and mentioned that among the "learned, scholarly, earnest, devoted, and forceful teachers" who had comprised its Faculty were such as the late Cuthbert W. Pound '87, who became Chief Judge of the New York Court of Appeals, and Charles Evans Hughes, Chief Justice of the United States Supreme Court.

A recognized authority on constitutional law, Mr. White reviewed the drafting of the Constitution and its purposes, and said: "This is the keystone thought of Constitutionalism — the supremacy of the nation, but the nation held in check by the supreme law of the land. That law of the land cannot be changed by a temporary hysteria, by passing partisan majorities. The salvation of democracy is the protection of minorities, not the sweeping torrents of day-to-day opportunists. . . . Today the legislative view seems to be that if the Constitution interferes with an adjustment of the eternal struggle between industry and labor, or any part of it, give up the Constitution. The thought that the form of government should control, notwithstanding the growing complexity of economic life, seems to be repugnant to this materialistic age; yet which is more precious to mankind, liberty or the golden calf?"

Reviewing the checks and balances of the Constitution and how they have been effected by recent decisions of the Supreme Court, the speaker branded as "absurd" and "grotesque" the current proposals for changing the complexion of the Court.

"Perhaps and probably what the majority of the people want, or now think they want," he concluded, "is a blanket democracy; but unless human nature has materially changed since the time man first began to record the history of his doings, the end is as inevitable and resistless as the rise and fall of the tides. Life must go on. Will it go along the true path which leads to reconciliation of government with liberty and under the banner of freedom, or will it again diverge towards regimentation and despotism, on the one side, or anarchy on the other? I leave you to ponder the question and pray for the answer."

After the degrees were conferred and the announcement of honors made, President Farrand was greeted with a rousing ovation as he rose to address the Law School class which is leaving the University with him.

The President confessed to sharing some of the apprehension expressed by Mr. White over proposed expedients in government, but pointed out that change is inevitable and that the very situation which baffles us today constitutes an unusual opportunity for this year's graduates. "You must not lose sight," he said, of other very disturbing situations, such as the phenomena of organized crime, which could not endure without the connivance of the lesser members of your profession; and the relations of this country with other countries. My last word to you is not one of warning, but of the wonderful opportunity open to you."

Of this year's Law Class of forty, twenty-two had received their first degrees at Cornell; and the remainder at fourteen other colleges and universities. Cornell alumni who received the LLB degree are: Daniel J. Blaugrund '35, Julian H. Brachfield '35, John W. Branch '34, John R. Carver '33, Harold D. Cohen '35, Ralph S. Cramer '35, Robert S. Grant '34, Edward W. Harker, Jr. '35, Ruskin F. Harris '35, Theodore W. Kheel '35, Nathaniel E. Kossack '34, Walter C. Kovner '35, Douglas V. Lewis '35, Edwin J. Loewy '35, Joseph R. Mangan '34, William Massar (Massarsky) '35, Herbert M. Moss '35, Leon Schwerzmann, Jr. '35, Thomas F. Steenburg '35, Ira L. Tilzer '35, Edward A. Voegeli '35, Daniel J. Yorkey '35.

Alumni Help Find Jobs

Records of the Law School placement committees, expanded last fall, refute the statement, sometimes made, that no young lawyer can expect to make more than $500 his first year out. Largely through the work of local committees of Law School alumni, twenty-one of this year's Senior Law School class, numbering forty, have already been placed, all at living wages or better, and in jobs offering good possibilities for advancement. Many of the remainder have good prospects or prefer to work in smaller towns, where men are not hired until fall.

In addition, the records show that of last year's class, numbering fifty-one, only one is now without a job and four are working but seek better positions. Of the Classes of '35 and '34, one member of each is out of work and three in each wish better jobs. Of earlier classes since '30, so far as is known from semi-annual requests for information made of all alumni by Professor William H. Farnham '18, secretary of the Law School, no members are looking for a change in jobs.

This excellent record is the direct result of the work of alumni placement committees, handled in the New York Metropolitan District by Paul O. Reyneau '13, placement director at the Cornell Club of New York, and for other districts by Professor Farnham. With the cooperation of the alumni members of district committees, arrangements were made for Law Seniors to interview prospective employers during the Christmas holiday and spring recess, and these will continue through the summer. Complete information was gathered from applicants, and blanks were also supplied to alumni employers to collect information about men wanted. Alumni members of district committees were designated sponsors for individual Seniors, with responsibility for counselling each man about work and of finding him a job.

Judge Randall J. LeBoeuf '92, president of the Cornell Law Association, is himself chairman of the Albany placement committee, and has appointed committees in sixteen other cities, with the following alumni as chairmen:

Atlanta, Ga.: Elbert P. Tuttle '18, 1413 First National Bank Building. Binghamton: Herbert H. Ray '21, 612 Peoples Trust Building. Boston, Mass.: George R. Grant '04, 50 Oliver Street. Buffalo: Sylvanus B. Nye '98, 416 Erie County Bank Building. Detroit, Mich.: Mrs. Louis S. Cohane (Regene R. Freund) '20, 844 Buhl Building. Elmira: Hon. Ely W. Personius '98, County Court House. Los Angeles, Cal.: Paul Overton '00, 617 Olive Street. New York City: George R. Van Namee '00, 80 Centre Street. Plattsburgh: Hon. Charles M. Harrington '15, County Surrogate. Rochester: Edward Harris '00, 40 Franklin Street. St. Louis, Mo.: Perry Post Taylor '89, Cotton Belt Building. Syracuse: John B. Tuck '93, 504 Dillaye Memorial Building. Toledo, Ohio: Edwin J. Marshall '94, 1002 Spitzer Building. Troy: Edward H. Pattison '19, 12 First Street. Utica: Warnick J. Kernan '05, Devereux Building. Washington, D. C.: Percy W. Phillips, 805 Fifteenth Street, N. W.

PHILADELPHIA BALL TEAM

Soft ball team of the Cornell Club of Philadelphia is playing every Thursday evening at 6 in the Philadelphia Inter-Club Soft Ball League, against Yale, Princeton, Virginia, and several local country club teams. Richard W. Steinberg '29 is captain; Charles L. Macbeth '28 is player-manager; and the team includes such former Varsity stars as Chandler Burpee '17, George Bickley '24, Eugene P. Balderston, Jr. '28, Harrison S. Wilson '36, George H. Thornton '21, Yetter Schoch '29, Walter D. Wood, Jr. '36, Ray L. Williams '11, Jack F. Macomber '29, Bertil J. Olson '29, and Emmet M. Stanley '30.

WANTED:

Candid camera addicts, to loan or donate interesting pictures of alumni, taken alone or at reunions or other Cornell gatherings, for reproduction in the Alumni News. Please send glossy prints, with subjects identified if possible, and your name and address if pictures are to be returned. Mail them promptly to Cornell Alumni News, Box 575, Ithaca, N. Y.

CONNECTICUT WOMEN ELECT

RECEIVE MEDICAL DEGREES

Seventy-one members of the Class of '37 of the Medical College in New York received the degree of Doctor of Medicine at the thirty-ninth Commencement of the College, June 16. President Farrand spoke briefly, on this last official appearance as President of the University, and administered the oath of Hippocrates to the graduating class. Following the conferring of degrees, and of commissions as first lieutenants of the Medical Reserve Corps, United States Army, upon eight of the graduates, Dean William S. Ladd announced the award of prizes and honors. The Commencement address was by Dr. John L. Rice, Commissioner of Health of the City of New York.

Twenty-eight members of the Class of '37 received their baccalaureate degrees at Cornell; and twenty-eight other colleges and universities were also represented among the graduates. Those who received first degrees at Cornell follow, with their hospital internship appointments:

Charles O. Warren, Jr. '27, New York Hospital, New York City; Walter E. Fleischer '29, French Hospital, New York City; Bliss B. Clark '31, Bellevue Hospital, New York City.

Class of '32: Julian S. Butterworth, Post-Graduate Hospital, New York City; Cornelia J. Gaskill, Medical Center, Jersey City, N. J.; Horace L. Jones, Jr., Roosevelt Hospital, New York City.

Class of '33: Frank A. Baumann, Jr., City Hospital, Binghamton; Abram S. Benenson, Queens General Hospital, Jamaica; Carleton M. Cornell, Bellevue Hospital, New York City; William C. Layton, Abington, Pa., Hospital; Norman W. MacLeod, Medical Center, Jersey City, N. J.; Hugh C. Murphy, Lincoln Hospital, New York City; William A. Paff, Lincoln Hospital, New York City; Donald B. Read, Lenox Hill Hospital, New York City; William H. Sternberg, Montefiore Hospital, New York City.

Class of '34: Shepard G. Aronson, Jewish Hospital, Brooklyn; Edgar P. Fleischmann, Albany Hospital; Ira Gore, Kings County Hospital, Brooklyn; Edward J. Hehre, New York Hospital, New York City; P. Lawrence Hilsman, Bellevue Hospital, New York City; William D. Holden, Lakeside Hospital, Cleveland, Ohio; Ernest E. Keet, Jr., Kings County Hospital, Brooklyn; Putnam C. Kennedy, Mallory Institute of Pathology, Boston, Mass.; Henry B. Marshall, Medical Center, Jersey City, N. J.; Charles B. Roesch, University of Minnesota Hospital, Minneapolis, Minn.; Raymond Schwartz, Bellevue Hospital, New York City; Kenneth A. Tyler, St. Vincent's Hospital, Portland, Ore.; George Wineburgh, Meadowbrook Hospital, Hempstead.

ON THE CAMPUS AND DOWN THE HILL

By Romeyn Berry

DR. EDMUND EZRA DAY, President-elect of the University, has been around here off and on through May and June. He took a room at Willard Straight and minded his own business. He has now gone home and will not officially punch the clock in Morrill Hall until the morning of Thursday, July 1. Having punched it, Dr. Day will have to grab his hat and dash right out again to welcome a congress of physicists which meets here on the first. After that, perhaps, he will have a moment in which to dig in to the accumulated mail. It looks like a long, hard day for somebody!

PROFESSOR EMERITUS Clarence A. Martin '90, former Dean of the College of Architecture and now a citizen of Sarasota, Fla., has been back in Ithaca on a three weeks' visit. Professor Martin likes Florida, is having a hard time remaining in retirement, is being pestered by his neighbors to design bungalows by the gross, and regards automobile trailers as a major menace. The Professor claims to be 74, but nobody believes him. People who saw him striding briskly across the Quadrangle put him down at 52; old timers with the bad habit of counting up on their fingers figured him roughly at 108.

"LOST—One Spring Day trophy. Please return to 'Cornell's Healthiest Boy; Sun office 2384. If a man answers, hang on.'" The key to this esoteric advertisement in the Cornell Daily Sun is probably to be found in the fact that at the Spring Day circus Mr. J. Frederic Hillegas, editor of the Sun and a buxom young man, won the competition for "healthiest boy." One infers that the ad was inserted with facetious intent by the editor's colleagues on the board.

DRAMATIC CLUB has elected John B. Williams '38 of Richfield Springs as its president for next year. Florence E. Singer '38 of Ilion is vice-president; and Caleb Paine '38 of Ithaca, secretary-treasurer.

THE FINGER LAKES Association has just gotten out a new illustrated booklet about the country around here that might interest you. It tells about the drives and trips of the Lake Region and gives pictures of Ithaca and the country 'round it. You can get a copy for nothing by writing Edward C. Cooper, Secretary, Watkins Glen. And the Ithaca Chamber of Commerce also has a booklet that it will be glad to send you gratis. It has some good pictures of familiar scenes. The cover design features the Hydraulic Laboratory and Triphammer Falls in flood time: "Typifying two of the things for which Ithaca is famous—its scenery and its educational institutions."

IT'S A MISTAKE to think that you see the University at reunion time! It really isn't the true Cornell that returning alumni see now, because in mid-June the boys and girls have pretty much gone home. American universities are made up of many things, none of which is unimportant: scholarship, elms, rowdy alumni, academic processions, research, strutting trustees, publications, Gothic architecture, and fund raising. But what really leavens the lump, and without which all the rest would be an empty shell, is the Sophomore Class. The little So-and-Sos are irritating, youthful, discouraging, ignorant, and sometimes immoral; but they are always inquisitive and alive, and they do much to keep a university in the same condition of vitality.

L. N. SIMMONS '12, for years legal assistant to the University Comptroller, has resigned to join the law organization of Allan H. Treman '21. The significance of this change has been the subject of much futile guessing on the part of Campus dwellers. It will be noted that Mr. Treman is attorney for the University, and that much of the detail of the institution's legal business has heretofore been handled in the Comptroller's office, and by Mr. Simmons. Futile guessing has always been a delightful form of entertainment among Campus dwellers.

NOT THE LEAST INTERESTING member of this year's Senior Class is Costa George Couvaras, who will receive his AB in Government and Sociology. As Couvaras was the first and only student to matriculate here from the home town of the crafty Ulysses, so will he shortly become the entire Cornell Alumni Association of Ithaca, Greece.

CAPTAIN CHARLES G. MEAD, who in 1928 succeeded Lieutenant Theodore Tweston as University Proctor and who served in that office until January 1, 1935, died last week of a heart ailment at his summer cottage on the shoulder of Turkey Hill. The former Proctor had been a New York policeman, rising from the ranks to the position of Inspector in the Mitchell administration. It was too bad that Captain Mead had to die just when he was having such a good time. He and Mrs. Mead had one little house down in Florida and another on the Turkey Hill slope. They spent five months in each. The remaining two months they put in driving back and forth between the two; leisurely trips that involved dawdling along and searching out historic spots.

NORTH ATLANTIC branch of the American Society of Animal Production met on the Campus this week. Alumni reunions or no alumni reunions, the world's work must go on. The American people must have their milk, veal chops, and porterhouse steaks.

EARLY COMPLETION of the State scenic boulevard along the entire west shore of Cayuga Lake is promised in the news that right-of-way had finally been acquired last week for the eight-mile stretch as yet uncompleted between Taughannock and a point directly east of Interlaken.

THE FUNERAL of Dr. Minor McDaniels June 4 produced a tremendous outpouring of emotion in Ithaca. A kindly and competent physician sometimes gets a clutch on the heartstrings of his neighbors, the strength of which is never realized until the doctor dies. This town shut up shop when they buried Doctor McDaniels and everybody went. Once in a while in his younger days the Doctor, a staunch and peppery Democrat, would run for office (when they just couldn't get anybody else) in a county that is always 2 to 1 Republican and proud of it. On those occasions and at no other time Tompkins County always threw overboard its political principles. Nothing could stop Republicans voting for a Democrat when Minor McDaniels ran.

FANNIE PRICE '37 of Rochester has been awarded the prize of $25 given by Chi Omega annually to the undergraduate woman who has done the best work in Sociology.

ANOTHER NICE THING about Alumni House at 3 East Avenue, where this paper maintains its Campus office, is the pictures. An exhibit of the paintings of Kenneth Washburn has just gone out as another of landscapes by Professor Walter King Stone comes in to take up the torch. Somebody else will follow Professor Stone, so there is never a dull picture.

PROFESSOR STONE sells his pictures on a novel plan. You can take any one of his paintings that is for sale and hang it in your house on the payment of ten per cent of its price. At the end of a year you have any one of the following options: (1) You may keep the picture for another year on payment of another ten per cent; (2) you may send it back and select another at the same rate; and (3) you may send it back and end the transaction. Your payments are cumulative, and at the end of ten years the picture which you have finally selected will belong to you. Smart—for a painter?

Subject to the usual restrictions of space and good taste, we shall print letters from subscribers on any side of any subject of interest to Cornellians. The ALUMNI NEWS often may not agree with the sentiments expressed, and disclaims any responsibility beyond that of fostering interest in the University.

SINGING CO-EDS

TO THE EDITOR:

The letter from R. B. '04 in your issue of May 27 throwing a French connotation over the participation of the co-eds in the Cornell broadcast.

I sympathize with Mr. R. B. in his humiliation at any association with women in his college life. I would sympathize more if he had had the courage to sign his name. He is probably weakened and devitalized by that same feminine contact, and doing his best to regain his manliness. I notice he was strengthening himself at a bar, the place from which such Cornell loyalty is apt to emanate.

I also understand that an editor must publish what he thinks will be acceptable and interesting to his readers.

But doesn't that editor have his nerve with him when he asks me to solicit subscriptions from co-eds, from sweet women who have the audacity to be pleased and proud over such a broadcast?

EUNICE STEBBINS '97,

Alumni News Representative,
Cornell Women's Club of Chicago

Honest, Miss Stebbins, you have me wrong on three counts—possibly four; and you have cruelly bit the hand that was feeding you.

(1) I wasn't even trying to hide behind my initials. There is much too much of me and not nearly enough initials for that.

(2) My only reason for going to the bar was to hunt up a couple of Trustees of the University who are friends of mine and who couldn't be found anywhere else.

(3) I loved to hear the co-eds sing and was just trying to have some fun with some old bar-flies of the nineties who are about the only folks left who don't; and

(4) Please, Miss Stebbins, keep on trying to get subscriptions for this paper, because I'm married to a co-ed who won't eat unless you get 'em.

THE BAND AT YALE GAME

TO THE EDITOR:

Enclosed is my check for renewal subscription to the News.

If you want to do something very constructive for Cornell in New England, get the band up here next fall for the Yale game!

I am sure that a move in this direction would meet with instant alumni support here, where I believe the alumni generally feel the presence of the band would add greatly to Cornell's prestige in this section.

ROBERT F. CORLEY '13
New Haven, Conn.

Everybody who has heard it play agrees with Subscriber Corley that the ROTC Band does "add greatly to Cornell's prestige" wherever it appears. The fact is, however, that the band's sole source of income, not only for the travel expenses of its 100 members but also for uniforms, repair of instruments, etc., is a band fund raised almost entirely from the proceeds of the Navy Ball. Of recent years this has allowed two out-of-town trips a year, to the Pennsylvania game and one other. We are told that alumni (financial) support would most certainly enable the band to appear at more out-of-town football games.—ED.

NEW ENGLAND WOMEN

Cornell Women's Club of New England at its annual meeting May 22 elected Mrs. Samuel S. Evans, Jr. (Ella Behrer) '27 as president; Mrs. Victor Ruggles (Cora Whitman) '17, first vice-president; Mrs. William G. Mollenberg (Ruth Hunter) '26, second vice-president; Mrs. C. S. Luitwieler (Sarah Holcomb) '27, secretary-treasurer; and as the fifth member of the board of directors, Mrs. Thomas Dransfield (Mary Caldwell) '08. Mrs. Mollenberg and Mrs. Evans were elected delegates to the annual meeting of the Federation of Cornell Women's Clubs in Ithaca June 18.

ALUMNI REGATTA CRUISE

Alumni of the seven universities whose crews have entered in the Poughkeepsie regatta June 22 have chartered the SS "State of Delaware" of the Wilson Line to take them from New York to the races. A committee headed by Admiral J. K. Robison, USN, Ret., has arranged for a Navy band, a radio dance orchestra, luncheon and supper on board, and a gala celebration on the return voyage. The ship will be dressed with international code flags and pennants of the competing universities.

Tickets may be obtained by Cornellians and their guests at the Cornell Club of New York or at the committee headquarters, 17 Battery Place, New York.

DR. DAY IN NEW JERSEY

The Lackawanna Cornell Club of New Jersey played host to Dr. Edmund E. Day, President-elect of the University, at a dinner at the Canoe Brook Country Club June 4. The speakers included four members of the University Board of Trustees: Bancroft Gherardi '93, Charles H. Blair '97, Andrew J. Whinery '10, and George R. Pfann '24. Dr. Day's university was represented by three Dartmouth alumni, including Eddie Dooley, former all-American quarterback, who spoke of his experiences as an undergraduate playing against Cornell. Music was provided by Donald F. Hackstaff '33, with the singing led by Richard B. Farnham '23. Hugh C. Edmiston '15 reported for the scholarship committee, and Alexander W. Keller '14 reported on Cornell Day.

In the election of officers, Paul W. Drake '21, who presided as retiring president, was succeeded by Edward G. Williams '15. William A. Schreyer '23 was re-elected secretary-treasurer, and Charles S. Yawger '02 was elected vice-president.

RECEIVE THREE BEQUESTS

Provost Albert R. Mann '04 will leave the University July 15 to become vice-president of the General Education Board of the Rockefeller Foundation and director of Southern education, it was announced to the Trustees' committee on general administration, meeting June 5.

Report was made to the committee of three bequests, and of an appropriation of $1,800 from the Josiah Macy, Jr. Foundation for the support of the investigations of experimental neuroses directed by Dr. Howard S. Liddell, PhD '23, Physiology.

From the estate of the late Albert Charles Murphy the University has received $155,000 principal and $22,790 of accrued income, with $96,000 to be received in the future and a contingent interest in approximately $48,000 more. The bequest, made several years ago, is for the establishment of a permanent Albert C. Murphy scholarship fund for male students, first consideration to be given to residents of East St. Louis, Ill. Stipulation is made, however, that if conditions change the Trustees may use the fund as best to serve the needs of students.

It was further reported that Marion H. Carter '98, who died March 2, 1937, had left her residuary estate to Cornell; and that six-tenths of the residuary estate of the late George C. Hicks, Jr. '90 will come to the University for scientific and industrial research.

Concerning THE FACULTY

DR. EDMUND EZRA DAY, President-elect of Cornell University, received the honorary LLD degree at the commencement exercises of the University of Pennsylvania June 9.

DR. EVERETT W. OLMSTEAD, professor of Romance Languages from 1893 to 1914, has retired from the faculty at the University of Minnesota, where he has been professor of Romance Languages for twenty-three years. He will make his twelfth trip to Europe this summer as part of his retirement plans, spending a major part of the time in France.

MISS R. LOUISE FITCH, Dean of Women, attended the Knox College centenary celebration, Galesburg, Ill., June 11-16. A graduate of Knox in 1902, she was a member of the alumni honorary committee for the centenary.

PROFESSOR MERRITT W. HARPER, Animal Husbandry, has been chosen as one of the sixty-five leading horsemen in the United States to help plan the classification for the first National Percheron Show, to be held jointly with the National Dairy Show at Columbus, Ohio, October 9-16. Harper is known as an authority on percherons.

PROFESSOR FLORA ROSE, '08 Grad, director of the College of Home Economics, has been awarded the DSc degree at the Kansas State College of Agriculture and Applied Science, Manhattan, Kan. She has just returned from a seven weeks' trip during which she visited eighteen colleges and universities in fifteen states.

PROFESSOR BRISTOW ADAMS, Agriculture Publications, is conducting a course in publicity for extension workers at a three-week session at Colorado State College, Fort Collins, Colo., from June 19 to July 9.

PROFESSOR FRANK A. PEARSON '12, Prices and Statistics, predicts that, with the low industrial consumption and increasing production, the monetary supply of gold will increase and the world price level will rise, in "Farm Economics," a recent bulletin of the College of Agriculture. He also says, "the erratic value of gold caused by the violent fluctuations in the supply of gold before the World War, and the violent fluctuations in the demand for gold since 1914 made the gold standard a very unsatisfactory medium of exchange."

PROFESSOR ROBERT MATHESON '06, Entomology, addressed the Buffalo chapter of Sigma Xi June 4. He spoke on ticks, saying that common dog ticks and wood ticks carry such diseases as rabbit fever and Rocky Mountain spotted fever. No effective way has been found to abolish these pests.

PROFESSOR GUY F. MACLEOD, '30 PhD, Entomology, took the first "soft" X-ray movies ever produced, which were shown to moving picture engineers in Hollywood May 24. These "soft" X-rays are weak in penetrating power and cast shadows easily. The pictures showed the first movies of the digestive processes of a yellow variety of worm that spoils corn meal. They also disclosed a new type of attack on crop pests developed at the University.

PROFESSOR GUY E. GRANTHAM, Physics, will preside at one of the physics conferences of the Society for the Promotion of Engineering Education, to be held at Cambridge, Mass., from June 29 to July 1. He will also read a paper on "Physics in European Technical Schools."

PROFESSOR MARIAN PFUND, Home Economics, and Margaret Hutchins, Rural Education, will be on the summer session staff of Oregon State College, Corvallis, Ore., for the six weeks' term beginning June 21. Dr. Pfund will conduct courses in foods and nutrition; and Miss Hutchins, two courses in home economics education.

PROFESSOR WILDER D. BANCROFT, Chemistry, has returned to his home on East Avenue after spending the second term at Bowdoin College where he delivered the 1937 series of lectures on the Tallman Foundation. Professor Bancroft introduced the alma mater of Nathaniel Hawthorne and of Henry Wadsworth Longfellow to the grim and inescapable facts of colloidal chemistry.

PROFESSOR HOWARD B. MEEK, Hotel, will sail from Los Angeles, Cal., August 7 on a six-months' hotel and travel study tour which will take him around the world. In addition to studying hotel conditions and methods of promoting and handling travel in sixteen countries and on eleven different steamship lines, he will attend a meeting of the Japan Hotel Association at Harbin, Manchukuo, in October. He will also inspect the leading hotel schools in Switzerland, Germany, France, England, and the Orient.

WINGS OVER ULYSSES

"Saturday morning when in the primitive hand and foot manner of our pioneer ancestors, we were planting the East Lot to potatoes, Mr. Frank Gannett, owner of this and many other newspapers, flew over us in his tri-motor monoplane at an estimated speed of 225 miles an hour. We figured that Mr. Gannett had left his Rochester breakfast table about the time we started the particular row of potatoes on which we were then engaged, that he was splitting the heavens like the thunderbolts of Jove to attend a regular meeting of the General Administration Committee of Cornell University, and that he'd probably reach Morrill Hall before we finished the row.

"Even though we work for Mr. Gannett at odd times when we are not engaged in planting potatoes, the incident in question did not cause our social and political views to shift to the left. Not the least bit. They continued to balance delicately at the center. We continued to think—in spite of the disturbing excitement of ten thousand June bugs whooshing through the quiet skies of Ulysses—that it didn't make much difference whether the Supreme Court bill passed or was rejected, that the dangers of inflation might possibly be overestimated, and that the most important thing just then was getting the rest of the potatoes in and covered up before it rained."—R. B. in "State and Tioga," Ithaca Journal.

Concerning THE ALUMNI

'85 AB—Anna C. Bowen, of 210 East Main Street, Batavia, who gives her occupations as "farming, general business, and verse-writing," was mentioned on the honor patron list of Poetry Week, New York City. Her poems have appeared in several anthologies during the past year.

'86 MS—William S. Turner is secretary and consulting engineer for Wm. S. Turner and Company, 311 Pacific Building, Portland, Ore.

'86 BS—Mr. and Mrs. Hobart C. Chatfield-Taylor sailed recently on the Aquitania to spend several weeks in London and on the Continent.

'90 BS—William M. Irish has announced his retirement as president of the Atlantic Refining Company.

'93 ME—Harley J. Armstrong is president of the H. J. Armstrong Company, sales agents for heavy machinery, 2244 First Avenue South, Seattle, Wash. He lives at 927 Twenty-second Avenue North, Seattle.

'95, '96 ME—George H. Stickney, for over forty years a member of the incandescent lamp department of the General Electric Company, was honored at a dinner of the Annual Advanced Lighting Conference, held at the General Electric Institute, Nela Park, Cleveland, Ohio, recently. He was presented with a book in which a tribute for his service was inscribed, along with the signatures of several hundred lighting men.

'96 PhB, '97 LLB—Oliver Burden of Syracuse is counsel for the common stockholders' committee of the Brockway Motor Truck Corporation.

'98 ME—Jeremiah D. Maguire, acting chairman of the Interstate Sanitation

Commission, presided at a recent hearing on the purification of the harbor waters of New York City. He said that miles of waterfront have been officially closed to bathers because of pollution and that fish life has been almost entirely destroyed. "The entire situation presents a picture of reckless waste of natural resources and an almost criminal disregard of ordinary health measures," he concluded.

'98, '99 BS—Walter D. Gerken is headmaster of Kingsley School, Essex Fells, N. J.

'98 AB—Frank E. Gannett, Alumni Trustee, was awarded the honorary degree of doctor of laws at the Hobart College commencement May 25. He was also elected an honorary member of the Hobart chapter of Phi Beta Kappa. In the graduation address he said, "If the millions of our people can be made to realize the truth and understand the threat of fascism or communism that lies in centralization of more and more power in the executive, we would not need to worry."

'99 BS—Walter C. Teagle has retired as president of the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey and is now chairman of the board. Teagle said he had remained as president much longer than contemplated when he was elected to the position twenty years ago, and added that he wanted more freedom for special work.

'00—Abram C. Mott, Jr. holds forty-eight patents that he has been granted in his position as president of the Abram Cox Manufacturing Corporation, Fifth Street and Cannon Avenue, Lansdale, Pa.

'00 ME—Henry L. Kehl is with the Jones-Laughlin Steel Corporation, Pittsburgh, Pa. He lives at 5864 Marlborough Street, Pittsburgh.

'01 PhD; '00 Grad—Professor Edwin W. Kemmerer, of Princeton University, and Dr. Charles A. Beard, of Columbia University, are members of a newly-established faculty council of the New School for Social Research, which will be responsible for the educational policies of the School.

'01 ME—Willis H. Carrier, chairman of the board of the Carrier Corporation, advocates the large city as the place to make a success in business in "Small City Versus Large City" in the June issue of The Rotarian. He points out that statistics from Who's Who in America indicate that while many successful individuals "were evidently born in regions where the small town or farm predominated, many of them did not stay there." Among the reasons he lists in favor of the large city are that every great city is a mecca for a large number of travellers, that there is an advertising advantage in having a big-city address, and that shipping facilities are best in great cities.

'03 ME—William A. Heitshu, a real estate and finance broker with the Grand View Heights Corporation, has been granted patents on several machines he has designed. He lives at 30 North Lime Street, Lancaster, Pa.

'03 AB—Floyd L. Carlisle, chairman of the Consolidated Edison Company, is listed in the 1937 edition of the Directory of Directors in the City of New York as holding thirty-one directorates, the third largest number of any persons listed.

'03 Grad—Dr. G. Canby Robinson is a lecturer in medicine at Johns Hopkins Medical School, Baltimore, Md. He lives at 519 Wolfe Street, Baltimore.

'04—Joseph J. Hayes is with Carr Brothers, insurance brokers, St. Louis, Mo., where he lives at 5816 DeGivenville Avenue.

'04—Harold P. Roby is Chicago district sales manager of the Gulf Refining Company, with offices at 230 North Michigan Avenue, Chicago; his home address, 232 Lee Road, Evanston, Ill.

'04 AB, '05 MSA—Russell S. Woglum, who lives at 705 Arden Road, Pasadena, Cal., is an entomologist with the California Fruit Growers Exchange, Sunkist Building, Los Angeles.

'04 ME—Clyde H. Loughridge is a consulting engineer, with offices at 2341 Carnegie Avenue, Cleveland, Ohio.

'04 ME—William B. Gillies is vice-president of the Youngstown Sheet and Tube Company, Youngstown, Ohio.

'05 AB, '06 LLB—Neal Dow Becker, president of the Intertype Corporation, was recently elected a director of the Merchants Association of New York.

'06 AB—Mrs. Charles F. Landmesser (Jane B. Cheney), of Woodcrest Avenue, Short Hills, N. J., has been elected president of the Woman's Club of Millburn, N. J. She is a representative to the State Federation of Women's Clubs and Federation chairman of work for the blind.

'06 MD—Dr. Floyd S. Winslow, president of the Medical Society of the State of New York, spoke on "We Look at Ourselves" at the Society's 131st annual meeting in Rochester recently. "To look at ourselves means to make a comparison with what we hope we may be," he said. "Constantly we must stop to ask if ours is really the good life. . . . As we become more efficient we can easily become less effectual."

'08 AB—Kenneth Roberts' new book, Northwest Passage, which will appear July 1, has been chosen as the July selection of the Book-of-the-Month Club. Roberts was elected an honorary member of Phi Beta Kappa at the 150th anniversary of the Dartmouth chapter. He says that this will no doubt come as a profound shock to his Cornell classmates, for in 1908 he was president of Kappa Beta Phi, the undergraduate society which, as its name implies, is the reverse of Phi Beta Kappa.

'09 ME—Adrian V. Lindsley is sales manager of the Connecticut Light and Power Company, 36 Pearl Street, Hartford, Conn.

'09, '11 BS—Edward H. Thomson, president of the Federal Land Bank of Springfield, Mass., has said that the volume of farm mortgage loans made this season is in all probability running ahead of last year. A majority of these loans are made to finance existing indebtedness, mostly farm mortgages that have fallen due or that can be paid off at an interest due date.

'09 AM; '16 PhD; '29 BS, '30 MS; '26 PhD—Alfred J. Lotka will discuss "Some Recent Results in Population Analysis," and Joseph V. DePorte will talk on "The Fusion of the Racial Elements of the American People as Observed in the State of New York," at the fourth general assembly of the International Union for the Scientific Investigation of Population Problems in Paris, July 29. Harold F. Dorn '29 and Frank W. Notestein, PhD '26, will also attend the meeting.

'09 ME—Charles S. Baker, mechanical engineer with the Ingersoll-Rand Company, Painted Post, has designed several air compressor parts for use in the company's machinery. He lives at 159 Reynolds Avenue, Corning.

'09 AM, '14 PhD—Dr. George F. Zook, president of the American Council on Education, urged a "serious investigation" of the endowment income and investments of colleges and universities of the United States, as a result of a study showing that the hypothetical depression loss to higher education generally amounted to $11,000,000 in 1934-35, basing the comparison on the 1925-26 rate level.

'09 BSA—Edward L. D. Seymour, co-author of Your City Garden, was a guest of honor at a welfare group tea at Greenwich House, New York City, recently. He discussed the problems of gardening in small, confined places.

'10 AB—Stanton Griffis, chairman of the executive committee of Paramount Pictures, announced recently that Paramount has no plan for issuing additional common shares, is planning no financing, and has had no negotiations concerning any additional stock, in spite of the fact that the stockholders will be asked at the annual meeting to approve an increase in the authorized common stock from 4,500,000 to 6,000,000 shares. This request is made, according to Griffis, in order "to place the corporation in a position to issue such stock in the future."

'10 AB—Isaac B. Van Devanter owns and operates a 788-acre farm at Ellicott City, Mo. Justice Willis Van Devanter, his father, who recently announced his retirement from the Supreme Court, is expected to join him after June 2.

'10 AM—Diederich H. Ward has been nominated for a vice-presidency of the Life Underwriters Association of the City of New York.

vance the scientific or practical interests of civil engineering. Whitney's paper, entitled "Design of Reinforced Concrete Members Under Flexure or Combined Flexure and Direct Compression," appeared in the March-April issue of the Journal of the American Concrete Institute.

'15 LLB—George G. Inglehart is secretary of the Agricultural Insurance Company, Watertown.

'15 LLB—Samuel S. Leibowitz set down his impressions of the social problems involved in the seemingly endless procession of boys and young men coming up for sentence in America's criminal courts in a recent Associated Press interview. He said, "When I started my law practice twenty years ago, the criminal class was adult—mature men came up for sentence. Now it is shocking to see this procession of boys, some just out of knee pants, on the way to cells and death. A basic cause is economic. In the poor districts, our so-called 'crime areas,' where can a boy go but to the poolroom and dance hall for companionship? I would like to see all poolrooms abolished. I would like to see a return to authority, to a respect for home, church, and law. Morality is the habit of doing right. We must start with the child—and not bestir ourselves with the criminal."

'15, '16 AB—Alden Sherry is president of the Morris Plan Industrial Bank of Syracuse, at 223 East Fayette Street. He lives on Orchard Road.

Coming Back for Reunion?

If so, we will see you at the Co-op, for we are right in the middle of the path between Baker Dorms and the Drill Hall. You'll probably find some familiar faces here too, for some of the boys have been serving Cornellians for many years.

There are lots of new things at the Co-op too—new plaques and bookends, new campus pictures, new souvenirs and banners. And you will find those small necessities here such as cigars and cigarettes, camera film and the forgotten tooth brush. Drop in and say hello.

SUMMER SESSION

Cascadilla Day Prep. School in Ithaca

Six weeks of intensive instruction. Regents Examinations August twenty-fifth. College entrance deficiencies made up a month before college opens.

Our summer school has saved much time and given real preparation to hundreds of Cornellians.

High school students may make up deficiencies in their work of any year and make substantial gains in ability to do school work.

Air Conditioning Not a speculation but an investment

Heating, Cooling and Conditioning of Air—they're all part of the exciting new industry that is changing buying and renting habits overnight

AIR Conditioning is here . . . not "just around the corner"—not a "speculation," but an investment which no one, as a sound business man, can afford to ignore.

The Delco-Frigidaire conception of air conditioning is a year 'round matter—founded in winter on automatic heating and in summer on automatic cooling—and including the filtering and cleansing of air 365 days a year.

You should have the facts about air conditioning now—what it means in health and happiness—its cost and its future.

These facts Delco-Frigidaire would like to present to you without cost and without obligation. See your local Delco-Frigidaire dealer or write to Delco-Frigidaire Conditioning Division, General Motors Sales Corp., Dayton, O.

GRANTLAND RICE REPORTS:

OFF THE ROAD THEY SHOT AS AN UNSEEN DEMON THREW THEIR CAR OUT OF CONTROL

GRANTLAND RICE describes The Unhappy Ending to
A Seattle Motorist's Week-End Trip to Mt. Baker

THE STRAINS of "When We Come To The End of A Perfect Day" seemed to fit the mood of Mr. Jack Davis of Seattle, Washington, and his party as they motored down from Mt. Baker that invigorating Sunday afternoon. And when Everett highway finally was reached they were still recounting the experiences of that care-free week-end.

Then, with the startling suddenness of a lightning flash, the scene changed. BANG! The left front tire had blown out. The steering wheel jerked itself out of Mr. Davis' control. Off the road they shot. The unseen demon of motoring safety had done its "dirty work."

Luckily the blow-out had not occurred up in the mountains. As Mr. Davis walked a mile for a towing truck, it's a safe bet that he resolved never again to take his tires for granted.

I would say that today's high speeds are a triple threat to tire and motoring safety. The heat generated inside all tires by faster driving conditions may cause rubber and fabric to pull apart, constituting danger number one. This separation leads to the formation of a tiny heat blister... danger number two, because you can't see this blister growing bigger and BIGGER. Sooner or later this blister reaches a point where it weakens the tire and BANG! A blow-out! And if you escape this third threat, consider yourself very lucky.

"It took a towing truck to haul out his damaged car"

But why any motorist should take chances on ordinary tires is beyond me. Especially when Goodrich engineers have perfected a tire invention that brings real blow-out protection to every American motorist. This construction which they call the Life-Saver Golden Ply and which is found only in Goodrich Silvertowns, is a layer of special rubber and full-floating cords, scientifically treated to resist internal tire heat. By resisting this heat, the Golden Ply keeps rubber and fabric from separating—keeps blisters from getting a start.

You Can't Be Too Sure About Your Tires

One blow-out was enough to cure Mr. Davis of Seattle, Washington. Now you'll find his car equipped with Goodrich Safety Silvertowns. Beat a blow-out to the punch by starting to ride on Silvertowns today. You can buy these life-saving tires at Goodrich Silvertown Stores and Goodrich dealers everywhere.

PUT THESE MONEY-SAVING TUBES IN THESE LIFE-SAVING TIRES

Made of an all black layer of tear-resisting rubber with an extra layer of special gold rubber compound to resist chafing and abrasion. No tube gives you more safety and service for your money than a Gold & Black Tube.
